In modern universities computers play a major role, recording our enrollment in the courses that make all of us face the reality of studying — sometimes diligently, sometimes lightly.
No matter where our interests lie — or who our friends are — our individuality prevails:
we are constantly Being Ourselves

There are times when we face the struggles of life — times when we are in search of something new and different — and times when we stop to help others.

Some may not like the saying
"do your own thing."
but this is the way we express ourselves —
whether it be an old-time sack race or a rodeo — we are being ourselves.

Relaxation on campus was a moment for conversation, bringing into focus thoughts and facts —
a time of getting to know one another — a time to be proud of the accomplishments that have been made — our being number one.

Education is where you seek it — whether it be in the field of art, home economics, or ag mechanization. We are here in search of an education to broaden our perspective of things around us. By being here, we are being ourselves.

A university's mirror is the students' face — through our faces we reflect feelings of warmth, joy, excitement, and sometimes hostility.
Through facial expression
we mirror our individuality.

Each of us has expressed our own views and ideas in our activities on campus — but because we have helped one another, we have stayed united. We are #1 because we were Being Ourselves

Dr. James C. Jernigan, President.

Presidential duties require Dr. Jernigan to appear at many college-related functions. Here he greets a winner at the annual summer Twirling Camp sponsored by the Music Department for area high school students

New school calendar established by President Jernigan and Staff

One of the problems President James C. Jernigan and his staff faced this year was changing the administrative gears of the university so that transition to a new calendar system went smoothly.

They found that Christmas was the busiest time of the year with the end of the fall semester reports for students and faculty and the year-end reports due at state and federal agencies.

Under the new calendar system the first semester was completed on December 22, 1970. The semester started late in August, and the second semester ended earlier in May than in prior years.

The change was adopted because it was felt by both faculty and students that having to leave on a long Christmas vacation and then return only to take final examinations was poor, awkward and inefficient planning. Students and faculty members prefer finals before Christmas and felt this new system to be the best for everyone.

The Calendar Committee met in the fall of 1970 and set up the new calendar for a year in advance. Members of the Calendar Committee included students, faculty and the chairman, Dean Robert D. Rhode.

The Calendar Committee also revised the summer calendar in consideration of the new public school policy which has adopted a 10-month teaching program.

The length of the summer sessions will be reduced, but the time spent in each class will be extended.

Vice-president Rhode returns to teaching

Dr. Robert D. Rhode, vice-president and dean, is retiring from 25 years of administrative work to return to teaching and research. For nine years he has been vice-president. Previously he had served 11 years as Dean of the Graduate School and five years as English Department chairman. He joined the faculty 30 years ago, serving continuously since except for a three year war leave.

During his term as vice-president and dean, Rhode says, "I've been a part of many constructive projects at A&I. They have all been cooperative enterprises with fellow administrators, the faculty, students and alumni." Among the improvements and additions to A&I's academic life have been the addition of majors in Sociology, Secretarial Science, Data Processing, Agricultural-Economics, Drama, Geography, Journalism, and Speech and Hearing Therapy. The School of Agriculture has remodeled its curriculum, and three master's degrees (in Business Administration, Engineering and Music) have been added to the older M.S. and M.A.

One of the programs Rhode is proudest of is the Bilingual Studies program. He originated the program in which students can take a substantial number of courses taught in Spanish in agriculture, business administration and engineering. The program has not yet graduated any students, but about 35 are enrolled in it. Upon their graduation they will be certified in capable of working professionally in two languages.

Another source of satisfaction has been the development of the Faculty Senate and adoption of standards on academic freedom, tenure and faculty evaluation.

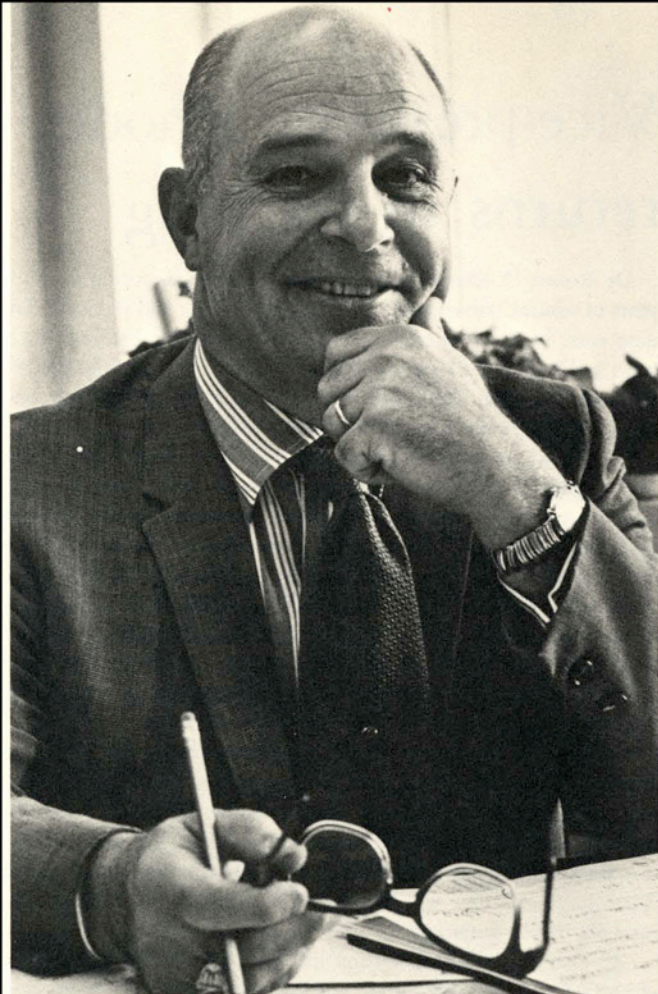

Rhode says his biggest disappointment has been lack of better funding to improve the quality of education still further.

Students in Ag study scientific, business fields

The School of Agriculture continually emphasizes the business and scientific aspects of agriculture as well as in the production area.

One of the scientific implications in the agriculture department deals with an extensive research project studying meat processing and meat selection.

Sponsored by the Houston Livestock Show animal science tests plan to study and evaluate the cutability and quality of meat from three breeds of livestock: Brangus, Santa Gertrudis, and Charolais.

Agricultural economists are studying the feasibility of producing a better grade of meat for South Texas markets.

The Texas Brangus Breeders presented the school with a herd of registered Brangus heifers and enough money to buy a registered Brangus herd sire. The Brangus herd is the only registered herd on any university farm in the U.S.

Texas A&I Citrus Research Center in Weslaco released budwood this past year to establish nearly 100,000 new Star Ruby grapefruit that should be in production four to five years from now. This new variety was developed through irradiation of seeds on the old Hudson (seedy type) variety.

This year there were 10 coeds among the agriculture majors. Women in the agricultural field have more of an opportunity work in the public relations dealing with various agriculture associations and marketing for commercial companies.

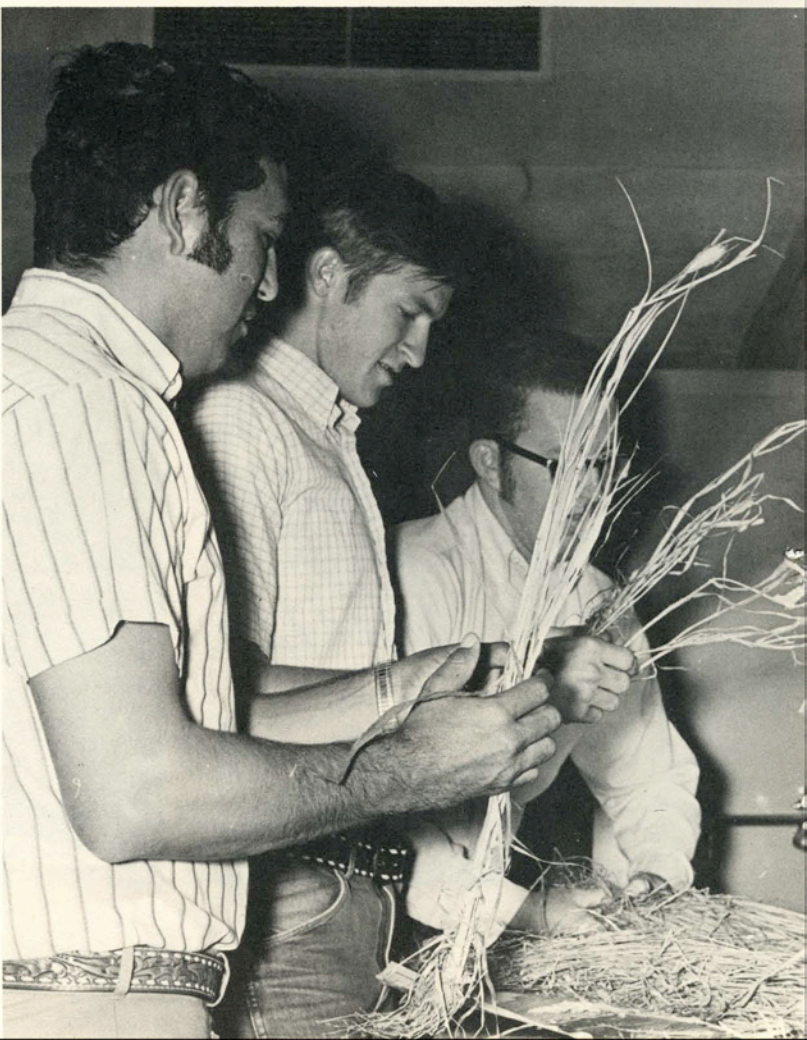

The faculty in the department has doubled as a result of having nearly a 70 per cent increase in undergraduate enrollment and a 500 per cent increase in enrollment of graduate students during the last four years. There were 380 agricultural majors.

