Agriculture Shows Increase of 25% In Hours Taught

The School of Agriculture showed an average 25 per cent increase in semester hours taught this year, with approximately 300 students majoring in an area of agriculture.

Two new programs were started this year with plans underway to initiate a third. For the first time a major in agricultural economics is being offered under the leadership of Dr. Donald M. Nixon.

A minor is now being offered in range management with the addition to the faculty of Lynn Drawe.

Ground plans were made this year to introduce a new program in meat science. School Dean Stanley Anderson hopes the program will be able to start next year.

One of the major projects of the School of Agriculture has been the expansion of the graduate program in the areas of plant and soil science and agricultural mechanization. More than 30 new graduate level courses have been added to the catalogue. There has been an increased research program to support the expansion.

Approval Given Graduate Major In Art Dept.

Big news in the art department this year was the approval received for a graduate major. The department had been able to offer graduate work only as a minor before. The first to receive a masters degree in the field of art was Trudy Loper.

An average of 700 students enrolled each semester in art courses. There were about 150 students either majoring or making art their major teaching field.

The main exhibit of the year was the graphics of German-born artist Juergen Strunck, now on the faculty of the University of Dallas.

Graduate Assistant Trudy Loper, in an outdoor sketching class, assists students.

An all-student work exhibit filled the gallery during November.

Bible Chairs Provide Knowledge, Service

Campus Christian Fellowship
Speakers, entertainment, dialogue and sensitivity groups were featured this year by CCF. Begun as an experiment in the fall, the sensitivity groups were so popular that 12 were set up during the spring and membership had to be limited to 15 per group.

Seven hours of Bible were offered each semester and 160 students enrolled during the year, according to Director Karl Brown.

Catholic Students Association
In addition to co-sponsoring the spring film series with CCF, the Catholic Bible Chair offered three

Pre-Cana conferences. These conferences, primarily for engaged couples, offer eight hours of pre-marriage counselling.

Nine hours of Bible courses were offered under the teaching of Rev. Casimir Jarzombek. A yearly total of 208 students enrolled.

Baptist Student Union
A new director joined the Baptist Student Union when Rev. Forrest Moorehead left at mid-term. Rev. Dean Mathis, formerly BSU director at El Centro College and TWU Nursing School in Dallas, replaced him. This year five Bible courses were offered with a total enrollment of 96.

The BSU is especially active in working with international students.

Church of Christ Bible Chair
This year Robert Skelton, director of the Church of Christ Bible Chair, taught Bible to 115 students.

One of the big efforts of the year came when students got the names of 25 families from the welfare rolls. They collected food, clothing and toys for every member of the 25 families, and throughout the year kept in contact with the children. This work fitted into the theme of the year, "Inspired Action."

BSU students worked with neighborhood children in weekly teaching sessions.

Biology Begins Marine Specialization

The window exhibits featured preserved specimens of the human fetus. These specimens were donated by the Memorial Hospital, Corpus Christi.

This fall the Department of Biology began its master's specialization area in marine biology, according to Dr. John T. Peacock, chairman. Also, the wildlife program is now at master's degree level.

The Biological department strives to provide a good broad background in biological sciences involving both plant and animal life and is geared more towards field problems than laboratory studies.

The department has nine full-time members and all of them except one has a doctor's degree. New to the biology faculty this year is Dr. Carl E. Wood, whose field is marine biology. Eleven graduate assistants who teach labs and make up exams complete the department personnel.

There are 194 biology majors this year, a record number.

Business Faculty Teaches in Nine Major Areas

Students are taught to type with both speed and accuracy.

The School of Business Administration, located on the second floor of Manning Hall, is headed by Dean Dennis B. Ford. It has 24 full-time faculty members.

The school is the fastest growing of six schools in the university and offers nine different major fields of study which include: accounting, economics, engineering-business administration, electronic data processing, finance, marketing, management, pre-law, and secretarial science.

Currently there are 1,302 business majors and over 100 graduate students attending the school. There are eight students attending on Central Power & Light Co. scholarships and many others are using grants from Humble and Gulf oil companies.

Over 200 job interviews are set up per year for business majors through the general placement office.

Students Use Five New Laboratories

The Chemistry Department of Texas A&I will have 60 majors this year, an increase of 5 percent over last year. In the last 15 years, 22 chemistry majors from A&I have gone on to complete their Ph.D.'s in several major universities.

Five laboratories formerly occupied by the biology department have been converted into chemistry laboratories at an expenditure of about $75,000 this year.

The Robert A. Welch Foundation of Houston sends an outstanding chemist to the campus each year for the Welch Lecture. Lecturers in the past have come from Stanford, Dartmouth, University of California at Berkeley, and Arizona State University.

Engineering may seem like a foreign language to most students, but 812 don't think so. Many of the students in the program are from foreign countries.

The School of Engineering is headed by Dr. Frank H. Dotterweich and the department is sub-divided into three areas, General Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Chemical and Natural Gas Engineering.

Many things attract students to the engineering field, among them the caliber of the personnel and the scholarships being offered. There are two scholarships offered to underclassman but the number increases to five for upperclassman.

The Victoria, Alice, and Rio Grande Valley Chapters of the American Petroleum Institute offer one of the many Engineering Scholarships for upperclassmen majoring in petroleum and natural gas engineering with the only stipulation being that the recipient must reside in the areas that are chaptered and must be chosen by the chapter.

410 Earn Bachelor's Degrees in 1970

Texas A&I's Education Department has a thirty-one percent enrollment increase over last year. In the class of 1970 there will be 410 education graduates.

The Education Department holds area workshops for schoolboard members, cooperating teachers and other professional groups. It sponsors the National Teacher Corps teams and conducts summer workshops for teachers of migrant students. During the summer special workshops in reading, science, and social studies, and school administration are held.

This year three members of the Education Department were selected for more responsible university positions. Johnny L. Johnson became full-time, university-wide placement director, Manuel Salinas became assistant to President James C. Jernigan and Dr. Billy F. Cowart is now director of the Texas A&I Laredo Branch

The Education Department sponsors the Student Education Association, a professional organization for all prospective teachers, and the Association for Childhood Education.

Gain in Enrollment Initiates New Projects

With the ever increasing number of students enrolling as English majors, the English Department has been enlarged by four new faculty members, with three others being brought in as replacements.

The 13 percent English major increase and faculty enlargements prompted many classes to be held in other buildings. It also was responsible for the movement of a few instructors' offices into other buildings.

Along with the increase came new courses such as Transformational Grammar, T. S. Elliot, and Modern British Fiction.

Texas A&I's English Department also sponsored this year's annual conference of the Texas Joint English Committee For School and College (District I and II).

Dr. Wayne Gunn this year undertook the project of coming out periodically with an English Department Newsletter.

An advisory board to assist graduate assistants and beginning teachers also came into being. The board, which is composed of experienced teachers and headed by Mrs. Elsa Howard, attempts to help students and new teachers with problems that they might encounter in the classroom.

A literary magazine also made the English scene this year. The magazine, which was solely financed by the department and magazine sales, was handled entirely by the students.

Jerry Ellison served as literary editor, with Carmen Garza serving as art editor.

1,000 Students Take Geography, Geology Courses

There were approximately 1,000 students enrolled in geography and geology classes this fall. The department is one of the youngest at A&I, being started in 1965.

In keeping with the overall objectives of the University, offerings in geography and geology specifically planned to meet the needs of those wishing an introduction to geography or desiring to major or minor in geography for cultural purposes and those who plan training toward a career in geographic teaching and research.

Students study rock specimens in geology laboratories.

Government Dept. Offers Students 35 Courses; Has 45 Do Graduate Work

The Government Department offers students 35 courses ranging from local and state to national and international processes of government.

Both bachelor's and master's degrees are available to student's wishing a degree in government. The department offers the six hours of government required of all majors.

There were approximately 4,596 students enrolled in government classes this fall. There were 170 majoring in the field, and 45 students were doing graduate work.

Among the new courses being offered this year are History of American Political Parties and Scope and Method in Political Science.

HPE Boasts Enrollment of 2,643 During Fall Semester; Has 252 Majors

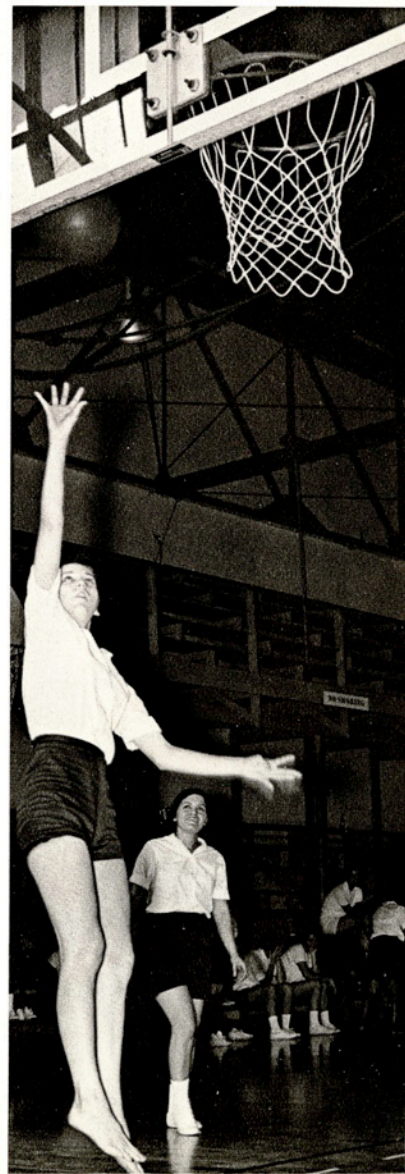

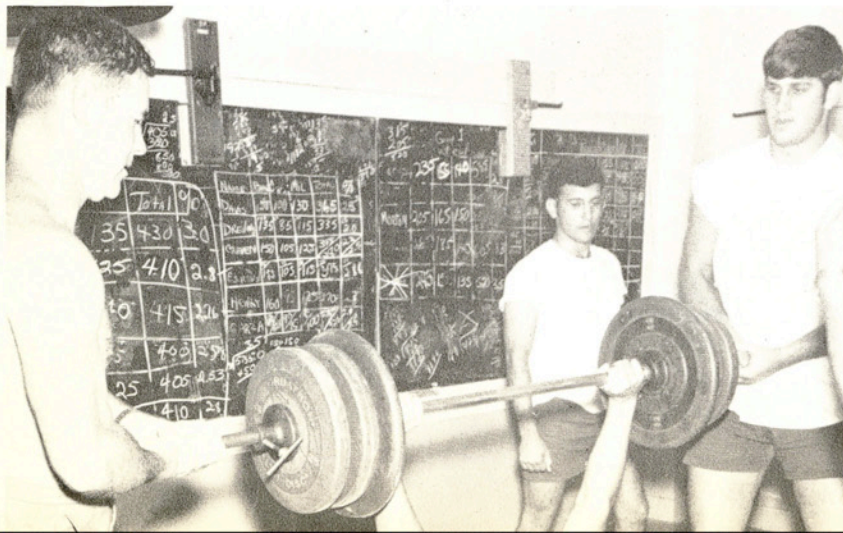

There were approximately 2,643 students which registered for Health and Physical Education classes this fall. Of these about 252 are majoring in this field.

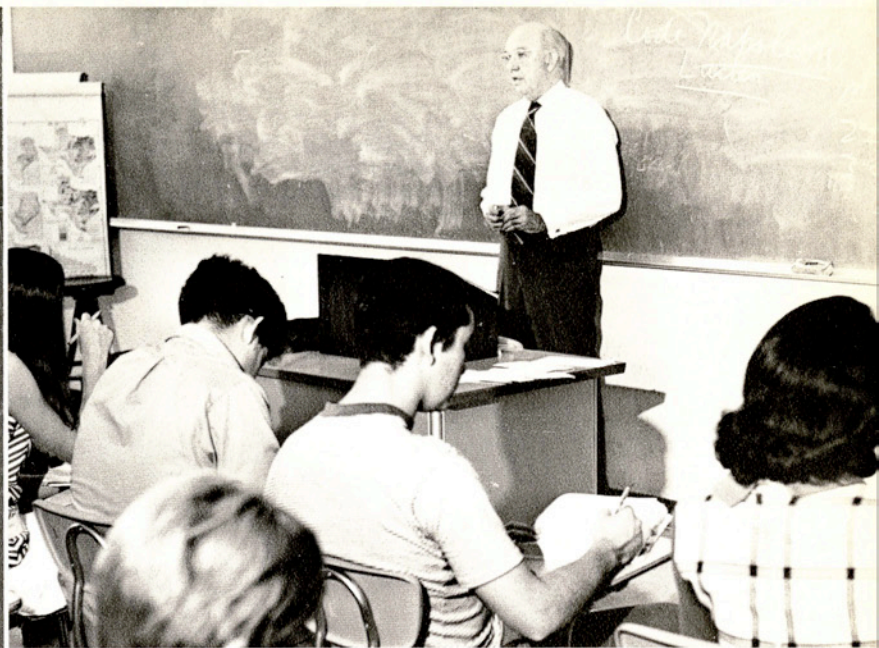

Four hours of physical education are required for graduation. All freshmen and sophomores are required to take physical education.

There is one scholarship being offered at the present time by the H. P. E. Club. It provides one tuition scholarship annually to upper division majors. Selection is made on the basis of scholarship, need, and club participation.

Laverne Clark is the only new addition to the faculty, according to Dr. Eldon D. Brinley, chairman. There are a number of graduate assistants: Dennis Jones; Kathryn Petrus; Frank Airington, assistant basket ball coach; Julia Keepers, dance school; Frank Kelly and Billie Martinez.

Weight lifting students under the direction of Coach Jonas learn the basic principles of properly using weights for muscle building.

History Dept. Has Two New Courses; Philosophy Taught

This year the History Department offered two new courses to students, Afro-American History and History of the Mexican-American in the Southwest.

The department had approximately 90 majors.

Annexed to the History Department in matters of paperwork for the present is the brand new subject on campus, Philosophy. Taught by Robert L. Boothe, in its first year two courses were offered—Introduction to Philosophy and Logic. Approximately 150 students a semester enrolled. Plans are being made to add a third course next year.

A step-child of the History Department is the John E. Conner Museum. Director Beth Baker is a member of the history faculty.

During the last two years the museum has been completely reorganized, with attractive modern displays put in. It will be specializing in 19th Century South Texas history and special collections, most of which have been loaned.

Home Economics Has 250 Majors

This year 250 coeds were majoring in home economics. The department tries to prepare the girls for marriage, homemaking and parenthood as well as work in professional fields.

Courses are designed to prepare students for professional work in the areas of dietetics or nutrition, home demonstration work, home economists with businesses, home economics teaching, and clothing and textiles work in buying, merchandising, retailing, designing and constructing garments and household furnishings.

The new Industrial Arts building was completed in time for spring semester classes.

Purses featuring individual artwork were popular with coeds.

Teaching the proper respect for power tools is basic in IA.

New IA Facilities Open at Mid-Term; Students Increase

A new building with expanded facilities sent enrollment in industrial arts courses skyrocketing. There was a 21 per cent increase in enrollment between the fall and spring semesters. With the new facilities class loads did not have to be restricted as severely as before.

Classes moved into the new IA building at mid-term. The building, costing about $346,193, has one of the most modern audiovisual plans in the Southwest. New equipment for the building cost $70,000.

There were 144 students majoring in industrial arts through the Division of Teacher Education.

In May the department sponsors an Industrial Arts Fair for junior high and high school students from the area who bring their work in to be judged. A&I students help judge the entries. The Fair is a three-day event.

In the summer arts and crafts workshops are offered which are geared to the needs of elementary school teachers.

Press Association Helps to Increase Influence

Guile Gonzalez (L) was the first student to receive the $200 Ed Erard Scholarship. The Scholarship was set up to aid a worthy A&I student majoring in journalism. Dr. James Herring, journalism director, presented Gonzalez the scholarship.

Establishment of the South Texas High School Press Association and of the Ed Erard Journalism scholarship during the past year has extended the influence of the A&I journalism program.

The high school press association was created for the purpose of improving high school publications and to provide educational opportunities to high school journalism students through workshops and other activities sponsored in cooperation with A&I.

The Erard scholarship was set up to aid a worthy A&I student majoring in journalism. The $200 scholarship, awarded each semester to the recipient in $100 allotments, was donated by Ed Erard, publisher of the Kingsville-Bishop Record-News. Guile Gonzalez, Falfurrias senior, was the first to receive the scholarship.

This year also marked the first time the News Service and Journalism departments have been separated on campus. Bill Holmes became news service director and Fred Neusch sports information director. The news service is located in room 115A in Nierman Hall.

Fred Neusch offers advice to the South Texan staff. Judy Simeik and Mary Molina serve on staff of one of three publications sponsored by the department.

Students Help Operate Library

Students find the quiet of the library a congenial place to study.

Texas A&I students play a large role in manning the James C. Jernigan Library. About 60 students are on the library staff to assist the fellow students who seek its use.

The library opens its doors to approximately 1,250 students each day. It has a capacity of 1,300.

Open 85 hours a week, the library affords the students more time for use than other colleges and universities in Texas. On the average, Texas college libraries are open 83 hours a week.

Built in 1968, the library is an air-conditioned two-story building consisting of over 90,000 square feet of usable space.

The book document, serial and inter-term holdings of the library now exceed 200,000 volumes. According to Head Librarian Paul Goode, the library has a capacity of 500,000 volumes.

Professors Compose Versatile Department

What's he doing now?

"Any questions, class?"

Seventeen faculty members, each with a degree from a different University, make the Mathematics Department one of the most versatile departments on campus.

Degrees in the department range from Notre Dame University, to Texas University and back to Texas A&I University.

With an expanding over-all enrollment at A&I, an increase is expected in the number of degrees in mathematics conferred over the 19 bachelor's last May, and the 10 last August. At the graduate level there were three master's degrees in May and seven in August.

Last year there were 2,240 students taking 6,720 semester hours, 66 of them graduate hours.

A highlight of last year was presentation of a paper by Dr. Phillip S. Morey Jr. at the 75th annual meeting of the American Mathematics Society in New Orleans. The paper was titled, "A Generalization of Extensors."

ROTC Represents University In Extracurricular Activities

The ROTC at Texas A&I University plays a dual role in the school function. Not only does the Corps train its men in various fields of Military Science, but also it participates as a composite of units which represent the University.

This year, approximately one-half of the 50 seniors enrolled in ROTC plan to graduate in May. The remainder are to graduate in August.

There are several extracurricular units within the Corps organization which are composed of students who devote additional time and effort to these units.

Among these are the ROTC Band which performs as an integral part of the Corps and separately in various parades in Texas.

The Ranger unit, formed during the 1965-66 school year, is designed to give its members extra training in tactics and counter-guerrilla operations. This year marks the first time for the Ranger unit to visit Fort Sam Houston and the facilities at Camp Bullis.

The Drill Team, organized to provide a marching unit to represent the Corps, performs in parades and precision drill competitions in the Fourth Army Area.

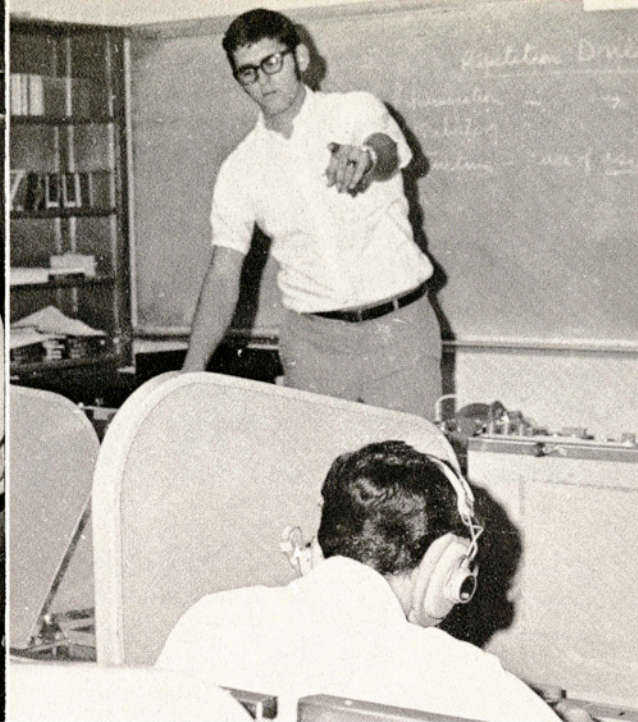

The Rifle Team competes in matches over Texas and in national meets. This year the team hosted its 10th Annual Postal Match here at A&I.

Terry Stanfield receives a Distinguished Military Student award from Dr. Jernigan aided by Col. Pederson and Sgt. Stambaugh.

The ROTC Band plays "Sound Off" and marches for the Dad's Day pre-game ceremony.

Majors in Modern Languages Grow To 161; 30 Graduate in Class of '70

This year the Department of Modern Languages grew to 161 majors, with a fall enrollment of 1,507. This was a 10 per cent increase over 1968-69. Among the 30 majors graduating this year, three will be the first to receive B.A. degrees in French.

The aims of the department are to help students develop listening, speaking, reading and writing skills and acquaint them with the civilizations of the Spanish, French and German languages.

Contemporary Music is Featured at Festival

The stress fell on contemporary music this year in the Music Department with the Contemporary Music Symposium highlighting the department's contributions to the Fine Arts Festival.

A Jazz Workshop was held this year, and new courses in Composition, Advanced Analysis, Piano Pedagogy, and Chamber Music were added to the curriculum, according to Dr. Thomas C. Pierson, department chairman.

This year there were 135 undergraduate and graduate majors. Twenty-three were scheduled to graduate in May.

Joining the music faculty this year was the distinguished pianist Dr. Jan Drathe. Planned for the summer of 1970 was a Seminar in Piano Performance conducted by Dr. Drathe.

Additional Enrollment Calls for More Teachers

This year marks the largest enrollment the Department of Psychology and Sociology has ever had. The total enrollment in psychology was 1140, while there are 794 in sociology during the fall semester.

Out of these numbers, 72 students were majoring in psychology while 119 were majoring in sociology. Thirty-one seniors planned to graduate in May.

Instructors who were teaching their first year at A&I during 1969-70 were Loren Davis; Dr. Robert Sekerak; Dr. Darwin Nelson, a part-time instructor; and Caroline Vet-ters.

The growing need for additional faculty members brought about by the steady increase of students majoring in psychology or sociology has helped in making the department the fourth largest in the university.

Physics 413 Quantum Theory Offered First Time To Texas A&I Students

This year Physics 413 Quantum Theory was offered for the first time to Texas A&I students, and there was a new addition to the faculty in Dr. James Tylicki.

Two night lectures were given this past year. Dr. R. W. Miers of Texas Tech spoke on the "Magnetic Properties of Crystals" and Dr. Raymond L. Kozub of Texas A&M spoke on "The Texas A&M Cyclotron Facility."

Significant revisions in lab experiments and procedures were made by the physics department. They introduced more sophisticated techniques at an earlier stage to students.

Physics 202 lab in electricity and magnetism allows the students to verify, through experimentation, theoretical predictions of electrical circuitry and laws.

New Courses Added to Department's Offerings

New subjects taught this year in the Speech and Drama Department include a voice and diction course for stage, an advanced acting class, and a radio and t.v. scriptwriting class.

For the first time A&I has a campus radio station, KTAI. Over the past several months it has been broadcasting in the speech and art buildings over a closed circuit. By January however, facilities were to be completed for a campus-wide f.m. broadcasting station.

New on the faculty are two members. They are Donna Tobias, who was formerly in the English department, and Larry Life, who teaches a beginning speech course and helps with costumes for the Drama department.

Several plays were produced by the department this year. They are "The Tempest;" "Playboy of the Western World;" "Dark of the Moon;" "The Emperor's New Clothes;" "Camino Real;" and "Antigone." Various one-act plays were also presented.

There are 85 students majoring in speech and/or drama.

Citrus Center Grows 400 Varieties; Develops New Variety of Grapefruit

One of the little known areas of the Division of Agriculture is the Texas A&I Citrus Center, located on 240 acres at Weslaco. There over 400 varieties of citrus are grown, and research projects connected with citrus production are carried out.

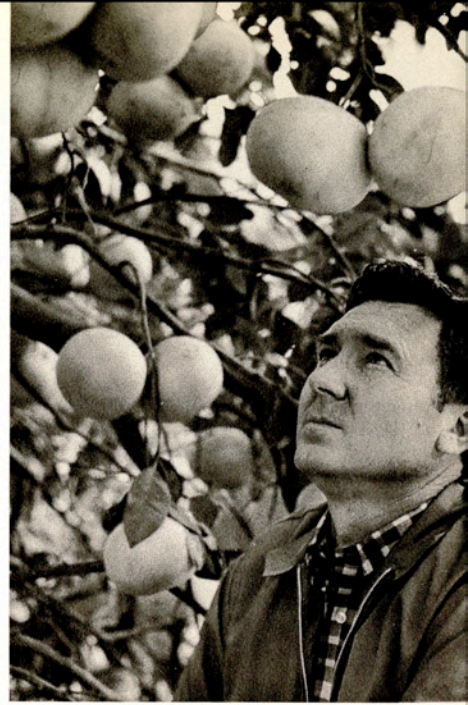

The high point of this year has been the revelation of a new variety of grapefruit developed by Dr. Richard A. Hensz, director of the Center. The new variety is superior in color for both fresh and processed fruit to the popular Ruby Red variety. A darker red color, the grapefruit is also firmer fleshed than the Ruby Red.

Dr. John E. Fucik is studying the effect of magnetic field on the growth of citrus seedlings. Started in July, 1968, he is checking for effect on freeze hardiness, flower bud formation, and fruiting.

The new variety in grapefruit, the first new variety in years, is the result of work started by Dr. Hensz in 1959. After 10 years of development in order to have the deep red color, the firm flesh and seedlessness, bud wood was released to citrus growers this spring.

Four classes a year are held at the Center: Orchard Soils, Citrus Production, Citrus Entomology, and General Horticulture. Each year 70-80 students enroll, most of whom are citrus growers from the Valley.

In an effort to aid area growers the four faculty members of the Center appeared weekly on KURV, KRGV and KRGV-TV on agriculture programs. They also held a half-day school for 400 growers in the spring.

