Foreword

"Hey, fella, your instructors say you turned in some pretty neat scrapbooks last term, so, we're going to run you for next year's El Rancho editor. What 'cha say, huh?"

What could anyone say? Anyway, that, literally, was how the 1948 El Rancho got its editor, and, now, one year later, the completed product is yours.

How successful it is and how near it comes to representing a year of life at A & I, as is its purpose, we, the staff, cannot say. That is for you to decide. We can say only that because of certain events that occurred at very critical times in the book's production, many of the original plans had to be abandoned in order that we could meet our printing deadlines. This left the 1948 El Rancho measuring short of our original conceptions.

The net result, then, is now in your hands. It is our wish and desire that whether you are turning the pages in haste, or thumbing through them in future reminiscence, we have preserved for you, at least in part, a record of this year of life at A & I.

1948 EL RANCHO

MR. JEFF D. SMITH

Dedication

Although the original intentions of the editors were not to make a personal dedication of this year's EL RANCHO, the passing of Mr. Jeff D. Smith was an event too historically decisive in this year of life at A&I not to be commemorated in this record of the school year.

With his passing an era closed—the formative period of A&I's tradition of frankness and friendliness. Mr. Smith's academic integrity and deep concern in the aims, welfare and ultimate achievement of the individual student were the kind of spiritual substance from which the college's traditional friendly tone and enviable student-faculty relationship have been created.

As Professor and Chairman of Foreign Languages, Mr. Smith was a skillful, though exacting, teacher, as chairman of the athletic committee, he worked incessantly for creditable football teams, good spirit and fair play; as the unofficial confidant and personal friend of the student, he was a democrat and a champion of one's right to the rewards of hard work.

As A&I moves up the quantitative scale from the small-college to the larger-college class, we shall remember Mr. Smith's voice of good will, his quick, cordial greetings in the administrative hallways—and our immeasurable debt to the generous and genteel mode of academic life perpetuated by him.

To his memory, then, we dedicate this 1948 El Rancho.