New farm manager, Robert J. Spacek, was hired this year and the labor force for the university farm is made up of agricultural students who gain practical experience there.

Eleven courses were added during the 1970-71 years due to the increase in the enrollment as well as research activities.

The School of Agriculture now offers four fields of graduate level work: agricultural economics; agricultural mechanization; animal science and soil science.

Students show self-imagery, concern in art

"Students are becoming more and more aware of art's important role in establishing individual identity," according to Dr. Richard Scherpereel, chairman of the art department.

Art students illustrated their self-identity as well as their broad scope of interest in the world around them.

They produced art work pertaining to ecological problems and ethnic statements. This year the graduate exhibition consisted primarily of environmental art works.

Bill Renfrow, assistant professor of art, received a research grant to study methods of art education. Students in all the Art 101 classes participated in this new experimental approach to art education. These students were required to create a life-size sculpture of themselves using various textures.

Art students presented their own interpretation of George Orwell's concepts of 1984 in the art show held during the week-long symposium titled, "Thirteen Years to Nineteen Eighty-Four."

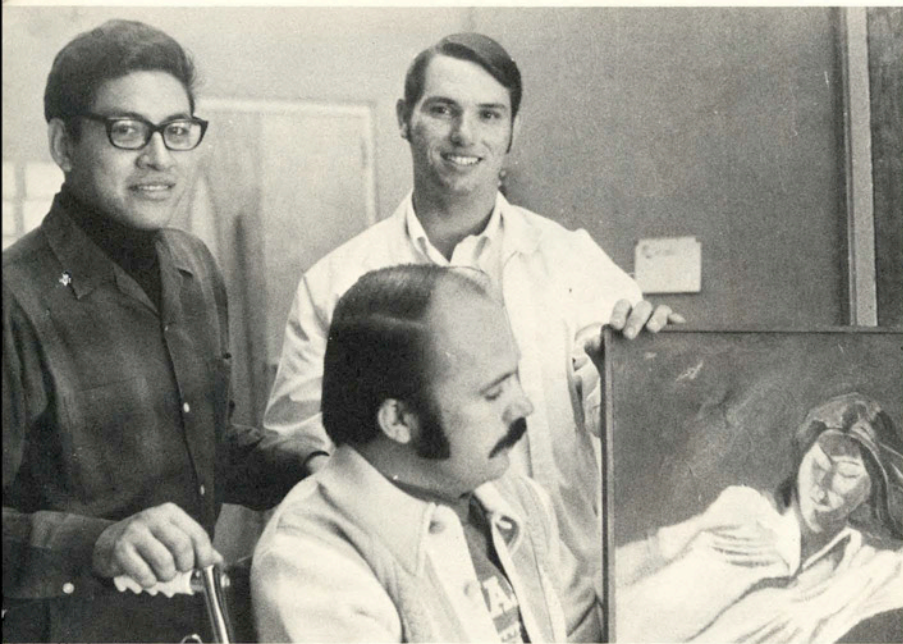

One of the highlights of the art department was an auction held the first week in March. Art students and faculty members contributed their work for the sale. More than $300 was made during the three-day auction. The money will be used to buy film-making equipment for the department.

The art department showed a 10 per cent increase in enrollment with 150 art majors. It has six faculty members and five graduate assistants.

Bible Chairs offer opportunities for service, personal growth

Campus Christian Fellowship

Two drama productions, "Spoon River Anthology," and "World of Carl Sandburg," were brought to the university by CCF.

Operation Uplift, which has sent student tutors to assist slow-learning children in Kingsville and Youth City, was expanded this year to include the Dos Mundos school system in Corpus Christi.

CCF has joined with other religious groups in the "Inter-Faith Film Series" to bring to the campus such major full-length films as "Hamlet" and "A Man For All Seasons."

CCF director, Karl Brown, taught courses in religion to a total enrollment of 200 students.

Church of Christ Bible Chair

Robert Skelton, director of the Church of Christ Bible Chair, brought Frank Dunn of San Antonio to the campus for a lecture program titled "Truth Conference."

At Christmas, students prepared boxes to be distributed to families from the welfare rolls.

A total of 180 enrollments for Bible courses represents substantial increase from last year.

Baptist Student Union

Students from the BSU established three mission points in the local area where they worked with disadvantaged children. Another group, Quest, was also started this year. This group of students presented programs to local churches, representing what today's students find most exciting in religion.

Dean Mathis, BSU director, taught 162 students in Bible courses this year.

Catholic Student Association

Construction of the new center for Catholic students was started this spring. Students held a rummage sale to help furnish the new center, which is expected to be finished by September. The new center will include a recreation area, class rooms and a chapel.

Early in the spring semester, Rev. Casimir Jarzombek, chaplain and director, was transferred, and Rev. John Kileen from Bishop is fulfilling the duties until a replacement is named.

Graduate programs, workshops are new in Biology curriculum

The biology department initiated two new programs during the year, both aimed primarily at assisting public school teachers doing graduate work.

A Plan II graduate program and workshop sessions were added to biology activities last summer.

The master's program does not require a thesis, but rather emphasizes subject matter and its utilization in the classroom. It also requires less research.

The idea of a Plan II graduate program, developed over the past couple of years has received much interest from public school teachers in the area, according to Dr. J. Talmer Peacock, professor and chairman of the biology department.

The two three-week summer sessions also were well received. They are designed to provide teachers in the public school system who have limited background in biology with intensive training in this field, mainly in the area of environmental biology.

Workshops included field work as well as classroom discussions. Field trips, some of them overnight, were made to Baffin Bay, Welder Wildlife Refuge and other nearby areas of interest to biology students.

The marine biology program continues to grow with student interest. Two new courses, biology of estuarine organisms (graduate) and introduction to marine ecology will be added to the marine biology program in the fall of 1971.

Business Dept. divided into 4 departments

The School of Business Administration is the fastest growing school on the A&I campus. Because of this fast growth rate, the Board of Directors approved the division of the school into four departments: Accounting and Electronic Data Processing, Economics and Financing, Management and Marketing, and General Business.

The School of Business Administration has added a new major. Starting this year students could major in Electronic Data Processing. They now have 30-40 students majoring in this field.

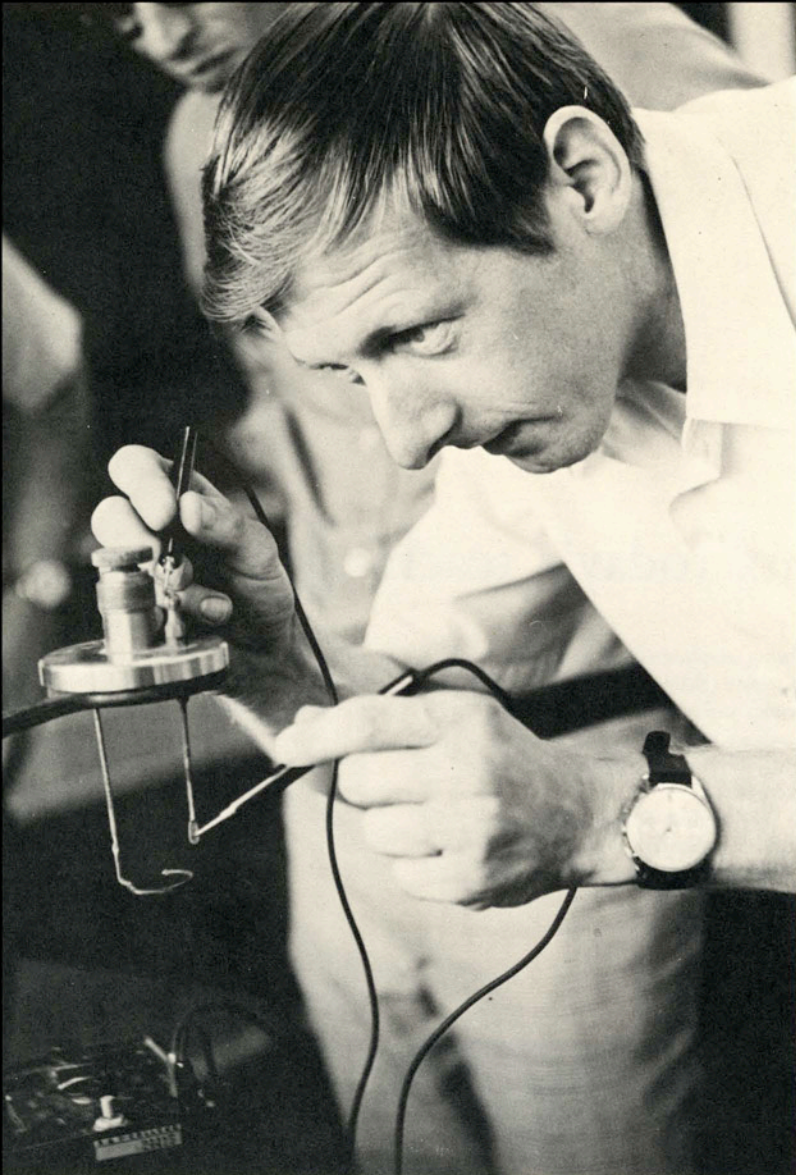

There were six new faculty members added in 1970-71. They are David Higgins, Jack Huggins, Joel Staff, John Hussey, Joel Moore, and Harry Holcombe. One faculty member will be retiring, Dr. George McCulley. He taught business finance and accounting, and served the college 36 years as registrar and director of admissions. He is retiring after 41 years with Texas A&I.