A misting process is being tested to see if it speeds the growth of grapefruit cuttings which have been planted in an artificial rooting medium. The leaves always have a film of water as they are misted every six minutes for 30 seconds for 12 hours a day.

Pickers select mature fruit with the use of a measuring ring.

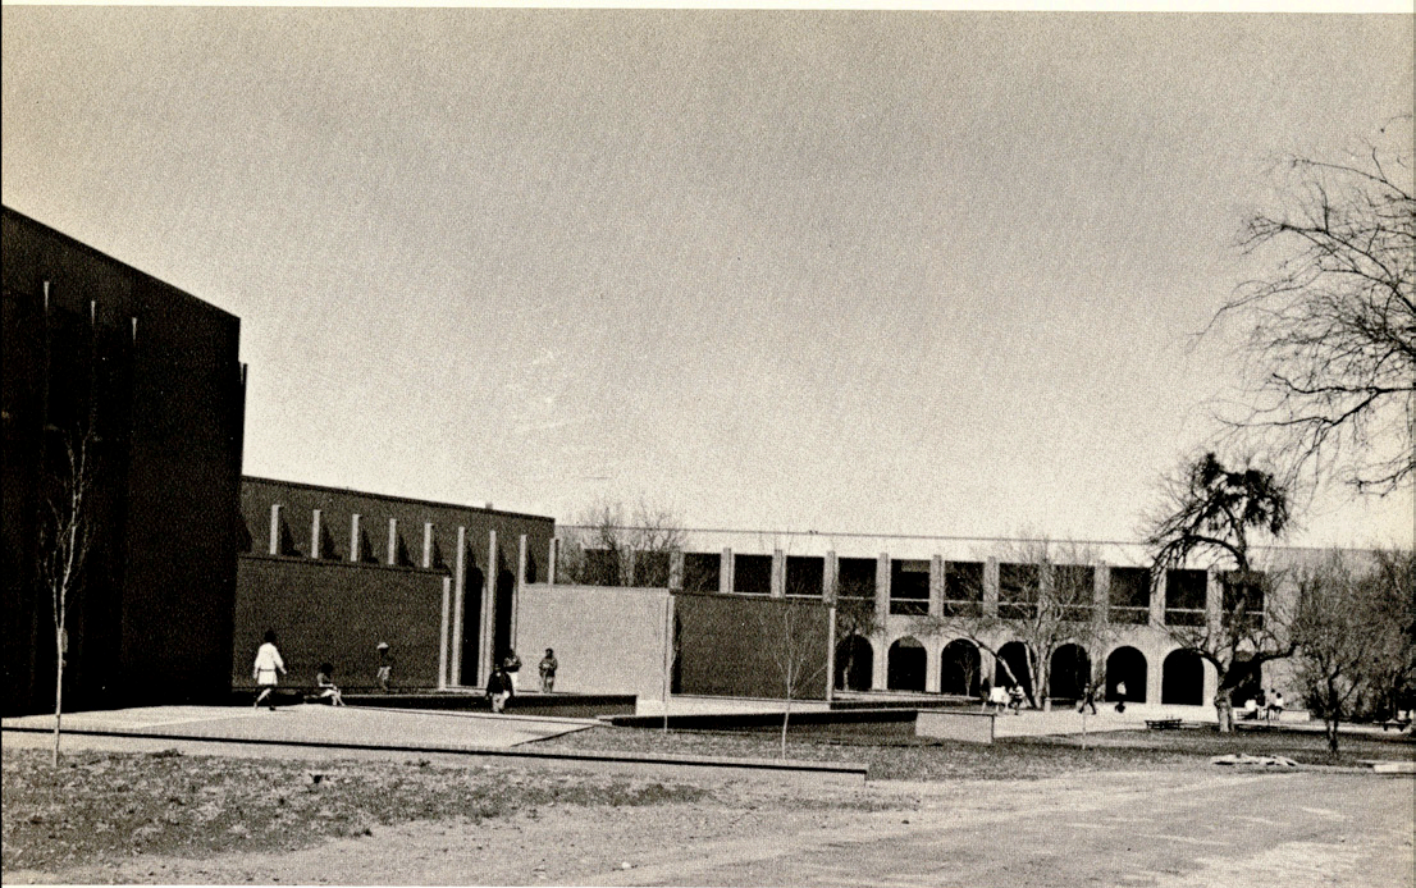

Grapefruits are sent through the sizer at the packing shed to be sorted into three categories.

Dr. Hensz checks the rain gauge. Rain and thermograph records have been kept since the early 1950's.

The Center has one of the most extensive libraries on citrus horticulture in the state. Mrs. Jean Franklin, in charge, assists Dr. Fucik.

A complex of six new buildings have been erected within the last year at Laredo Junior College.

Oldest building on campus is the old jail, now used by the maintenance staff as a storage area.

The one building required by the U.S. Government to be left standing by college authorities is the old chapel, now a bookstore.

Higher Education Experiment Starts in Laredo

An experiment in higher education began this year with the groundwork being layed for Texas A&I University at Laredo.

In a new educational concept, A&I will be experimenting with the feasibility of renting classroom and office space from a junior college and offering junior and senior level courses.

Director of the Laredo center is Dr. Billy F. Cowart. This year he has been overseeing the hiring of 15 new faculty members to staff the Laredo center and working with Laredo Junior College officials in setting up the program. Since no other college in Texas has such a program, completely new problems are being faced and original guidelines are being worked out.

Dr. Cowart expects to have 300 students enroll at the Laredo center next year. Courses in Spanish, English, government, history, mathematics and business administration will be offered which lead to bachelors degrees in education and business administration.

One of the problems facing Dr. Cowart involves student activities. Since there are no dormitories and no football teams, student activities will be of a different nature than those on the main campus.

Another problem is with the library. The first faculty member hired was Clifford Dawdy, librarian, who has been working between the Kingsville and Laredo campuses this year. He is purchasing $50,000 worth of volumes for the Laredo center. The books will be housed in the Harold R. Yeary Library, completed on the campus in February, 1969, along with the books of the junior college. The confusing part comes for the student when he is searching for a book — A&I uses the Library of Congress catalogue system while Laredo Junior College uses the Dewey decimal system.

Laredo Junior College is on the site of old Fort McKintosh, started in 1849. It became a junior college under the leadership of the Independent School District of Laredo in 1946. The campus has 146 acres and 32 buildings, many of them part of the old fort. A recent building program has added six air conditioned modern facilities.

Laredo Junior College officials feel that the Texas A&I branch will be of benefit to their college.

According to Dean Domingo Archiga the junior college administration believes they will be able to hold more of their sophomore students and will be able to increase their course offerings on the freshman and sophomore level.

Since most of the Laredo students transfer to Texas A&I because it is so close to Laredo, all questions of transfer can now be handled right on campus and the student will be able to transfer without ever leaving home. The financial advantage to the community can't be under estimated, says Dean Archiga. A student leaving his hometown to attend college takes $1,500-1,800 a year out of the community.

Librarian Clifford Dawdy has the responsibility of stocking A&I's Laredo library.

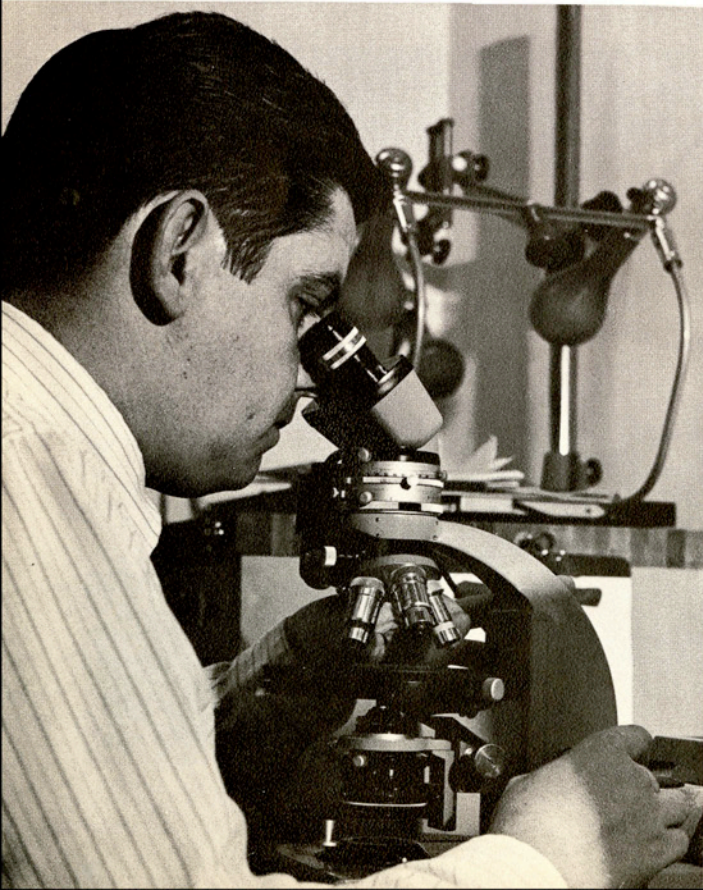

Director of the Laredo Center is Dr. Billy F. Cowart, former member of the education faculty and Upward Bound director.

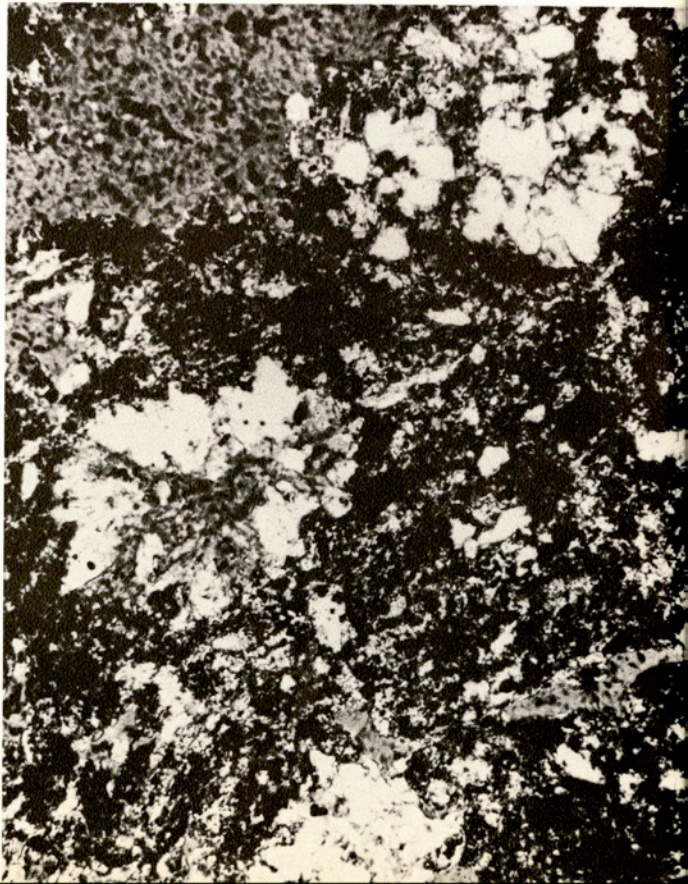

Dr. Paul A. Thayer uses a rock saw in the first step of preparing slide specimens.

The slides are viewed through a petrographic polarizing microscope.

Limestone under polarized light creates a psychedelic pattern.

Dr. Thayer and M. J. Gooch measure dimensions of scratch marks made by the wind to tell wind direction. This technique is used in reconstructing the environment of a geological region millions of years ago.

Young Field of Geology Offers Minor

Geology at Texas A&I is still a young, slowly developing field. Students may now minor in the subject which offers six courses.

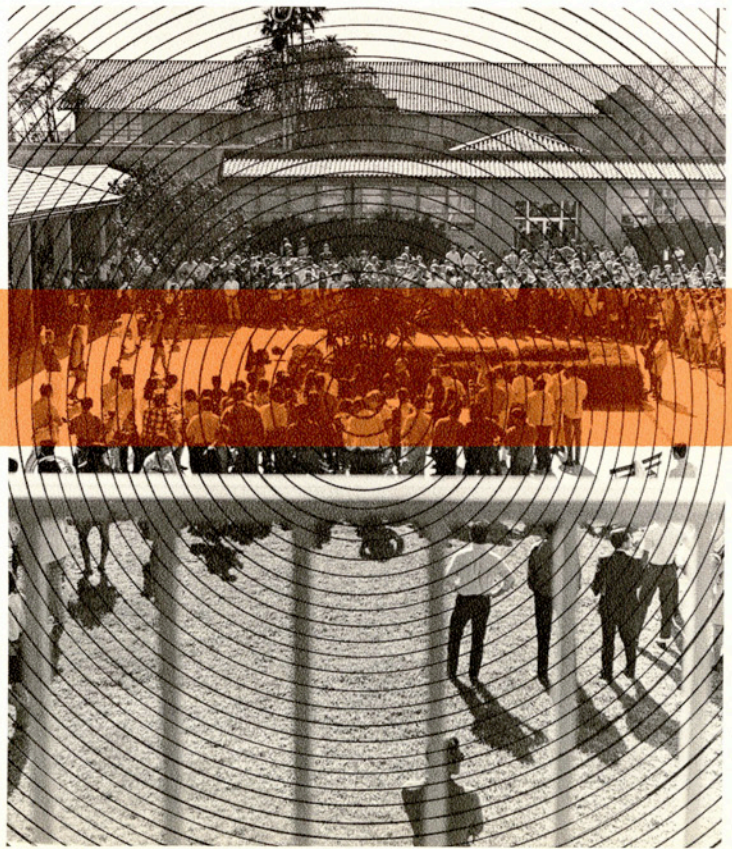

Enrollment in geology courses has averaged about 500 a semester. It is a popular course with freshmen as a science requirement choice. The field is a service field for students in engineering, biology and geography.

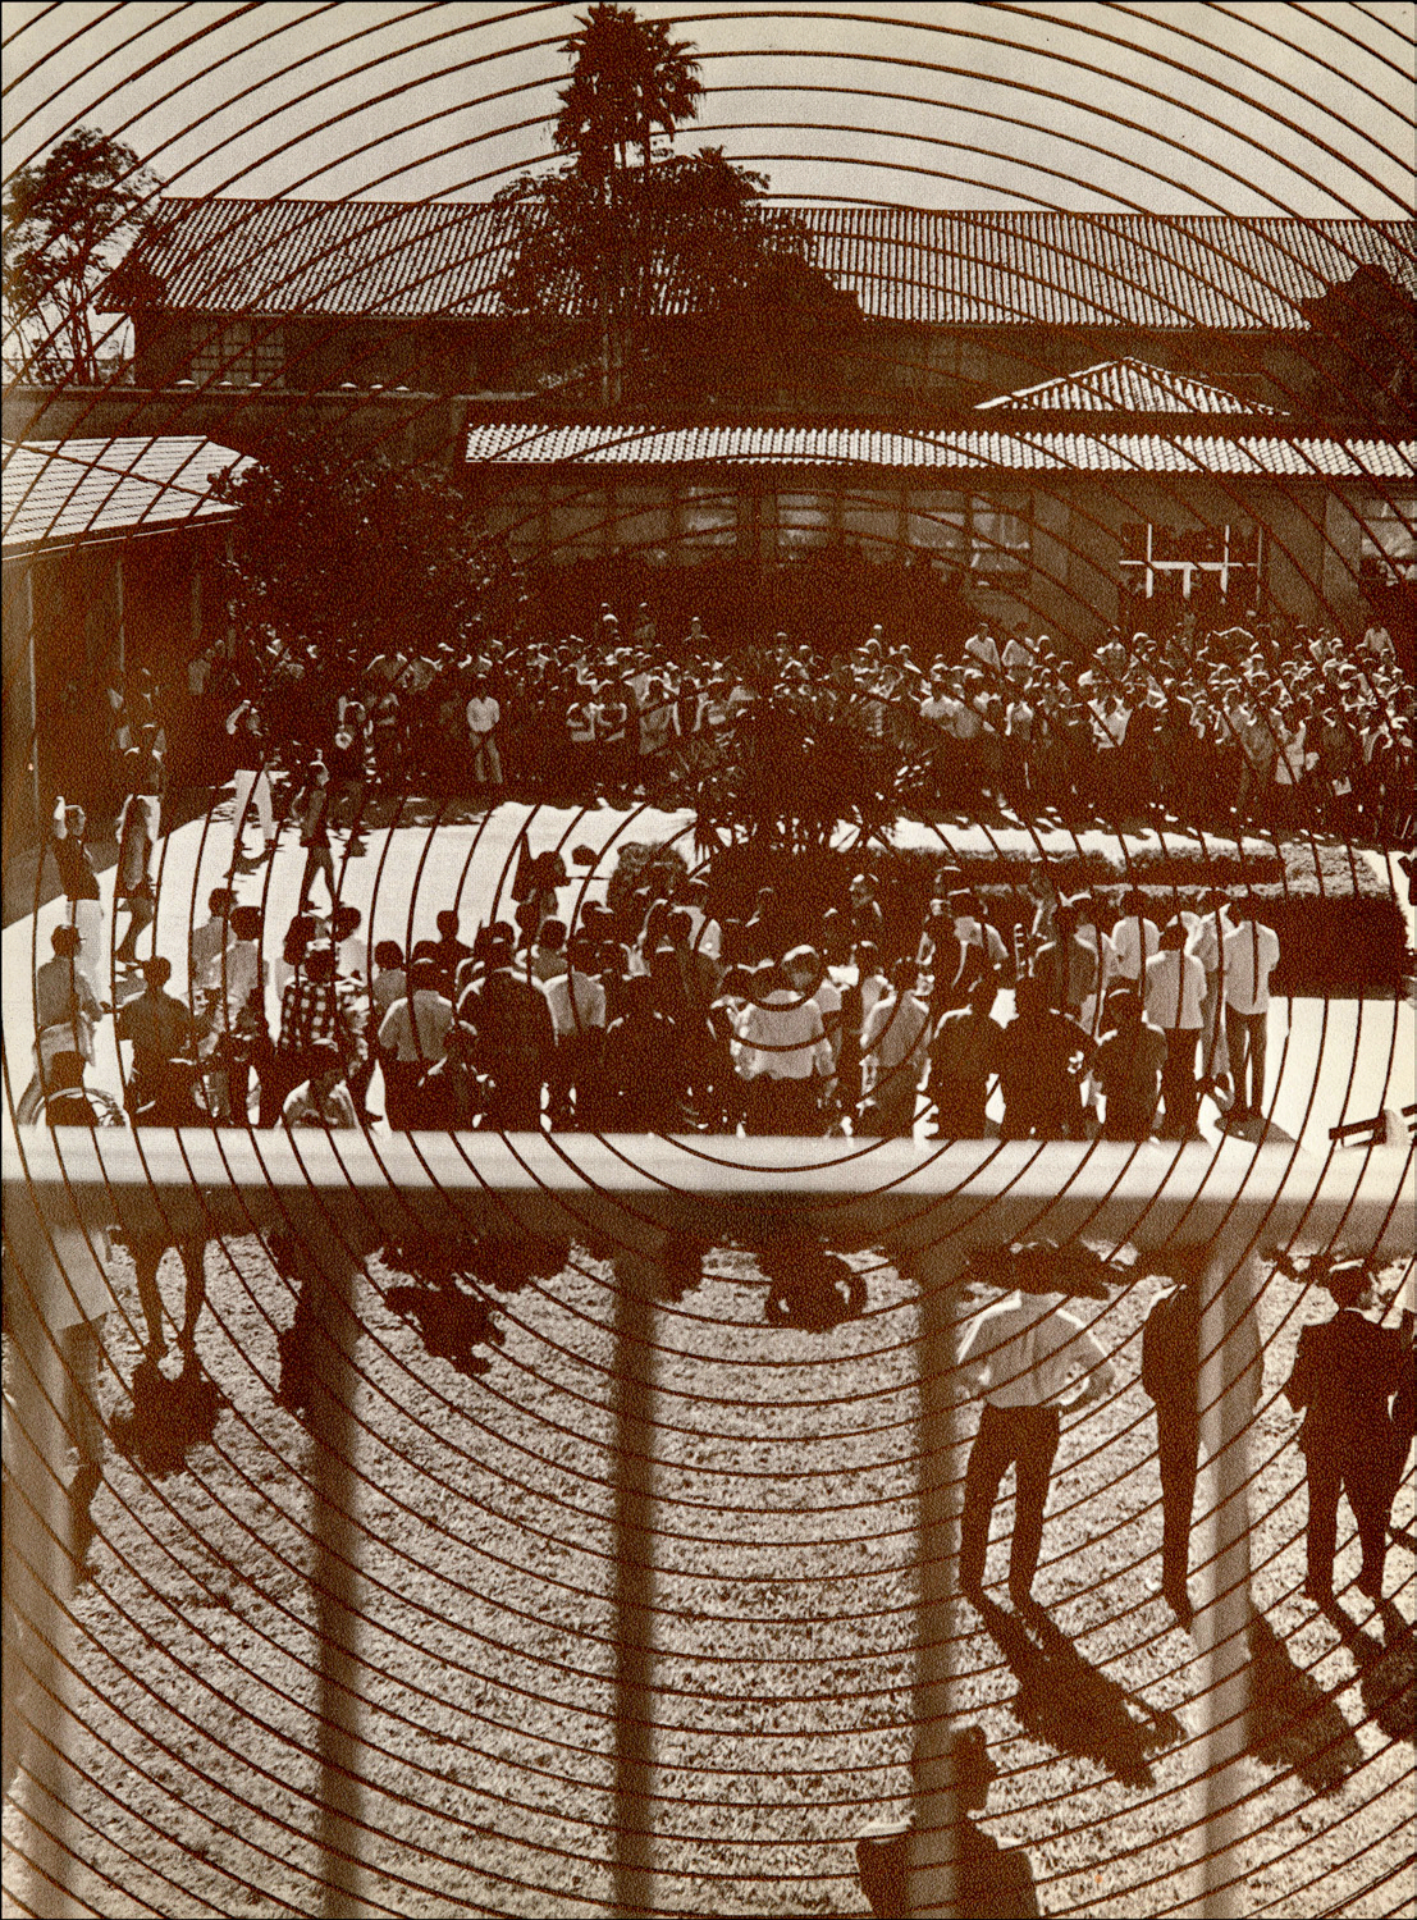

In the advanced mineralogy and petrology classes field trips are taken into Central Texas. Around Marble Falls, La Grange, Austin and Cedar Park students have an opportunity to study different rock types, granite and limestone quarries.

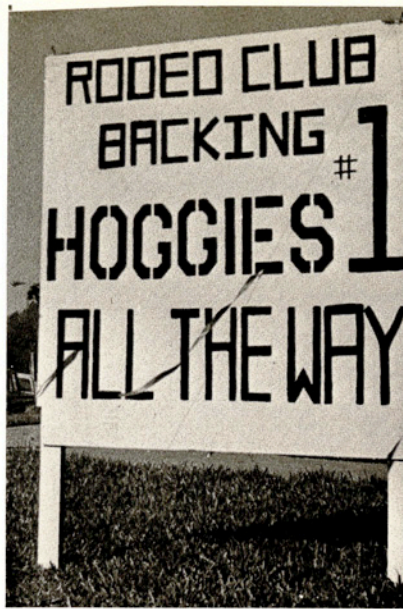

The oceanography students travel to Boca Chica to study the coastal features, sand dunes and beach sediments.

There are two faculty members in geology, Dr. Paul A. Thayer, and Dr. Cecil G. Lalicker.

English Classes Take On Tasty Learning Twist

Ever heard of college students looking forward to writing a theme? The unbelievable occurred in the English classes of Mrs. Vivian Tucker and Kenneth Bindseil this year.

When it came time to write process themes, students had to prove their writing by demonstrating they could follow the process described in their themes. All the process themes gave recipes, and proof of the pudding came in the eating for fellow students.

Among the food items brought to classes were tamales, spaghetti, homemade ice cream, and an endless variety of cakes, cookies and candies.

Students who were unable to actually prepare food (mostly men who lived where there were no kitchen facilities) provided chips and soft drinks.

Foreign Students Organize Soccer Team; Coached by Sahtout, Aided by Hunt

Organized three years ago, the members of the Texas A&I soccer team are mostly international students who voluntarily give their time and energy to a sport they love.

This season the team won one game and lost one against Trinity University, won against St. Edwards University, and lost against the University of Houston.

But there is one big difference between the A&I soccer team and Trinity, St. Edwards, and Houston's—their teams are officially recognized and supported by their universities. Texas A&I's team receives no official recognition and no financial support.

Team members bought their own jerseys and socks in order to have some kind of uniform. Travelling to games in other cities is a big problem, however. Since most of the members are international students, they do not have cars. And the money required to stay in motels and eat in restaurants is beyond the means of many. Members hope that the future will bring official support to the sport at Texas A&I.

The team was coached this year by M. M. Sahtout, assistant professor of mathematics, who has a great love for the sport. They were aided by Ronald D. Hunt, football team trainer, who has helped care for injuries during games and practice sessions, and has helped get the men in shape.

Soccer is unique at Texas A&I—a sport so loved that students want to play it even if they have to pay through their own billfolds.

1969 El Rancho Receives 1st Class Rating By ACP

It proved to be a busy year for the El Rancho '70 staff since early in September when El Rancho '69 received a First-Class rating by the Associated Collegiate Press yearbook critics.

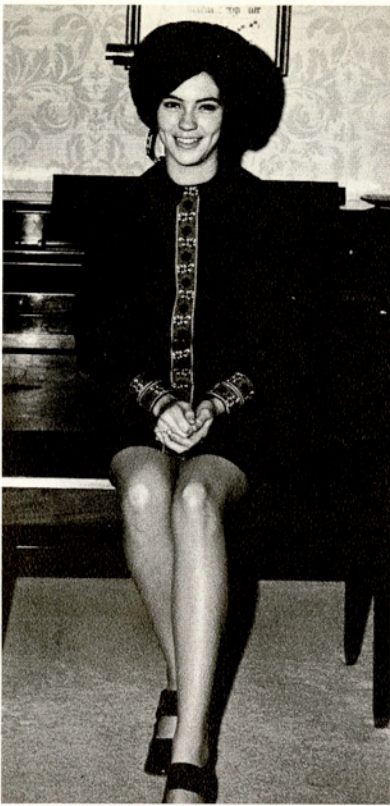

Shortly after this A&I was represented at the annual ACP convention in Miami, October 30 thru November 2, by Editor Adan Saenz.

