DEDICATION

The students of Texas College of Arts and Industries dedicate this 1959 El Rancho to Lola Keeney. For her, the best eulogy is not this dedication but the affection with which she will always be remembered by the thousands of persons who have known her during her years as a dormitory director at A&I.

.. ACTIVITIES

The little Javelina mascot is really rooting for A&I. Bill Brodnax and Zan Matthies keep watchful eyes on him.

Study? In the Tejas Room? Well, looks like Julie Dunten, David Patrick, and Mary Martha Miles are doing just that.

Thursday night! Bring on the Dateless Dance! Joe Frerking, in the middle, hams for the camera, and Mary Ann Sills smiles prettily.

The latest way to avoid studying at May Hall is spinning tops. Lefty Harold Krause winds up as Richard Tullis, Larry Valigura, David Zabel, Al Stock, Buzzy Murphy, Zan Matthies, and Kenneth Webber get excited.

Delores Marek means business, but Donna Kellogg thinks the whole thing is pretty funny.

Jan Wilson and Fred Hueber, Peggy Guion and Don DeSoto jitterbug at the Hallowe'en Carnival.

Freshmen have a blast at the class officer election as harried Student Council members count the waving arms.

Ila Kay Bumpers kids with Raby Hamilton and Curtis Shroyer as they look over the nearly-completed Agriculture Building.

Pat Pollock and Barbara Petry explore the Fine Arts Center, now under construction.

Sheri Poignee serves punch to Susan Witten at the AWS Big-Little Sister adoption ceremonies.

ONE-two, ONE-two, OOOhhh—Ann Malone and June Berry use up enough energy to justify having a coke.

Press Clubbers Kay Ashworth, Bobby Whatley, Kay Cramer, and David Patrick work on a Dad's Day sign. The campus was covered with signs put up by organizations, both on Dad's Day and on Homecoming weekend.

Mudpit madness infects everyone after the Homecoming bonfire. W. L. Brown and Bill Copin are among the more recognizable mudhogs during the traditional tug-of-war.

Jean McKim, Homecoming Queen for 1958-59, and her escort, William Jancha, leave the football field after the half-time presentation.

Familiar faces take on many different—and quite interesting—expressions during a pep rally. Anyone recognize Lou Ann Thompson, Myrna Kay McGregor, Elaine Elliff, Farris Schmidt—or the freshman in the reflective pose?

A large crowd enjoys the Homecoming Dance. Among the couples are Teri Martinez and Pots Alaniz, Alton Gene Wills and his date, and Rodney Robb and Earlyne Bailey.

Aw, fellers! Have a heart! Richard Gibby looks like a sick Fish as Jack Bond adds another layer of enamel. Ray Schneider and Mickey Kuhn watch the painting with great respect. The Shirrtail Parade is about to begin!!

And off they go! Fish swarm Larry Erlar and let him feel the cool night air on his legs.

In a saner moment, students dance at the Aggie Christmas Dance. Peggy Guion, Bobby Birdwell, Jackie Prescott, Carroll Wilbanks, Carolyn Shelton, and Byron Russell dance to the Western music.

Streamers fly, students cheer, and pandemonium is king at the funniest event of the year—the Shirrtail Parade.

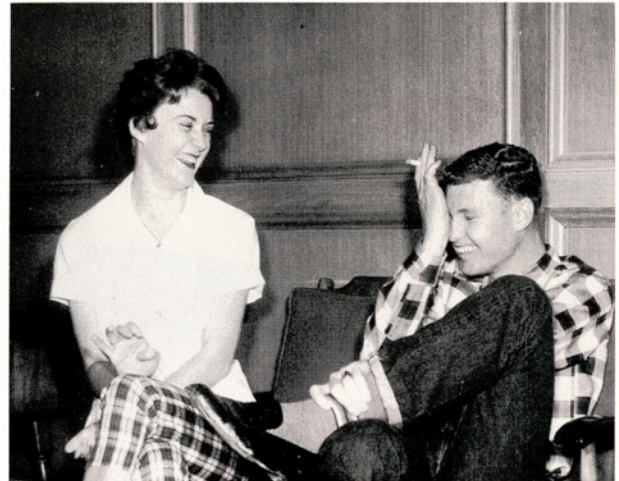

The Freshman Follies for 1958 included such acts as this German Band. Ann Malone, Lynn Barker, Angel Herrera, Larry Smith, and Floyd Kilgore fail to notice drummer Richard Gibby's extra-curricular pastime.

At the Foreign Students' Tea, Shirley Santi and Al Webbe exchange notes on their homelands as Joe Issa, Captain Harold Wood, and Dr. Charles Bajza listen.