Last fall there was an enrollment of 1,522 in business courses. Ninety-eight of these were graduate students. This is a 14 per cent increase over last year's enrollment.

There are a number of new courses being offered in economics, general business, management, and marketing.

Top: Accounting Society President Russell Grammer was master of ceremonies for the March banquet which honored 57 students who had earned superior grades in the first two courses of accounting. Bottom: Students learn to operate standard office equipment in the courses they take.

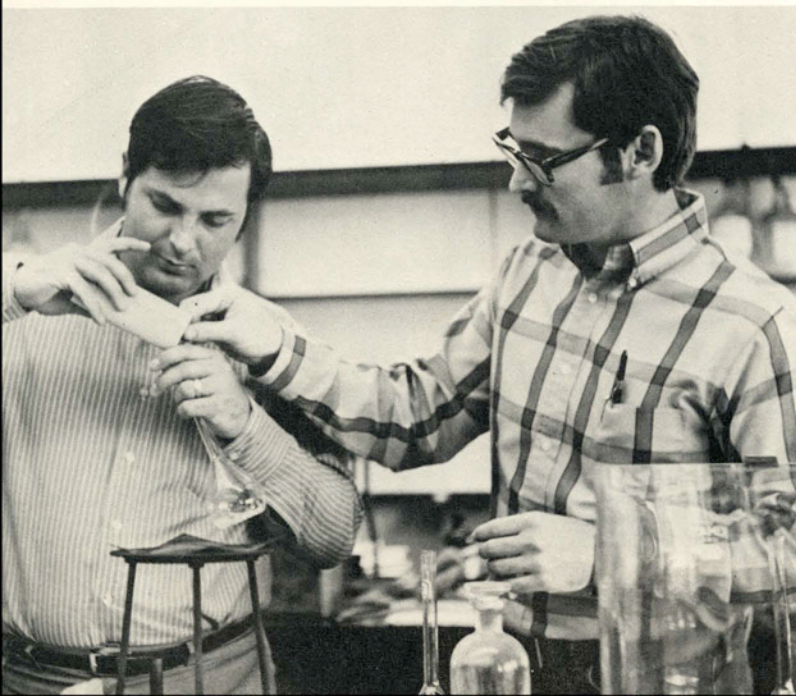

Revamping Chemistry ups its standards

Three new professors have been added to the Chemistry Department, due to increased enrollment and plans for additional offerings and curriculum.

A research fund of $36,000 has been awarded to Dr. Jo A. Beran, assistant professor of chemistry, by the Robert A. Welch Foundation of Houston. The fund will finance research for over a three year period on a project submitted by Dr. Beran, titled the "Ionization Cross Sections at Low Energies." Dr. Beran and his graduate students began research May 1.

New equipment in the chemistry department this year includes a mass spectrometer, a $50,000 instrument donated by the DuPont Corporation of America.

The aim of the department is three-fold: (1) to provide certain service courses for other departments whose subject matter is based, in part, on the fundamentals of chemistry; (2) to provide a cultural background for those who are interested in science and desire the B.S. or B.A. degree but who do not expect to become professional chemists; (3) to provide proper training for those who wish to become professional chemists and work in industry.

Top: Dr. Ronald Marcotte concentrates as he works on an ionization gauge for a mass spectrometer. Bottom: Lab partners work together mixing chemicals.

Education accents today's teaching necessities

Six additional staff members were added to the School of Teacher Education this year, due to increased enrollment and plans for additional offerings. Twenty-five hundred students are now enrolled in the teaching program, an increase of 30 per cent over last year's total enrollment figure. New in the program this year is a program for kindergarten certification.

The counseling and guidance area is being emphasized as a wide open field. Courses relating to philosophy, and principles and current practices of pupil guidance are explored. Group guidance, as well as individual counseling techniques are considered.

For the first time, a degree in education can be obtained with specialization in school library science. The all-level education degree is offered in art, music, and health and physical education. Besides certification in the usual academic fields, Texas A&I offers programs for degrees in vocational agriculture education and in vocational home economics. Also offered are programs for those who desire to teach classes for the mentally retarded and for drivers education as a specialization area.

Kay Hodges presents her lesson to the education media class. The lesson is taped on video tape and is played back for self analysis.

John Phalen, graduate assistant in electrical engineering, sets up an experiment in the micro-wave laboratory. The experiment is a feasibility study in determining moisture content of grain by micro-wave power.

Electrical engineering students developed a way to stand a broom on its end by means of the Dynamic Vertical Position Stabilizer. The machine can hold up the broom for an indefinite period of time but without the electrical power of the control system the broom will fall.

Engineering Dean Dotterweich retiring after 24 years service

This year Dr. Frank H. Dotterweich retired as Dean of Engineering after serving in this capacity since 1947. He will be succeeded in September by Dr. Ernest Franke, A&I Electrical Engineering Department Chairman. Dotterweich had joined the faculty at A&I in 1937.

Expansion and improved conditions in all areas in the School of Engineering also took place this year.

The department development plans cooperation with architects and started construction of an addition to the Engineering Building.

The School initiated expanded offerings in Electrical and General Engineering as well as an option of Computer Science or Electronics in Electri-Engineering. An option in Civil and Mechanical in General Engineering.

The department also initiated the Degree of Master of Engineering. The offerings for this graduate degree were available on the University campus and at Corpus Christi, Laredo, and the Experiment Station at Weslaco. These graduate offerings could be taken off campus with no limits as to resident credit.

The Texas A&I Chapter of Eta Kappa Nu, an honorary Electrical Engineering honor society, was established in 70-71.

magazine and worked on it throughout the year, selecting manuscripts, editing and typing. However, in late spring the venture died for want of $70 — the cost of getting it printed by the duplicating office.

Gallaway steps down as English Dept. chairman

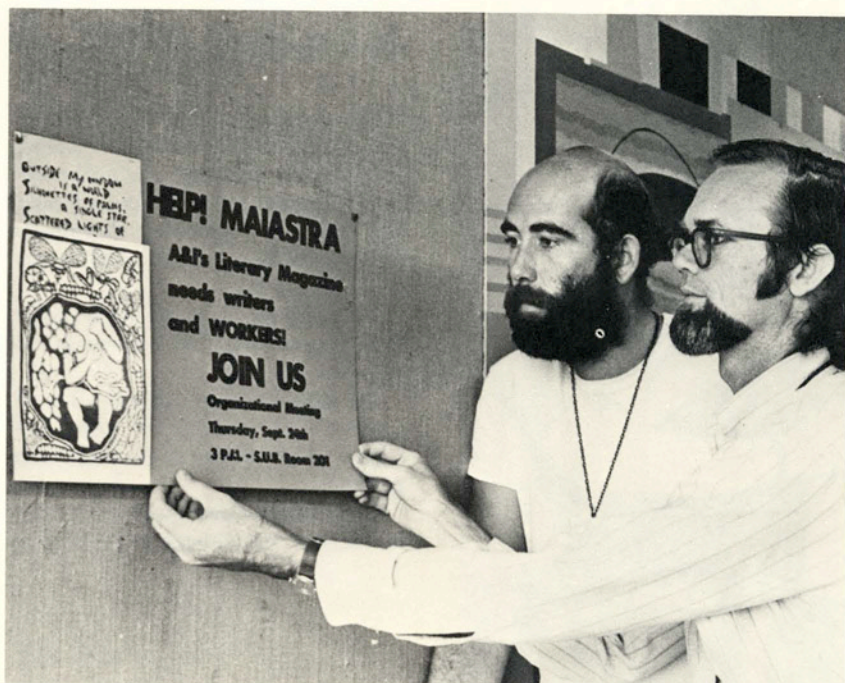

The English department saw a major change this spring as Dr. R. J. Gallaway, department chairman, after fourteen years requested to be returned to full-time teaching.

Subsequently, President James C. Jernigan appointed Dr. Orlan Sawey as chairman, effective in the fall semester of 1971.

The faculty of the English department in 1970-71 consisted of 30 members and seven graduate assistants. Nine new teachers were appointed in the fall semester; in January two more instructors joined the staff.

The English department served as host to about three hundred teachers of area schools and colleges at the District I and II TJEC English Conference in November.

The annual book sale of the department was held in April. Proceeds from the sale are used to support three English scholarships.

1,000 students take Geography, Geology courses

The Geography-Geology department had 1,000 enrollees last fall. Approximately 150 were majors, about 100 of them specializing in education. Both areas are available to students seeking further knowledge in the earth sciences.

Newly started this year was a meteorological station located in the Geography-Geology department office. The station has equipment able to measure weather statistics such as temperature, wind velocity, atmospheric pressure, etc.

The department boasts a collection of almost 40,000 maps, more than 3,000 covering every area of Texas. This is the largest collection of Texas maps anywhere. A cartography course is open to students interested in map-making and map-reading.