In the meantime controversy brewed between the annual and the Greeks. It involved the wanting of traditional individual pictures on the one hand by the Greeks and group photos on the other by the El Rancho staff.

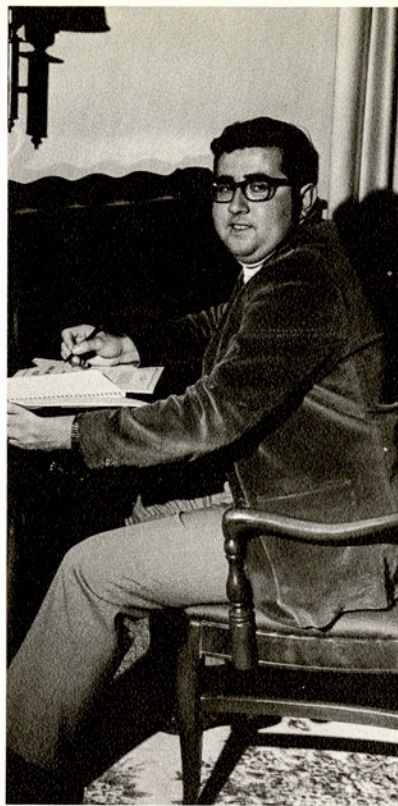

After several meetings with the A&I Publications Committee, it was decided that the El Rancho staff had full say so on policies regarding yearbook make-up, layout, etc.

Goes To 6 Pages; Adds One Column

The South Texan is perhaps the only university student newspaper in Texas that enjoys complete freedom of the press with no censorship.

During 1969-70 the newspaper, with a regular staff of eight, for the first time in its history almost doubled in size from a four-page to a six-page newspaper. The newspaper also added an extra column per page.

Beside staying on top of events as the Fighting Javelinas took the National Championship during the fall, the South Texan maintained a lively pace in covering controversial student political affairs, discrimination charges against the administration, university department events and cultural activities. Numerous news and feature stories were devoted to the university student as an individual.

Responsibility For All Photos Rests on Lab

With a few exceptions, all the pictures used in the El Rancho and those published by the South Texan or released by the A&I News Service are taken by the staff photographers of the publications photo lab.

The photographers are students who take pictures, develop film, and make enlargements, in addition to their regular classes. They cover ball games and other activities at night and on weekends. Some of the photographers learned their skills in the military before coming to A&I. Other student photographers have experience with commercial firms or studied photography after starting work in the publications photo lab.

The photo lab has facilities to process both color transparencies and black and white film and prints. A studio is available for portraits.

Hogs Tie for Conference Crown; Capture Second National Title

After three years of trying to capture the national championship, the Javelinas took it all by ripping an outclassed Concordia, Minn., team 32-1 in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Champion Bowl.

Some 12,202 paying fans saw the Hogs capture their second national title in 10 years. A&I also did it in 1959. The Hogs also tied for the Lone Star Conference crown with East Texas.

The win over Concordia was a sweet, sweet victory for Texas A&I, who had twice before narrowly missed a shot at the national crown.

Last year, A&I advanced to the Champion Bowl only to lose to Troy State, Ala., 45-37, and settle for second place in the national scale.

In 1967, the Hogs knocked off No. 1 rated Southwest Texas State 23-21 in the final regular season game, posted a 9-0 record, were ranked No.

3 in the NAIA and still were unable to attain an invitation to the playoffs.

This year the Hogs dumped New Mexico Highlands, 28-23, to advance to the Champion Bowl and capture the national title.

But it was a tight season for the Javelinas.

A&I's chances for a second trip to the playoffs dimmed at mid-season when the Javelinas, plagued with key injuries, dropped a one-point decision to Sul Ross.

At that time, A&I was ranked No. 1 in the NAIA poll.

The Javelinas dropped to fourth, and New Mexico Highlands, a member of the Southwest Region of the NAIA along with A&I, moved into the top spot.

In the semifinal playoffs against Highlands, the Javelinas trailed three times. It looked as if the Hogs might lose for the first time in the semifinals when Highland scored with 2:12 left in the game to take a 23-22 lead.

But the Javelinas marched 94 yards in one minute to move in front of the Cowboys, 28-23, and preserve the win.

In the Champion Bowl game with Concordia, the Hogs were tied with the Cobbers for several minutes. But then A&I, as it had done so many times during the '69 campaign, broke loose and claimed a 32-7 verdict and the national championship.

The long hard road which the Javelinas had to travel to get the national title makes the trophy now resting in the SUB a cherished prize.

Coach's Job Is Cycle of Preparation

... looking for the acme of perfection.

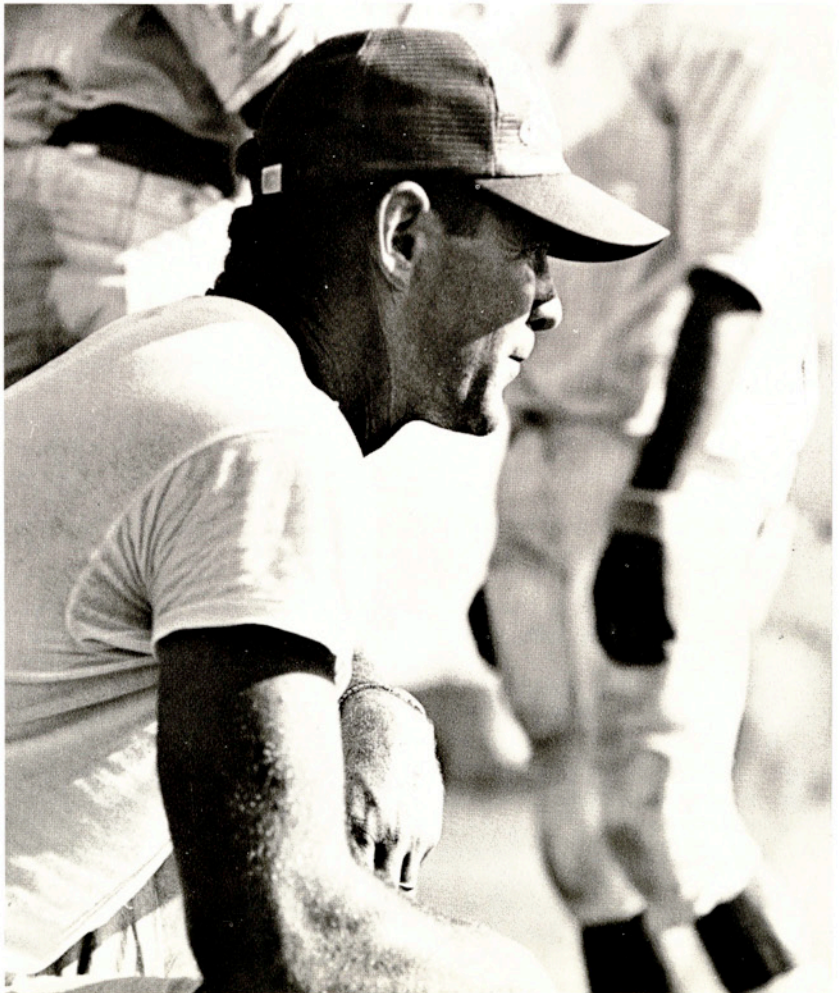

The coach's job is a never ending cycle of preparation. The actual 10-game football season is just a fraction of his task.

Between a training session and a championship game, before a star can be born, there is a coach to lead the way or give advice.

... The coach diagrams a play on the blackboard, explains it to the players over and over again until he feels that an acme of perfection has been reached.

The coach works harder. The season grows tense as the trauma mounts. Injuries slow the team down, but a team trainer patches the players up as best he can for the big game and the head coach tells his fans, "We're going out there with what we have and beat them." At the end of ten games, the team has salvaged a tie for the conference crown with a 9-1 record and is invited to the national playoffs ... again there is a chance to be No. 1.

But, you're slated to play the No. 1 team in the nation, a team that is undefeated and favored. But the players rally from behind three times to take a 28-23 victory and in the next game A&I wins the national championship, 32-7, over Concordia and the head coach takes a victory ride with his fans.

... hard work follows upset

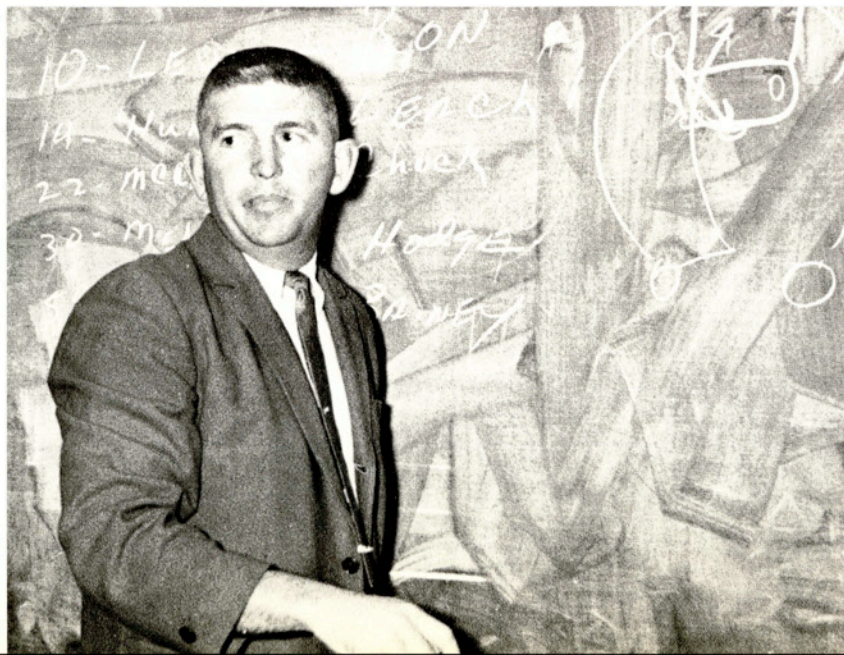

... a mistake is caught and jotted down in the mind

... the season grows tense

... a diagram on the blackboard may spell the key to victory

... preparing, leading, training

Four Early Opponents Fall

Fullback Mike Williamson bulls his way for 10 yards and a Javelina first down in the Javelinas' home opener against Long Beach.

Hog Defense Shines In Win Over Tigers

—Texas A&I's Javelinas embarked on their history making season as they defeated Trinity University, 21-6, in San Antonio's Alamo Stadium.

Before the game, the Javelinas' defensive unit was a big question mark.

However, the A&I defense shined as it limited a potent Trinity offense to 45 yards rushing and 90 yards passing.

A&I's scores came on a 32-yard pass from quarterback Karl Douglas to flanker Dwight Harrison.

Late in the second quarter fullback Phelan Allee punched the ball over from the two-yard line to give A&I a 14-6 halftime advantage.

The final A&I score came on a 51-yard scamper by little Guile Vela (5-6, 160). Vela's run along with Hopkin's extra point gave A&I a 21-6 win.

Halfback Guile Vela is caught from behind by Long Beach defender. Vela had a 51-yard touchdown run in the season opener.

Long Beach Fumbles, Paves Hogs' Way

Texas A&I turned two fumble recoveries into touchdowns to upset Long Beach State, Calif., 21-7, in the home opener of the season.

The first A&I score came on a quick 11-yard dart by fullback Phelan Allee early in the first quarter.

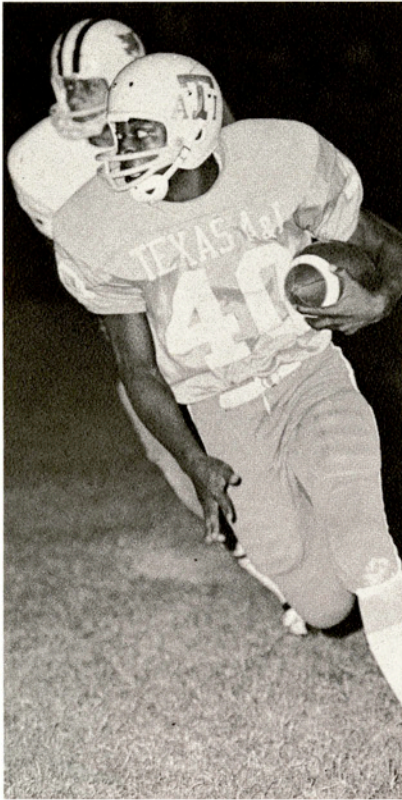

A fumble recovery by A&I's Margarito (Buffalo) Guerrero set up another A&I score. Halfback Henry Glenn scooted in from the 15-yard line for A&I's second score.

Quarterback Gene Walkoviak scored the final tally as he swept across from right end for three yards and a touchdown.

David Hopkins kicked three extra points.

Javelinas Top Rams, Harrison Sets Pace

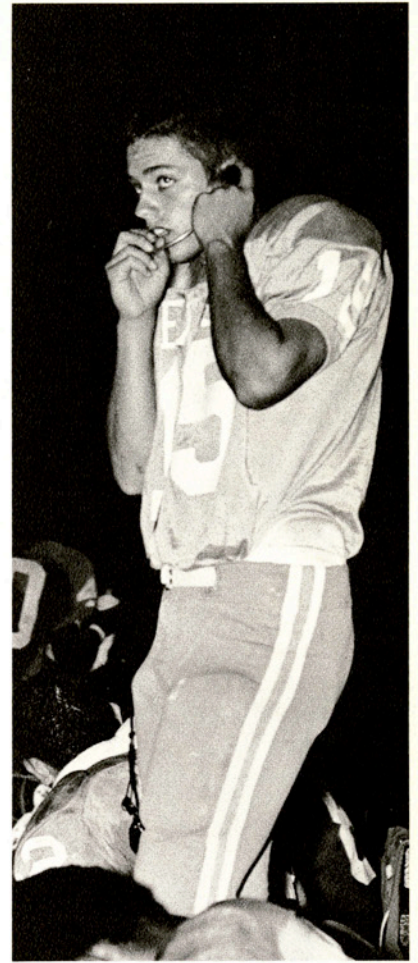

Flanker Dwight Harrison and quarterback Karl Douglas paced the Javelinas to a 19-9 victory over stubborn Angelo State in a non-conference game in Javelina Stadium.

Harrison, 6-1, 175-pound junior, went on a record spree as he broke the Lone Star Conference record for touchdown receptions with 20 and A&I's mark for yards gained receiving with 1,613 in a career.

Fullback Mike Williamson put the Hogs ahead, 13-6, with 7:32 left in the first half as he dashed around left end for 12 yards and a score.

The Hogs came back from the dressing room, after a 13-6 halftime advantage, as if they had everything figured out and quickly lighted up the scoreboard on a two-play, 67-yard drive.

A 49-yard pass from Douglas to Harrison gave the Hogs a first down on the Rams' 28-yard line. On the next play, Douglas hit split end Eldridge Small with a swing pass at the 20-yard line and Small dashed into the end zone untouched for the final Javelina score.

Reserve quarterback James Friesenhahn learns the ropes to the QB slot.

A&I's "Border Bandit" defense goes to work as Robert Young (69) and Jimmy Srp (82) put clamps on enemy quarterback.

Gridders Thrash SFA In Conference Start

A&I created enough fireworks to celebrate the fourth of July in October as it exploded for a 49-25 victory over Stephen F. Austin University in a crucial Lone Star Conference opener for both teams.

Split end Eldridge Small set a new school record for receiving in one game with seven receptions for 179 yards.

A&I's scores came on a one-yard plunge by quarterback Karl Douglas, runs of 34 and 13 yards by Henry Glenn, passes from Gene Walkoviak to Small and from Douglas to Harrison, and on a three-yard run by fullback Mike Williamson.

Hoggies Run Over ETSU, Fall to Lobos

Halfback Henry Glenn (40) stands in end zone after scoring second touchdown of the night against East Texas State.

ETSU Offense Held By Inspired Defense

A standing room only crowd of 15,500, the largest crowd ever to see an A&I game, saw the Javelinas roll up their fifth straight victory without a loss and second in the Lone Star Conference against East Texas, 28-14, to celebrate Homecoming, 1969.

The Javelinas scored on an eight-yard pass from Quarterback Karl Douglas to tight end James Respondek to take a quick 7-0 lead with David Hopkins' extra point.

A 36-yard run by halfback Henry Glenn accounted for A&I's second score early in the second quarter.

The final Javelina score came on a one-yard dive by fullback Phelan Allee. Dave Hopkins booted his fourth extra point to account for A&I's 28 points.

It wasn't until late in the fourth quarter that the Lions were able to score on the Javelina reserves.

Javelinas Ease By Cool McMurry, 21-7

Reserve quarterback Gene Walkoviak sparked Texas A&I to a 21-7 win over fired-up McMurry for the Hogs sixth consecutive win.

The Hogs started the game as if they were going to run over McMurry as Douglas combined with flanker Dwight Harrison on a 35-yard pass on A&I's first play from scrimmage to set up A&I's first score.

Fullback Mike Williamson came in from the one-yard line for A&I's first score.

Late in the fourth quarter, Walkoviak hit split end Eldridge Small at the A&I 35 and Small sailed 80 yards for the Hogs final score. It was the second longest pass play in A&I history.

Tight end James Respondek grabs one of six passes he caught against East Texas State. Respondek accounted for A&I's first touchdown on an eight yard toss from quarterback Karl Douglas.

Sul Ross Lobos Stun Unbeaten Hogs, 13-12

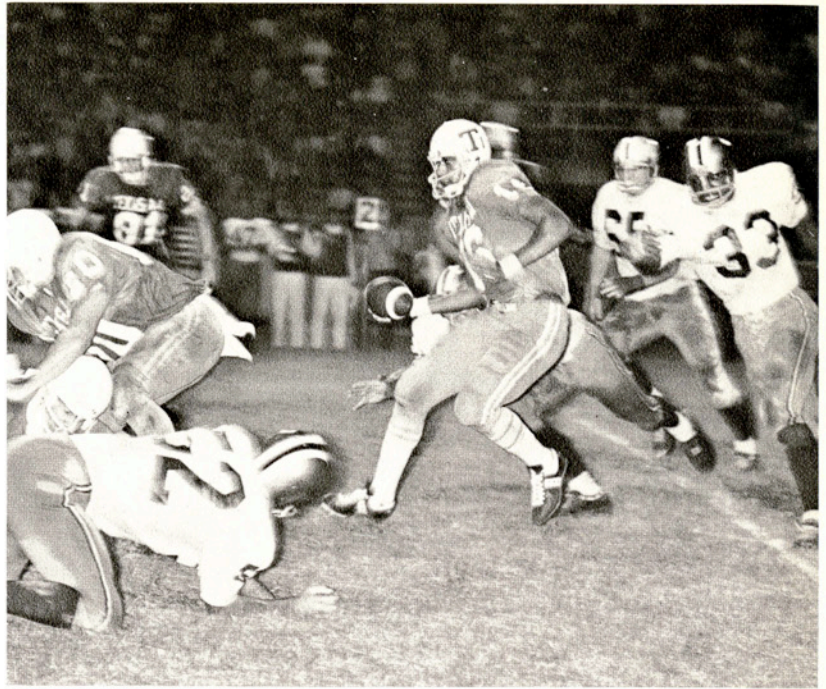

The Javelinas suffered their only loss of the season to the Sul Ross Lobos on a 13-12 upset.

The Lobos toppled A&I from the No. 1 spot in the NAIA and left the Hogs in a tie for the conference lead.

Sul Ross had only three big yardage plays in the game, but two of those helped set up touchdowns that spelled defeat for the Javelinas.

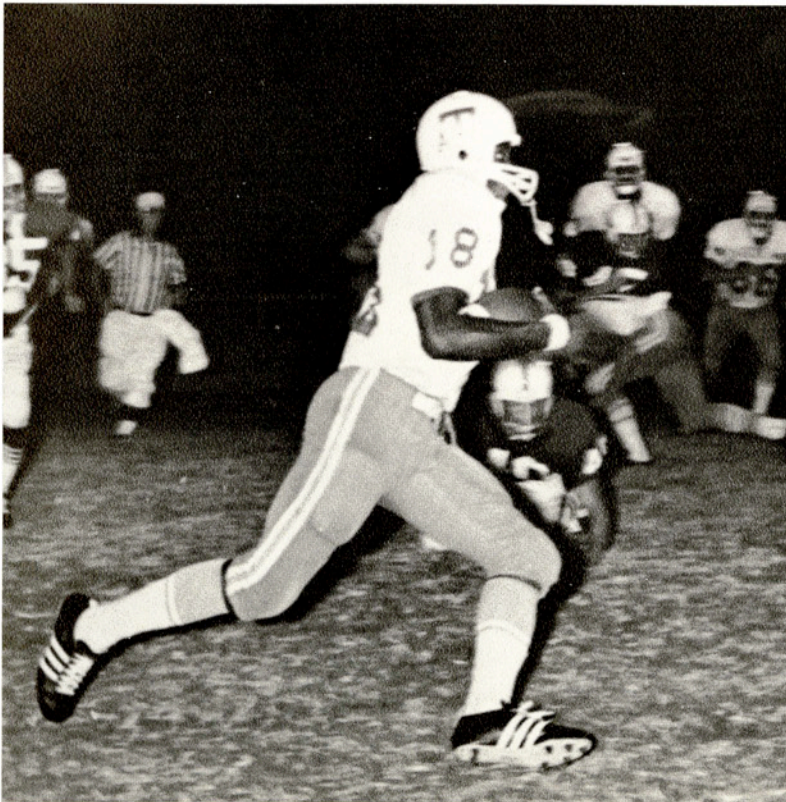

The Lobos scored after a 66-yard interception return and a 59-yard pass play.

A&I reached the Lobo 20, 26, 22 and 23 only to be halted by a penalty, once by an interception, and twice by the fired-up Lobo defense.

Quarterback Karl Douglas looks for running room against Howard Payne. Douglas scored two touchdowns, once on a three-yard run and once on a ten-yard slant around right end.

Split end Eldridge Small sails for A&I Touchdown. Small scored on an 11-yard pass play from quarterback Karl Douglas.

Patched-Up Offense Sparks Hog Victory

A patched-up Texas A&I offense and the steady play of the "Border Bandit" defensive unit paced Texas A&I past Howard Payne, 27-0, in a crucial conference game.

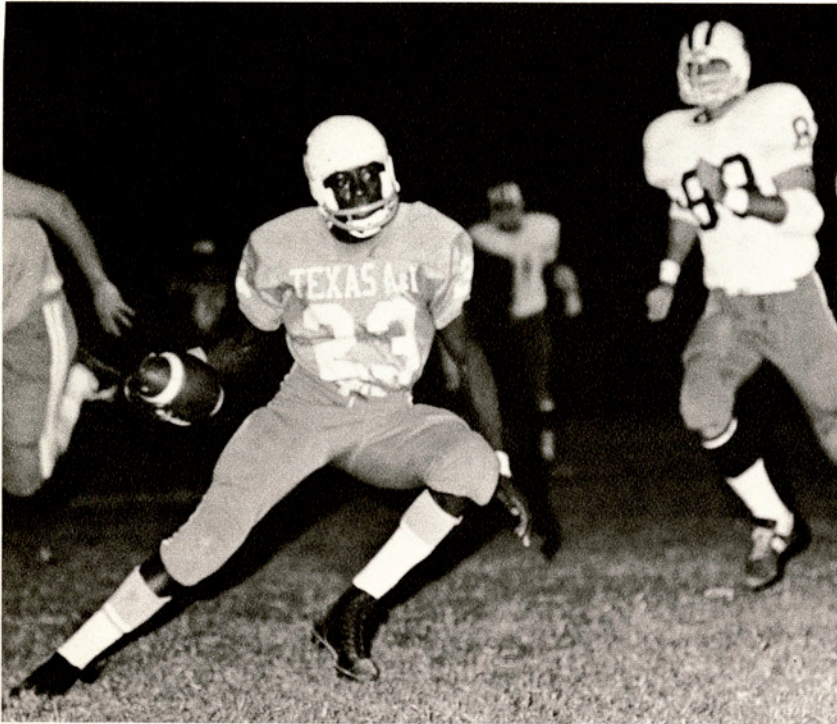

The victory kept the Hogs tied for first place in the LSC with East Texas State and Stephen F. Austin University.

The patched-up offense managed to gain 516 yards total offense but bad timing in the backfield cost A&I several touchdowns.

The first A&I score came on a three-yard run by quarterback Karl Douglas. He later raced for 10 yards for A&I's second score.

Phelan Allee provided A&I's third score with a 32-yard rumble late in the second quarter and an 11-yard pass from Douglas to split end Eldridge Small accounted for A&I's final score.

Javelinas Stomp Bobcats, 28-13, Gain LSC Title, NAIA Playoff

Dwight Harrison does his famous dance routine as he grounds out yardage against Sam Houston.

Hogs' Defense Shines In Sam Houston Win

A&I's "Border Bandit" defense set up three touchdowns, but it was the Javelina offense that rose to the occasion to mount an 84-yard touchdown march in the waning minutes of the game to down Sam Houston State, 28-21.

Quarterback Karl Douglas swept in from nine yards out with only 1:16 remaining in the game to climax a last-ditch march.

The first A&I score came on a 38-yard interception return by middle guard Margarito "Buffalo" Guerrero. Dave Hopkins' kick made it 7-0.

A Robert Young interception and a blocked punt by Alvin Matthews set up two more A&I scores.

The scores came on a four yard pass from Douglas to split end Eldridge Small and a 10-yard run by fullback Mike Williamson.