Hail A&I

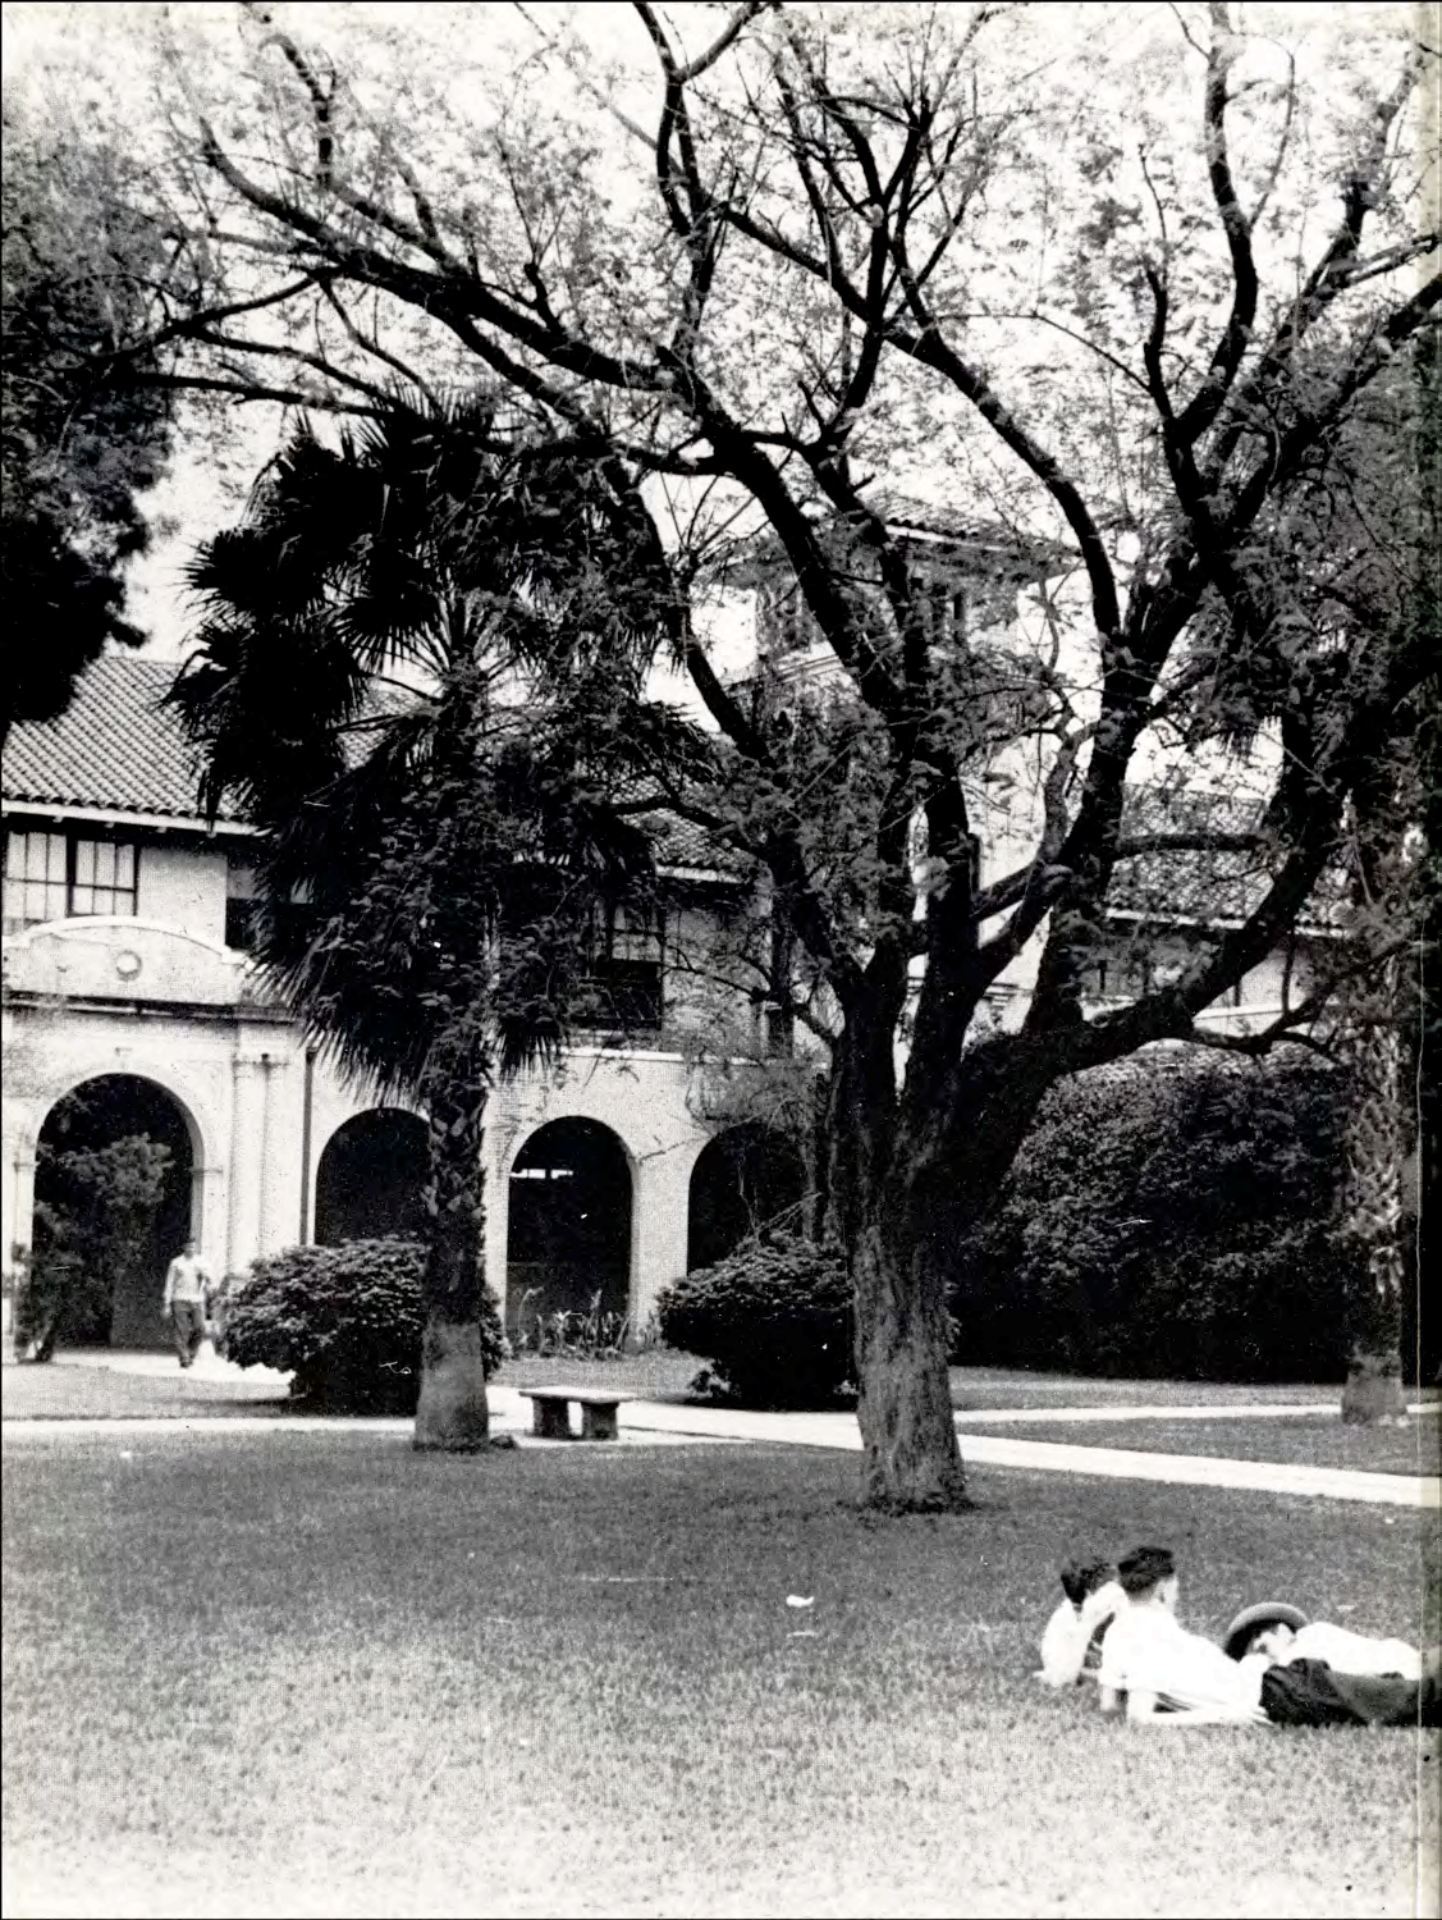

Hail A and I —
We pledge anew —
Aims that are high —
Devotion deep and true.
And though we may part —
And though the years roll by —
Still loyal each heart —
To A and I.

Students Informal

What do A & I students do in the way of extracurricular activities?

The answer is to be found on the following pages.

In the fall it is football—football rallies, team send-offs, and the football games themselves. After that the social season goes into full swing with organization sponsored dances leading the parade of varied entertainment. This includes everything from dances to picnics to Hell Week and the Freshman Follies. A resourceful student body on the A & I campus provides ample entertainment for itself.

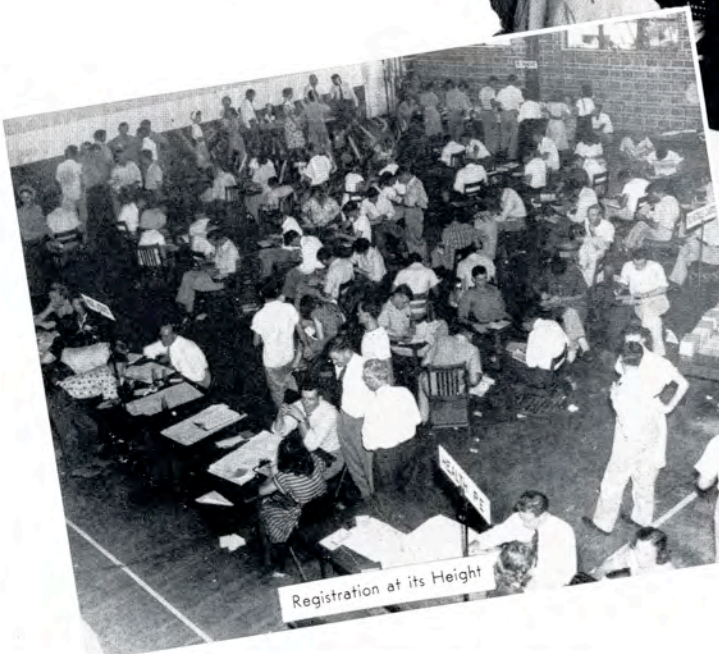

Rasco soothes frustrated students. It was through his efforts that registration procedure was greatly improved over preceding years

Although registration is a hectic occasion for many, two frosh, Mary Alice Crow and James Hoot found it quite . . .

Harried typists had to spell everything from Ybarra to Hrrissikopoulos. No wonder they made mistakes

Registration at its Height

... simple when done right. Just listen to what your major professor says, then, go sit ...

... down and fill out some simple little cards with the stuff the prof has told you. After that ...

... it's only a matter of giving the publications people a few cents for something called a student directory ...