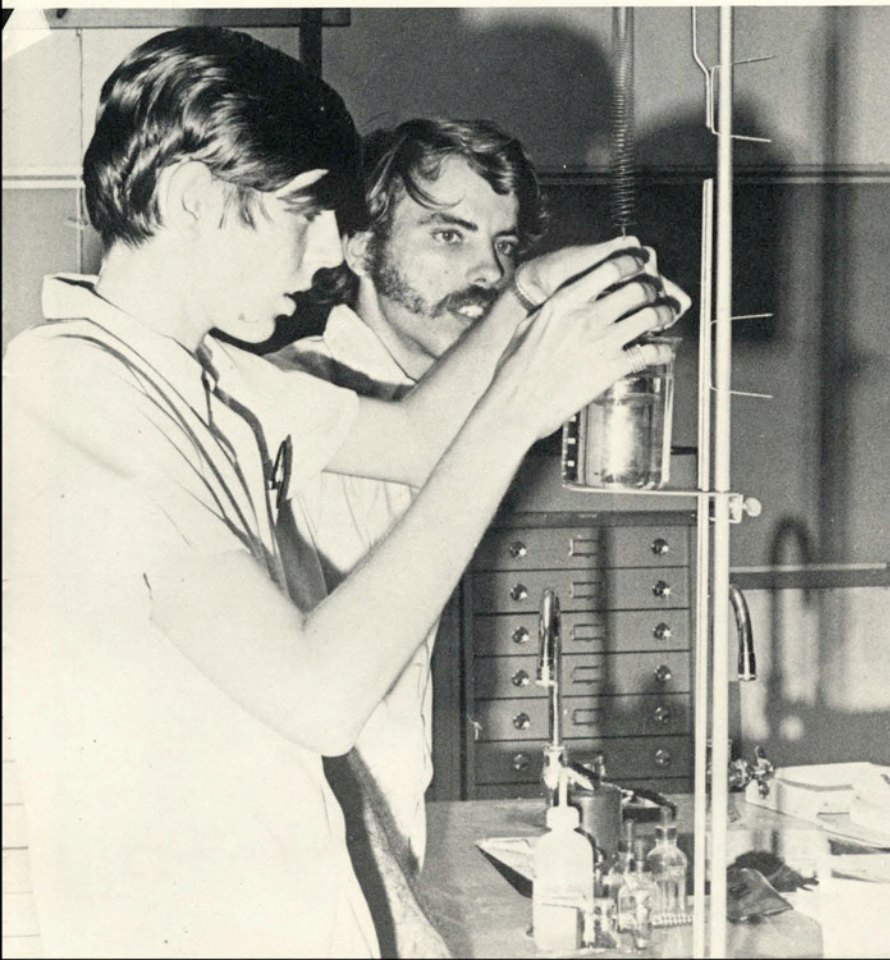

A master's minor in Geography and Geology was offered this year by the department. Advanced courses for bachelor's degrees included Political Geography, Physiography, and Oceanography. Non-advanced courses included basic geography.

The Geology Department offers one advanced course, 391, Structural Geography, taught by Dr. Harvill. Other courses open are Physical Geology and Historical Geology. Plans are being made to add additional advanced courses.

gy lab Carl Marullier and Robert Bensen work to determine the specific gravity of a mineral.

Government has 1,673 students in fall enrollment

This year the Government Department offered 38 sections, according to Dr. Hoyt Ballard, chairman. The department had 186 majors, approximately 20 were graduate students. The department also had a number of pre-law and secondary education majors.

The growing enrollment called for new staff members. This year there were four additions, J. D. Phaup, D. L. Villarreal, Paul R. Hoopes, and C. E. Blackley.

New courses taught this year were Public Policy, Judicial Process, Urban Politics, Study of Ethnic Politics, American National Government, and the American Presidency. The basic required government courses were also offered.

The department sponsors the International Relations Club. In addition, seminars, simulations, visual aids and student projects such as conducting opinion surveys were employed by members of the Government staff.

Faculty service to the university and community includes lectures to social and professional groups, sponsoring student groups, and participating in university social and intellectual affairs, as well as offering advice and guidance to students.

Government is primarily a service department, its main goal not being one of training government majors. It strives to see that each Texas A&I student is trained in political science and citizenship. Courses are open to all students and advanced courses are open to non-majors.

In May Dr. Hoyt Ballard, department chairman for five years, resigned to return to full-time teaching. Dr. Mary R. Mattingly will assume the chairmanship in the fall of 1971.

Government is a course no one escapes since it is required in all majors. Leo Villarreal taught the largest class this year in the Earth Science auditorium.

New gymnasium gives H.P.E. varied facilities

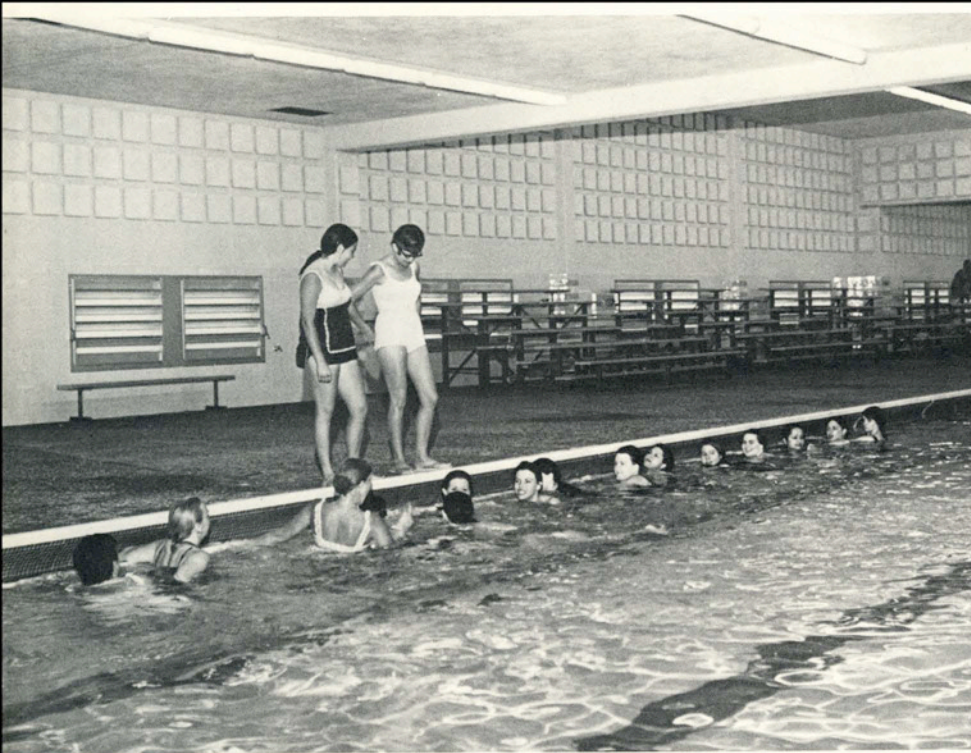

The Physical Education Center is the official name of the new gym, the building with expanded facilities which is expected to boost the enrollment in the H.P.E. department. With the new facilities more classes can now be offered to the students.

Classes moved into the Physical Education Center at mid-term. The cost of the new gym is around two million dollars. The H.P.E. department has hopes of remodeling the Women's Gym sometime in the near future.

One new course was offered during the spring semester, handball. It was taught by Robert Caskey, one of the new instructors and coaches. Some of the classes to be offered in the future will be scuba diving and various health courses. It is the hopes of the department to have a "more challenging athletic program," stated Dr. Eldon Brinley.

The new gym consists of a pool which is 50 meters long and can handle four classes at one time, handball and paddleball courts, which can also be used as classrooms or conference rooms, the multi-purpose gym floor which is used for basketball, volleyball, badminton, shuffle board, and a full regulation baseball diamond for indoor games. The classrooms can be used as visual aid rooms, research rooms, and conference rooms, and the outdoor room has been used for banquets, but plans are being made for its future use.

One new faculty member and two graduate assistants were additions to the teaching staff. Willie Crafts was the new faculty member. He is an instructor in Health and Physical Education and an assistant coach. The graduate assistants are Raymond Harris, instructor in Health and Physical Education and manager of the new pool, and Betty Gidden, an instructor in Health and Physical Education.

Top: Enrollment in swimming classes jumped as students took advantage of the new pool and year-round swimming. Bottom: For the first time full-time staff members have been added to the HPE department to handle the equipment room. Expanded activities call for two men who work in two shifts from 7:30 a.m. - 10 p.m. checking out and repairing equipment and taking reservations for the handball courts.

History Dept. adds two new faculty members

There were two new faculty members added to the staff of the History Department, Gunter Mende, instructor on the Renaissance and Reformation, and Herman DeHoop, instructor on the French Revolution.