Arch-Rival SWT Falls In 'Heated' Contest

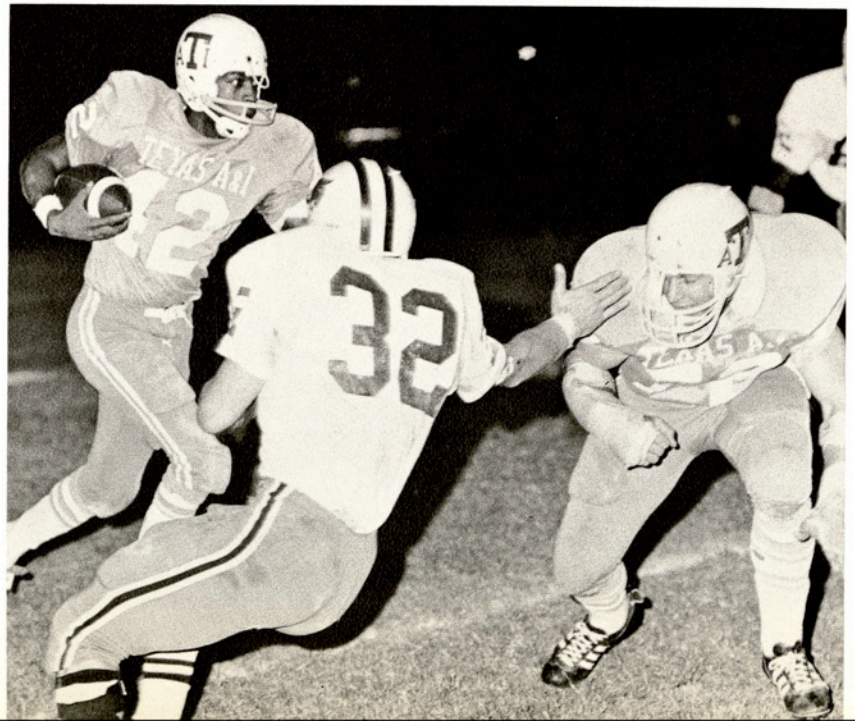

A stingy defense and a first half offensive surge sparked Texas A&I past stubborn Southwest Texas, 28-13

It was the third straight LSC crown for the Javelinas. Both East Texas and A&I finished with 6-1 marks in league play. A&I has won six titles in the past 11 years.

The Hogs iced the game away in the first half, jumping to a 28-0 lead and then staving off the Bobcats in the second half.

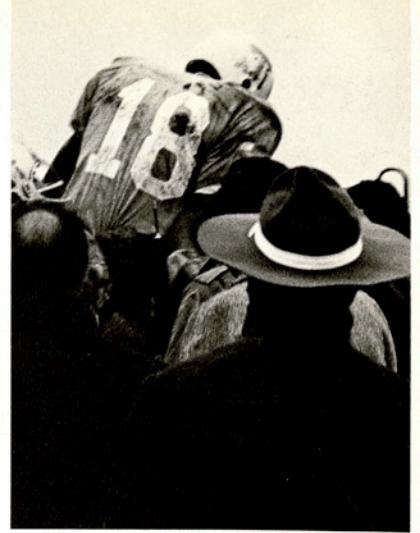

The Javelinas' scores came on a six-yard run by quarterback Karl Douglas, a three-yard run by fullback Mike Williamson, an eight-yard pass from Douglas to Jim Respondek and a 22-yard interception return by linebacker Glen Tegler.

Ed Scott (42) evades a Bobcat tackle. Scott's punt return helped set up second A&I score.

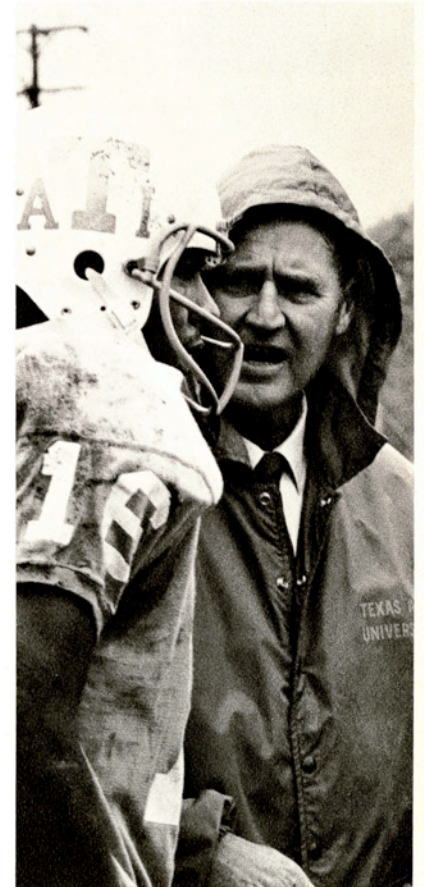

Eldridge Small (18) snares touchdown pass from Douglas that gave A&I a 28-23 victory over New Mexico Highlands and propelled the Javelinas into the NAIA Champion Bowl.

A happy crowd gives Eldridge Small (18) a victory ride after semi-final victory.

The quarterback and the coach discuss strategy in tense game. Douglas (16) engineered winning touchdown drive.

New Mexico Falls to Javelinas, 28-23

There isn't a record kept for the most exciting final period in an NAIA playoff game.

If there were, you can bet it would have been broken Nov. 30 in the Texas A&I vs. New Mexico Highlands NAIA semifinal game in Javelina Stadium.

The climax of the period came when A&I moved 80 yards in seven plays within a 60-second period. The Javelinas scored with 1:12 left in the game for their victory margin in the 28-23 decision.

The Javelinas held a 14-13 lead when the big push came.

Highlands place-kicker Larry Kelly booted a 30-yard field goal with 7:32 left in the final period to give the Cowboys a 16-14 lead.

A&I roared back, moving 61 yards in 31 seconds to recapture the lead with Henry Glenn going the last 28 yards for the touchdown. Quarterback Karl Douglas ran the conversion to make it 22-16 in favor of A&I with 6:57 left in the game.

Highlands came right back as quarterback Don Woods climaxed a 13-play, 65-yard drive with a one-yard plunge to knot the score at 22-22. Kelly added the extra point and Highlands led 23-22 with 2:12 remaining in the game.

Then came A&I's fantastic desperation drive for victory.

It was split end Eldridge Small who came through with the play of the year as he snared a 33-yard touchdown pass from Douglas for the winning score.

Small's catch left a chilled crowd of 8,550 tingling with excitement in the 40-degree weather as he out-leaped Highland defender Nelson Edwards for the touchdown in the end zone.

The touchdown gave A&I a 28-23 lead with 1:12 left in the game and boosted A&I into the NAIA national championship game against Concordia, Minn.

Winning Javelinas Dump

Texas A&I's Javelinas ripped out-classed Concordia, Minn., 32-7, in the NAIA Champion Bowl game to give A&I its second national title in history.

With 12,202 paying fans enjoying an Indian summer day in mid-December, the Javelinas scored on the second play of the game with a 66-yard pass from Karl Douglas to Eldridge Small, fell back to a 7-7 tie, then turned on the horsepower to thrash Concordia.

A sensational 84-yard pass and run play from Douglas, voted the game's most valuable back, to flanker Dwight Harrison set a new record for the Champion Bowl game. The play came with only 31 seconds left in the first half and literally doomed any hopes the Cobbers had of winning as it gave A&I a 26-7 halftime edge.

With 11:14 left in the first half, Harrison capped a 15-play, 80-yard drive with a three-yard dash around right end. Douglas booted his second straight extra point to give A&I a 14-7 lead.

Two plays after their kickoff, the Hogs were in business again as defensive back Ed Scott snared Concordia quarterback Paul Linde's pass at the Cobber 27-yard line.

The Javelinas' last score came early in the second half when Douglas hit Harrison with a 40-yard pass with 7:52 remaining in the third period. The run for the conversion failed and the final score remained 32-7.

Harrison also set or tied three other records for the game. He tied the record of three touchdowns and 18 points and set a record on yards gained receiving with 136.

Tight end James Respondek tied the record for receptions in a game with eight. A&I's 531 yards total offense was also a record.

Javelinas Shine During Era of 1959-'69

Texas has produced its share of outstanding college football teams over the past three seasons and these squads have been awarded numerous titles, rankings and honors.

But none of the Lone Star State grid teams can take claim to having compiled a more impressive record nor of having won more nation-wide attention than the Texas A&I University Javelinas.

The Javelinas' football credentials for the past three seasons prove that the years 1959-1969 have been the Javelina Era in Texas college football.

Since winning a national college championship in 1959, the Javelinas have consistently ranked among the best in the nation's college circles.

For the past three years, the South Texas team has racked up a 30-3-0 overall record, has ranked among the top ten in each small college poll, and has had individuals in most of the honors available to a college player.

In 1967, the Hogs were the only undefeated team in Texas and had the longest win streak in the state through the first half of the 1968 season, winning 13 in a row before losing by a touchdown.

The Javelinas have won the Lone Star Conference championships six times, including the 1967, 1968, and 1969 seasons. They were ranked No. 1 in the NAIA last fall after winning the national playoffs. The Hogs were ranked No. 1 at the end of the 1968 regulation season.

A&I captured this year's NAIA title with a 32-7 victory over Concordia College of Minnesota in the finals. This marked the third time the Javelinas have reached the national finals over a 10-year period.

The Texas A&I campus was the site of this year's NAIA championship tilt. This was the first time in the 15-year history of the playoff that the game was played on the campus of a participating school, a tribute to the A&I program and fans.

During the period, A&I has won two national championships (1959 and 1969) and were national runners-up in 1968. They have also won six LSC championships and fielded two undefeated teams (1962-1967).

A&I Has Own 12th Man Version

Joe Bravenec was A&I's 12th man.

The Texas A&I football team came up with its own version of the "12th man" routine during the 1969 championship season.

They did it against arch-rival Southwest Texas. Just before the half ran out, the Javelinas ran out of backs because of injuries.

Joe Bravenec was in the stands as a spectator, and minutes later he was in action on the field.

Actually, the Vanderbilt Industrial freshman had been with the Hogs all season, but had been red shirted. With no fullback regulars available, the A&I coaching staff had to have him to play the fullback the remainder of the SWT game.

Bravenec carried the ball seven times for 35 yards during his collegiate debut.

In years to come, Bravenec will be able to boast of how he became the Javelinas' "12th man" during a key situation in the final regular season game of 1969.

Radio Network In First Year Has 4 Stations

A new football radio network was initiated this year when the Texas A&I University football games were carried live on a four-station hookup that beamed the games to a major portion of South Texas.

Andy Cook, manager of radio station KINE, listed the stations that joined the A&I Football Network as KTOD in Sinton, KOPY in Alice, KVOZ in Laredo as well as KINE.

All 10 of A&I's regular season games as well as the two playoff games were broadcast.

Jake Trussell, KINE sports commentator, teamed with Cook on the play-by-play descriptions.

The broadcasting team of Andy Cook and Jake Trussell were heard over the South Texas area.

Banquet Honors National Champs

Superlatives were the keynotes of the annual Javelina Awards Banquet this year. Gene Walkoviak captured the Most Dedicated Football Player award for the third consecutive time.

The Houston St. Pius quarterback was instrumental in many of the Javelina victories.

Karl Douglas, who also hails from Houston, was honored for the second consecutive time as the Most Valuable Offensive Player on the squad.

Douglas accounted for more than 2,000 yards through the air during the 12 game schedule and set two records. One of the records came in the championship game against Concordia when he hit an 84-yard bomb to flanker Dwight Harrison. The other record of 120 completions erased the old record of 103 completions in a season which was held by Randy Johnson.

Green Bays' second draft choice, Alvin Matthews, was named as the Most Valuable Defensive Player while the best Blocker award was presented to Thomas Domel, senior center from Needville.

Basketball

Seniors Set Pace For Hoggie Cagers

A&I basketball had its moments of glory but the season was marred by numerous last minute losses and a rash of injuries before the season ever got started. The Hoggie cagers nevertheless managed to win 9 but lost 17. The conference record was 5-13.

Six members of the A&I team finished with scoring averages in the double figures.

Leading the Hogs in scoring was Gary Wideman, 6-5 senior forward from Somerset, with a 18.2 average. Wideman was ranked seventh in both free throw percentages (.800 per cent) and overall scoring. Wideman went on to receive an honorable mention in the All-Conference balloting.

Dennis Leach, 6-0 senior guard from San Antonio Marshall, closed with a 14.6 average, and this too was one of the top marks in the conference.

Leach was officially designated as the free throw shooting champion of the Lone Star Conference for the 1969-70 season.

Others with double figure averages are Greg Akromis, 6-8 junior center from San Antonio Lee, and Roger Richey, 5-11 senior guard from Brownwood, with 11.3 marks; Jeff Wildenberg, 6-5 freshman forward from Kimberley, Wisconsin, with a 10.7 norm, and Rick Vidaurri, 6-4 junior forward from Laredo, with a 10.4 mark.

Akromis topped the Javelina rebound charts with a final 9.2 average.

Wideman, Leach and Richey were the only seniors on the roster.

Javelinas Rally to Win Last Game in Alamo

Forty-four years ago Texas A&I won its first game in Javelina Gym, and Tuesday, Feb. 17, won their final varsity game in the facility that has been dubbed the "Alamo" by A&I Students.

The Javelina cagers downed Houston Baptist College, 69-64, as they left the fabled old gym just as they entered it—on a winning note.

The game was the final home game for the Hogs in Javelina Gym. Next season they move into their new $2 million building.

A&I, which made a habit of losing in the closing minutes of the game all year, rallied in the final two minutes to win their last game.

It was a basket by Roger Richey with 1:31 left to play that gave the Javelinas an unrelinquished lead, 64-62. After that it was A&I's game all the way.

To many A&I players and fans, the "Alamo" is the scene of many memories. In its time it, too, was a thing of beauty.

The cost of the initial phase of the old gym was $28,500. With its completion for the 1927-28 basketball season, the SOUTH TEXAN announced, "home games this year will be played in the new gym, and everyone can be comfortable, regardless of the weather."

The size of the initial playing court (60 x 100) was increased (75 x 100) along with the final construction on the building in 1930. Also, seating was added to the east side.

With the construction underway on the second and final phase of the gym, the campus paper boasted, "when the building has been completed and the proper equipment installed, this institution will have the facilities for a health program second to none."

The total cost of the gym construction was $58,500.

Coach McDonald encourages his team to wind up the season as a winner.

Cheerleaders led fans in the battle cry "Remember the Alamo!"

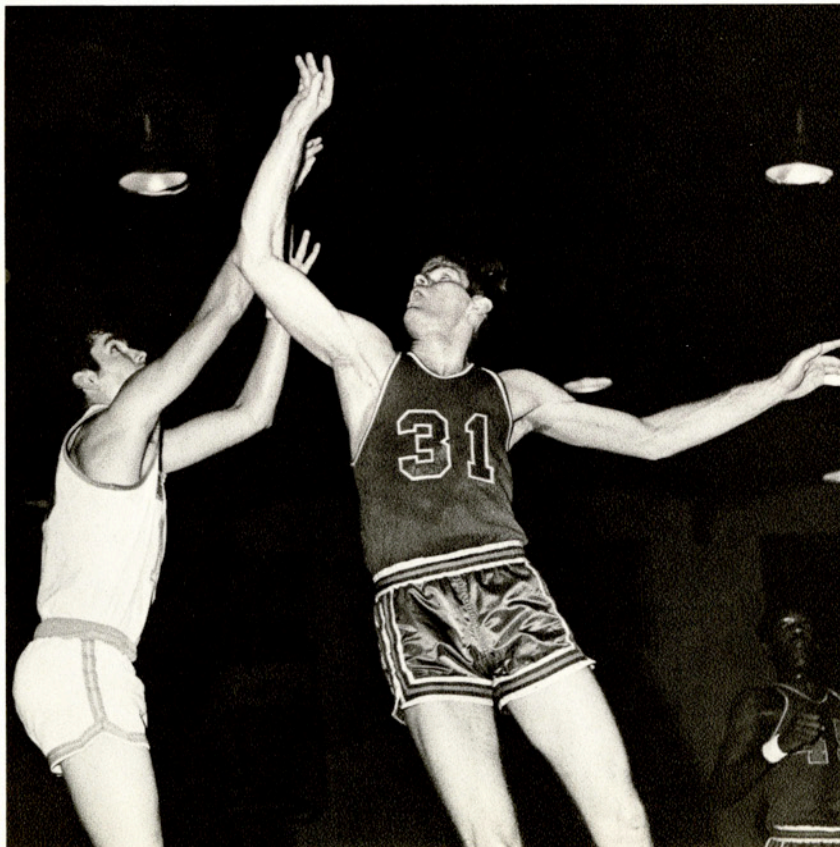

In the last quarter the Javelinas started their victory rally.

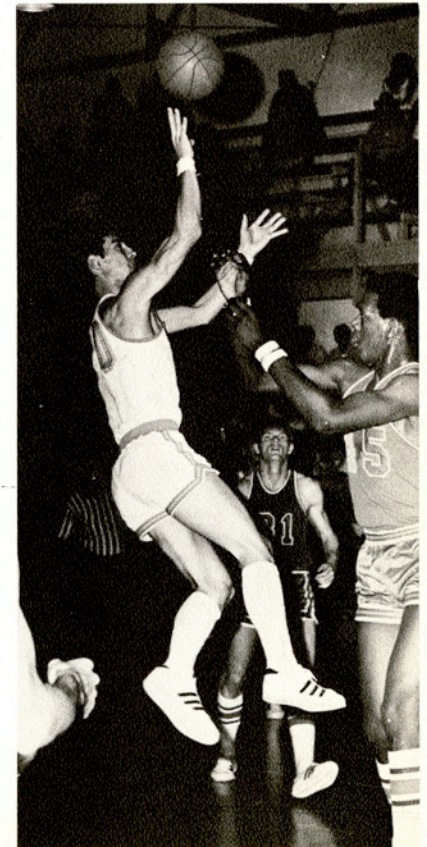

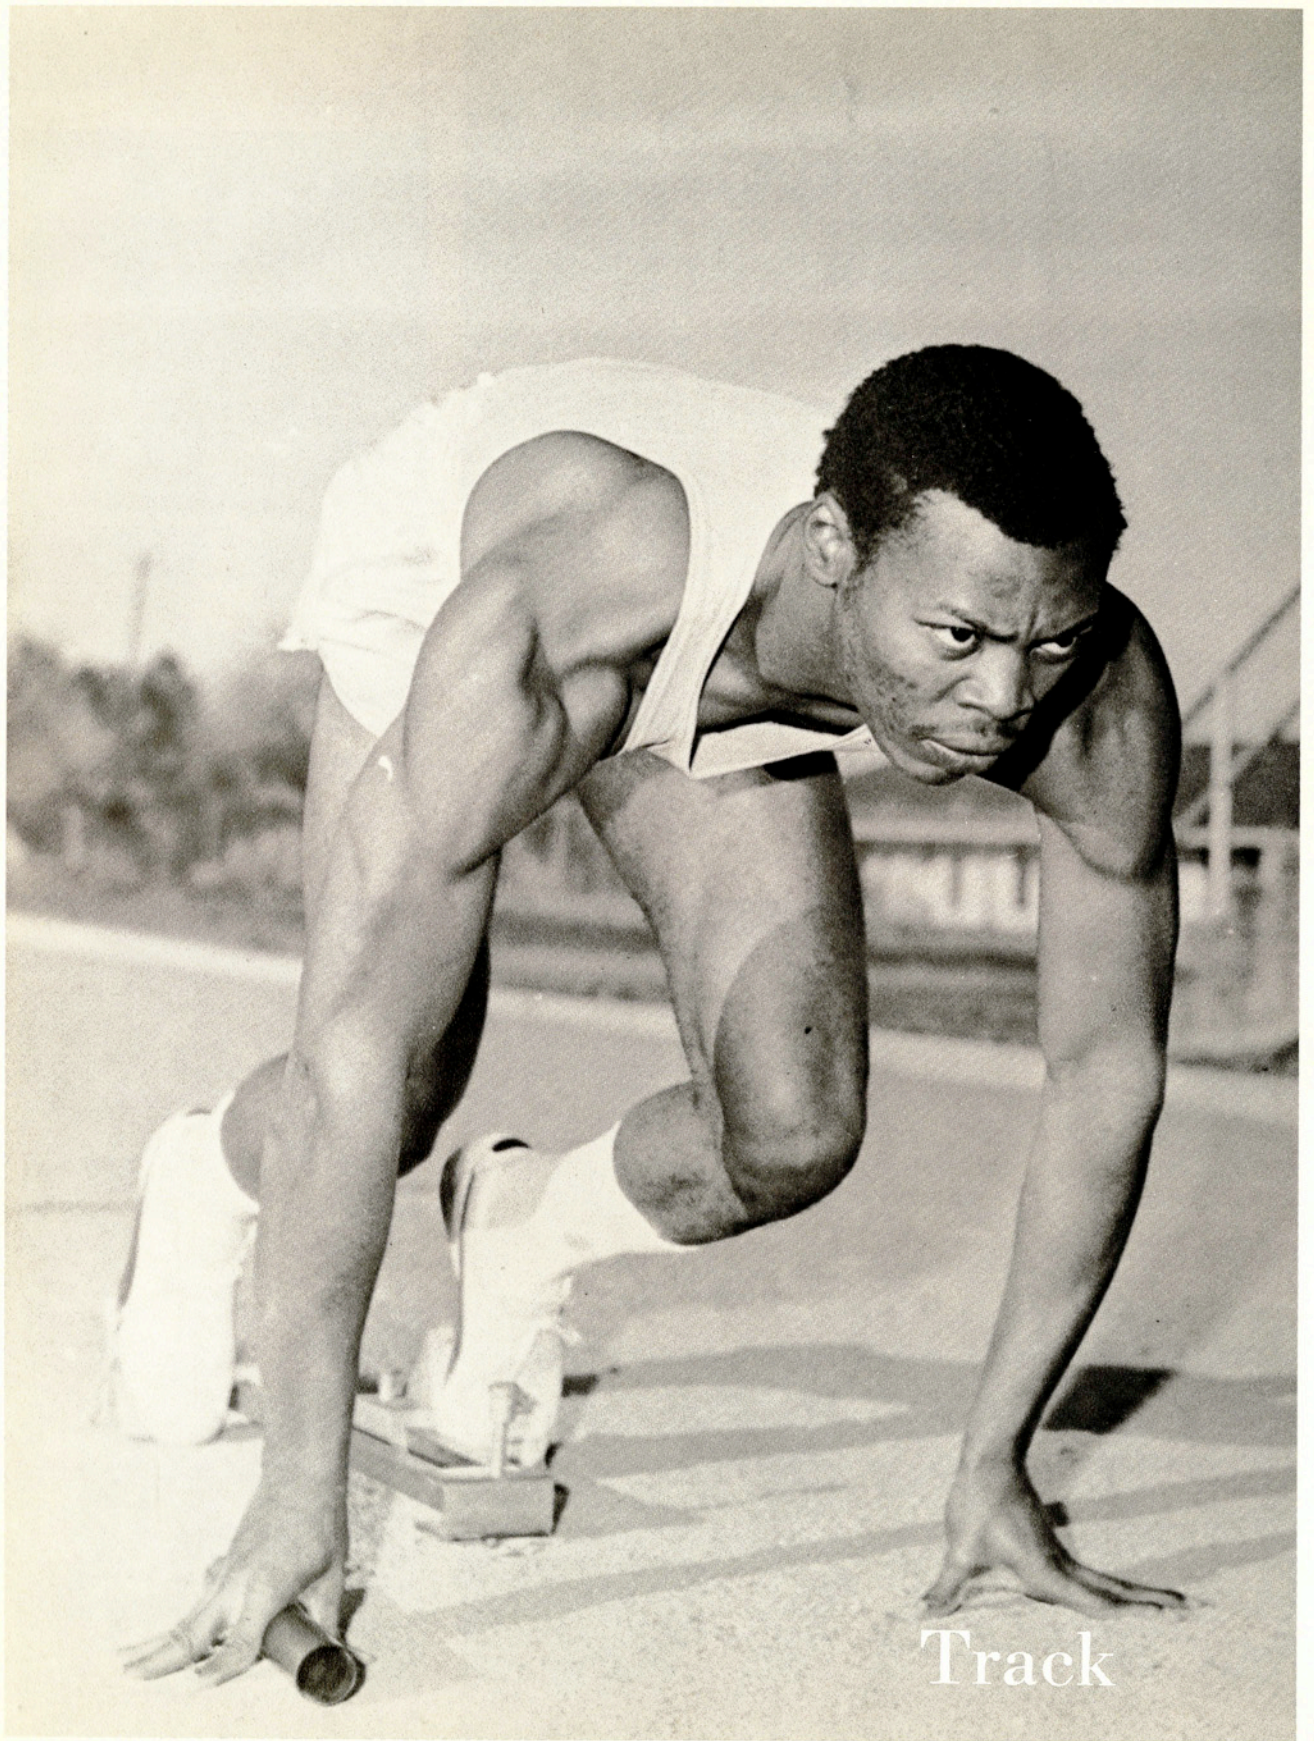

The Hogs trailed in the early minutes of the game.

Dennis Leach knotted the score at 62-62.

Roger Richey put the Hogs ahead to stay with 64-62.

Track

Tracksters Cop Elusive Border Olympic Crown

A&I tracksters put an end to the "glorious dream" of Texas Southern who for the past 10 years had dominated the Border Olympic meet.

The Javelinas amassed 61 points to 48 for second place Dallas Baptist and 39 for Texas Southern.

A&I swept the first two places in the 120-yard high hurdles. New York sophomore Bob Daniels took the gold medal as another sophomore, Bob Weathersby, took second place.

Robert Gonzalez, Falfurrias junior, won his fourth Border Olympic mile run with ease to start a strong A&I showing in the distance events.

Gonzalez won mile run titles his last two years at Falfurrias High School and took the championship in his first season with the Javelinas last year.

Joseph Garza finished second in the 880-yard run and another Falfurrias product, Homer Martinez, finished second in the three-mile run and third in the mile-run.

Overall the Javelinas showed surprising strength in the field events, especially Bob Tumlinson, a senior from Crystal City who had not participated in track as a collegiate.

The A&I team was a favorite to take the Lone Star Conference crown in track this year.

Ernest Haynes breaks tape once again in 100-yard dash in BorderOlympics.

Head Track Coach Ken Kelley looks on as Bob Daniels and company hold proof of winning efforts at meet in Laredo.

