Words of gratitude were shared from former patients of the Colston Family Physical Rehabilitation and Wellness Center and an update on the facility's services was also presented at the one-year celebration held Thursday.

Norman McBride, Christus Spohn Hospital Kleberg administrator, addressed the guests present during the celebration. He expressed gratitude to the Colston family for their kindness and generosity that has helped many people locally and in the surrounding areas. McBride said the wellness side has 65 patients a day. The Colston Fitness Center has increased its membership from 70 to 300 members in one year.

McBride read excerpts from letters from former patients whose lives improved because of the health services they received at the Colston Family

Physical Rehabilitation and Wellness Center. He read excerpts from a letter he received from an amputee who stated that the rehabilitation services: "helped me get my strength, hope and life back." Another person thanked staff members because he (See Colston, Page 6A)

It was then they realized loved ones needed to get rehabilitation services. The Colston family started the ball rolling. "Sometimes it was a square ball and wouldn't start rolling but it did and was built in record time," Colston said.

People do not have to go to Corpus anymore. "It's changed lives," he said.

The Colston siblings and other family members were present at the event. Three of the siblings live in Riviera. One of the sisters, Kay Bruce, traveled from Edmond, Oklahoma, to attend the event.

"It's wonderful to hear about the difference it has made in people's lives," she said.

The Colston Family Rehabilitation and Wellness Center is a $3.1 million two facility made possible by a generous gift from the Colston family.

The Colston family are long time Kleberg County resident. They are owners of the Riviera Telephone Company, a privately owned telephone company in the nation. The Colston family has been described as champions of health care.

Colston

had been able "to get a new lease on life and we are so fortunate to have a state of the art facility."

He cited another letter from a man who was able to recover from a vehicle accident, and he was able to pursue traveling ventures.

McBride also cited people who had lost weight because of the wellness center. Many of the letters praised staff members who helped them. McBride showed 20 letters but shared excerpts from a few.

The rehabilitation program has helped many people with big medical problems that have been able to achieve a higher level of well being and health, according to McBride.

"This facility is part of the revitalization of the whole hospital campus that has really pushed us forward," McBride said.

Bill Colston Jr., the family representative, spoke of the idea of having a facility like this in Kingsville.

"This was a vision started a long time ago trying to get something people could use," he related to the guests. The vision and rehab idea began when his father had cardiac problems. "Dad refused to go to Corpus Christi," Colston said.

They are known as hard working humble people.

The premier rehabilitation and wellness center at Christus Spohn Hospital Kleberg features modern and innovative physical rehabilitation and wellness services. The rehab center has modern amenities such as an aquatic therapy area and state of the art rehabilitation and fitness equipment. The physical rehab team includes licensed and specially certified physical, occupational and speech therapists and technicians who assist the patients for a speedy recovery.

The Colston Center offers wellness services that range from weight management to various specialized exercise classes.

Community shows support for breast cancer awareness

By Rey Sifuentes Jr.

The Inaugural Pink Palm Breast Cancer Walk, hosted on Saturday by EmbroidMe Kingsville and Christus Spohn Hospital Kleberg, had plenty of attendees despite the event's short notice.

"This was less than a month in the planning so I am very pleased with today's turnout," organizer Carol Geryk said.

Dozens of participants walked two laps, one mile total, around the hospital grounds with many of them wearing pink. The get-together commemorated the 25th anniversary of the October Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

Geryk's motivation to get the ball rolling for the event came after her own mother, Lois Oxford, received a disheartening diagnosis.

"My mother was diagnosed with breast cancer about a month and a half ago and that really brought it home," Geryk said. "We had been talking about doing something like this for the community as my business has been here for seven years and Kingsville has been very good to us. We knew we wanted to give back in some way to the community so when my mother was diagnosed, we decided that this was one of the events we wanted to help plan and get going."

Geryk and her fellow organizers believe there is an urgent need to provide information to people in Kingsville. "Whenever you hear the word 'cancer', the first reactions that come are devastating," Geryk said. "We just want to provide a way for people to learn and deal with breast cancer, and hopefully one day in the future people will no longer have to receive this type of devastating news."

Dozens of supporters, most dressed in pink, kick off the Inaugural Pink Palm Breast Cancer Walk held at Christus Spohn Hospital Kleberg on Saturday.