Fred Buri stole the Follies with his smooth songs and the accompaniment of the Accidentals, Don Culpepper, Robert Anderson, Ronny Smith, and Norris Crownover.

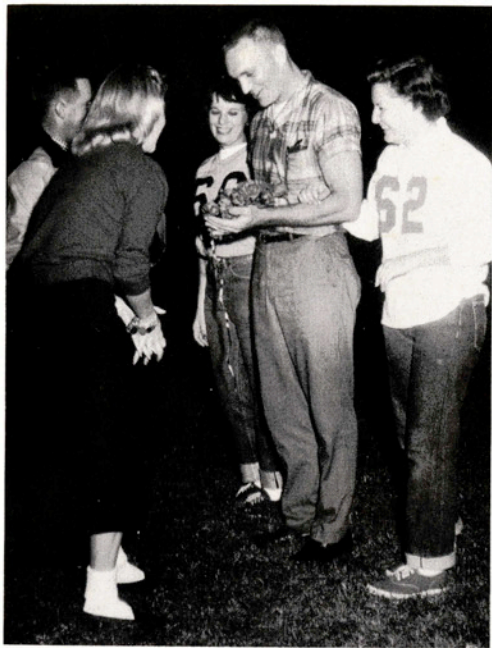

David Myers must have really pulled a boo-boo, judging from the expressions on his and Mary Kaye Hellums' faces!

The Kappa Sigs are in fine form for their tent show—as witness Can-Canners Ronny Edwards, Jim Ringold, Floyd Kilgore, Don Culpepper, Mike Baldwin, Dave Howe.

Several Alices in Wonderland enjoy the Alpha Sigma rush party. Barbara Cornelius, Beverly Wright, Roxy Weaver, Billie Yarbrough, Martha Bollinger, and Judi Scarbrough eat and look.

Ellie Burkhardt presents Powder Puff King Billy White with a bouquet as his escorts Barbara Carey and Sheri Poignee look on with glee.

Nancy Howell tries to evade Penny Potter as Norma Thomas screams encouragement.

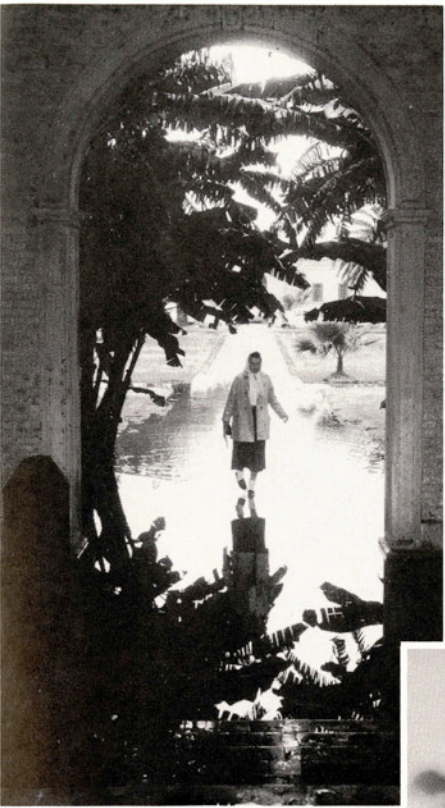

Bob Lobaugh and Mary Martha Miles supervise the Lantana election while Annette Moerbe, Barbara Carey, and Johnny Rocha cast votes for their favorite candidates.

Thrill of a lifetime — Kaye Riebschlager finds out that she has just become a Lantana Lady. Tina Wood, Juliet Moon, Margie Lowrance, Shirley Salge, and Donna Kellogg go wild with her.

Buzzy Murphy and Ann Lewis sing Christmas Carols at the May Hall Christmas Party. The mirror reflects Jimmy Gopffarth, Mary Frances Disbro, Buddy Lynum, and other carolers.

Who will ever forget A&I's flooded campus? Sheri Poignee wades through the puddles to get to class. Wouldn't it be easier to just cut?

Up, up, UP, goes the line on the kiss-o-meter as John Henry records the united efforts of Dovie McDonald and James Jay at the annual Backwards Dance.

Study time always comes around. Here we find Tommy Barnes concentrating with the microscope.

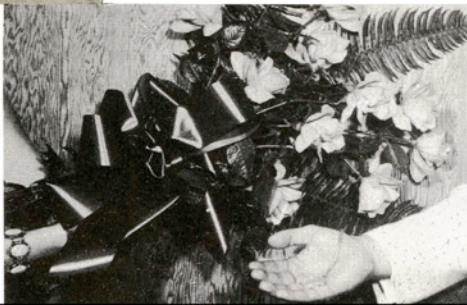

Lynn Barker and Bobby Brown pose for El Rancho's ubiquitous photographer.