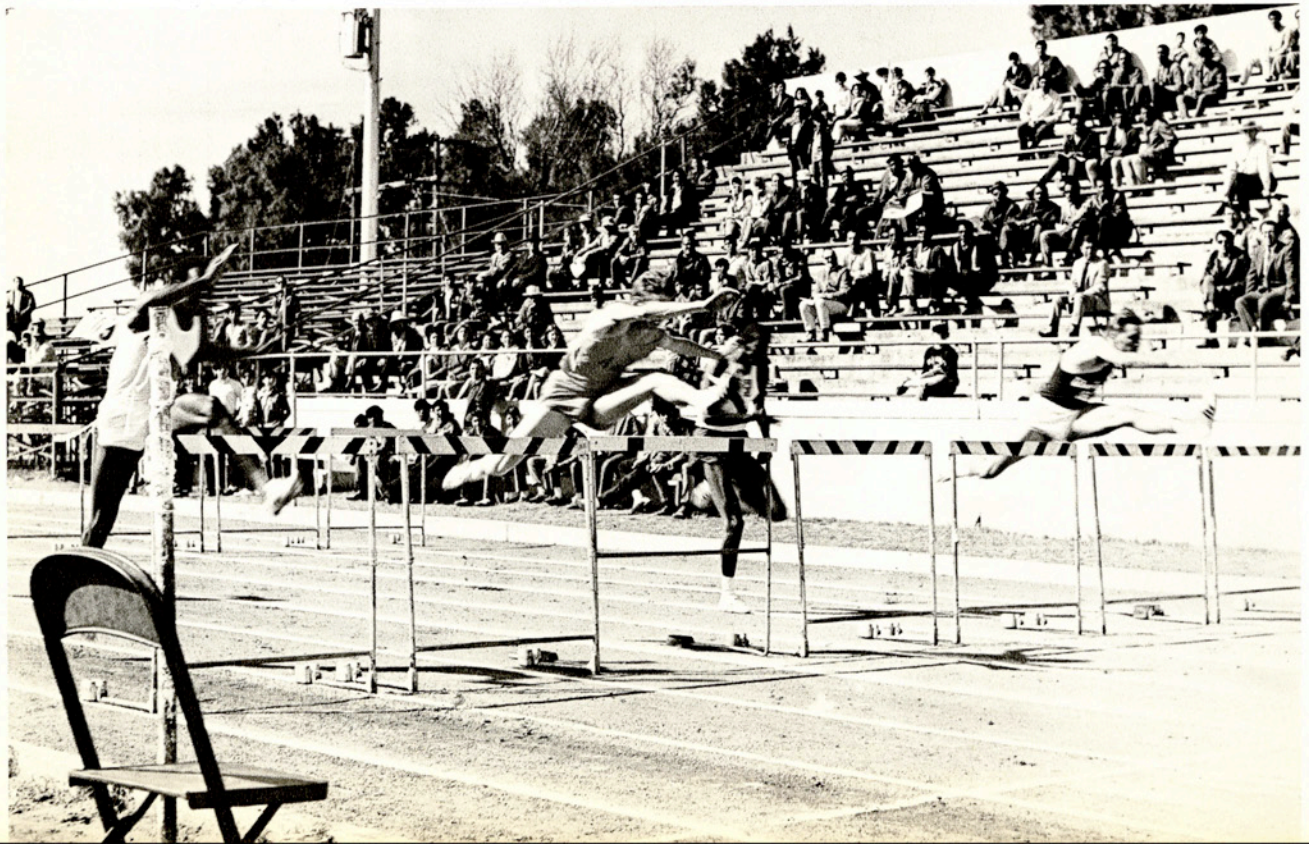

William O'Connor took the bronze medal in the 440-yard dash at the Border Olympics.

Dwight Harrison was on the second team All-America last season. He also won the LSC broad jump for two years in a row.

David Weathersby took second place in high hurdles at the Border Olympics. He was one of the state's top hurdlers.

A&I's 440-yard relay team was composed of Ernest Haynes, David Hinojosa, Bob Daniels, and Dwight Harrison.

Track and Field

Dan Swan competed in pole vaulting.

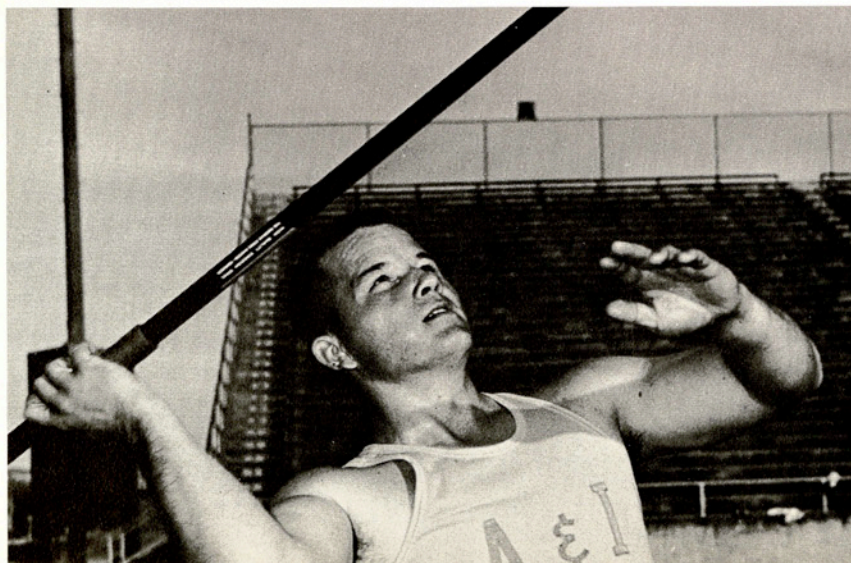

Roberto Gonzalez made his mark as a miler.

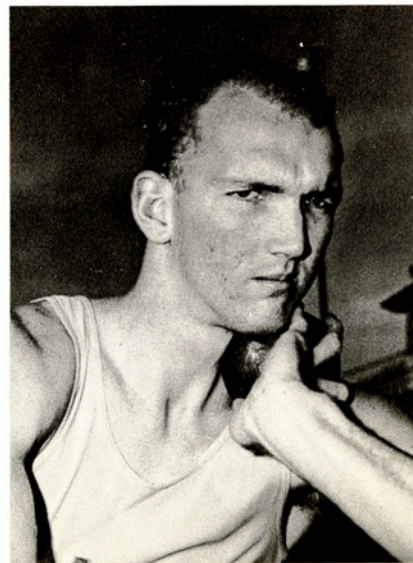

This year's mile relay team was composed of David Weathersby, David Hinojosa, Ernest Haynes, William O'Connor, and Bob Daniels.

Bob Tumlinson pulled a surprise in the Border Olympic meet when he uncorked a throw of 181-2 to take a gold medal in the javelin event.

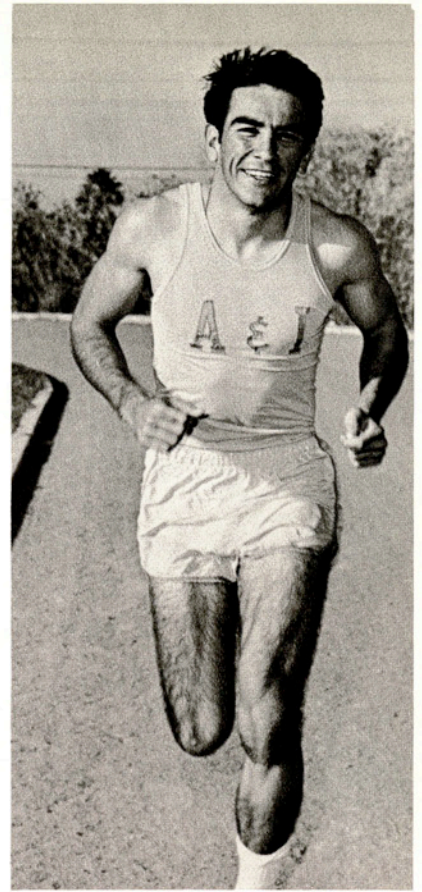

James Motz, Kingsville freshman, is expected to help the field events.

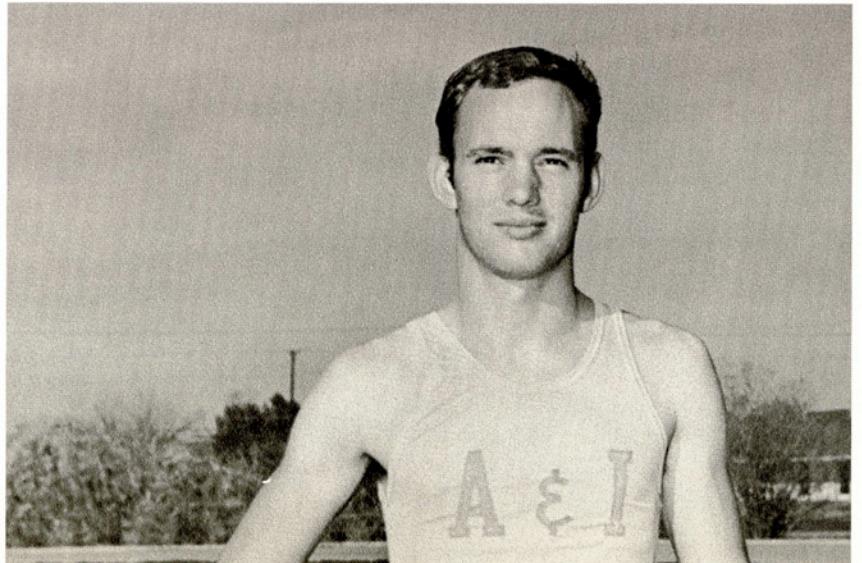

Bob Daniels took first place in the 120-yard high hurdles at the Border Olympics. He was last season's NAIA 120-yard hurdle champion and was on the first team All-America.

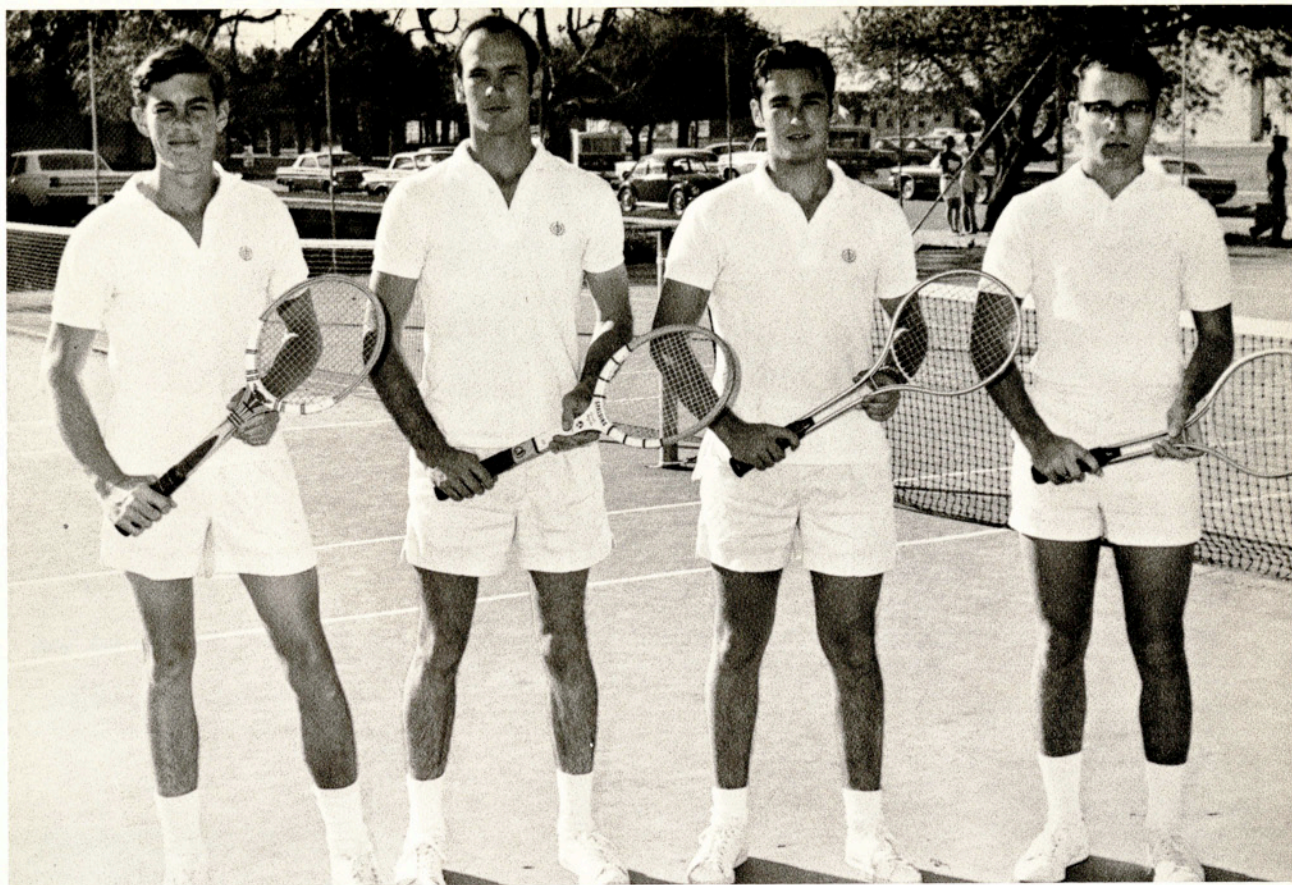

David Hinojosa is one of the fastest men on A&I teams. He has been clocked at 9.5 in the 100-yard dash.

Homero Martinez holds A&I's two-mile and three-mile records.

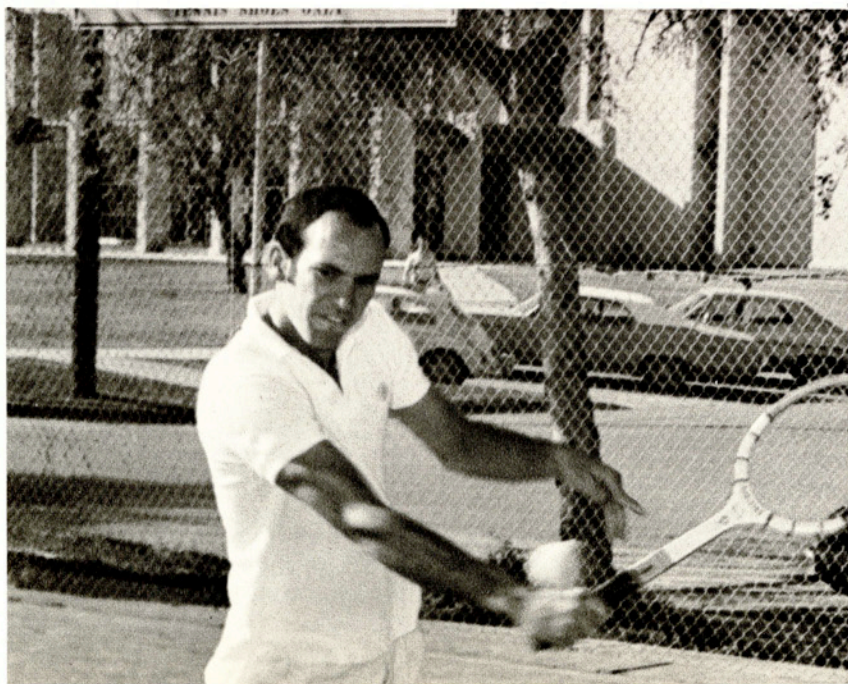

Tommy Watson ranked third in the LSC ratings last season in the hurdles.

A&I's tennis team this year was composed of Gary Rauschuber, John Mathews, Reed Smith, and Gordon Buckley.

Edinburg senior John Mathews shows form which makes him an outstanding player on the team.

Netters Face Tough Slate

A&I's tennis team had rough going as the team ran into injury and scholastic problems. The team was held together mostly by returning lettermen John Mathews, (3 years) senior from Edinburg and Gary Rauschuber, sophomore one-year letterman from San Antonio.

Among the highlights of the team was its two victories over St. Mary's of San Antonio.

The netters shut out the Rattlers twice by identical scores of 6-0.

Winners in the match included Rauschuber and Mathews in the singles (first round) and Reed Smith and Gordon Buckley in the other round.

Reed Smith rears back for a hard serve.

Women's Athletics Take Campus Place

A&I's girls finally got something to participate in other than intramurals as girl's volleyball and basketball teams were formed or bettered this year. Both teams were coached by Mrs. Betty Brewer.

The basketball team played such opponents as Wharton County Junior College, Incarnate Word, and St. Mary's.

A&I competes in the Texas Commission of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women. The team won the district title last year and reached the second round in the state tournament.

The team once again reached the state finals by defeating the University of Corpus Christi in the final to capture District 6 honors.

A&I's girls will be one of 12 teams advancing into the state tournament in Nacogdoches.

The A&I team enters the state tournament with a 7-3 season mark. For the first time the squad played a regular season schedule this year prior to entering the district tournament.

Community Concert, Artist Course Brings A&I Variety of Entertainment

Two different organizations, both having as their purpose the cultural betterment of Kingsville and A&I are the Kingsville Community Concert Association and the Artist Course Series.

The Kingsville Community Concert Association is the local affiliate of the National Community Concert Association. Its purpose is to bring cultural entertainment of high quality into the Kingsville area. Through a membership campaign held each year, the organization obtains the necessary money to finance the various events. This organization is maintained by the community and its members come from all areas of employment in the surrounding district.

The Artist Course Committee on the other hand is composed of faculty members and students. It strives to add to the cultural enrichment of the University by bringing to the campus a series of concerts, lectures, and other entertainment of high quality. The Committee also functions during the summer session to bring similar high quality productions but with fewer numbers scheduled.

Since only members of the Community Concert Association, whether they be regular or student members, are allowed to attend the Association's events, the Artist Course Series purchases 200 tickets for each event and makes them available to the student body on a first-come first-serve basis.

During the 1969-70 season the Artist Course Series sponsored various events, among which was a professional production of the Shakespearean tragedy, "King Lear." Also appearing under the sponsorship of this group was a program featuring various acts, including flamenco, singers, and a Mariachi Band.

The Community Concert Association provided Kingsville with Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians and featuring Tonia Bern Campbell, Baritone William Walker, Guitarists and Folk Singers Addis & Crofut, and Duo-Pianists Arthur Gold and Robert Fizdale.

Music Educators Give Band Ovation In Dallas

The Texas A&I University Band, under the direction of Dr. Joseph L. Bellamah, surpassed nearly all of its previous records with one of the busiest seasons during 1969-70.

Football season always finds the marching band in preparation for half-time shows and pep rallies, but since the band had been invited to appear as one of the honor bands at the state convention of the Texas Music Educators Association, they began concert season earlier, with marching and concert season being combined.

The band travelled to the Sam Houston game and added their spirit and support. Though the weather was bad, band members came and stayed to the final victory of the NAIA playoff game. When the Javelinas received the Bowl bid, the band again performed and cheered. During the fall the band presented

On the Mall march concerts on Dad's Day and Homecoming. At Christmas, a semi-formal dance was held in the SUB Ballroom.

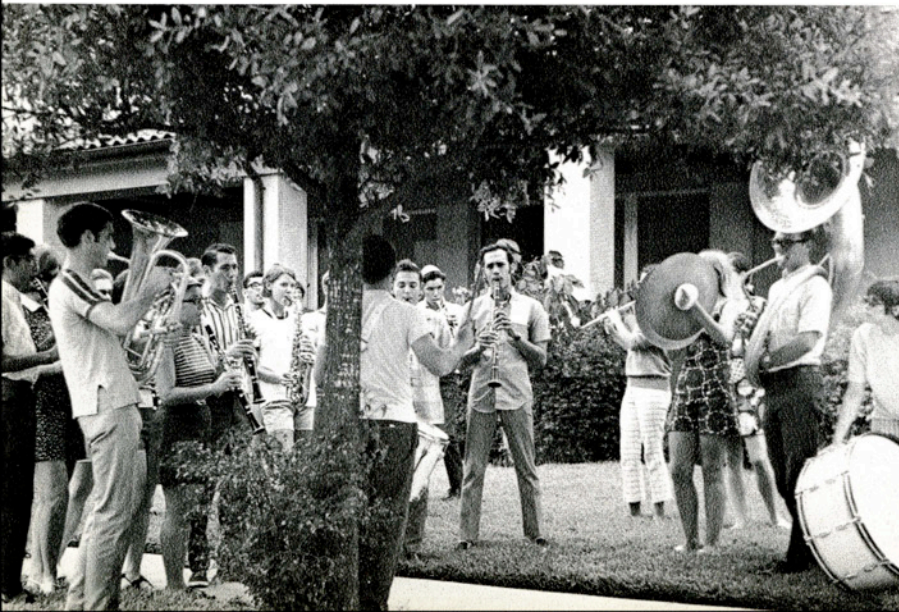

Before the start of second semester, band members returned early and spent several days in rehearsal for the upcoming tour and TMEA Concert.

Tour included performances in Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Austin, Dallas, Terrell and culminated on the fourth day with the convention concert held in Dallas, February 12. The band performed to a "standing room only" audience of approximately 2000 music students and educators from all parts of Texas.

On the concert the band played five numbers, including a premier performance of the newest composition for band by A&I Music faculty member Lawrence Weiner entitled "Introduction and Scherzo." At the conclusion of the concert, the entire audience rose to give Dr. Bellamah and the A&I Symphonic Band a standing ovation. The A&I Band was the only one of the three honor bands to receive this.

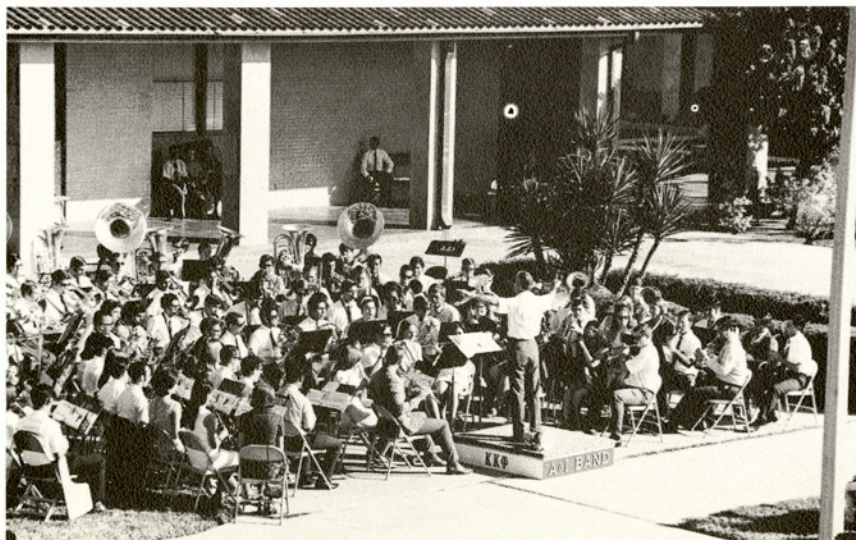

In April they performed during the Fine Arts Festival, playing several numbers by composer Alfred Reed, special guest during the Festival.

Pep rallies are a way of life to members of the marching band. This one was held early one Saturday morning as a Farewell and good luck to the football players as they left for San Antonio and the Trinity game, last of the season.

The band gives several On the Mall march concerts each year. First is the Dad's Day Concert in the fall. The next one was held on Homecoming and the third during the spring.

Student assistants aid Dr. Bellamah in many ways. They direct the band in his absence, are responsible for many of the business aspects, and plan the half-time shows. Here with Dr. Bellamah are Alex Sotelo and Ernest Muzquiz.

Band officers handle much of the business of the band. They aid in planning tours and other activities and are assisted in their duties by a council composed of a male and female representative from each class. Shown here are: John Schuch, 2nd vice-president; Barbara Hassler, secretary-treasurer; Ernest Muzquiz, president; Deanna Gillaspay, reporter; and Richard Roper, drum major and 1st vice-president.

A familiar sight to every band student are the Continental Trailways buses which carry them to all out of town events. Freshman girl band members are responsible for making signs for the vehicles.

Music Education Provides Practical Experiences

A modified type of student teaching program has made its successful debut in the music department this year. It's Music 315, Elementary School Music Methods, under Mrs. C. Johnston.

This course is designed to develop an awareness and knowledge in students of methods of teaching music to the elementary school child.

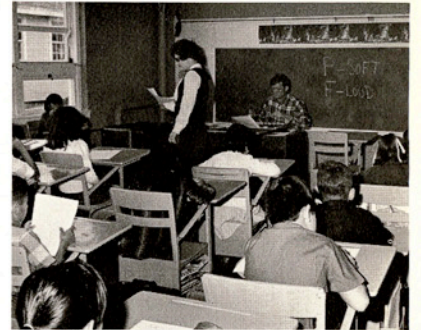

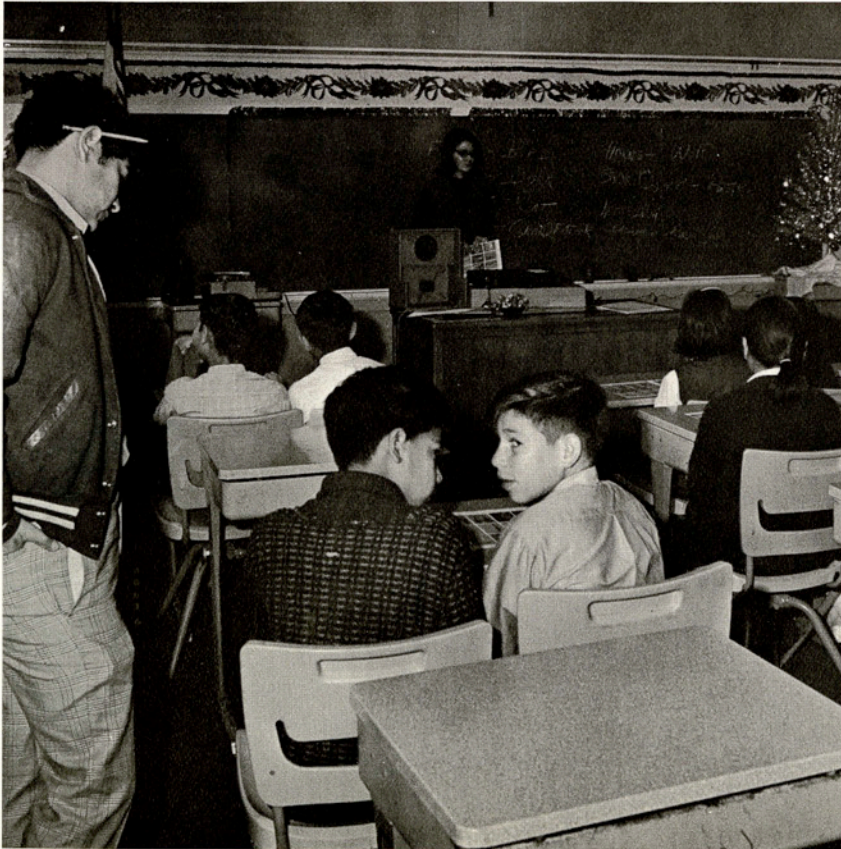

In the past this course has been confined to the classroom, though elementary school students from St. Gertrude's and St. Martin's schools have been brought to class when certain techniques were demonstrated.