Cancer Walk

The Christus Spohn Cancer Center is the region's only cancer program nationally accredited by the American College of Surgeons Commission on Cancer. The center offers women the care program which brings together all aspects of breast cancer awareness, detection and care, emphasizing education and community outreach with a weekly breast cancer group. In addition, the center also provides a breast cancer patient navigator program which offers individually designed 'care maps' for newly diagnosed patients and helps guide them through the health care system. These are the very reasons Geryk brought her mother to the center.

"Our hospital has a great facility here and the first thing my mother did was meet with some of the doctors," Geryk said. "She has already had surgery, is ready to start chemotherapy next week and the prognosis looks good."

Geryk believes that females of every age should acquaint themselves with the details of breast cancer.

"They say that breast cancer awareness should start at the age of 40 but I think we should also get the young girls informed, they need to start looking at being aware of it," Geryk said. "Three high schools participated today, that I am aware of, and next year we want to make some sort of competition between all of the high schools while also making them aware of the numbers and people who are affected by this. We want to have more stuff going on so that it becomes a longer event, things that are fun and provide information about breast cancer."

National statistics claim that one out of every eight women will be diagnosed with breast cancer every year, a ratio Geryk said was too high.

"You saw the number of people here and when you see them and then think that every one out of eight will have breast cancer, and that there is currently no way around it, that's pretty astonishing," Geryk said.

Anne S. Colston, age 78, a longtime resident of Riviera, Texas passed away after a long illness on Sunday, December 19, 2010 at her residence surrounded by family. Anne Colston was born in Ranger, Texas on May 11, 1932 to W.L. Seymour and Dessie Mae Crane Seymour. Anne attended H.M King High School in Kingsville, until her marriage to Bill Colston on February 5, 1949. Before Bill was allowed to take Anne as his wife, Mr. Seymour sequestered a promise from him...that his daughter would finish high school. The promise was kept and Anne graduated in 1953, expecting their third child, Kay. From their marriage until 1953, Bill was in the Air Force and Anne traveled with him, if the locale permitted.

Anne worked at Riviera Telephone Co., Inc. as the only clerk until 1971. Anne was the first woman to ever attend and graduate from the Stromberg Carlson Technical School in Rochester, New York. In 1997, The Texas chapter of the Independent Telephone Pioneer Association honored Anne and Bill as the first couple to be inducted into the "ITPA Hall of Fame". She was the secretary treasurer of Riviera Telephone Company until her retirement on December 31, 2003. She and Bill traveled together until Bill's death in October 2001.

In January of 2005 Anne was honored at the Celebrity Weekend as South Texan of the Year for her contributions to her community. Anne was, until her death, very generous to both her family and her community. Anne was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, a previous member of the Riviera Volunteer Fire Ladies Auxiliary, a member of the Independent Telephone Pioneer Association, a previous member of the Spohn Kleberg Hospital Auxiliary and a member of the First Baptist Church of Kingsville. Mrs. Colston is survived by four children, Sue (Dale) Lawrence of Riviera, Bill (Judy) Colston Jr. of Riviera, Kay (Philip) Bruce of Edmond, Oklahoma and Leslie (Barbara) Colston of Riviera; one sister, Polly Blackwell Atkins of Tyler, Texas; nine grandchildren; and 17 great-grandchildren.

Visitation will take place on Tuesday, December 21, 2010 from 4:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. at the Turcotte-Piper Mortuary with the family receiving friends from 6:00 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. A Celebration of Life Service will be held at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday, December 22, 2010 at the First Baptist Church, 312 West King Street, Kingsville, with Rev. Ron Earley officiating. Burial will follow in Riviera, Texas at the Riviera Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to Spohn Mobile Van in care of Christus Spohn Foundation, 1712 Santa Fe, Corpus Christi, Texas 78404 or to a charity of your choice. CHRISTUS Spohn Celebrates National Volunteer Week April 10 -16, 2011

They are men, women, young and old, of different cultures, from varied backgrounds. Yet they share a bond: they volunteer. They step up to serve, reach out to help, and put their hands and hearts to work for others.

Volunteers will say their service is its own reward, that "thank you" is their pay. And so this Volunteer Week, we recognize and appreciate those who give their time and talents so generously to help fulfill the CHRISTUS Spohn mission. "Thank you" to our volunteers.