Registration

... CHAOS TO SOME, CONFUSION TO MANY AND HEADACHES FOR ALL, IT, NEVERTHELESS, WAS THE BEGINNING OF IT ALL

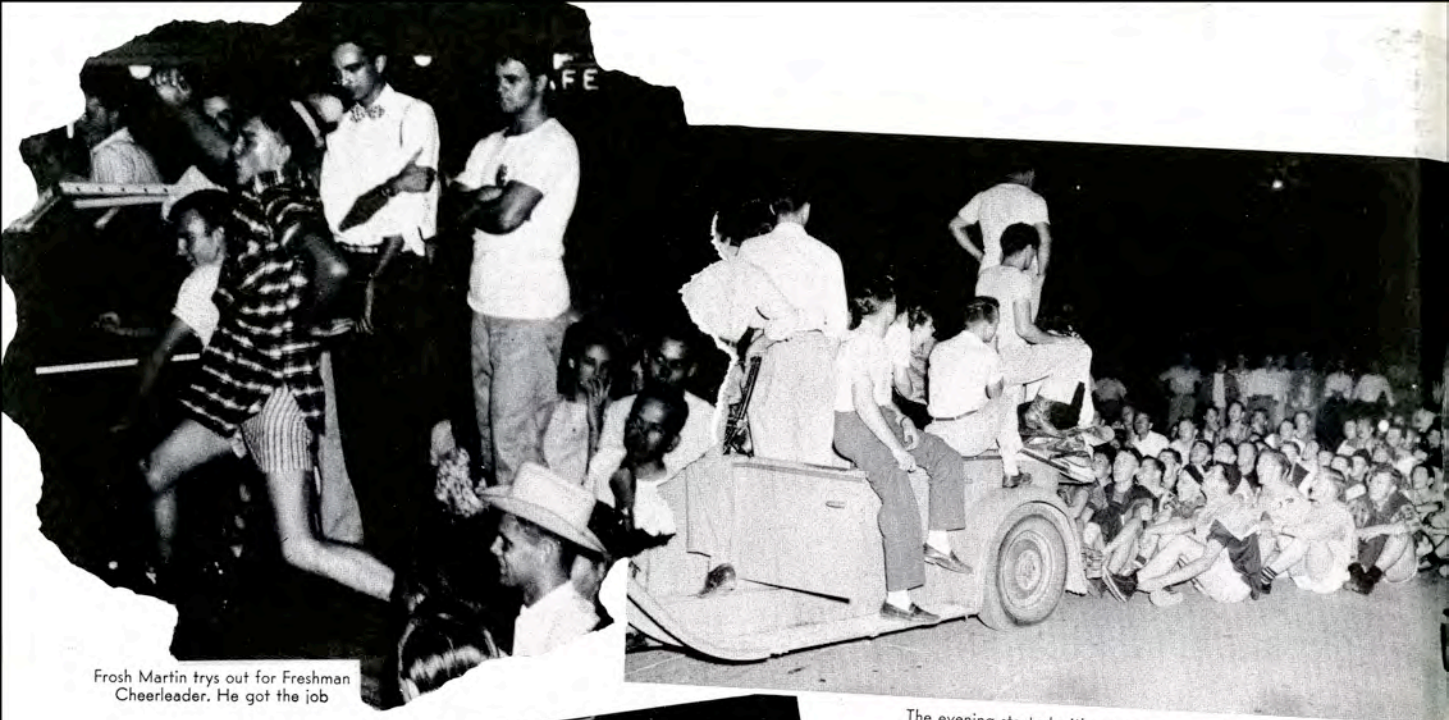

... and gishing out a few dollars to the business office, and you're through with time enough left for a coke. What could be simpler?

But the student mixer that followed registration smoothed rankled nerves, and A & I returned once more to a status quo

Lantana time

Almost two decades of Lantana tradition have passed since inception of the annual festival in 1929

This year, A & I celebrated its 19th successive observance of the event with the most colorful pageant in many years. For the first time a parade featuring intricately decorated floats carrying the Lantana Queen and the six Lantana Ladies, was initiated.

This year saw over forty South Texas high schools from San Antonio to Laredo send representatives to the Coronation. Theme for the coronation was "Pillars of A & I."

A New Feature in this Year's Coronation was the Mile-Long Parade of Floats, Bands and High School and College Organization Representatives Through Downtown Kingsville

Coronation Director Sam Burris, versatile and aggressive in his work, and his assistant, Dean Patton. They selected the theme "Pillars of A&I" that the Coronation program was built around and first conceived the impressive parade that preceded the Coronation. A successful and beautiful Coronation resulted from their work

A&I's "Nineteenth Annual Lantana Coronation"

EVERYONE WORKS TO MAKE IT SUCCESSFUL;
MEMORABLE

Thirty-eight of the forty-three campus organization representatives who appeared in the Coronation. Such wholehearted student support as this makes the annual Lantana Coronation the impressive spectacle that it is. Guests come from all parts of the state to view the ceremony

The aging professor, played by Bill Huntington, is presenting his dialogue in this over-all picture depicting the Coronation at its height. Queen Scott, King Helms, and the Queen and King Regents are seated immediately above Huntington.

King Regent Edward Wheeler removes the crown from Queen Regent Betty Wright, hands it to King J. W. Helms, who then crowned 1948 Lantana Queen Louise Scott. After receiving the crown Queen Scott began her reign over Lantanadom

HER WINSOME SMILE AND GREAT SINCERITY

If vivacity were wealth Lady Jeannine McCaskill would be a wealthy individual, indeed, for she possesses a boundless capacity for enjoying life. A native of El Campo and a member of the Delta Theta sorority, Jeannine was the Freshman class candidate to the Lantana Court.

Lantana Royalty

Lady Virginia Frels

CAPTIVATING AND AMIABLE, SHE BEARS HER

As amiable and charming in everyday life as she is as a member of the Lantana Court, Lady Virginia Frels comes by her Lantana laurels quite naturally. A Sophomore English major, Virginia is a member of the Delta Theta sorority and is active in campus dramatics. She comes from Mathis.

Lantana Royalty

Lady Dorothy Jean Isaacks

FRESH BEAUTY COMBINED WITH RARE CHARM

LANTANA COURT

As fresh in spirit as in beauty, Lady Dorothy Jean Isaacs lends a refreshing air to the 1948 Lantana Court. Possessor of the rare ability to make a success of every undertaking, Polly, as she is known to all, is a Sophomore home economic major from Gregory. She is a member of the Delta Theta sorority.

Lantana Royalty

Lady Marian McConnico

A RADIANT PERSONALITY TEMPERED WITH INHERENT NAIVETE ARE HER ROYAL QUALITIES

Never without a smile and cheery greeting, Lady Marian McConnico typifies that friendly atmosphere upon which A & I prides itself. A junior home economics major, Marian is a member of the Delta Theta sorority and president of the Seale Hall House Council. She lists Gregory as her hometown.