Beginning this year, though, Mrs. Johnston divided her class into groups, each with a topic which they researched and prepared. Then, for a number of weeks the groups visited St. Martin's school and taught the children in a classroom situation.

Children enjoy participation and action, one thing which this course stresses. It involves them in the subject and helps to develop coordination.

Here students learn songs and, along with this, some of the basics of the language of music.

The development of an appreciation of good music should begin early. Here students study the enjoyable story of "Peter and the Wolf" told in music.

A&I Civic Symphony Is Led By Merton Johnson

Director of the A&I Civic Symphony is Dr. Merton B. Johnson, associate professor of music. He received his Bachelor's in French Horn from the Curtis Institute of Music and his voice and choral conducting, from Illinois Wesleyan under Lloyd Pfautsch. He obtained his doctoral degree in French Horn and conducting from the Eastman School of Music.

Before coming to A&I he organized and conducted a college-community orchestra in Wichita, Kansas.

Rehearsals are held regularly each week with extra times scheduled as needed.

Civic Symphony Premiers Works By Weiner, Perry

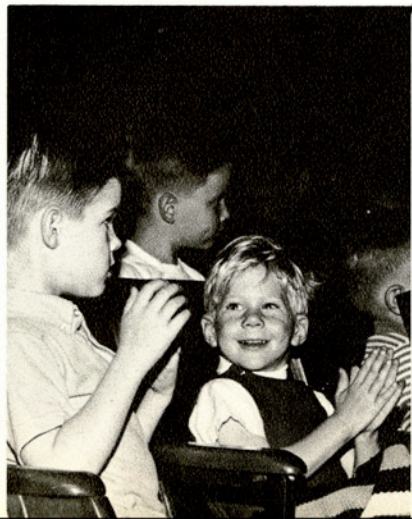

The A&I Civic Symphony is comprised of musicians from a wide area. Wind and percussion players are mainly music majors. String players come from the general student body, faculty, community, Corpus Christi and Valley areas. This year students from Edinburg High School, under the direction of Albert Coen, assisted on the November 1 concert.

During the year the symphony presents three major concerts plus the Children's Concert, participates in the Fine Arts Festival, one opera and two summer musicals.

The 1969-70 season included performances of "Quatro Madrigales Amatorios" by Rodrigo and sung by Yolanda Longoria, graduate assistant in music; the premier of "Prologos Synkretismos," a new composition by Lawrence Weiner of the A&I music faculty; and a first performance on campus of the "Festival Mass in G" for Chorus and Orchestra by Dr. R. D. Perry who this year retired from the A&I mathematics department.

Standard symphonic repertoire included works by Brahms, Berlioz, Prokofiev, and Haydn.

The Children's Concert presents music in an informal atmosphere, which they will enjoy and will help broaden their musical scope.

Robert Scott, music faculty, led the orchestra in the summer musicals and the spring operas.

The summer presentation of "Kiss Me Kate" required players to double on several instruments.

Ernest Muzquiz, principal percussionist in the Civic Symphony and a senior music major, is the newest student member of the Corpus Christi Symphony. He served as student conductor on the Children's Concert, conducting the "Serenade in E" by Richard Strauss.

Bassoon Quartet Is Newest of Ensemble Groups

Members of the Bassoon Quartet are Barbara Hassler, Karen Tate, Deanna Gillaspay, and DeWayne Kirk.

New on the list of ensembles sponsored by the music department was a bassoon quartet added in the fall semester. The group made their debut performing in several student recitals and played together throughout the year in reading new literature gathered by director Dan Duncan, instructor in music.

Other groups include two saxophone quartets, also under the sponsorship of Duncan and a Brass Choir directed by Jack Flower, assistant professor of music.

The sax quartets also appeared in several student recitals and entertained at various functions. One of the groups performed at the program held on Dad's Day in Jones Auditorium.

The Brass Choir performed in conjunction with the Concert Choir in a Christmas Program and presented their own recital in the spring.

Featured in one sax quartet were Rolando Zapata, baritone saxophone; Donald Higginbotham, tenor saxophone; Alfred Cortinas, alto saxophone; and Humberto Gonzalez, tenor saxophone.

These sax quartet members are Javier Gutierrez, baritone sax; George Amberson, tenor sax; Leopoldo Garza and Barbara Spenrath, alto saxes.

Choir Director Roberts Recognized By Music Students

In recognition of his outstanding contributions to music and in appreciation of his work at Texas A&I University, Frank Dean Roberts, assistant professor of music and director of the A&I Concert Choir, was presented with an award by the Phi Mu Alpha Music Fraternity at the Choir's Christmas Concert. Mike Gilbert, Phi Mu Alpha president, made the presentation.

Because of a strong faith in and respect for Roberts both as a musician and educator, the Pi Kai Chapter decided to recognize him in this fashion, according to Gilbert.

Roberts holds B.M. and M.M.E degrees from North Texas State and is a member of the Texas Choral Directors Association, the American Choral Directors Association, the Music Educators National Conference, and the Oklahoma Music Educators Association. Prior to his position at A&I Roberts served as assistant professor of music and director of opera at Oklahoma Baptist University, assistant choral director at the University of Texas, choral director at South Park High School in Beaumont and graduate voice tutor at North Texas State University.

Between 50 and 60 students selected from the University at large comprise the concert choir of Texas A&I. While required of voice majors and voice principals, the choir serves as an important elective to other music majors and those from other areas of study. The repertoire covers choral literature from the Renaissance to contemporary.

The choir performs at least three times on campus each year—fall, Christmas, and late spring. In addition to these the choir occasionally tours within the state. This spring a tour was planned to the San Antonio-Austin area to perform in both formal evening concerts and high school assembly programs.

Serving as Choir Officers for 1969-70 are Lynne Weynand, secretary-treasurer; Ronald Crawford, vice president; and Tom Estes, president.

A&I Singers Give Performances Over South, West Texas

The Texas A&I University Singers are a select vocal ensemble whose membership is determined by auditions open to all students on the campus.

Through the years it has won wide acclaim for its program versatility and sensitive interpretations of a wide range of vocal literature.

Last year's 34 program appearances included television via videotape, civic, church and public school assemblies.

Program commitments of the past year included 16 appearances during an eight-day spring tour through sections of West Texas and the Rio Grande Valley.

The Singers enjoyed a highly successful tour of Europe in 1960, and of the Orient in 1964. Under the joint sponsorship of United Service Organizations and the National Music Council, the A&I Singers are scheduled for an eight-week entertainment tour of military bases in the European Command this summer, with June 17 given as the departure date.

Singers rehearse for their Christmas Concert.

In its second year of operation is KTAI, the campus radio station which daily broadcasts news and easy listening music.

An innovation to KTAI came this year when the station added an FM system.

Music, Speech Departments Update Facilities and Methods

During the summer months one of the classrooms in the music building underwent much reworking, with the result of the formation of a class supplied with electric pianos. Now instead of music majors fulfilling their piano requirement through private lessons they register for piano class.

The new stereo tape recorder-record player units were purchased for the music department and were used for the electronic music in "Help! Help! The Globolinks." They are also used in the classroom.

Costuming Major Element in A&I's Plays and Operas

Costuming is one of the major things and one of the biggest headaches in putting on a production.

For a number of years this aspect of theatre for musical and speech productions was handled by students and volunteers or just by searching through the closet. Outfitting performers in the musicals was for many years done by Mrs. Robert C. Scott, wife of music faculty member and musicals director Robert C. Scott.

Everything from measuring actors and buying materials to making the costumes was done by her and her assistants. Her most recent work dealt with "Once Upon A Mattress" and "Kiss Me Kate."

Beginning with the fall semester, A&I hired Larry Life, instructor in speech and drama, to fill this capacity for both the speech and music departments.

Larry Life adjusts a headpiece on one of the goddesses from the speech production "The Tempest."

Mrs. Scott adjusts a costume on Laura Vela who played Kate in the musical production of "Kiss Me Kate," presented during the second session of the summer.

Mrs. Robert Scott was always a familiar sight at the sewing machine in preparation for any of the musicals.

Drama Students Strive to Develop Trust, Sensitivity

The drama department at A&I underwent a change in teaching methods this year with the addition of Larry Life to the faculty. Life made use of sensory-awareness exercises in his classes to make actors aware of their entire selves — mind and body. These include relaxation exercises in which the actors prepare for performance and the mirror game. The students also learned how to explore their environment totally.

Life stressed the necessity of an ensemble feeling in order for actors to work together as a cooperating body. The machine game demonstrates the effectiveness of such an exercise. Sensitivity exercises were used in the classes to help the students become aware of themselves and each other so that they may work together as an ensemble.

The class learns to do the trust lift.

"In order to play a part truthfully, you must give of yourself."

Laura Vela builds an imaginary box for one of the theater games.

Larry Life side coaches as the class goes through relaxation exercises.

Art Students Discover Many Different Avenues To Explore Individual Expression and Creativity

Any students pursuing the study of art at A&I learns from the first that he possesses free rein on his choice of media by which he may express himself. From sculpture to painting, to throwing objects all together, the students find that their only guidelines are their own creativity.

Some pursue the study of art in a serious vein, desiring to teach it themselves one day or to enter into some phase of commercial art work. Still others find an art course or two to be an enjoyable addition to their curriculum — either for pleasure or elective requirements. In any case, and for whatever reason, every student strives to bring to the fore his own particular skills.

Yet others find their interest to be in studying art with the idea of trying to understand and appreciate what they see of the works of others. Through this the student learns to be sensitive and perceptive to the artist and his message through art.

Alpha Gamma Rho Provides Service, Social Opportunities For Collegians

Alpha Gamma Rho has not only been a social fraternity at Texas A&I, but it has provided services for the School of Agriculture this year.

During freshman orientation the fraternity served refreshments to incoming agricultural students and invited them to an open meeting to learn of Alpha Gamma Rho. The group was host for the Homecoming Open House in the ag building, and worked closely with the school in the FFA and 4-H contests held on the campus.

This year Alpha Gamma Rho had

26 active members, took in 10 pledges during the fall and five in the spring.

To become a member of Alpha Gamma Rho a student must be an agriculture major or plan to go into a related field.

On the social side, Alpha Gamma Rho held mixers with the sororities and sponsored several dances.

On April 18, Founder's Day, a formal banquet followed by a dance was held at the Americana Restaurant in Alice.

Tau Kappa Epsilon is the youngest social fraternity on the campus, founded in 1968. Gamma Delta Chi was created on the principles of equality and brotherhood. In the spring of 1969 the fraternity became affiliated with Tau Kappa Epsilon, the largest international fraternity.

To promote school spirit the TKES obtained an 1878 church bell. It is used at school events such as football games. The bell made its debut during the NAIA playoff games.

Following the NAIA Championship game, TKE held a formal party at Jack's Swinging Door, Wilson Tower, in Corpus Christi. The Young Society played for the event. During the spring the fraternity took part in the Alpha Delta Pi playday. In the fall TKE sponsored a coke-toss and candle shoot-out at the annual Carnival.

Accounting Society Attends Seminar On Federal Taxes

Members of the Accounting Society were the guests last fall of the Corpus Christi Chapter of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants when it held its Twelfth Annual Federal Tax Seminar.

The seminar demonstrates the purpose of the society, which is to further the interest of accountancy and to promote a cordial relationship among practicing accountants, accounting instructors and students.

Each May the Accounting Society sponsors a banquet where the outstanding accounting students are honored. A Price Waterhouse scholarship is given, also.

Students who have completed or who are at the present time taking elementary or advanced courses in accounting with the intention of majoring in the subject are eligible for membership in the society.

Accounting Society officers are Jerry B. Munns, secretary; Roy L. Butler, vice-president; Danny R. Hodgkins, parliamentarian; John R. Womack Jr., president; and Charles Johnson, treasurer.

Afro-American Society Supports Team, Tutors

Leading the Afro-American Society are Willard Hall, treasurer; Millious Slider, president; Will Washington, vice-president; and Phyllis Stafford, secretary.

The Afro-American Society had a full year of activities in its second year of existence. During football season the group made signs supporting the Javelinas and ran a member for Homecoming Queen. They also protested the display of the Confederate flag at the A&I vs. Concordia game.

A tutoring program was set up for club members in all disciplines, discussions on Black history were held, and the society presented a program for the Campus Christian Fellowship during the fall. On Friday nights the group held record hops for high school students, and at Christmas a box of goods valued at $45 was given to a needy family.

On the political side, the society was instrumental in six members being elected to the Student Council.

Highlight of the spring semester was Afro-American History Day held Feb. 19. Students wore Afro dress during the day, which culminated with a program on Afro history and thought.

On the agenda of Aggie Club activities for this year was the favorite event of all, the annual Aggie Round-up. After a week marked by members wearing western attire, complete with red bandanas, Round-up ended with a barbecue and dance at Mesquite Grove. Special guests at the barbecue were approximately 100 boys from Youth City in Driscoll.

The club holds an annual Back-to-School Dance and Christmas Dance in the SUB ballroom, and conducts a barbecue during the District 12 4-H judging contest.

A long-term project has been the construction, maintenance and improvement of Mesquite Grove. This outdoor picnic-recreation area is available to any college group.

Ag Mechanization Has 27 Members In First Full Year

The Agricultural Mechanization Club was founded in the spring of 1969. During its first functional year the group has heard guest speakers from industries connected with agricultural mechanization such as John Deere, Massey-Ferguson, Portland Cement, and Butler Buildings.

Twenty-seven members have joined this year. All are required to be agriculture mechanics majors and strive for professional improvement. They participate in tractor safety demonstrations at county fairs, 4-H and FFA contests, and Farm Bureau meetings.

The first full-term president of the organization is Patrick Moczygmba of Falls City. The first advisors are Dr. Arnold Solstad and Robert S. Keaton.

Guiding the Agricultural Mechanization Club are James Foster, treasurer; Frank Hosek, reporter; John Fohn, vice-president; Pat Moczygmba, president; and Terry Watts, secretary.

Engineers' Mixers Started by AIME

This year the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers initiated the Engineers' Mixer, which was held in the fall in the Engineering Building's patio. Held with the cooperation of other engineering organizations, about 50 students attended. AIME also helps with the Annual Engineer's Day and the Engineer's barbecue.

During the year speakers from Humble, Mobil and Atlantic-Richfield oil corporations addressed AIME members. A field trip was made to offshore drilling operations in the Gulf of Mexico about three miles off Padre Island.

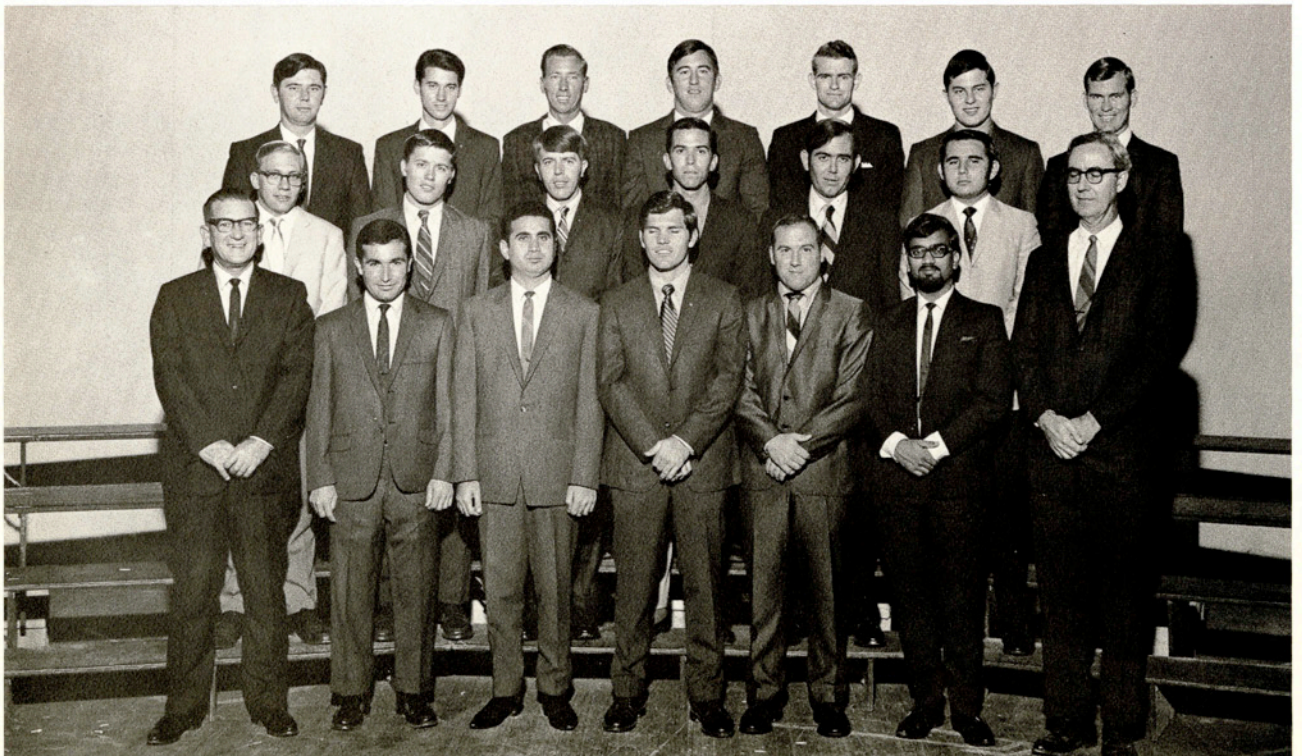

The purpose of AIME is to bring the student into contact with the industry in which he will eventually work and to form a fellowship between members. Thirty-five engineering students joined during 1969-70. To join, one must be an engineering student with an interest in natural gas engineering and related fields.

AIME is led by Alan Dolezal, vice-president; Milton Seim, treasurer; Gary Slusher, secretary; and Chuck Pyle, president.

Alpha Lambda Delta's Charter Is Recognized

This was the charter year for Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society. The society, which was started in 1967 as a local society, received word in June, 1969, that it had been approved for membership in the national society. On November 21, 1969, the formal charter ceremony and initiation took place. The coeds marked the occasion with a tea.

The society boasts 56 charter members and has an average active membership of 25. It strives to promote intelligent living and a high standard of learning and to encourage superior scholastic attainment among freshmen women.

In order to be qualified for membership, a coed must have a grade point average of 3.5 based on a minimum of 15 hours and a maximum of 30 hours taken prior to the completion of the freshman year on a full-load basis.

Alpha Lambda Club has had five hard working officers this year. Carolyn Rees, news editor; Joyce Jones, secretary; Shirley Koehler, president; Mary Clark, treasurer; and Dorothy Beuton, historian.

Alpha Chi Boasts Membership Increase

The highest academic honor a student can receive at Texas A&I is to be invited into the membership of the Texas Omega chapter of Alpha Chi, national honorary society.

This year the organization had 61 members, an increase of 21 over 1968-69, and three new advisors—Dr. George Cook, Miss Mae Dell Schiller, and Dr. Ernest A. Franke. It is the job of the advisors to check grade point averages to determine who is eligible for Alpha Chi membership. An invitation is then issued by the mail.

In order to join Alpha Chi, a student must be a junior or senior with a grade point average of 3.5. They must have attended Texas A&I for one academic year and carried a 12-hour load each semester.

Alpha Chi was established on this campus in 1927 as the twenty-sixth chapter of the Texas Honor Societies. In 1934 the organization became nationally established as Alpha Chi.

Officers for Alpha Chi are Pat Lowrie, assistant secretary; Judy Gibson, president; Chuck Moreland, regional student representative; Shirley Gingerich, vice-president; and Lupita Cavazos, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. George Cook leads the initiates in repeating the Alpha Chi pledge during fall initiation.

In the final step of membership, pledges line up to sign the constitution in the presence of advisors Mae Dell Schiller and Katherine Kantz.

Phi Ettes New Feature of APO'S

A new feature of Alpha Phi Omega this year were the Phi Ettes, a group of 17 coeds who assist members in their many service projects. Early in the fall semester an after-game dance was held to install the Phi Ettes. To climax the fall semester, APO held a Civil War Ball.

APO, an international service fraternity and the world's largest fraternity, has been on the Texas A&I campus since 1947. Its many projects include campus beautification, the ugly man on campus contest, a broom sale for the blind, car washes, and others.

Funds received from the money-raising projects goes toward the support of an American Indian orphan child and a scholarship awarded to a deserving freshman.

The purpose of the fraternity is to assemble college men in a national service fraternity in the fellowship and principles of the Boy Scouts of America. There are 22 active members and 11 pledges.

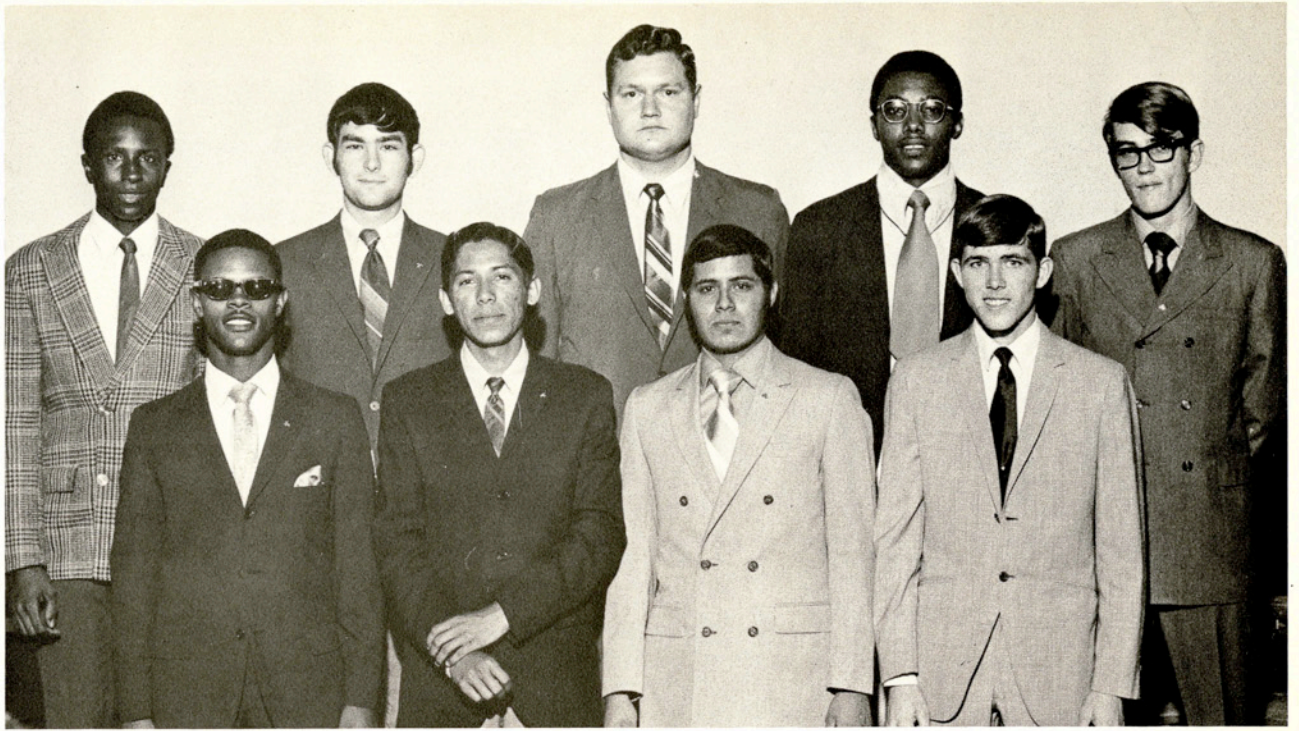

At the front of Alpha Phi Omega are Rick Tinnin, pledge master; Rutsy Hellman, 1st vice-president; and Tommy Hauenstein, secretary.

Reader's Theatre Presents "The Little Foxes"

Alpha Psi Omega's

During the summer Alpha Psi Omega sponsored a Reader's Theatre Production of "The Little Foxes." The organization spent a busy year selling refreshments at many of the university's theatrical productions, and they sponsored several productions of "Dark of the Moon."

In the spring plans were made to co-sponsor a Speech and Drama Department banquet. The group also participated in the Fall Carnival and many members offered their services when the University Interscholastic League Speech events were held on campus.

Membership is based on the accumulation of 50 points by each prospective member. Points are awarded for work done on some aspect of the theatre productions at Texas A&I.

Since the charter of the organization, membership has stayed approximately at the same percentage level, keeping pace with the university's growth.

Alpha Psi Omega officers are Laura Vela, stage manager; Mary Lou Ramirez, business manager; Bonnie Holt, membership representative; and Steve Shipley, director.

Front: William Hill, Ronnie Nance, Frank Dodson, Candy Jones.

ATA's Main Event Selection of Aggie of Year

Alpha Tau Alpha elected Robert Huff, president; James Kosub, secretary; Randy Lynch, vice-president; and Pat Moczygamba, treasurer.

Alpha Tau Alpha, a professional honorary agriculture fraternity, assists the School of Agriculture with the 4-H and Future Farmers of America contests which bring hundreds of high school students each year to the campus.

One of the most interesting events of the year for agriculture majors is the selection of "Aggie of the Year." In order to qualify for the honor, the student must be a member of ATA. Nominees are selected by the fraternity with the final decision made by the agriculture faculty and revealed only after weeks of suspense.

Each year ATA sends its president to the national conclave, which was held in Kansas City, Mo., in October. The fraternity has two major social events, a fall banquet and a spring barbecue.

ACE Members Get Experience With Children

Members of ACE get practical first-hand experience with elementary school-age children as they work with the Kingsville organization as Campfire Girl leaders, sponsoring local troops.

Organized in 1964, the A&I branch of ACE has grown to a 1969-70 membership of 31, an increase of 11 over last year.

Members of the organization work for the education and well-being of children by promoting desirable conditions, programs and practices in the elementary schools. They also try to raise the standards of teacher preparation and encourage professional growth of teachers and other educational leaders. One of their goals is to keep the public informed of children's needs.