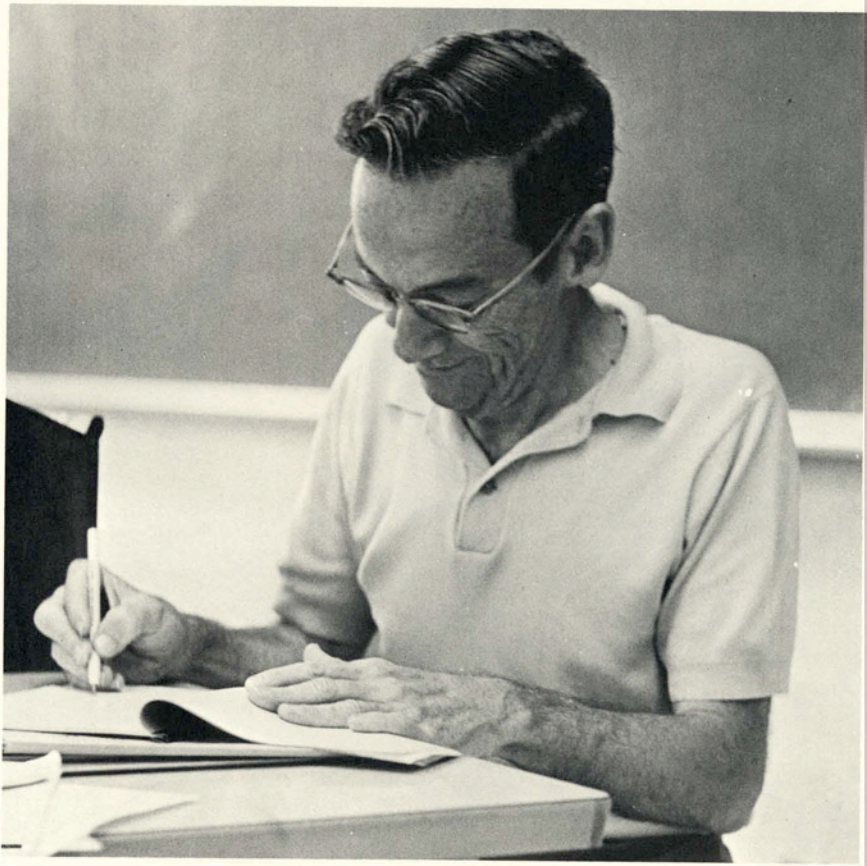

Dr. J. C. Russell retired from the department at the end of the spring semester. Dr. Russell was awarded the Minnie Piper Award which is given to outstanding teachers. There were only ten presented in the state of Texas. The award is accompanied by a $1,000 check.

There were 2,500 students enrolled in history classes during the fall semester.

Plans are being made for one extra course in Asian History next fall. It is not a new course to A&I, but it has not been taught recently.

Dr. Coalson, chairman of the department, gave lectures on "Pigs in History" during the Faculty Lecture Series. Dr. Coalson became interested in the subject when he was a graduate student. He has spent twenty years accumulating material on the subject.

Two faculty members are scheduled to receive their doctorates during the summer. Terrence Barragy will receive his from the University of Wisconsin and Leslie Hunter from the University of Arizona.

Home economics enlarges staff; enrollment rises

The number of home economics majors reached 400 during the 1971 school year. Semester enrollments increased approximately 10 per cent each semester. Due to the recent expansions in enrollments, the department hired an additional staff member. Judy Little, whose specialization is home management and family economics raised the number of departmental personnel to seven.

This year a Crafts Survey course, open to all students, was taught for the first time. The purpose of the class is to teach the construction and the decoration of minor projects for use in the home, the school, and in recreational activities.

The home economics department offers 30 courses every semester and teaches an additional 10 courses during alternate semesters. Non-majors are eligible for enrollment in 18 of these courses. Home economics classes are made available to both female and male students.

Scholarships and other financial aid are readily available to home economics majors. Central Power and Light Company, Houston Natural Gas, the Future Homemakers of America, and E. J. Davison contribute approximately $2,650 each year to A&I.

IA Dept. grows in new facilities; majors increase

The number of students enrolled in industrial arts courses continued to grow this year. An average increase of 10-12 per cent has occurred each semester since the department's move into its new facilities last year. The number of majors reached 160 this year. Such a steady rise in the number of enrollments has necessitated the addition of two new staff members — one a full-time instructor; the second a graduate assistant.

The IA plant and its facilities offer the latest innovations in equipment. Ideas for the building's design were gleaned from all parts of the U.S. The building features two classrooms fully stocked with the most modern audio-visual equipment available. Each classroom is furnished with a desk containing a complete control panel for operating audio-visual aids. The desks were designed and built by the university's IA department.

Also housed in the building are laboratories for crafts, woods, metals, plastics, ceramics, machines, lapidary, and silver. The department also contains a small studio for motion picture making, modern darkroom facilities, a library, and kiln room for ceramics work.

New courses are being offered in plastics, hot and cold metals-casting, heat-treating, and forging.

The department offers four workshops each summer in problems courses.

Top: Students in plastics class make numerals and letters for signs, figurines, and plaques with the clear cast casting method. In this course they also learn vacuum casting and pressure molding. Bottom: Professor Gross's lectures are accompanied by visual aids at the touch of the electronic control center for front and rear projection screens.

Journalism becomes department; moves offices to new quarters

"We began to see the road ahead in 1969," explained Dr. James H. Herring, recalling the expansion of the newly created Department of Journalism. "At that time we were located in the Nierman annex and journalism was listed under English in the catalog."

The department of journalism was created in the fall of 1970 and now a graduate program with 18 hours of graduate credit has been approved to go into effect September 1971. Three new courses will be offered in the 1971-72 catalog. There will be an additional 12 hours of graduate work offered in 72-73. During the summer of 1970, the department moved into the remodeled old IA building. The department had in its 1970 budget about $13,500 allocated for new equipment and lab facilities and an additional $1,200 to spend on the new building. "During the last 12 months, the University has spent about $25,000 remodeling the building and buying new equipment and furnishings," said Dr. Herring.

From an enrollment of around 275, about 70 students are journalism majors and more than 30, minors. A total of five faculty members and one graduate assistant form the teaching staff this year.

Discussing further expansion plans, Dr. Herring commented that "Expansion in both curriculum and faculty will be governed by the enrollment; as it goes up, new courses and faculty will be added."

Instructor Fred Nuesch works with advanced editing students in the new typing laboratory. The lab will accommodate 30 students at a time at the new typewriters and desks.

Half-million books is goal set for library

"We're shooting for one-half million volumes by 1980," says Paul Godde, head librarian of the James C. Jernigan Library. The total capacity of the library is about one-half million with the present inventory around 250,000 volumes.

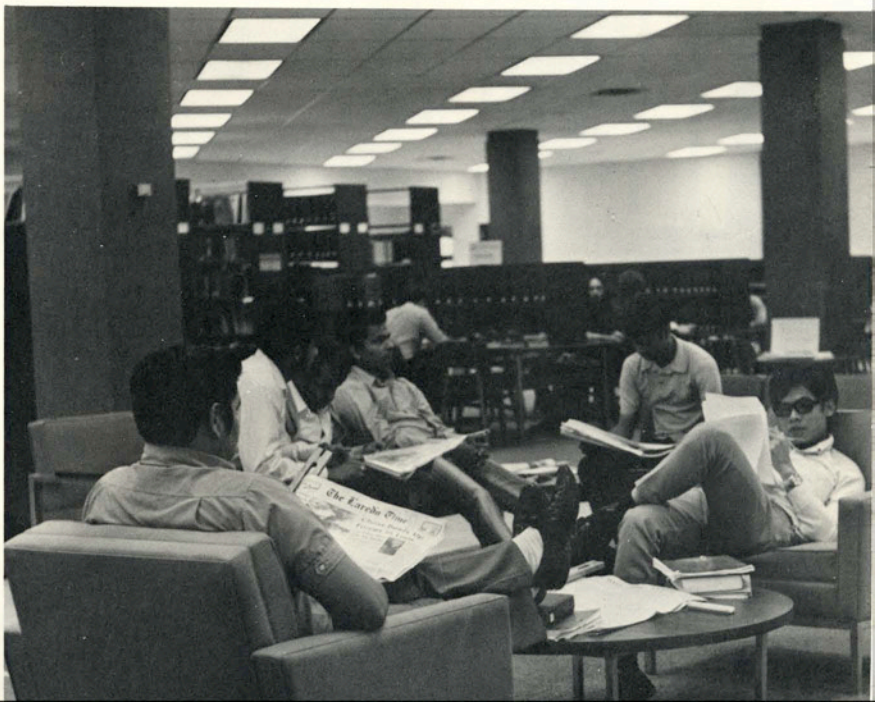

"A conservative estimate on the value of the books in the library would be over $2 million. This year about $165,000 was spent on new books, binding, and periodicals," according to Goode.

The library, the largest between San Antonio and the Rio Grande, has an area of 90,000 sq. ft. and a seating capacity of 1,200 people. It employs nine librarians, ten clerks, one executive secretary, and about 80 students. According to Goode, the circulation for 69-70 was about 126,000 volumes.

The materials center in the library primarily serves the education department and contains such materials as the ERIC collection and the Education Unitary File. "Starting now and continuing this year we will be building our bilingual library," says Mrs. Susan Phillips, materials center librarian.

The listening center is developing the cultural history area, including old radio shows and a jazz collection.

"Twenty-four students can listen at one time so the listening center has definite classroom applications," according to Mrs. Phillips. "We have a good variety and right now we're trying to expand our quality."

Math Dept. grows as profs use new techniques, add courses

Expansion is the key word of the university's Mathematics Department. Five doctors, 12 full-time instructors, and 14 graduate assistants combine to teach 37 courses ranging from freshman to graduate level.

With hopes of soon having a building apart from the physics department, Dr. Virgil C. Kowalik, chairman, has welcomed four new members to his staff this year. They are Dr. David Cecil, Dr. J. W. Hardy, Buddy Smith, and Dwight Goode.