Lantana Royalty

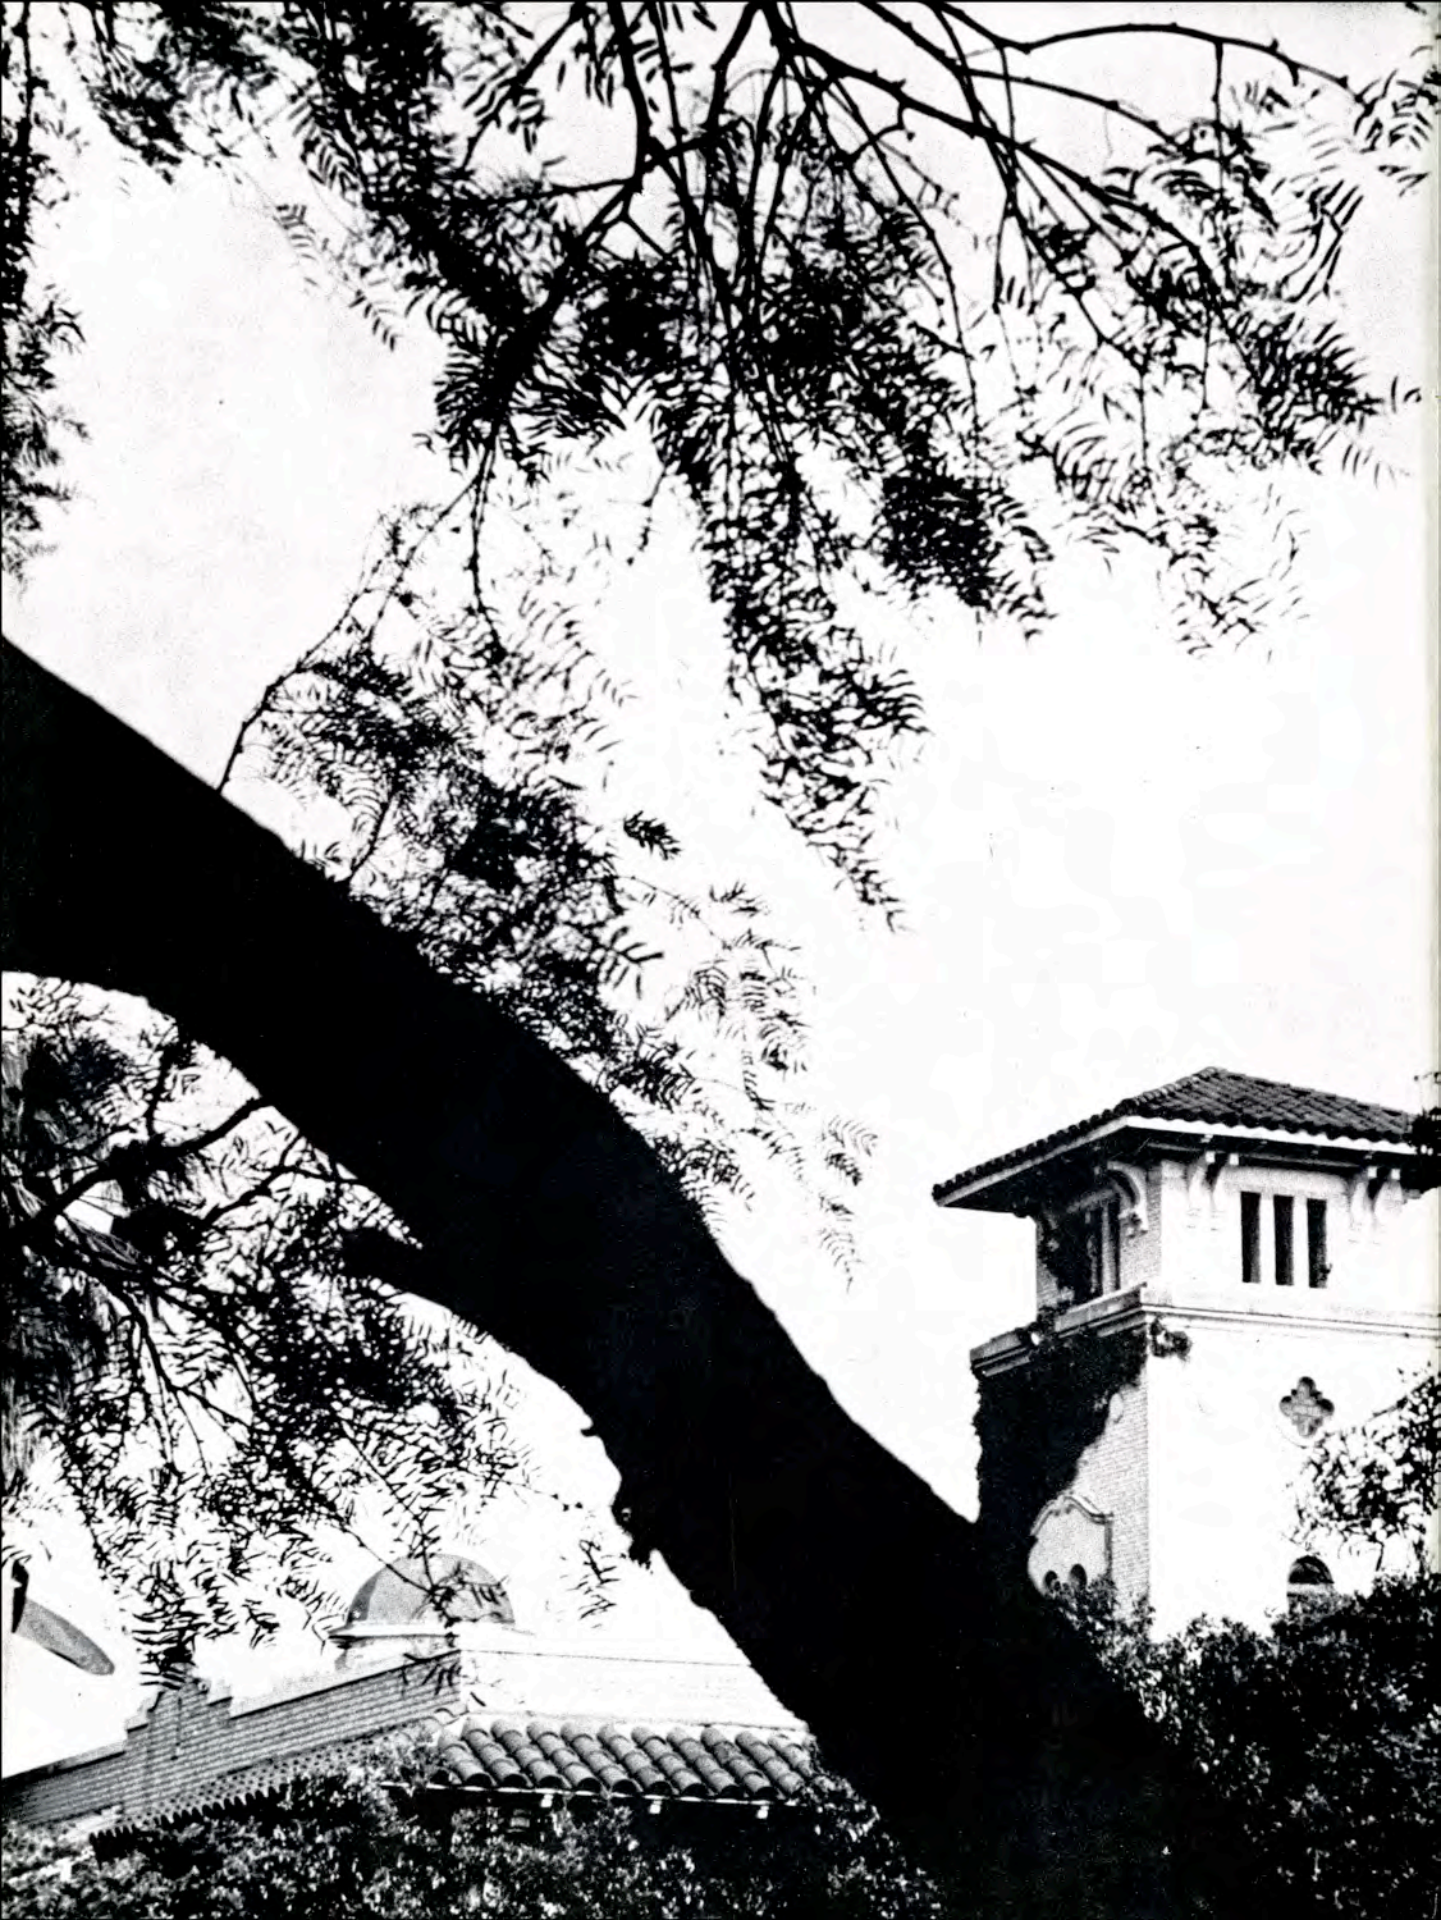

Lady Marian White

DEMURE AND CANDID, ROYAL HONORS HAVE

OF THE COURT

As representative of Texas as the Aggie FFA members who nominated her, Lady Marian Lou White doffs her royal dignity to don western regalia for an informal portrait. A member of the Alpha Sigma sorority and a home economics major, Marian came to A & I from Carrizo Springs and is a Sophomore.

Administration

An ambitious and growing Texas A & I works its greatest hardships upon the people within whose hands lies its guided destiny.

These people are the administrators whose task it is to keep A & I ever progressing and stable, and to keep its program of education ever flexible and complete.

Without capable people, and an aggressive president, such aims and purposes could not be as successfully maintained as they have been in the past few years. It is a debt of gratitude that A & I owes its current administrators and teaching staff.