The Inter-Sorority Presentation Dance is enjoyed. The music comes by courtesy of the Blue Notes.

The A Cappella Choir tours with forty singers. Its membership includes future concert musicians, music teachers, engineers, ranchers, coaches, home economists, business executives, secretaries, actors, and journalists. Programs by the choir include traditional A Cappella literature, contemporary and secular works.

The Madrigal Singers are a group of sixteen students who are selected by rigorous tryouts. The ensemble traditionally sings by candlelight and are well-versed. This ensemble not only provides a portion of full-length tour programs but also presents separate concerts on request.

"Get Me to the Church on Time," implore these A&I singers. Al Holub, with Judy Mika and Jessica Luckie, is the center of attention.

A green but talented bunch of Javelinas overcame early setbacks with fine spirit and went on to demolish an aerial-minded group of Tarpons 37-14 in Javelina Stadium. Chief instigator of the massacre was Charles Massey, a 5-11 transfer from A&M. The powerful-yet-speedy blockbuster rambled for 128 yards on but 12 carries. And even more important than his total gain was his ability to come up with the long run when it was needed . . .

The Lamar Tech Cardinals rebounded from two disastrous defeats to crush the Javelinas 14 - 0 in Beaumont.

Although the Cardinals used the airways to good advantage most of the night, their two touchdowns were mainly earned via the ground route. Both scores came in the second quarter.

The bright spot in the Hogs' offensive showing was the fine passing of Jamie Davis . . .

The Howard Payne Yellow Jackets were stung as they fell before the Javelinas 21-6 in Javelina Stadium. The biggest problem faced by the Paynemen all night long was that of J. D.

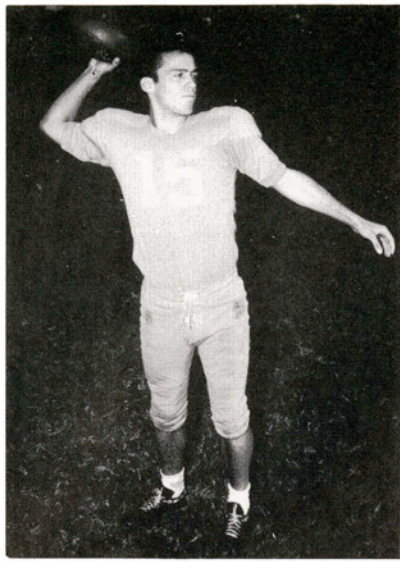

In this case the initials stand for Jamie Davis, not juvenile delinquency. Davis ran for 149 yards and passed for 150 more . . .

Billy Davis keeps coming on with some help from the rear.

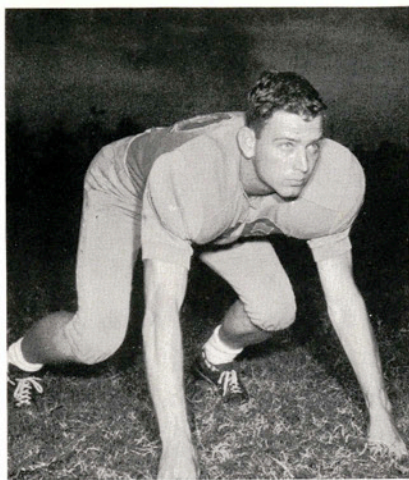

The Texas A&I Javelinas wound up their 1958 football season in Mexico City by taking a wide open, razzle-dazzle 27-0 win off the National University of Mexico Pumas. The game was played in the Olympic Stadium on the National University campus before a crowd of around 25,000.

The Javelinas left the Mexico City fans breathless in more ways than one. The Hogs threw 29 passes and completed 16 for 275 yards and three of their four touchdowns . . .

AND THE CAMPUS GREETS

Early-birds Elaine Eliff, Farris Schmidt, J. B. McMenemy, Nolan Kunkel, and Jean McKim arrived early Friday morning to welcome visitors to Lantana. J. B. is wondering if maybe he was one bird who was too early. In other scenes (clockwise):

A group of ROTC Cadets hopefully attach a sign to one of the many convertibles that were to be used in the Saturday parade. Then the rain came.

Coronation night finds the lobby of Jones Auditorium decorated with pictures of Lantana Court. Here a picture of Lady Sharon White gazes out over a handful of programs.