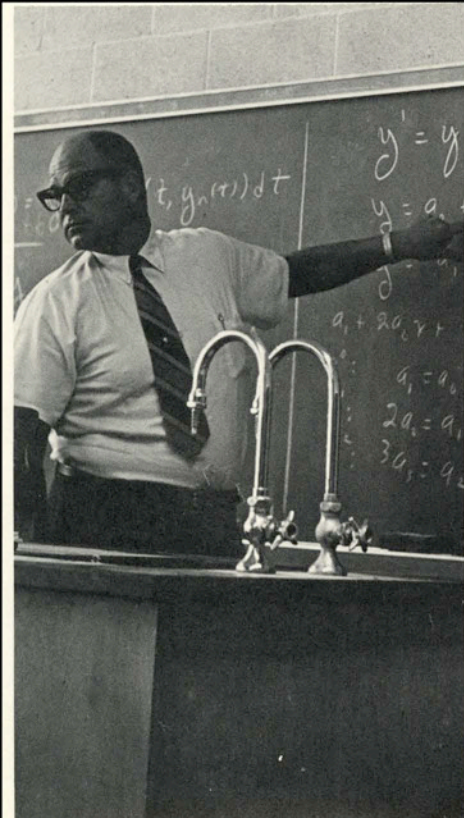

This year, the department boasted 135 students majoring in mathematics, and 60 education-math majors. Of the 50 graduate students enrolled in math courses during the spring semester, 34 were departmental majors.

Two new courses in statistics were taught this year by Dr. Michael Speed. Five additional courses are to be added by the fall of 1971, with Business Math 107 being changed to Business and Economics 116-117.

Also, five new instructors are scheduled to join the staff next year. Dr. J. L. Dorroh and Miss Ann Farek retired this year.

Growth is the key word of the Math Department. An example is the rise in graduate assistants from nine in 1969-1970 to 14 this year.

Top: Dr. Virgil Kowalik, department chairman, explains a basic mathematical point. Bottom: Dr. Mike Speed was one of the math teachers who found himself teaching in the new gym's classrooms.

Military Science combines ROTC with academics

Texas A&I's Reserve Officer Training Corps consists of 215 men. Of these, 69 are juniors and seniors participating in the advanced program.

Lt. Col. Donald L. Williams, in his first year at the University, heads the Military Science Department in addition to his position as ROTC Commander.

Although no major or minor is offered in Military Science, U.S. Commission is granted to college graduates who complete the specified ROTC requirement.

Four regular army personnel officers serve as instructors, with the help of five enlisted men.

Cadet Lt. Col. Randall Parker, senior business major, is in charge of students, and also handles corps-officers relationships.

The ROTC band performs throughout South Texas and at such activities as Dad's Day, held annually on campus. The Ranger unit, only four years old, is designed to give its members extra training in tactics and counter-guerrilla operations.

The drill team, known as the King's Rifles of Texas A&I, performs with and competes against other colleges in the Fourth Army Area. The rifle team competes regionally and nationally and this year hosted its 11th Annual Postal Match here on the campus.

The Army now requires a master's degree of ROTC instructors, so all future replacements will have the degree. Current

Texas A&I University ROTC juniors and Ranger detachments must pass a Physical Combat Proficiency test. Here, under supervision and guidance, they are doing the 40-yard crawl.

instructors are taking graduate courses in their spare time to meet this requirement. Also, a change will come in that emphasis is now to be placed on more academic work and less military activity.

One of the Ranger detachments' exercises for the PCPT is the horizontal ladders.

ROTC held their commissioning exercises December 22, 1970, with nine receiving commissions.

New laboratory technique begun in fall semester

A new laboratory technique was begun this year in the Department of Modern Languages. A "live" laboratory was started by using undergraduate Spanish majors instead of tape recorders, relates Dr. R. R. Hinojosa, department chairman.

The Department of Modern Languages served this spring as testing center for the National Spanish Examinations. Joe R. Gonzales and Mae Dell Schiller were in charge of the testing program. The department also served as the testing center for the German Examinations for high school students with James Tryer in charge.

Joining the faculty this year with Dr. Hinojosa, department chairman, were Assistant Professors Francisco Lopez-Herrera, Rafael Sanchez, and Instructor Joe R. Gonzales.

There were 55 students majoring in modern languages.

Syllabi, according to Dr. Hinojosa, were drawn up and adopted for use for the coming school year 1971-1972 for courses in Spanish 101-102, Spanish 221-222, and Spanish 225-226.

Increased enrollment will permit the department to add another faculty member in Spanish next school year.

Music enriches total school environment with programs

The music department provides more than professional training for students. It also enhances the atmosphere for non-music majors by providing programs for students who do not wish to acquire a degree in music.

Two new graduate assistants along with three new faculty members were employed for this year by the department to serve as replacements for regular faculty members now on leaves-of-absence.

To fulfill the growing needs of the music department which now has 135 undergraduate and graduate majors, a new concert grand piano was added to the department's equipment.

The Music Department has three aims: professional preparation, artistic enrichment, and to provide a musical influence for everyone on campus.

The department not only provides appropriate training for students who wish to major in music but offers graduate training. This is done so that not only will a professional level be reached, but students will also mature intellectually.

This year Jerry Smith joined the Music Department faculty as choir director and voice instructor.

The Music Department also offers non-music majors a chance to extend their musical studies. Students can take elective courses or join music ensembles. This program was designed so that students may enrich their cultural environment by specializing in music.

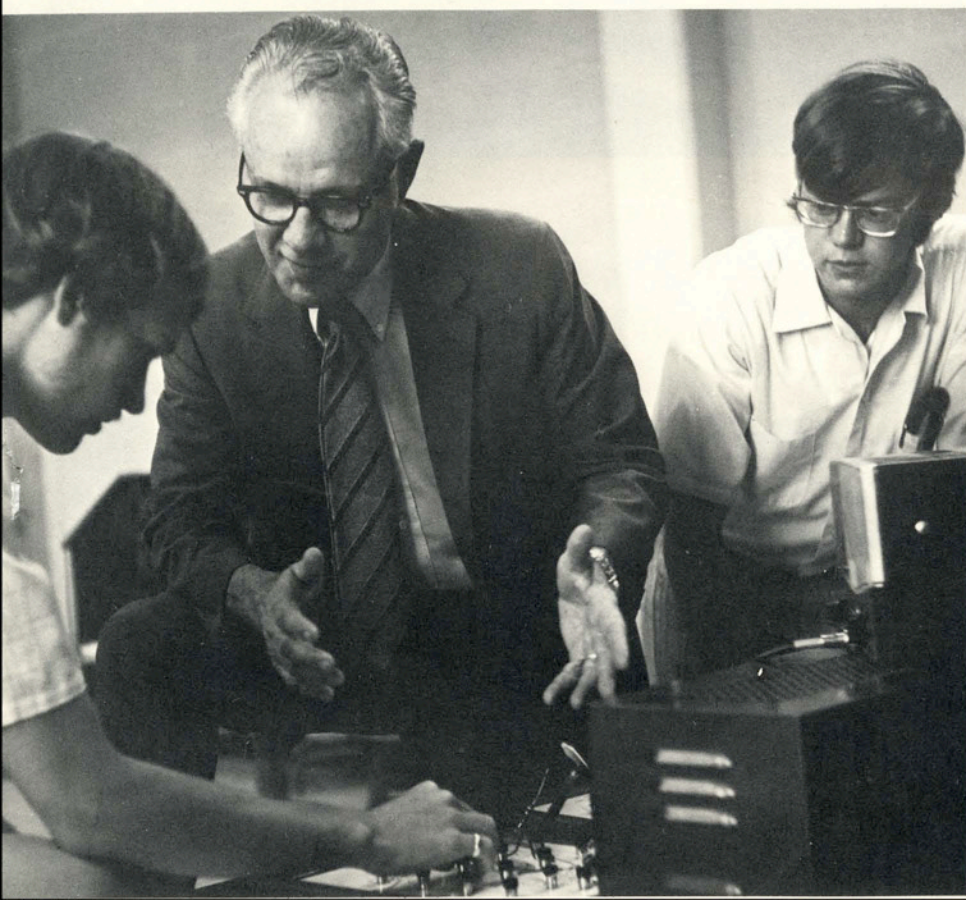

The fun course and the work course of the summer sessions is that which produces two musicals under the direction of Robert Scott. Vocal and instrumental students participate.

Dept. of Physics offers two new subject areas

The Physics Department offered two new courses during the 1970-71 school year: Selected Topics in Modern Physics 431, and first conducted in the summer session, Statistical Physics 417. Plans for the 1971-72 year were completed with the addition of a freshman astronomy course and a dramatic revision of the graduate offerings with some course deletions and three new study areas.

The department, because of the current progressive nature of science, is continually receiving new equipment. Of special interest this year, was the particular emphasis placed on the total incorporation of their seven lasars into the curriculum.

During the spring semester, a two week short course in Nuclear Radiation was conducted by the Mobile Radio-isotope Training Laboratory from Oakridge, Tenn. The course included both lecture and lab sessions. Students will recall having observed this trailer in the teacher's parking lot near Hill and Nierman Halls.

also sponsored here in the spring under a nation-wide program to stimulate interest in physics were lectures and student and faculty discussions with Dr. Cecil G. Shugart of the Dept. of Physics of Northeast Louisiana University.