E. N. JONES

. . . For A&I's Future "A VISION"

the President's Message

Texas College of Arts and Industries
Kingsville, Texas

January 7, 1948

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

To the Students of A & I:

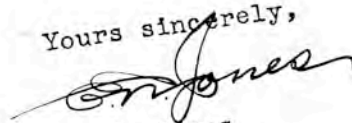

"A Year of Life at A & I" considered at any time since the opening of the College in 1925 would have been most interesting, but it seems to me that the school year 1947-48 is in many respects the climax.

Every student may proudly feel himself to be a member of the largest student body in history--a few over twenty-one hundred. Our fears that size would jeopardize A & I's finest characteristic, the friendliness of her campus, have fortunately been unfounded. The spirit and morale of student body and faculty alike are indeed gratifying and inspiring. Whereas numbers overwhelmed us last year, this school year is one of orderliness and smoothness of operation.

A sense of direction is felt in the work of faculty committees. The Board of Directors has high vision in planning for A & I's future--a vision founded upon uncompromising standards of excellence. The Javelinas have piled up a most impressive gridiron record. New buildings, though temporary, have been added on the main campus. The East Campus represents one of the most complete and finest conversions from wartime to educational use of any military facility in Texas. Without it A & I would be limited to approximately thirteen hundred students.

Our goal for the future is to make each year of life at A & I successively better for all students and the degrees conferred upon them as seniors therefore more valuable. A degree from A & I must increasingly be an academic brand of merit both because of the quality of work required to attain it and the dependability of each graduate who possesses it.

Yours sincerely,

E. N. Jones

Agriculture

The Agricultural Department, headed by Prof. Russel J. Cook, provides all phases of agricultural training for those students who plan farming as a vacation, plan to become agricultural instructors, or who merely desire a well-rounded and intensive insight into the field of agriculture.

Students are given practical experience in farm management through operation of the college-owned dairy, stock farm, poultry farm, and a citrus grove located on the main campus. Trips to the King Ranch afford students the opportunity to acquaint themselves with the latest developments in livestock breeding, and the raising of beef stock and fine horses.

Divisions of this department include Agricultural Engineering, Agronomy, Animal Husbandry, Horticulture, Poultry Husbandry, and the new Citrus and Vegetable Training Center located in Weslaco.

Engineering

Instruction in the fields of Chemical, Electrical, General, Mechanical, and Natural Gas Engineering are offered by the Division of Engineering.

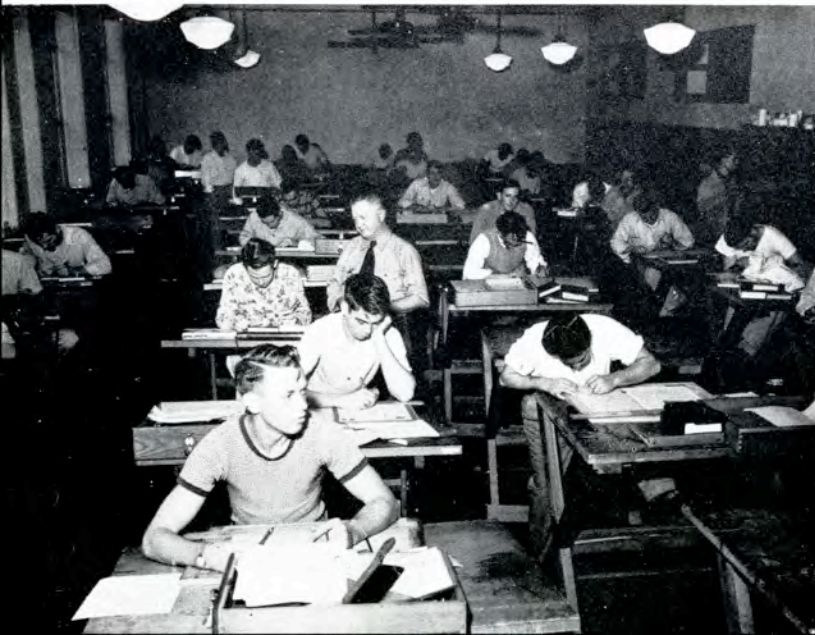

Steady growth of the chemical industry in Texas provides engineering students actual opportunities to apply their college instruction in the field during their advanced years in engineering work.

Natural Gas Engineering students have access to complete gas production, transmission, and distribution systems for laboratory purposes.

Electrical Engineering students have facilities through which they may study production, distribution, communications, and electronics.

Mechanical and General Engineering, through their newly-initiated courses, provide ample background for study in those fields.

Classes

The post-war influx of students into American universities and colleges has been felt as strongly at A & I as at any other institution of higher learning.

Severely taxed student-housing facilities were augmented with the purchase of government surplus buildings and the acquisition of a decommissioned naval air station located a few miles from the main campus.

Classroom space was supplemented with the addition of temporary structures and many new instructors were secured to meet the needs of the greatly increased enrollment.

Enrollment this year reached an all-time high of 2100 students and a greater enrollment is expected in the fall of '48.

As South Texas grows, so grows A & I.

Sports

Experiencing the best season in its football history, preserving the Javelina's fighting fame by losing none of its home basketball games, and fielding a successful, though not complete, track team, Texas A & I underwent its second year of post-war sport's revival and created more Javelina rooters and supporters than it had ever known before.

Head Coach DEWEY and Assjstants DON HIGHTOWER and JACK "RED" RUCKER

" . . . for the Biggest Student Body A&I Has Ever Had, the Best Football Team It Has Ever Had"

A & I Coaching Staff

DEWEY A. MAYHEW

Head Coach and Athletic Director

Came to A & I in 1946 following a season as assistant at Southwestern University. Compiled an outstanding record in high school coaching circles, taking Abilene High School to state finals three times, winning the title in 1928 and 1931. Began coaching career in 1922, leading Milford to 12 wins and a loss only to Waco state champions, 13-7; later athletic director at Marlin. Went to Abilene in 1927, remaining there until 1940, when he began training pilots for the army air force at Uvalde (has had pilot's license since 1939). At Abilene chalked up 97 wins, 36 losses, and 11 ties for .729 percentage. Among players he developed at Abilene were John Kimbrough, All-American back at A & M; Dub Sibley, A & M's all-conference center. He piloted the 1947 Javelina gridders to the most successful season in their history.

DON HIGHTOWER

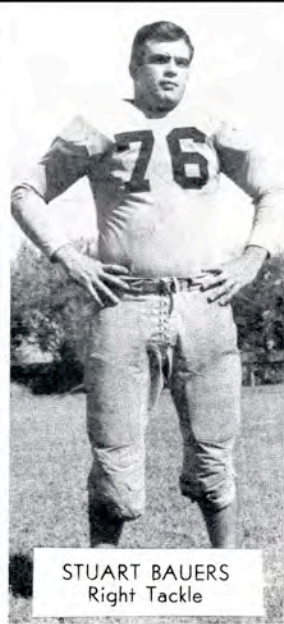

Assistant Coach

Rated by many as the most successful runner in A & I history. All-Alamo conference in 1937 and 1938; mentioned for All-American the latter season. Coached Raymondville three years before entering Navy. While playing for Georgia Pre-Flight in 1942, he showed his old-time talent by running 92 yards against Duke, 75 against Tulane, and 49 against Alabama on punt returns. Separated as a lieutenant in 1945, he was assistant coach at Corpus Christi last season under Bud McCallum, former Hog mentor. Participated in football, basketball, and track at Liberty High School. Second year of college coaching.

JACK (RED) RUCKER

Assistant Coach

Player guard, center, quarterback, and fullback for the Javelinas 1939-41. Was assistant coach last year at McAllen, where he had previously won All-Valley posts in successive years at center and at quarterback. A natural athlete, he caught for the Harlingen Hi-Way Inn team that won the state and southwest regional championships of the American Softball Association. Served in the Marines.