Queen Jean McKim and Ladies-in-Waiting Farris Schmidt and Elaine Eliff smilingly wait to greet the first arrivals at the Lantana reception.

When the sun finally came, two days late, the Lantana parade was ready to roll. Here a pair of lovely lasses, Duchesses Judi Scarborough of Eckhardt Hall and Nan Allen of the Newman Club, share a convertible for the long trek.

PRESENTATION OF

Nolan Kunkel crowns Jean McKim Queen of Lantana (above) as Queen Regent Manon Ray Murray, her escort Bill Kell, and her Ladies-in-Waiting Bobbie White and Jo Ann Pattillo watch.

Other scenes (counter-clockwise) show:

Lady Glenda of the house of Ortolon and her escort, Roy Charles Ortolon, representing French culture.

Lady Sharon of the house of White and her escort, James Graeber, representing Slavic culture.

Lady Jamie of the house of Falvella and her escort, Joe Frerking, representing Arabic culture.

Ladies of the Lantana Court and their escorts witness the program from an elevation to the left of the stage.

LANTANA COURT

Clockwise, Nolan Kunkel and Jean McKim bow before her subjects of Lantana Land.

Lady Kaye of the house of Riebschlager and her escort, Monroe Jungmann, representing Oriental culture.

Lady Georgia of the house of Green and her escort, Harold King, representing American culture.

Lady Joan of the house of Westmoland and her escort, Buzzy White, representing Spanish culture.

The Royal court: Queen Jean and Queen Regent Manon smile before the student body with their Ladies-in-waiting, Elaine Eliff, Farris Schmidt, and Jo Ann Pattillo. Following the coronation, Philip Hisey sang "Serenata" to Her Royal Majesty and presented her a bouquet of roses. The Coronation was climaxed, as always, by the singing of "Alma Mater."

BACKSTAGE BEDLAM . . . . .

Preparing costumes for the Coronation (above) are Anne Poteet, Mary Garrett, gown designer Horace Salinas, Doris Ann Brown, Gregoria Ramon, Frances Mircovich, and Miss Faye Bible.

Counter-clockwise:

Sharon White, Joan Westmoland, and Jean McKim must be sharing a joke while decorating the ramp.

Buddy Lester, Pete McDaniel, Carl Englerth, and Russell Johnson rig up that fascinating Japanese lantern for the "Sayonara" number.

Checking the controls behind the stage are harassed program chairmen Fred Bangasser and Kathy Davenport, helped by Jay Covington.

Butch Walker and Coranne Young paint a hill for the American culture scene.

... AND A POLISHED PROGRAM

Richard Titus (above) sings "The House I Live In" in one of the scenes that portray America in the Pageant of Peace. Helping him to portray American culture are Shirley Santi and Homer Ply, along with Arlene Puckett, and newsboy Casey Fawcus.

Clockwise:

Diane Garza belts out the torch song "C'est Ci Bon" in a Paris cafe. Can-can girls Flolyn Alexander and Elizabeth Heye listen and have a drink with their friends, Jim Siertle and Marvin Luce.

"Sayonara" is sweetly sung by Dru Shilling in an Oriental setting.

Ted Davenport, the sultry sultan, reigns over his harem of dancing girls—Lynn Ballard, Pat Pollock, Eloise Langen, Patty Browning, Dee Slovak, Margie Lowrance, and Becky Mobley.

Virginia Vollmering sings and dances to "Romany Life" with Keith Kanipe, Jerry Hintzman, Kris Tanner, Mary Ann Sills, Bette Neeley, and Pat Yeager.

TO CLIMAX EVENTS . . .

Pat Schmitt and Andy Robertson, Bill Richardson and Marie Watson (upper right) are among those preparing to leave Jones Auditorium after . . .

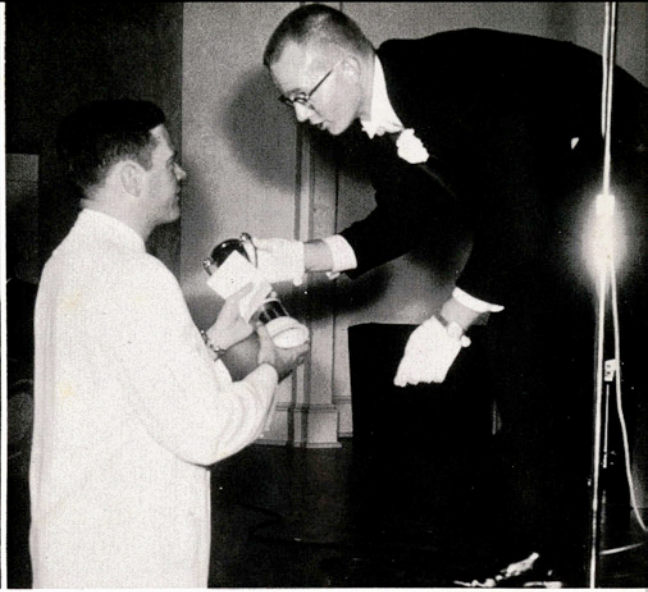

Jim Marcum, Coronation announcer, says the final words of the 1959 Lantana Coronation Program.