Under a research grant, Dr. James Tyl-icki, assistant professor of Physics, initiated a study in the area of low temperature spectroscopy.

The A&I Department of Physics had an approximate enrollment of 575 with about 35 majors in the field.

Lecture series is enrichment for Psychology

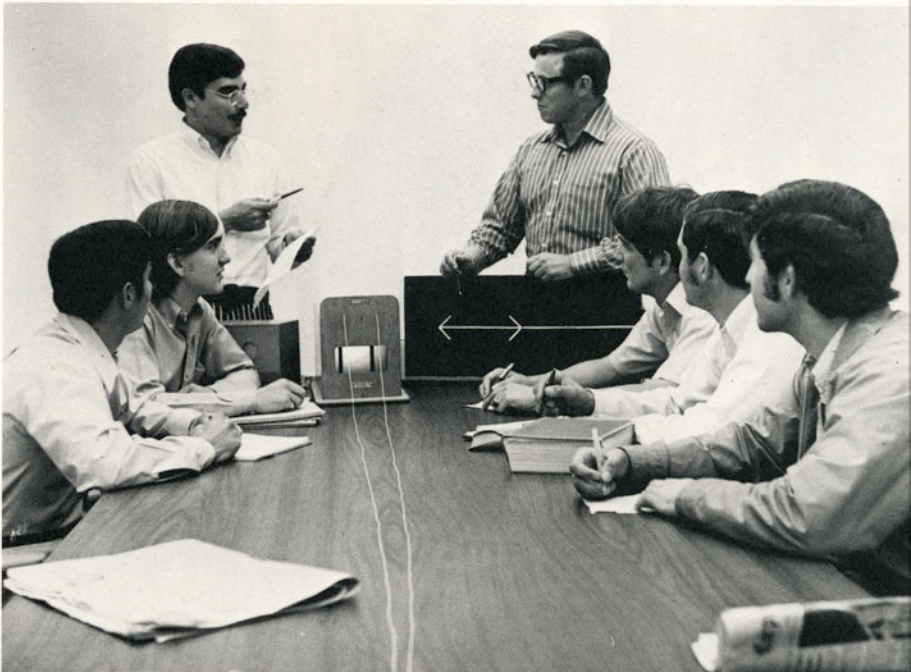

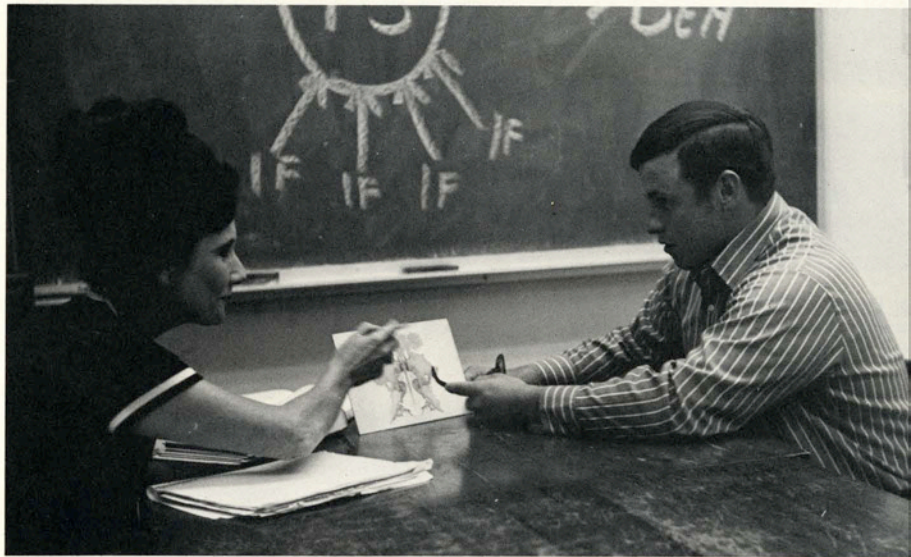

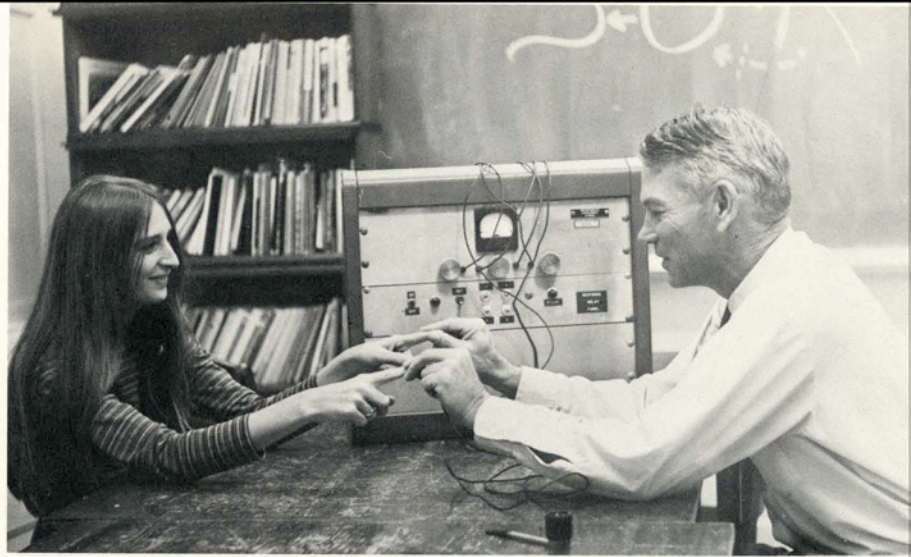

Psychology 101, service course of the Department of Psychology and Sociology has undergone a complete revision this year. While not unusual to A&I, the change to a Lecture Series type curriculum was adopted here to make this basic course a "better course," according to the department chairman, Dr. George Vaughan.

This method calls for one lecture period per week to large groups by several professors in their particular areas of specialization, and one discussion period of 25-member student groups.

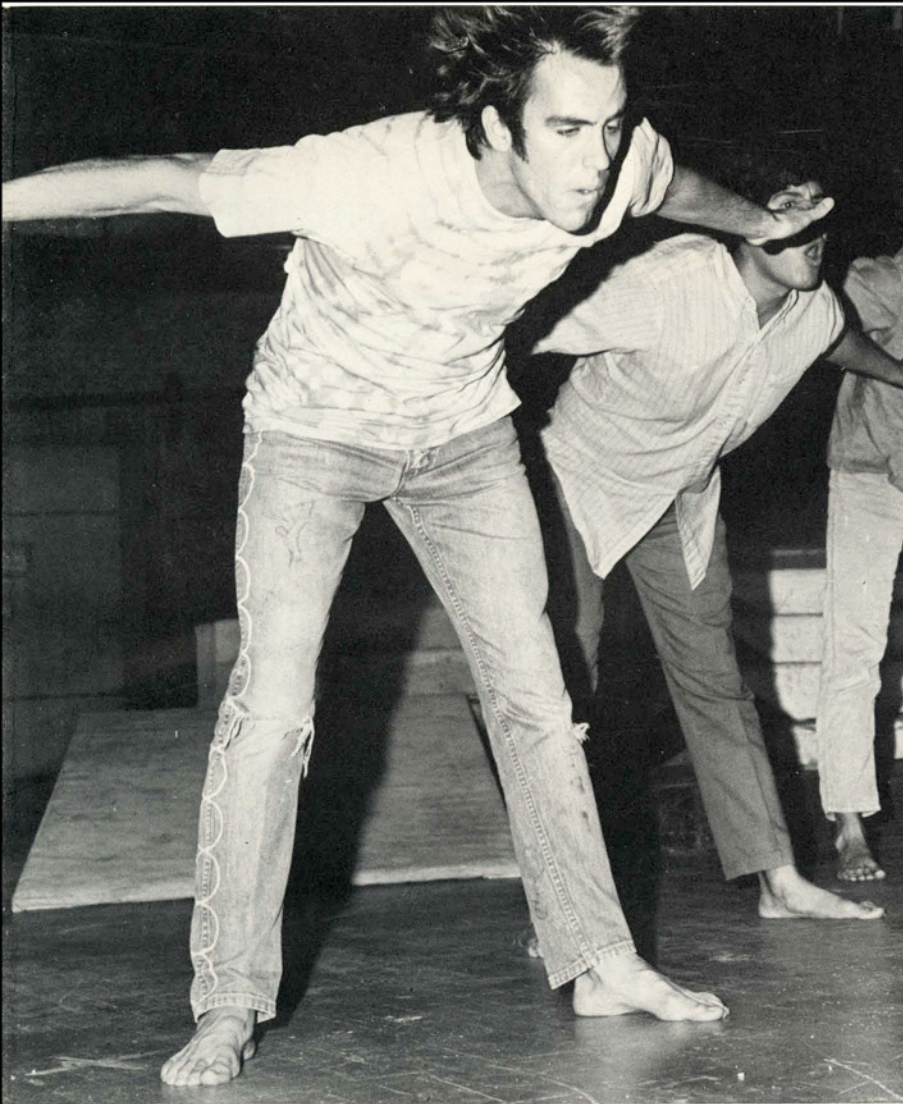

Upon the request of the Student Council and others, a new sociology course, A Survey of Drug Use and Abuse, was approved for the spring semester of 1971. Its duration is a five week period giving the student a one hour credit. Plans have been fulfilled for expansion with several new courses for fall 1971.