Game Time

On the following nine pages is told, in photos, the story of the Javelinas' 1947 grid season, their most successful season in the history of football at A&I.

Through alert photographers, the highlights of the individual games were caught and preserved for inclusion in this year's El Rancho. Because the season was so successful, and because we expect even bigger things next year, we salute the 1947 Javelina football team for the enviable record they compiled in winning seven games, tying one and losing one.

The Editors.

A & I 19 — HOWARD PAYNE 14

A storybook finish wound up the Javelina's first game of the season against the Howard Payne Yellowjackets when, in the fading moments of play, Hog Center Harry Carson snagged a Jacket fumble in mid-air, and streaked 70 yards from the Hornet 30-yard marker for the touchdown that gave the Javos a 19-14 win to start them on their way to a successful season.

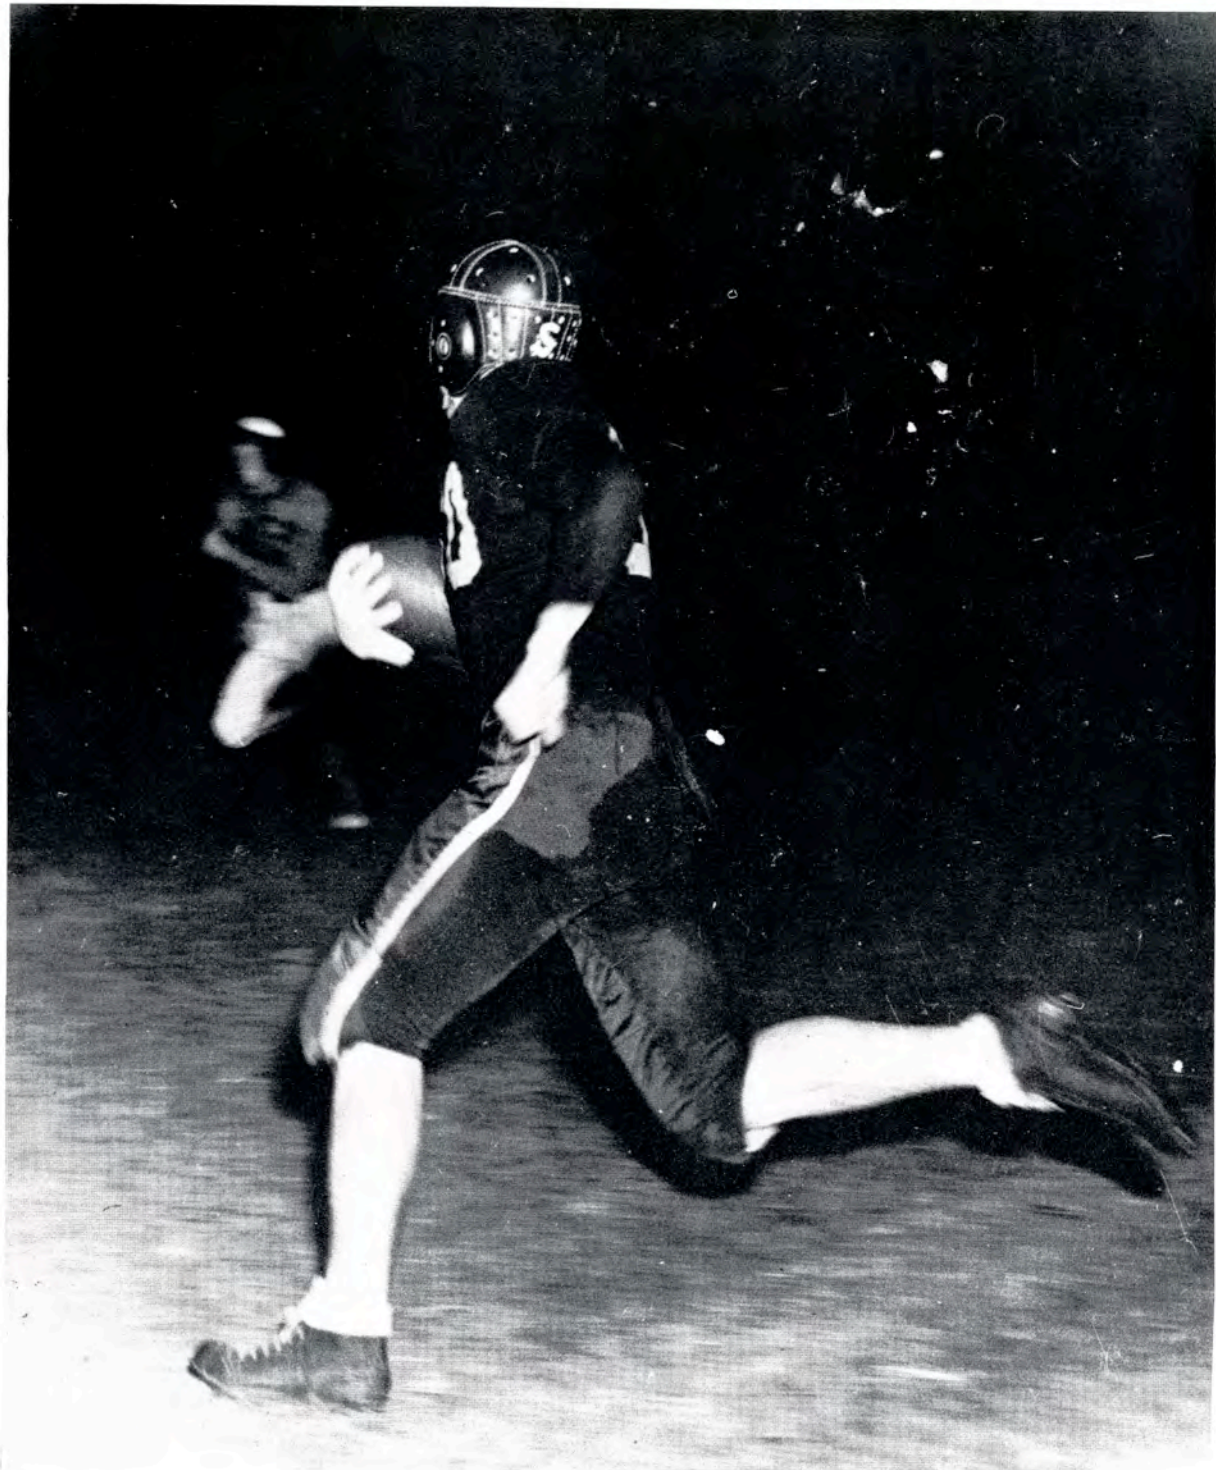

Carson's touchdown pulled from the fire a game that was all but lost to a dogged Howard Payne eleven, and gained for him the plaudits of all A&I and the congratulations being bestowed by Assistant Coach Don Hightower in the accompanying photo caught by Ned Salmon following the game.

A & I 28 — SAM HOUSTON 7

A formidable line that withstood everything the vaunted Sam Houston Bearcats threw into it was the big factor in the 28-7 routing of the upstate gridders by the Hogs. Victory was not cheap for the Javelinas, however, for late in the third quarter Helms (90) and Wright (47) carried star fullback Tommy Brady from the field with the leg injury that was to keep him off the regular line-up the rest of the season, a factor that may well have spelled the difference between an undefeated season and the seven wins, on tie and one lost record racked up by the 1947 Javelinas.