Association For Childhood Education officers are Ann Pierson, secretary; Jovita Ochoa, editor; Linda Mills, vice-president; and Ethel Howerton, president.

AWS Coordinating Body For Coed Organizations; Sets Working Standards

The Associated Women Students raised funds for their annual Big Sister-Little Sister picnic and to purchase roses for dormitory rose gardens by a "Penny-a-Minute" night. Once each semester dormitory girls were able to move the week-night curfew time of 11 p.m. up to midnight at the cost of a penny a minute.

Other ways funds were used was in purchasing crystal and china for the women's dormitories and redecorating and furnishing the women's rest rooms in Manning Hall and the Student Union Building.

Formed to help A&I coeds get the greatest benefits from college life, AWS promotes unity and fellowship among women students and tries to provide opportunities for leadership in worthwhile activities on campus.

Planning activities for A. W. S. are Lucille Adcock, reporter; Paula Mahoney, vice-president; Delmagene Saunders, president; Linda Mills, treasurer; and Joy Huntington, secretary.

Dialogue '70 Highlights BSU Spring Activities; Members Teach Class

High points in the Baptist Student Union's year were several trips. In October 29 students attended the BSU state convention in Dallas. During the semester break the Mid-Winter Retreat was held at the H. E. Butt Foundation Camp near Leaky, and the Leadership Training Conference was held in April at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene.

On the campus students participated in a mission outreach program each Friday evening when they held Bible school classes for 25-30 children living in Brown Villa. In December at the annual banquet 35 international students joined BSU members as guests of honor.

The big event of the spring was Dialogue '70 held March 10-12. Dr. James Dunn, of the Christian Life Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, was the guest speaker who showed how living for Christ today is a vital, happy way of life.

B.S.U. member Raquene Trevino talks with girls who come every Friday night to the Baptist Student Union outreach for children in the Brown Villa area.

Biology Club Holds Annual Wildlife Show

Big event of the year for the Biology Club was the Wildlife Show held in early May. Members collected all the animals, snakes, etc. that were displayed then acted as tour guides for the hundreds of spectators, many of them children, who attended.

Guest speakers at the monthly meetings this year have included Dr. Clarence Cottam of Welder Wildlife Refuge who spoke on birds; Al Brothers, manager of a ranch near Laredo, who discussed exotic wildlife raised on the ranch; Bill Sheffield of Texas A&M who discussed his research on nilgai, a member of the antelope group; and Glen McDonald, an A&I student who worked at NASA during the summer.

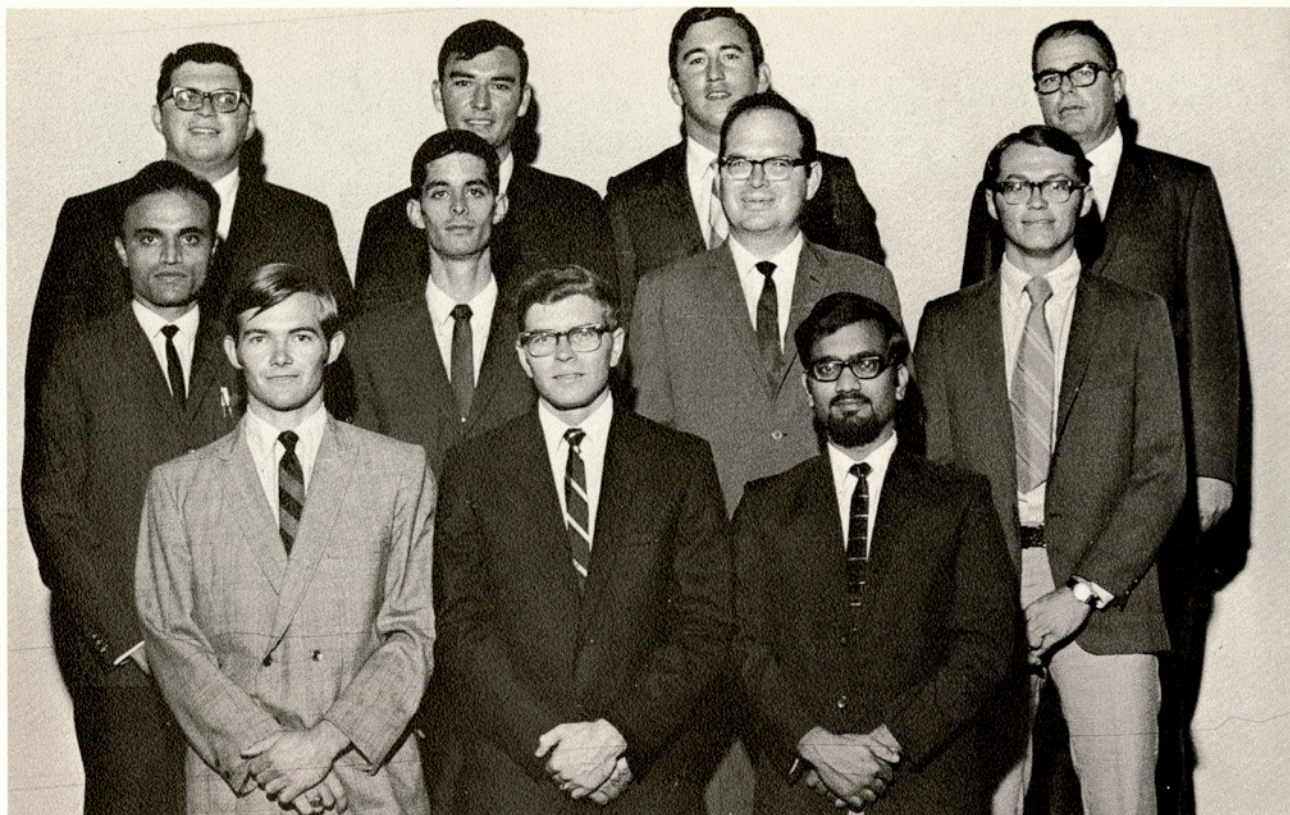

Heading the Biology Club this year is (seated) Joyce Teerling, treasurer; Kathy Fealy, secretary; (standing) Beth Simersky, reporter; Jim Davis, president; and Chad Huckabee, vice-president.

Chem Engineers See Bishop Plant

Thirty-five students and faculty members affiliated with the Campus Society of Chemical Engineers toured Celanese Corp. in Bishop during the fall. The field trip was part of the society's goal of promoting chemical and petroleum natural gas engineering among A&I students.

Dr. Hugh Guthrie, national president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and assistant general manager of the refining division of Shell Oil Company, was one of the outstanding speakers who appeared before the group.

On the social side, the society held a dance at the Fall Carnival and they selected Sheryl Morgan as their sweetheart.

This year membership stood at 20, an increase of five over 1968-69.

Cap and Gown Honors Coeds' Top Scholarship

Cap and Gown promotes university loyalty, maintains a high standard of scholarship, advances the spirit of service and fellowship among university women.

To be considered for membership, the student must have 70 semester hours with a minimum of 30 semester hours received from A&I University, make a 3.5 grade-point average on all work for which she is registered. She must also show leadership and have an interest in serving others.

The membership of Cap and Gown has increased by 27 new members during the spring semester.

Cap and Gown members have handed out programs and served refreshments at the Faculty Lecture Series throughout the year. In addition to this, it also held an initiation banquet on March 21 at the Holiday Inn.

Heading Cap and Gown activities this year were Sheryl Morgan, secretary; Shirley Gingerich, president; Carla Schilling, vice-president; and Shirley Pettigrew, treasurer.

Chi Alpha Offers Assembly of God Students Activities

Now in its second year on campus, Chi Alpha provides Christian fellowship for Assembly of God and other interested students. At meetings twice a month in the SUB members discussed their responsibility as Christians to the campus, their fellow students and God.

At regular meetings members heard a tape by Nicky Cruz, former dope addict and New York gang leader who now directs a Christian home for neglected children, book reviews of current Christian literature were given by members, and speakers from Corpus Christi and panel discussions were heard.

Plans were made to conduct programs in area Assemblies of God to acquaint future college students with Chi Alpha.

On the social side, the students gathered at Dick Kleberg Park for fun, food, and a bonfire during the fall. Other get-togethers included a Homecoming Party and a barbecue.

Church of Christ Chair Assists Local Churches With Welfare Programs

Members of the Church of Christ Bible Chair hold a fellowship supper, followed by a discussion and lectureship program, once a month. In addition to the suppers, activity meetings are held each Monday and Thursday when the university is in session.

As part of the Bible Chair's outreach, students visit the Kingsville Nursing Home and assist local churches in their welfare programs. During the spring semester A&I members meet for a weekend with companion groups from other South Texas colleges.

Membership requirements for the Church of Christ Bible Chair are that students be between the ages of 18 and 25 and interested in the teachings of Christ. The organization tries to offer its members opportunities for spiritual and intellectual growth and for participation in Christian fellowship.

Delta Omicron Advances Women in Music Field

Delta Omicron officers for 1969-70 were Karen Tate, first vice-president; Yolanda Garza, president; Faye Maddox, secretary; Anna Schoener, treasurer; and Vangie Ramirez, second vice-president.

Delta Omicron has a membership of 13 students who are music majors or minors, all having a 3.0 grade point average in music and a 2.5 overall gpa.

"Continually striving, we attain" is the motto of the organization whose purpose is to advance women in the field of music.

The organization has ushered at concerts and recitals during the year, as well as helped the local Camp Fire Girls and participated in the Fall Carnival.

During the fall semester it held a Founder's Day Recital and planned a recital of music by American composers for the spring.

The organization was founded in 1909 at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music by students. It is an international music fraternity with collegiate and alumnae chapters established in the United States and the Orient.

'We Dare to Care' Deseret's Theme Given Conference

"We Dare to Care" was the theme of a youth conference sponsored by the Deseret Club this year. Over 350 young people from the South Texas area attended the meet which was held on campus.

The Deseret Club, affiliated with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, donated $200 worth of books to the university library in the form of a memorial. The group also made plans to give two scholarships.

Organized in 1968, the 12 members of the Deseret Club sponsor an institute class where members study church doctrine.

The purpose of the club is to promote fellowship and wholesome association among college men and women.

The Deseret Club held religious lessons and discussions under the direction of Dr. Eldon D. Brinley.

Delta Sigma Pi Sponsors 'Town Hall'

Leading the Delta Sigma Pi's this year are Jay Johnson, secretary; Charles Johnson, senior vice-president; Warren Giese, treasurer; David M. Haunschild, vice-president; and Bill Gray, president.

Delta Sigma Pi had a full year of speakers capped off with Town Hall, a panel which appeared before the professional business fraternity which was composed of the presidents of such companies as Central Power and Light, Alamo Ironworks and Textan Corp. After the panel discussion, held March 17, a question and answer session was held.

A speaker associated with Merrill, Lynch, Fenner, Smith and Bean spoke to the fraternity on the future outlook for the stock industry. The vice president of Kleberg National Bank discussed the General scope of banking today.

As a money-raising project in January the group sponsored an all-school dance featuring the Young Society. In April the Rose Ball was held for members, pledges, and ex-members at the Racquet Club in Corpus Christi.

The 31 members of Delta Sigma Pi must be enrolled in Business Administration with a minimum of 30 semester hours and a grade point average of 2.0. Membership is by invitation.

Footlight Club Puts on Plays, Spencer's Orgy

Students with a genuine interest in dramatics are urged to participate in the Footlights Club's activities.

This energetic group puts on several student and/or faculty directed one act plays open to the public, "Spencer's Orgy" (a musical-variety show), bake sales and dances.

At club meetings members listen to guest speakers describe various aspects of the theatre. Among the special speakers this year was Ben Holland, director of the Little Theatre Corpus Christi, who spoke to the group on the community theatre.

Footlighters strive to serve Texas A&I in the development and advance of theatre and to raise the standard of dramatics at the university.

Cercle Francais Active; Sponsors Dances, Cafe

Le Cercle Francais is a relatively new club on campus, this being only its third year in existence. Last year was the first year that A&I offered French as a major; this has greatly affected the growth of the club. Twenty students joined this year, an increase of 10 over 1968-69.

This year Le Cercle Francais had three dances, sponsored a candidate for Homecoming Queen, and manned a Sidewalk Cafe at the Fall Carnival. Members worked on a one-act French play which helped them in their language study.

The purpose of the organization is to promote French culture on an educational and social basis. Membership is open to any French major or minor, as well as people who are not majors but are interested in French.

Guiding the French club are Gloria Canales, president; Sagrario Sanchez, secretary-treasurer; Karon Slough, reporter-parliamentarian; and Nelda Martinez, vice-president.

Speaking on the subject "The Future of Teaching Vocational Agriculture," President David McVey, a teacher in El Paso, adressed the group Nov. 19. Accompanying him was the organization's executive secretary, W. H. Meischen.

Also speaking to FFA members at one of their semi-monthly meetings was Lon Messer, vocational ag teacher at Mathis, who talked on pre-employment occupations in teaching vocational agriculture in farm machinery and farm motors.

Three members of the organization attended the national convention in Kansas City in October: Bill Pugh, who is state FFA vice president; Robert Huff; and F. B. Wines, advisor. Pugh later related convention information to the local group.

Gold Jackets' Goal Is Service

Gold Jackets is an organization dedicated to service to the university. The coed members try to promote the welfare of the student body, stir intellectual curiosity and scholastic integrity, and provide a sounding board for social issues.

Membership requirements are a 2.5 grade point average and a sophomore, junior or senior standing. Coeds are chosen on the basis of their leadership ability, creativeness, sense of responsibility and dedication to Texas A&I.

The Gold Jackets help conduct all campus-wide elections, register visitors and ex-students at Homecoming, and assist with the presentations of the Artist Course Committee.

HPE Club Gains 30 New Members, 75 Students Join

One of the campus organizations which really had a jump in membership this year was the Health and Physical Education Club. Seventy-five students joined, an increase of 30 over 1968-69.

The club held several fund-raising activities, the most important of which was a Christmas Dance held in the SUB Ballroom December 16. Members also held their annual ice cream social.

HPE majors and minors, along with other students interested in promoting HPE activities, make up the club's membership. Many of these attended the Texas Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation convention which was held in Corpus Christi Dec. 4-6.

Chuck Wagon Supper, Entertainment Kicks Off Home Ec Club's Membership Drive for Year

Heading the Home Economics Club are Darnell Albert, first vice-president; Carol Post, president; Sylvia Cavazos, second vice-president; Elda Trevino, social chairman; and Antia E. Saldana, secretary.

It was a year full of fun and work for members of the Home Economics Club. The club's membership drive started with a bang in the fall at the chuck wagon supper. Open to all home economics majors, 100 students turned out to eat on the patio of the Home Economics building and listen to the entertainment.

The 60 members were in charge of the Kountry Kitchen at the Fall Carnival. They found candied apples and popcorn balls to be their best selling items.

On the more serious side, members listened to a representative of the Corpus Christi schools' central kitchen discuss the problems of planning and preparing meals for thousands of children. Four students and an advisor attended the state workshop at Baylor University, and others went to the state meeting of the Texas Home Economics Association.

Hispano Club Adds 56 Members

Serving the Hispano Club as its officers this year are John Carlos Moreno, second vice-president; Yolanda Cabrera, parliamentarian; Velma Garcia, secretary; Cornelio Adams, president; and Alfredo H. Benavides, treasurer.

An organization with a bumper crop of members this year was the Texas A&I Hispano Club. Total membership for 1969-70 was 156, 56 members more than the previous year.

The club participated in the Fall Carnival and holds a Turkey Trot to promote the social and cultural objectives of the organization. At a spring banquet scholarships are given to two to five members, and a trophy is presented to the club's choice as honorary member. The best-known activity is the yearly trip to Mexico City during the spring vacation.

The Hispano Club is a scholastic organization which strives to promote a better relationship between the American countries. It encourages its members to practice the Spanish language and to learn Spanish culture. Membership is open to any student in good standing with the university.

Horticulture Club Sells 500 Plants, Holds Show

Horticulture officers are Vernon Nedbalek, vice-president; and Candy Jones, secretary-treasurer.

Members Collect Seeds For Vietnamese Crops

It was a year full of activities for members of the Horticulture Club. On Dad's Day Weekend the club held a plant sale, selling nearly 500 plants to make it the biggest sale ever held.

The annual Horticulture Show was held in December. Grand champion this year was Donnie Hamm, Corpus Christi, while Raymond Kosub, La Vernia, was reserve champion. The winner in soil displays was Billy Garber, Victoria; Lynette Hausler, Kingsville, won in plant combinations, while James Staples, Tuleta, won in ivies.

During the spring semester the club held a citrus sale. A project which captured the interest of all members was the collection of food crop producing seed to be sent to Vietnam. There interested servicemen are trying to show farmers how to improve their crops.

Industrial Arts Club

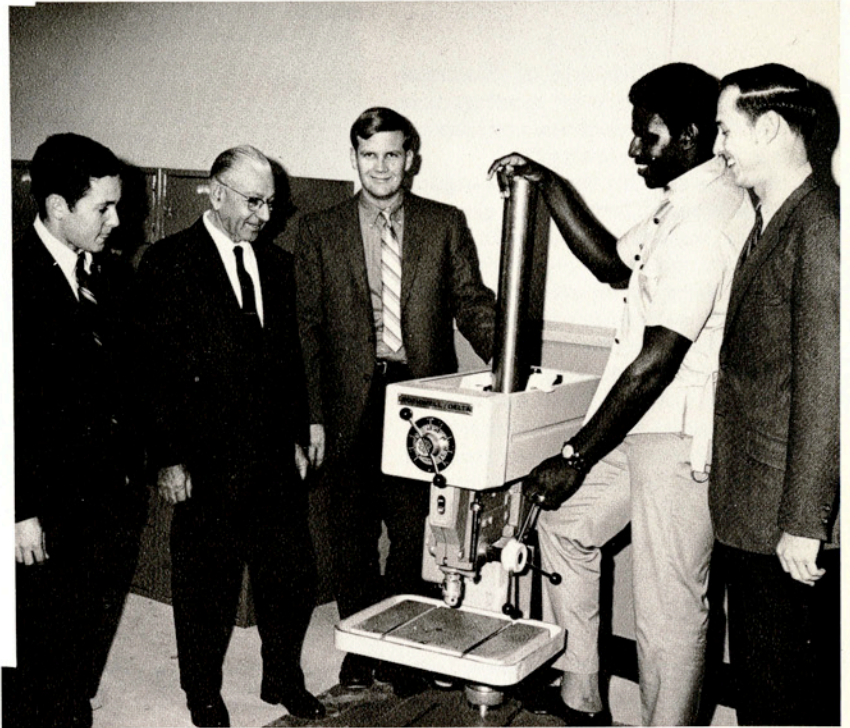

Speakers Show Trends; Books, Directory Given

Through a series of speakers, members of the Industrial Arts Club learned more about their chosen field at monthly meetings.

During the fall semester speakers included Bobby Birdwell of Ed Byrnes Furniture, who spoke on the modern furniture industry; Doug Shields Jr. of Smith-Shields Electric Co., who discussed innovations in power equipment; and Windell Giddel, civilian personnel director at the naval air station who talked on job opportunities for IA graduates in civil service.

This year the club tried to raise funds by selling protective aprons and taking photographs of student teachers in order to donate books to the library in the new IA building and to buy a building directory.

The club was started in 1968-69 with 32 charter members; 28 were added to that number this year.

Serving as officers of the Industrial Arts Club this year are Eddie Garcia, vice-president; R. F. McEowen (advisor); Donald Mayer, recording secretary; Jerry Jackson, president; and Doug Dickens, corresponding secretary.

IEEE Brings Graduates Back

Theme of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers' meetings this year was "The A&I electrical engineering graduate's place in industry."

In carrying out this theme, the organization has brought former A&I electrical engineering majors to campus to speak. These alumni, who have been in industry for two or more years, represented consulting and petroleum industries, an electronics firm and the government.

Other activities included a field trip to KIII-TV in Corpus Christi and the fun of the engineering mixer and barbecue.

The organization is open to all students with an interest in electrical engineering, and this year 50 joined.

Heading IEEE this year are John Schmuck, reporter; Doyal Peake, treasurer; Delbert Pierson, vice-chairman; and Grover Colwell, chairman.

Intercollegiate Knights

Aid Given Community in United Fund Drive

1969-70 Intercollegiate Knights were headed by Marcelo Marroquin, chancellor; William P. Saenz, earl; Raul J. Garcia, duke; and Jose E. Cano, scribe.

Intercollegiate Knights provided service to the university and community as they helped with school elections and collected money for the United Fund Drive.

Delegates of the organization attended the area conference held at Pan American College, Edinburg, and the national convention which met in Salt Lake City, Utah.

This year there are 20 members, an increase of three over last year. To be a member of the Knights a man must be a full-time student and have a grade point average of 2.0.

Besides providing service, the Intercollegiate Knights try to promote loyalty to their fraternity and alma mater. They strive to build school spirit each year and part of this is through conducting a Duchess pageant.

The Intercollegiate Knights were started on this campus in December, 1967. Although the local chapter is relatively new, the national organization is the oldest service fraternity in the nation.

The motto of the organization is "Service, sacrifice, loyalty."

International Students Sponsor A&I Soccer Team

Planning activities for the International Student Forum were: Prakash Desai, president; Agnes Yun Chi, secretary; and Mohamed Said Jamjoom, vice-president.

International students found fun and excitement this year as they sponsored the A&I soccer team which competed against several Texas colleges.

At the last home football game, the international students were honored with "International Day" and were urged to wear their national costumes. At this game Mrs. James C. Jernigan was presented with a souvenir.

The Forum brought full-length feature films from India and Arabia to the campus. At the Fall Carnival they entertained with a guinea pig and a fortune-telling booth.

The two-fold purpose of the International Student Forum is to establish a meeting ground for foreign students attending Texas A&I and other students interested in international affairs and to assume the responsibility of presenting programs which encourage international goodwill and understanding.

Kappa Kappa Psi Assists UIL; Plans Band Tour

Kappa Kappa Psi, the largest honorary band fraternity in the nation, this year had 15 members in the local chapter. They had a full year of activities designed to help the A&I band program.

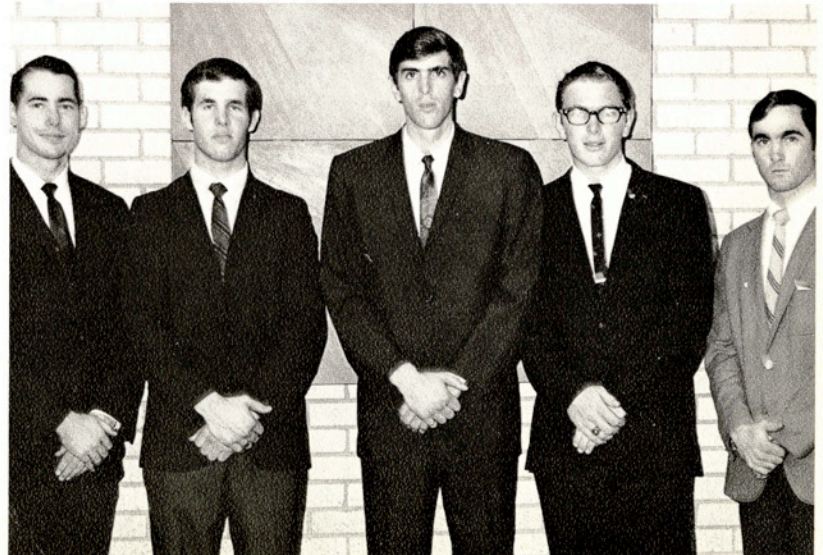

Among their projects was the organization of the ninth annual Band Day, marking off the new marching practice field, and assisting with the UIL regional solo-ensemble contest.

During the fall semester the group gave a welcome party for new students. In the spring they helped plan the annual band tour and sponsored a dinner for Alfred Reed, guest composer for the Fine Arts Festival.

The fraternity was represented at the national convention in Oklahoma, where one member made the National Intercollegiate Band, and at the district convention which was held in Austin in March.

The fraternity seems to be on the way to establishing a tradition, for this was the third year the group put an outhouse on the Homecoming bonfire.

Officers of Kappa Kappa Psi for the year are Doyle Peake, secretary, Gerald Henke, pledge master, Larry Pavel, vice-president, Raymond Grim, treasurer, Forrester L. Halamicek, president.

Planning the activities for the Kappa Omicron Phi are Opal Hoy, president; Brenda Jones, distaff reporter; Brenda Heflin, vice-president; Sheryl Morgan, secretary; and Margaret Parsons, treasurer.

Kappa Omicron Phi Raises Funds for Crest, National Scholarships

Members of Kappa Omicron Phi worked this year to raise funds for a crest, which will be erected in front of the Home Economics Building, by having rummage and bake sales. Money was also raised for the National Scholarship Fund.

Another project was collecting discount coupon on grocery items. These were sent to an orphanage in Crosnore, N.C.

Brenda Jones, of Pleasanton, represented the A&I organization at the National Conclave at Estes Park, Colo., in August.

Kappa Omicron Phi is a national home economics honor society whose members are home ec majors or minors with a 3.0 grade point average in this field, with above average grades in other courses.

Laredo Club Members Increase by 25 Per Cent

This year the Laredo Club showed a 25 percent increase in membership over 1968-69 with a total of 50 students.

Members had a busy year conducting a turkey raffle and a booth at the Fall Carnival. The club presented several movies and dances during the year and held a semester party. At Christmas there was a caroling party in Laredo.

The Laredo Club, one of the oldest organizations on campus, offers membership to all students who have lived or attended school in Laredo or to anyone interested in supporting the club in its various activities. The club tries to foster better relations among Laredo students and to help freshmen adapt to college life in accordance with the club's motto: "Friendliness is our custom."

Connie Torres, vice-president; Barbara Koehler, president; Mary E. Satterwhite, secretary; and Erwin Keller, treasurer were elected as Math Club officers for 1969-70.

Math Club Highlights Activities With Fall Jail

The Mathematics Club highlighted the year by running the jail at the Fall Carnival and hosting an open house for all returning mathematics students during Homecoming.

In addition to these activities, meetings were held regularly at which speakers, such as Ben Smith of the Celanese Corp., told club members of their work.

Membership in the club is open to math majors and minors, math education majors, and any interested student who is enrolled in or has received credit for analytical geometry. The objectives of the club are the promotion of a broader interest in and a fuller appreciation of mathematics.