Continuing counter-clockwise: Kathy Davenport and Mrs. Al Brieger smile in relief as the Coronation Program comes to a very successful conclusion.

Then it's off to the Lantana Ball. Among the early arrivals are Bridget Richards and John Dube, Dottie Gilliam and Ross Lance.

Jane Hardy, Jerry Graver, Peggy Kirksey, and L. A. Malachek pause to look at the national trophies won by the A&I ROTC Rifle Team, which are on display in the SUB Lobby.

THE CORONATION BALL

Couples danced to the music of three bands from 10 till 1. Above left, Eloise Langen, Martha Davis, Diana Garza, Mrs. Christine Harris, and Jim Marcum are among the celebrants. Other dance scenes, clockwise, follow:

Stanley Carter receives the best sign trophy from Tau Delta Chi president Buzzy White, in behalf of Baugh Hall. The winning sign was a huge Buddha representing the Mysteries of the Orient.

Celebrants dance to the music of a combo in the Conference Room; many couples simply traveled from Conference Room to Ballroom to Tejas Room in order to get the most for their money.

Some like it hot—and hot the music became when the whole place started swinging during dances like this one.

Then it was over . . . Nolen Kunkel rehashes the evening with Barte Smith and Teresa Bauer as the last bitter-enders vacate the Union Building.

Queen Jean McKim, attended by Ladies-in-Waiting Elaine Elliff and Farris Schmidt, rides in regal splendor on the FFA-built "Pageant of Peace" float. Resting atop a replica of the globe is a white dove, symbol of peace the world over.

THE PARADE: THRU

Lady Jamie Falvella waves from underneath an Arabic tent on the APO-built float representing Arabic culture.

Lady Joan Westmoland looks down on a Spanish patio from her balcony. This float, built by Tau Delta Chi, typified Spanish culture.

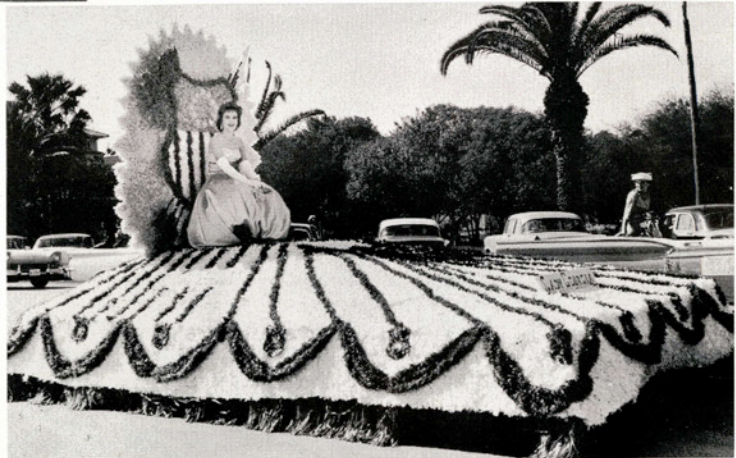

Lady Glenda Ortolon surveys the Eiffel Tower from beneath her Arc de Triomphe. This float, depicting the French culture, was built by the Business Administration Club.

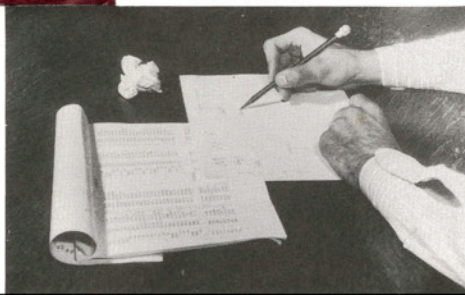

Lady Kaye Riebschlager sits amid the Japanese lanterns of an Oriental garden scene. Her float, depicting the Oriental cultures, was built by Alpha Tau Alpha.

RAIN AND COLD

Lady Georgia Green, representing the American culture, is framed against the red, white and blue Union shield. This float was built by the Junior Class.

Lady Sharon White visits with a pair of native-costumed puppets on the float depicting the Slavic culture. This float was built by the "T" Association.