A & I 19 — SOUTHWEST STATE 13

Halfback Bob Stevens 70-yard gallop through the center of the line in the first minute of play provided the highlight as the Hogs preserved their undefeated record by downing the Southwest State Teachers Bobcats 19-13 on the San Marcos gridiron.

After taking over on the 50-yard stripe the Hogs again advanced on two plays to the Bobcat 26 where Milton

Saxon, quarterback, knifed through the line and scampered the remaining distance for the second touchdown.

The second quarter saw the San Marcos eleven push across a touchdown with the Javelinas adding another at the start of the second half to ice-down the game for another A&I win. San Marcos scored its last tally at the gun.

A & I 13 — UNIV. OF HOUSTON 7

Two undefeated, untied teams clashed in Javelina Stadium when the University of Houston Cougars trekked to Kingsville to engage the A&I eleven. But the Javelinas heeded not the Cougars' previous record and squelched the opponents 13-0.

The Javelina forward wall held the Houston team to a mere 53 yards and three first downs as they piled up 325 yards and 16 first downs.

Fred Klosterman and Dan Wright scored the two Javelina touchdowns as the A&I gridders marked up their fourth straight win.

Not until the last game of the season were the Hogs to be run over as the Cougars' Boyd Tingle (49) is doing here.

A & I 14 — McMURRY 14

A band of Indians from McMurry came thundering back in the second half to throw the Hogs out of the undefeated-untied ranks, when they played the A&I Javelinas to a 14-14 deadlock on the Indians' field.

With machine-like precision the Hogs chalked up a first-quarter tally only to see the McMurry team whoop their way 76 yards to paydirt on the ensuing punt return. A&I went ahead with a second quarter marker at the half. Floyd Sampson, McMurry fullback, cracked the Hog line and raced 80 yards for a second Indian score at the beginning of the third quarter, and the score was all knotted up at 14-14 all. Despite desperate tries by both teams the game ended with that score.

A & I 20 — EAST TEXAS BAPTIST 0

A 500-mile road trip failed to crimp the winning style of the undefeated Hoggies when, midway in the third canto of their game at Marshall, they exploded for three quick touchdowns to quell the stubborn East Texas Baptist Tigers 20-0, and chalk up their sixth game without a loss of the season.

A determined Tiger line bottled up the Javelina line during the first half only to see a trio of Hog backs, Klaus, Pre-jean and Liska, break loose on long gallops in the third quarter to produce the three Hog Tallies that kept their undefeated season intact.

A & I 9—SUL ROSS 6

Few sports can produce the fine, dramatic photos frequently caught by sports photographers during the gridiron season, for in few sports are moments so intense and dramatic as those found in a tight contest between two powerful grid machines.

Just such a moment was recorded by alert photographer

Ross Ghesilin during the A&I-Sul Ross game in faraway Alpine, when his camera caught Coach Mayhew and the bench at the moment Dan Wright was about to kick the field goal that was to produce three points and give the Javelinas a 9-6 victory over the New Mexico Intercollegiate Conference champions. Wright's boot was good.