Music Educators Give Professional Orientation

The Texas A&I University student chapter of the Music Educators National Conference affords its members the opportunity for professional orientation with music education the common objective.

While membership is open to all students and includes annual subscriptions to both state and national journals, music education majors find it particularly valuable. Membership stands at 62, an increase of nine over last year.

College students do not become full members in MENC until after graduation.

In addition to regular monthly business meetings, the local chapter conducts fund-raising projects which enable the sponsorship of distinguished performers and speakers for the benefit of students and faculty. Members also assist in conducting annual UIL regional instrumental and vocal solo-ensemble competitions.

MENC leaders are Forrester Halamicek, vice-president; Ann Schoener, secretary-treasurer; Richard B. Roper, social chairman; Melody Chorn, social chairman; and Alex Sotelo, president.

General Engineers Learn Roles Played in Industry; Membership Increases

Engineering students had an opportunity to discover the role of engineers in many aspects of industry at the monthly meetings of the Organization of General Engineers.

Representatives of industries such as Lone Star Gas and Texas Gulf Sulphur explained the role engineers play in their operations. Films from Shell and Portland Cement showed members different aspects of engineering.

At a luncheon held at Nolan's in December, a representative of Southwestern Bell Telephone explained the opportunities for employment in the company's training program.

Started in 1962 by Dr. Marcus M. Truitt, the Organization of General Engineers has a membership of 22. This is an increase of 10 over last year. The purpose of the organization is to relate engineering studies to practical applications in industry. Membership is open to any engineering student.

Acting as leaders of the Organization of General Engineers are James C. Engelking, reporter; Martin R. Howland, secretary-treasurer; Ben A. McKinney, president; Stanton Chapman Jr., vice-president.

Panhellenic Sets Standards, Hold Rush Activities

The Panhellenic Council at A&I consists of nine members representing local sororities. Each sorority selects a senior and a junior member to be on the council and an extra representative is allowed the sorority which holds the presidency.

The Council strives to maintain good fraternity life and inter-fraternity relations within the university, to further sound scholarship, to cooperate with the administration to maintain high social standards, and to compile rules governing rushing, pledging, and initiation on the campus.

This year the Panhellenic Council sponsored a Greek Weekend during which safety marks were painted on streets and curbs and women's rush week two weeks before the fall semester began. The Council presented the Alpha Chi Omega's fall pledge class with the pledge scholarship trophy for having the highest grade-point-average and the Zeta Tau Alpha members with the membership scholarship trophy.

Phi Gamma Nu Debuts; Encourages Scholarship Of Business Coeds

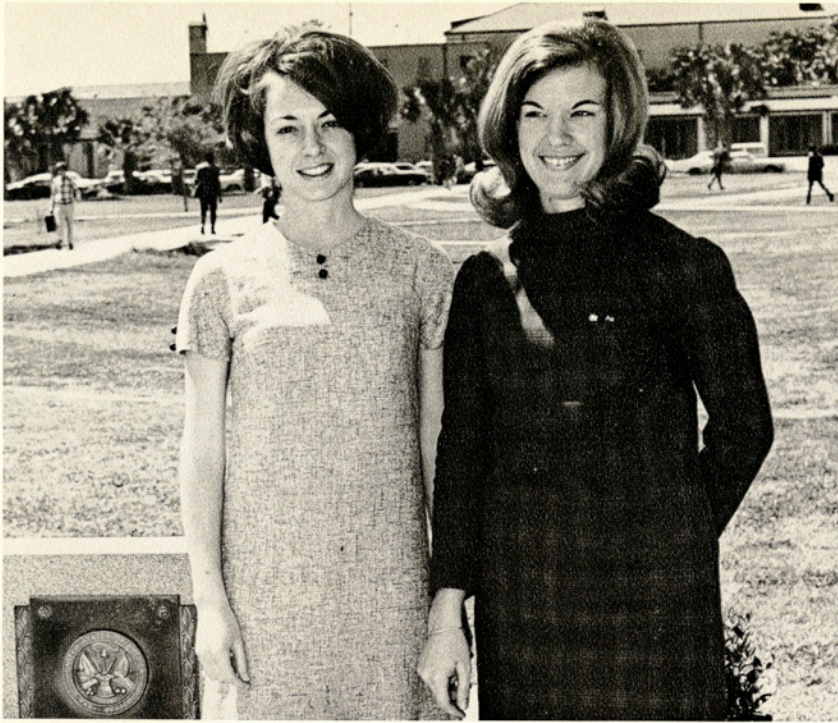

Brand new to the campus this year is Phi Gamma Nu, a national business sorority. The new Alpha Omega chapter was installed August 15, 1969, by Mrs. Mary Frances Hock, the national vice president, who came from Chicago for the installation.

The purpose of the sorority is to encourage scholarship and the association of women students who have the common goal of business.

Starting with 12 members, the sorority added 17 pledges this year. To become a member a coed must have at least a 2.0 grade point average in a business-related major.

In addition to meeting twice a month, a dinner meeting is held each semester. Speakers for the meetings come from area businesses and industries.

Carolyn Stiles was selected the best pledge and Sharon Sugarek won the scholarship award.

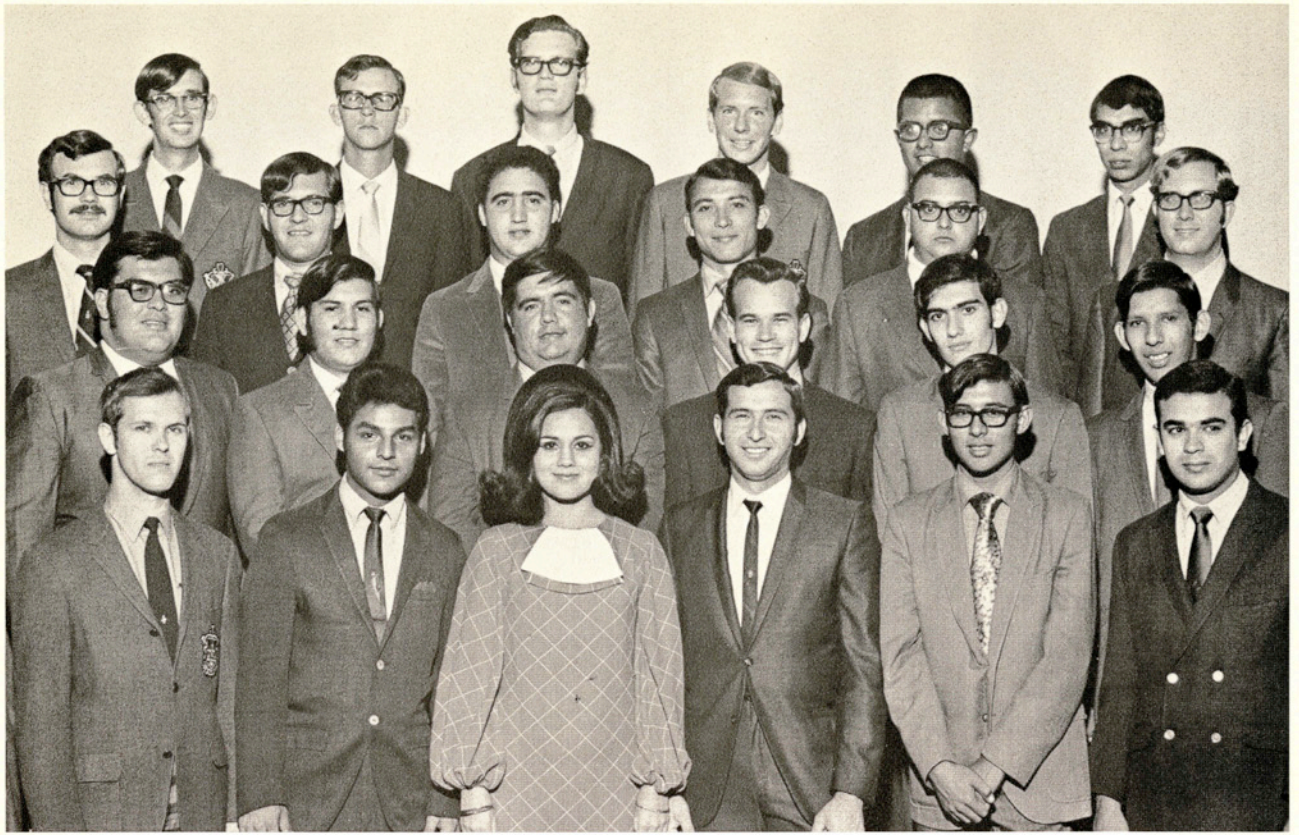

Pledges chose Sue Ann Simpson president and Mary Jane Nalley vice-president.

Phi Mu Alpha Presents Variety Show, Concert

Heading Phi Mu Alpha are Dan Duncan (advisor), Ernest Muzquiz, secretary; Michael Gilbert, president; Rolando Molina, alumni secretary; and Rene Guzman, vice-president.

Among the year's activities for Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, men's music fraternity, was "Follies of the '70's," a variety show. Members imitated composers of the past and present, and poked fun at the Music Department faculty.

Members formed a stage band which performed for the Texas Student Educators Association state convention in Corpus Christi. Another project was giving free music lessons to 107 junior high school students.

This year's pledge class of 15 was the largest in the organization's history. There were 28 members, an increase of 6 over last year. Mark Stupp, music faculty member, became the first honorary member to be initiated into the chapter.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia organized a stage band this year.

Physics Club Explores Common Goals; Learns of Recent Developments

The Texas A&I University Section of the Society of Physics Students held steady with a membership of 15 this year. These students met monthly to explore their common interest in physics and learn of recent developments. The organization gives members practice in organization and procedures.

Among the speakers this year was Dr. James Tylicki, new faculty member of the Physics Department, who discussed his research on "Optical Properties of Magnetic Insulators." Representatives of various companies also lectured to the group.

The society was reformed three years ago after having been inactive for several years. It has always been associated with the American Institute of Physics. Membership is open to any university student interested in physics.

Leading Physics Club activities this year are David A. Smith, treasurer; Judy Gibson, secretary; Terry Rayburn, president; and William R. Miller, vice-president.

Press Club Carries out Communication Theme

Backing the Press Club are Thea Hamilton, secretary; Mary Ann Baur, treasurer; Thomas E. Ducote, vice-president; and Manuel Flores Jr., president.

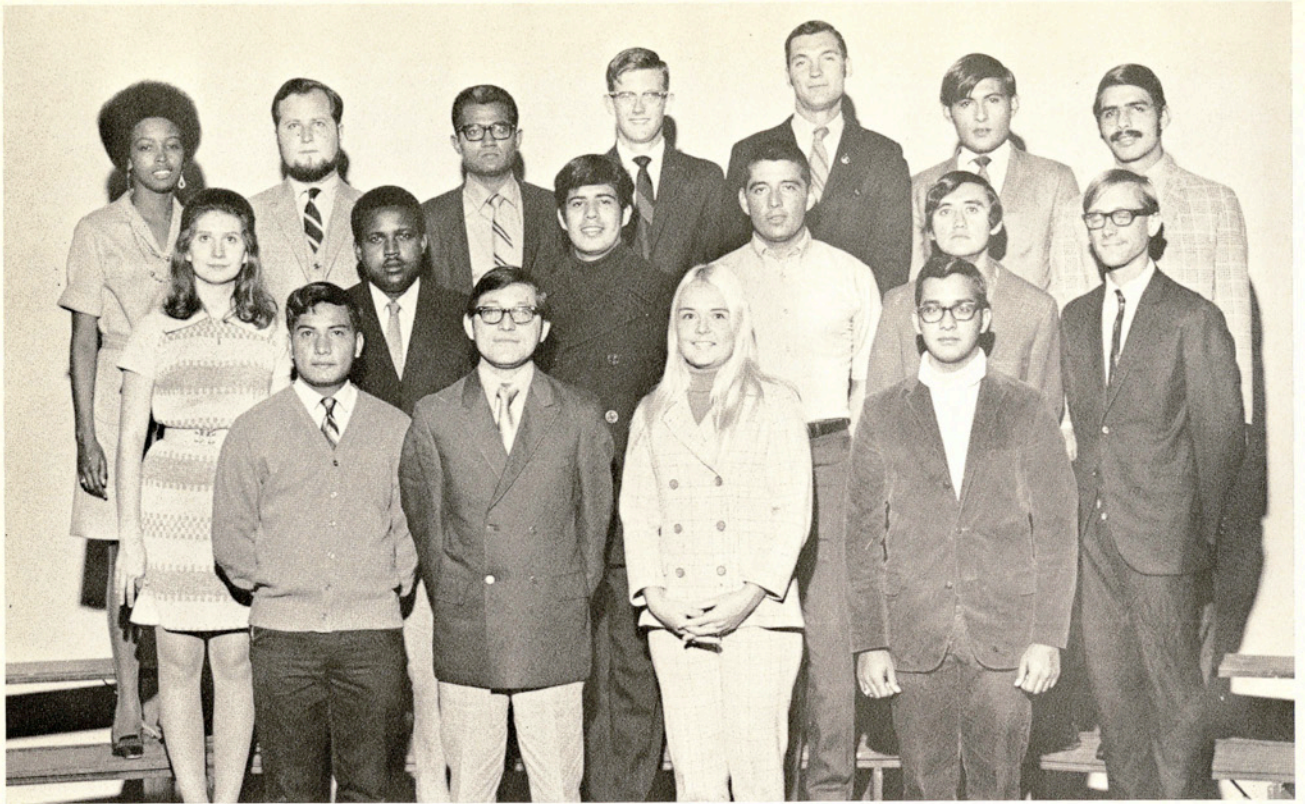

"Communication" was the theme of the 1969-70 activities of the Press Club. Members took part in many campus happenings as well as off-campus occurrences.

The club co-sponsored a weekly meeting of students and faculty members at the "Speakers' Corner" during the fall semester.

Members took part in Journalism Day, which was sponsored jointly by Texas A&I and the South Texas Press Association on March 7. Professionals from area newspapers and television stations spoke.

In April members of the organization traveled to The University of Texas at El Paso for the annual Texas Intercollegiate Press Association convention.

65% of Candidates Win Student Council Seats

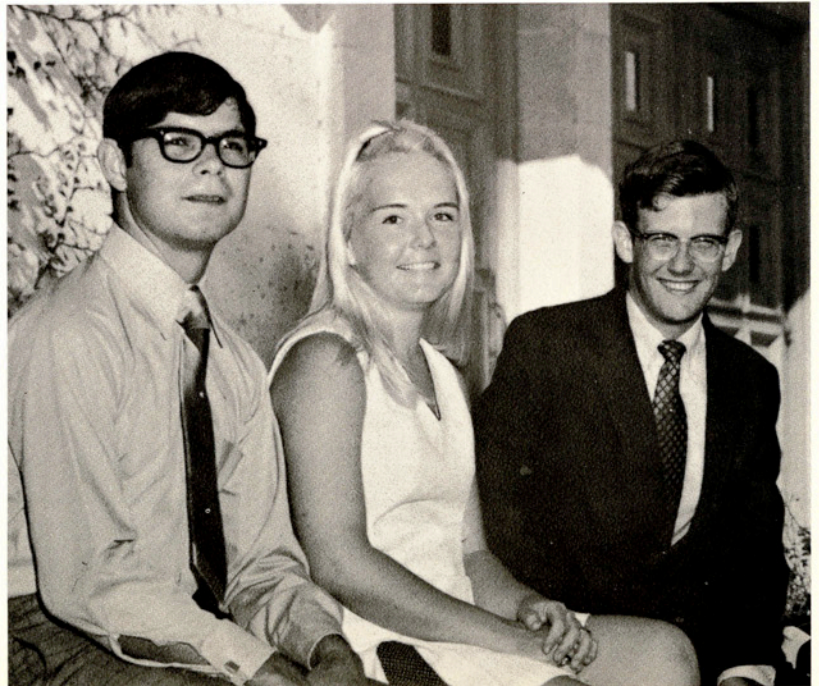

Avelino Olivarez, treasurer; Pam Parsons, reporter; and Craig Wentreck, vice-president are heading the activities of the Political Equality Party.

The Political Equality Party was formed last year for the purpose of selecting qualified candidates for the Student Council and other elected positions. The success of the party was demonstrated during the fall Student Council elections when 65 per cent of the PEP candidates won their races.

The party holds the belief that all races should be represented and that the objective of student body leaders should be representation and not personal gain.

PEP raised money by sponsoring several dances. This was used for campus-wide campaigns in which the platform and candidates were presented as a unified ticket.

The organization has a nomination committee which selects candidates. The party hopes for a unified Student Council which has the objective of advancing the student body as a whole and not a certain race or group.

A&I Bandswomen Are New Sorority Tau Beta Sigma

Beginning last spring as the Texas A&I University Bandswomen, this organization recently achieved full status as Tau Beta Sigma Honorary Band Sorority. Sponsors of the group are Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Bellamah.

Tau Beta Sigma is the sister organization to Kappa Kappa Psi Honorary Band Fraternity and have as their purpose the same thing — to serve the band.

Since their existence as a colony of Tau Beta Sigma, the group has spent its time in aiding Dr. Bellamah and the band. They helped Kappa Kappa Psi with Band Day in the fall, help serve as librarians, worked at UIL Solo and Ensemble Contests, and typed materials for upcoming events.

On February 22 the girls became initiated members of Tau Beta Sigma. Performing the ceremony were 16 members of Tau Beta Sigma from the University of Texas at Austin.

Members of Tau Beta Sigma worked as clerks and aids at UIL Solo and Ensemble Contests held on campus. Working in the office were Beverly Urian, Anna Schoener, and Diana Lopez.

Rodeo Club Holds Two Major Events

Foremen for the Rodeo Club are Tim Ferguson, reporter; Jolene Allen, treasurer; Mike Lee, president; Joyce Pavelka, secretary; Jack Dudley, vice-president; and Walter Whitwell, parliamentarian.

Action, excitement, and bruises are the lot of Rodeo Club members for nearly all of them participate in the two big events of the club's year—the Dad's Day Rodeo in the fall and the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association show held for three days each spring.

The Texas A&I Rodeo Club has been a steadily growing organization. This year there were 165 members as compared to 135 during the 1968-69 year. To become a member of the organization a person must be a full-time student and be interested in the promotion of America's oldest sport—rodeoing.

The Rodeo Club was organized to promote intercollegiate rodeoing on a national scale by bringing national recognition to the activity as an organized and standard collegiate sport. The main purpose of the club is to promote closer relationships among people interested in rodeoing and the schools they represent.

Sigma Delta Pi Honors Outstanding Students

Leading Sigma Delta Pi in their activities are (standing) Alonzo Y. Castillo, president; Frank Richard Mendez, vice-president; Cornelio Adams, parliamentarian; (seated) Maria Teresita Perez, treasurer; and Lupita Cavazos, secretary.

Sigma Delta Pi, the only national foreign language honor society, boasted 22 members in the local chapter, an increase of 25 per cent over last year.

The group sponsored Spanish-language movies, such as "Dona Barbara," participated in Pan American Day activities, and held a banquet during the spring semester.

At regular meetings speakers discussed Hispanic subjects, such as Mrs. Eladia Hill's discussion of the Spanish-American novel. Students presented papers in Spanish. An award was to be given at the end of the year to the student who presented the best paper.

The purpose of Sigma Delta Pi is to honor those who seek and attain excellence in the study of the Spanish language, literature and culture. They endeavor to make Hispanic contributions to modern culture better known to English-speaking people.

Dedicating "El Mejor Estudio" plaque to the late Dr. Francis Kercheville are vice president Richard Mendez and president Alonzo Castillo.

Dr. Mario Benitez briefed members on what Sigma Delta Pi has done for the Spanish department.

Sigma Tau Pledges Feed 400 Engineers, Dates

Sigma Tau leaders are Alfredo Solis, treasurer; D. Mike Smith, president; David L. Morrill, vice-president; and Delbert J. Pierson, secretary.

Sigma Tau pledges got a real work-out this year as they put on the Engineers Barbeque. On April 11 the men spent the day preparing barbecue in Mesquite Grove; that evening they fed over 400 engineers, their families and dates.

Sigma Tau is an honor society which recognizes outstanding students in all areas of engineering who show scholarship, practicality, sociability, and promise of attainment.

Membership is by invitation. To be considered a student must have completed 70 hours in an engineering curriculum with a 3.0 grade point average or be a last-semester senior in the top quarter of his class. This year there were 23 members, an increase of two over 1968-69.

In the fall E. L. Sparks, instructor in psychology-sociology, addressed the society on the importance of communication to engineers. Also during the fall, members held a banquet at King's Inn.

Heading the Student Council this year are (seated) Jesse A. Ochoa, president; Cindy Evans, secretary; Roland Castaneda, treasurer; (standing) Pablo C. Uresti, parliamentarian; Rick Bridges, Student Union Governing Board chairman; and Carlos L. Olivarez, male representative.

Student Council's Aim to Promote Campus Harmony

The student council is a representative body of the A&I Students Association, organized to promote and encourage harmony and a spirit of cooperation on this campus.

All members of the council are elected by the student body to represent the different school divisions and classes. All members of the council must maintain a grade point average of 2.0 or above. This year there are 42 council members.

Georgetta Mitchell and Will Washington were the Texas A&I delegates who attended the Scona Conference at Texas A&M University. The other conference held this year where Texas A&I had delegates was the Texas Intercollegiate Students Conference in San Angelo.

Student Education Assn. Hosts Conference

This year the Student Education Association hosted the Area IX Conference, directed by Shirley Pettigrew, area president. Attending were 175 members of the Texas S.E.A., Texas Future Teachers, Texas State Teachers Association, and the National Education Association.

The S.E.A. has provided tutors at Youth City in Driscoll and the Boys Club in Kingsville, and members work as teacher's aides in schools in this area.

The campus chapter was one of the hosts for the State Convention which was held in Corpus Christi.

Membership this year was at a peak of 250, a 10 per cent increase over last year. The organization is open to education majors and anyone interested in teaching as a career.

The purpose of the group is to acquaint teachers in training with the history, ethics, and program of the organized teaching profession. It gives teachers in training practical experience in working together in a democratic way on the problems of the profession and community.

Heading the Student Education Association this year was Leon Bazar, vice-president; Joan Yanta, reporter; Shirley Pettigrew, president; and Cathy Augustine, corresponding secretary.

SUGB in Charge of Entertainment; Sponsors Projects

Responsible to the student body, the Student Union Governing Board is charged with providing entertainment and activities for the students in an atmosphere of unity and friendliness.

Among the board's projects this year were the sponsoring of games and tournaments, free movies and Thursday night dances. The SUGB sponsored the Fall and Spring Carnivals, and receptions at Dad's Day, Homecoming, and to welcome freshmen. It also cooperates with the Artist Course Committee to bring cultural and popular entertainment programs to the campus.

The board is composed of six students, three faculty representatives, Dr. James C. Jernigan, James Prewitt, SUB director, and Charla Wagner, ex-student representative. Some of the students are elected by the student body while others are appointed by the SUGB.

Speleological Society Travels on Caving Trips

An A&I caver checks a passage in "Cueva de Carrizal" near Estacion Candela, N.L., Mexico.

Probably the most travelled group on the campus is the Texas A&I Speleological Society. Members make caving trips to such caves as Devil's Sinkhole, Gruta del Palmito, Sotano de las Golondrinas, and others in both Texas and Mexico.

In order to be qualified for membership in the society, spelunkers must be able to take apart and reassemble a carbide light in the dark. They have to prove they are in good physical condition and know the safety practices by repelling at least two 50-foot lengths and one 100-foot length, and they must have used a prussik and a jumar the same distance.

After having been founded in 1967 by Gill Ediger, John Kriedler and Tom Levi, the club has gained in membership until it now totals about 40 members. In 1968 the A&I cavers became officially affiliated with the National Speleological Society. One of the students, Gill Ediger, now serves as chairman of the Texas Speleological Society.

WRA Honors Individuals with Letters, Shields

The 25 members of the Women's Recreation Association had a full year of activities, with the emphasis on the spring semester when they held a campout at Mathis Lake in April and a Mother-Daughter Banquet in May.

At the banquet awards were made for winners of the Women's Intramurals. A rotating trophy was awarded to the dormitory or organization which had collected the most points during the year, and individual high-point women were recognized with letters and shields. The incoming officers for 1970-71 were presented.

The coeds sold candy and football ribbons to raise money for the campout and banquet. In addition four members and an advisor attended the state convention of the Texas Recreation Federation for College Women, which sponsors the Texas A&I women's athletic teams, at Mary Hardin Baylor College in November.

WRA officers for 1969-70 were Lupe Ureste, president; Carmen Gonzalez, treasurer; Oralia Hernandez, secretary; Anna Beth McInvale, publicity chairman; and Barbara Klug, vice-president.

Young Republicans Work for Party

The 40 members of the Young Republicans try to promote the cause of the Republican Party, stimulate an interest in governmental affairs among all students, and advance the ideals of the Republican Party of Kleberg County and Texas.

The club sponsors public opinion polls, works in the primaries, and distributes election materials. Members are active in the state federation with Bill Schulz serving as Region 6 coordinator for the State College Council, Carla Rogers and Robert Lee serving as district committeewoman and committeeman, and Earlene Hutchinson serving as District 21 committeewoman.

Guest speakers during the year included Mrs. Ann Armstrong, Republican National Committeewoman from Texas; Ed Yturri, assistant state chairman, and D. L. Love, State College Council chairman. Speaking engagements were planned for gubernatorial candidate Paul Eggars and Congressman George Bush. In March club members attended the state convention held in Dallas.

Aiding the Young Republicans in their activities are Earlene Hutchinson, district committeewoman; Bill Schultz, president; Phyllis Swartz, reporter-historian; Craig Wentreck, treasurer; and Becky Dalton, recording secretary.

After the Military Ball is over—clean up begins.

University Life in Perspective

The image of the university and its many aspects are reflected by its student body caught in an age of confusion, growth, progress, and changes, all of which combine to form a true perspective of university life.

Every time a student in the classroom learns the old and explores the new, each time he marks a ballot or takes the prerogative to voice his opinion on an issue, he is contributing to the overall picture of life and its true perspective.

Marked progress in educational facilities indicate the rapid change and growth which a university needs to function as a tool for interaction among its students—and its true perspective.