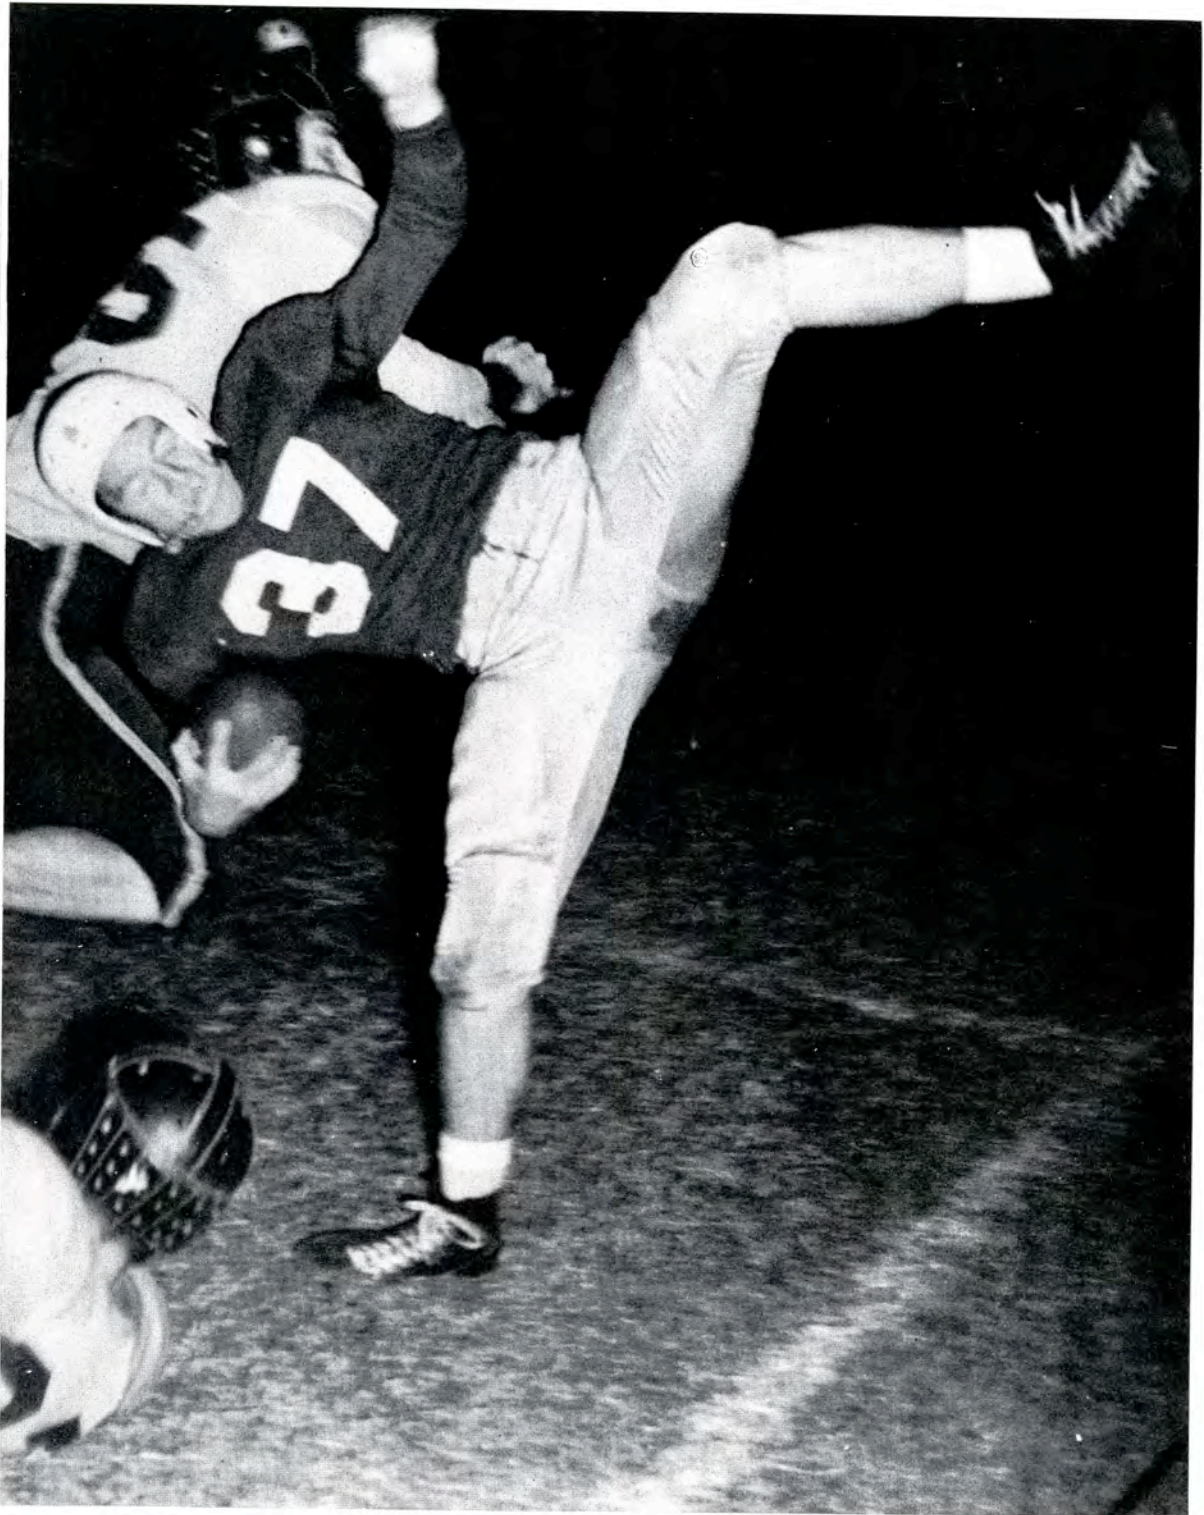

This photograph was judged best news pix of the year in a contest among the 22 colleges of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association.

A & I 34 — CORPUS CHRISTI NAVAIRSTA 12

In an exhibition of power the Javelinas ran up their highest score of the season when they overran the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station Comets 34-12 to exact revenge over the last of their '46 season conquerors. Scoring on the ground and through the airways, the Hoggies compiled a 21-6 halftime lead.

Feature moment of the game came when halfback Marvin Schwarz took a Navy punt on his own 35 and, behind perfect blocking, toted the pigskin 65 yards for a Hog touchdown. Photographer Ghesilin again caught a fine action shot when he snapped Schwarz (33) just before eluding a determined Navy tackler on his 65-yard jaunt.

A & I 7 — STEPHEN F. AUSTIN 15

Nine thousand Homecoming fans jammed into Javelina stadium to witness the climactic game that separated the A&I Javelinas from the first undefeated season in their 22-year history.

What came to pass is now history. The Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks, with but one win to their season's credit, played the role of giant killers and toppled the previously undefeated Javelinas 15-7. The thorn in the Hogs' hide was flashy little Dick Wright, who played a one-man game for the Nacogdoches men.

Photographer Luther Miller snapped perhaps the most classical picture of the season which might be appropriately entitled "Pigskin Ballet."

Baseball

First organized in the spring of 1947, the Kingsville Collegians is an all-college baseball team composed of men on the campus interested in playing semi-pro ball while attending school.

The team is not college supported, but is made up of college students who are keeping the game alive until the college can support its own varsity ball club.

This year the Club joined an official semi-pro league in which they will compete against eight other South Texas teams.

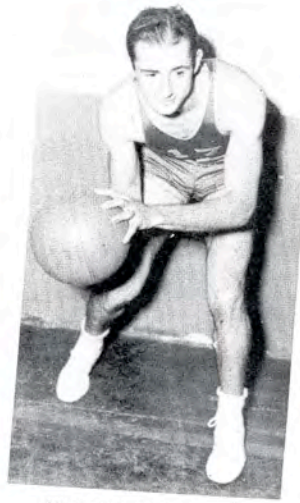

Harvey Mosemeyer, with whom the idea first germinated, is the manager of the team.

Track

Fielding one of the fastest 440 and 880 relay teams of the smaller Texas colleges, A&I did well for itself for the 1948 track season considering the few men Coach Don Hightower had to work with.

The relay team took second place honors in both the Border Olympics at Laredo and the Southwest Recreational Meet in Fort Worth. The same relay team copped third place honors in the 880 relay at the Texas relays and a fourth place in the mile relay at the Fort Worth meet.

Intramurals

Ed's Note: Lack of sufficient space and a comprehensive photo coverage of the intramural program's three major components (main campus, east campus and women's intramurals) has made it necessary to limit recognition of the program, though it affected to such a marked degree, through spirited competition and inter-organizational rivalry, such a great number of students, to this one page. The EL RANCHO files of this year tell only the story of the main campus league and are completely void of material on either the East Campus or Women's intramurals. Therefore, out of fairness to those concerned, we want to make use of the little space we have in noting the winning teams of the various intramural leagues, and to congratulate Intramural Director Lloyd Barrow, physical education instructor, and Carlton J. McQueen, senior intramural manager, for completing the most successful season in intramural sports that A&I has ever witnessed. Similar congratulations are extended to Miss Nan Roberts and Miss Mary Goodman, women's PE instructors for an equally fine job with women's intramurals.

Book 6

Organizations

Boasting more than fifty separate organizations for its enrollment of 2100 students, Texas A & I provides one organization for every twenty students which is something of a precedent for schools the size of A & I.

Largest club on the campus is the Aggie club with over two-hundred members. Smallest is the forensic society fraternity with a total of five members. In between lies the remainder of the various groups.

Student Publication

South Texan

BO HORNER, South Texan Editor

"... it shall be the voice of the students"

The SOUTH TEXAN, official student body publication for the dissemination of campus news, completed its twenty-fourth year of publication under the editorship of J. W. "Bo" Horner, senior journalism major of Houston, with the conclusion of the '48 spring semester.

Inspired by the need of the students for impartial, non-discriminatory and full coverage of campus news, Editor Horner converted the SOUTH TEXAN to "the voice of the students," and sought to improve the student's lot in that stead.

Faced as always by the many controversial issues perennially present on the campus, the SOUTH TEXAN staff found no easy road to settling them to the satisfaction of all. It did plug for the veteran's subsistence increase passed by congress in January, and faced all its problems squarely.

Pride of the staff were the over-sized Homecoming and Coronation issues, and its more extensive pictorial coverage of campus news than in former years.

MATTIE MAE RICHARDS, industrious and capable assistant editor proved to be the mainstay of the SOUTH TEXAN. Her diligence and devotion to her work kept the paper on its feet, and won her the respect of the entire publications staff. This was her second year in that capacity.

Business manager and advertising solicitor for the year was CURTIS ROBERTS, senior BBA major. Through good "selling tactics" and hard work he met the SOUTH TEXAN'S weekly quota of 225 inches devoted to advertising, helped keep it within its allotted budget.

Circulation Manager FRITZ HARSDFORF was the man responsible for getting the SOUTH TEXAN to the students every Saturday morning. Usually the job of mailing the EX-STUDENT NEWS fell to him also. He is a junior journalism major.

This chapter was organized early in 1948 to better acquaint students with the realities of chemistry as a profession and to offer them an opportunity for preparing and presenting technical material before groups of people interested in new developments in chemistry. This is accomplished through the presentation of guest speakers, educational films, and student-prepared research papers.

Membership is open to students majoring in chemistry or chemical engineering.

American Revolution TEXAS STYLE

Within a single generation — while you were growing up — there has been a revolution in the homes, schools and industries of Texas. Natural gas service — practically unknown when your parents were young — has become in that short span the No. 1 fuel of Texas.

Every moment of the day natural gas is serving you directly or indirectly. It warms your home and school, it cooks and refrigerates your food, it heats your bath water. It air-conditions movies and stores, and powers the wheels of most of the State's giant industries.

Quietly, unobtrusively the tiny blue flame has wrought a revolution resulting in a better, more convenient way of life for Texans. And you, our future customers, can continue to look to the gas industry for new developments in service as modern gas appliances help make tomorrow's living still better and more convenient.