The five-position sociology staff of last year has been expanded to six-member team. The psychology staff number has not changed except for the addition of a graduate assistant, though several new teachers have taken positions. One new teacher, Joseph Domino, replaced Dr. B. S. Bittinger who took a leave of absence in the spring semester.

Enrollment included 1225 in psychology courses, 1066 taking the sociology offerings, plus 147 in the Drug Use and Abuse course. There were approximately 450 majors in this combined department.

Stephen F. Hofer, instructor in Speech and Drama, shows student Albert Cox how to cue up a record in the Texas A&I FM radio station KTAI, which is operated by university students.

Speech-Drama faculty adds five members

The Speech and Drama department added five new faculty members this fall. For the first time in the history of the department two graduate assistants were appointed.

The expanding department added one new speech class, Advanced Public Speaking. In the drama classes, activities added to the Rehearsal and Performance Course were: make-up; theatre production; rehearsal and performance.

In the fall of 1971 the department plans to expand its program with four new speech courses and three additional drama courses which will count as credit toward a major in the field.

There are 87 students working towards degrees in Speech and Drama. The three majors offered by the department are: speech, drama, and speech and hearing therapy.

The University's FM radio station, KTAI, is on the air more hours per day this year, as evidence of growth and improvement of the program. The department's production of "Luther" was chosen as an alternate to go to the American College Theater Festival in Washington, D.C.

Music Dept. Fine Arts Festival opens with opera, faculty recital

The Music Department began the Fine Arts Festival with the opera workshop presenting scenes from "Porgy and Bess," directed by Martha Ward. This was followed Thursday night with a faculty recital.

Friday morning the drama and music students took part in a workshop on "Instant Music" directed by guest composer Dr. Don Gillis. He showed students how to improvise. On Friday night the choir and A&I Singers were in concert. The Singers premiered Gillis' "Let Us Pray."

Gillis, chairman of the Division of the Arts at Dallas Baptist College, gave several lectures during the week and was honored at a banquet. He has composed over a hundred works and has been guest conductor of many well-known bands and orchestras.

Before the end of the Festival, the Civic Symphony gave the premiere performance of Lawrence Weiner's "Five Songs of Reflection." Weiner is a member of the music faculty.

The Art Department featured a special exhibit and held a successful auction of student and faculty works. Paintings, drawings and graphics were sold.

Civic Symphony mixes campus, area musicians

The Civic Symphony was a nucleus of music activity this school year. Among their performances were the "Messiah" and the Beethoven Octet in December and the Fine Arts Festival in March.

The Festival, one of the highlights of the year, found the Civic Symphony premiering two compositions. "Five Songs of Reflection" was by A&I Faculty member Lawrence Weiner. "Let Us Pray," by Dr. Don Gillis, featured the A&I Singers.

Dr. Merton Johnson is director of the Civic Symphony which is composed of musicians from A&I, Kingsville and surrounding communities.

Rehearsing for one of the concerts, Dr. Johnson follows the score to be able to cue in the parts.

The choir rehearses Bruckner's "Mass in E Minor" for the Fine Arts Festival.

New faculty member takes over as choir director

This year the choir was under the direction of Jerry Smith, a new music faculty member. He received his bachelor and master degrees from the University of Oklahoma.

Smith rehearsed the 50 member ensemble four times a week. Among their performances have been fall and Christmas concerts, and a concert during the Fine Arts Festival in which they sang Bruckner's "Mass in E Minor." The annual tour was taken April 27-29. During these days they sang at high schools in Rosenberg, Houston, and Pasadena.

Twenty-four members of the choir were picked to perform the "Flos Campi" by Ralph Vaughan Williams on May 9. The piece, accompanied by the orchestra, is unusual in that the singing is only on vowel sounds.

Although the choir largely consists of vocal and instrumental majors, it is open to all A&I students.

Band adds flags as new feature, represent LSC

A new feature was added to the band this year as flagbearers presented flags, representing the 10 universities in the Lone Star Conference, at the half-time show of the game against Trinity.

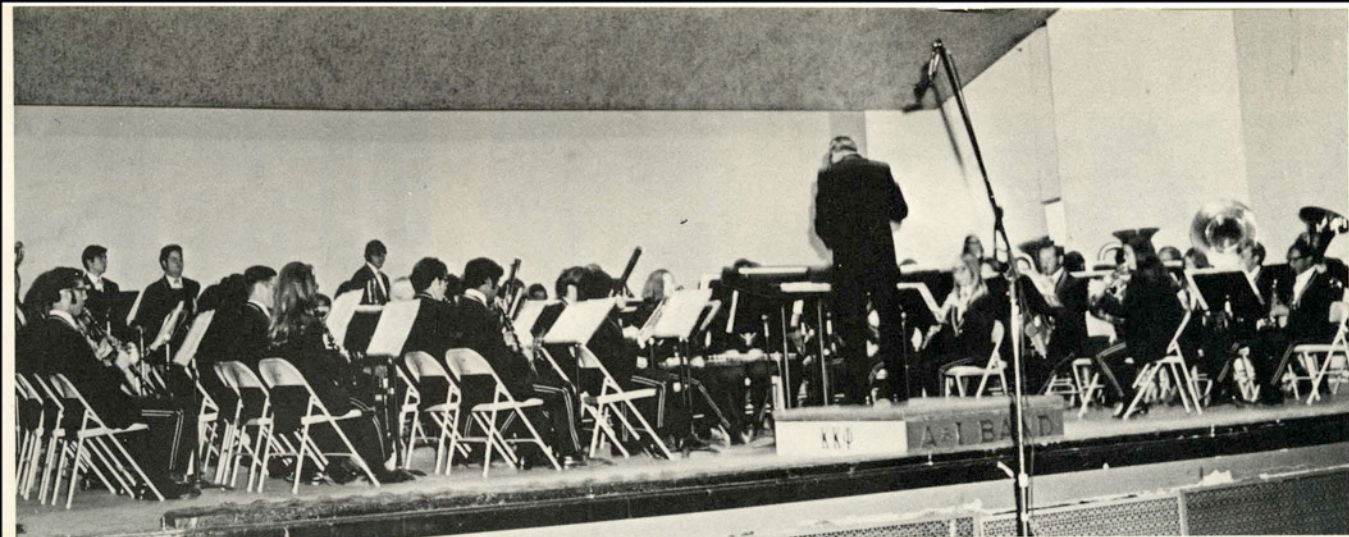

The idea and design of the flags goes to Dr. Joseph Bellamah, while Guyla McKee, New York senior, was responsible for making them. The flags were carried by band members whose uniforms were made by Mrs. Bob Scott.

Somerset was one of the bands that attended the Band Day festivities this year at the game against McMurry. Due to rain, the bands could not perform the mass band show that is seen at half-time each year.

The Texas A&I University Symphonic Band in concert.

Band activities included half-time shows; concerts

In the fall, the A&I Javelina Band was concentrating on many activities such as preparing half-time shows, along with providing spirit at the pep rallies, and playing a concert on the Mall on Dad's Day. The band went to the Angelo State game and performed at the half-time, marched at half-time in the NAIA play-off game against Plattville, Wisconsin, and planned a Christmas dance at the end of the semester.

The marching band, under the direction of Dr. Joseph Bellamah, consists of 165 members.

In the spring, the Symphonic Band, comprised of 78 select members, performed at the Annual Fine Arts Festival playing "Tulsa" and "Dialogue for Trombone and Band" composed by the guest composer Dr. Don Gillis, of Dallas Baptist College.

Peter Kline, brass instructor in the music department, played the trombone solo. After the Festival came the annual tour, March 29-31. On tour, the band played at high school assemblies in Beeville and Raymondville, and performed night concerts for the public in San Antonio and Harlingen. They ended the year with a party at Mesquite Grove.

Leading the activities of the band this year were Gerald Henke, president; Patty Hayes, treasurer; and Larry Stites, vice-president.

Texas A&I Singers tour Europe for ten weeks

After ten weeks of performing in Europe, the Singers returned home to a crowd of welcoming parents and friends at Corpus Christi International Airport.

Summer 1970 the A&I Singers made a ten week tour of Europe, giving 55 full performances and several short shows for Army and German air bases. They staged shows in the southern half of the Federal Republic of Germany, northern Italy, and West Berlin.

In West Berlin they did a show on television, and in the Heidelberg, Germany, area, they got to call home from a micro-wave station. Before their return home to the Corpus Christi airport, the group spent a two-week vacation on the continent.

A&I Singers perform at new gym dedication

Each year the A&I Singers, under the direction of Alfred Tellinghuisen, have a full schedule of performances. This year the 16-member ensemble made 30 appearances including the Century Club Banquet, dedication of the new gym, their fall and Christmas concerts, Kiwanis' convention, the Chamber of Commerce banquet, and the Fine Arts Festival. At the Festival, they premiered "Let Us Pary" by the guest composer Dr. Don Gillis.

March 15 - 20 was the annual tour. This year they performed in the San Antonio area, Fredericksburg, and the valley. On their return, they gave a performance doing the pieces they had done on tour.

The Texas A&I University Singers are a select performing group of talented students. Tellinghuisen has directed the ensemble for five years.

Ballet America credited highly by many critics

"Ballet America" was a picture of grace as dancers worked together under the direction of Burch Mann. Miss Mann stated the production to be "uniquely American."

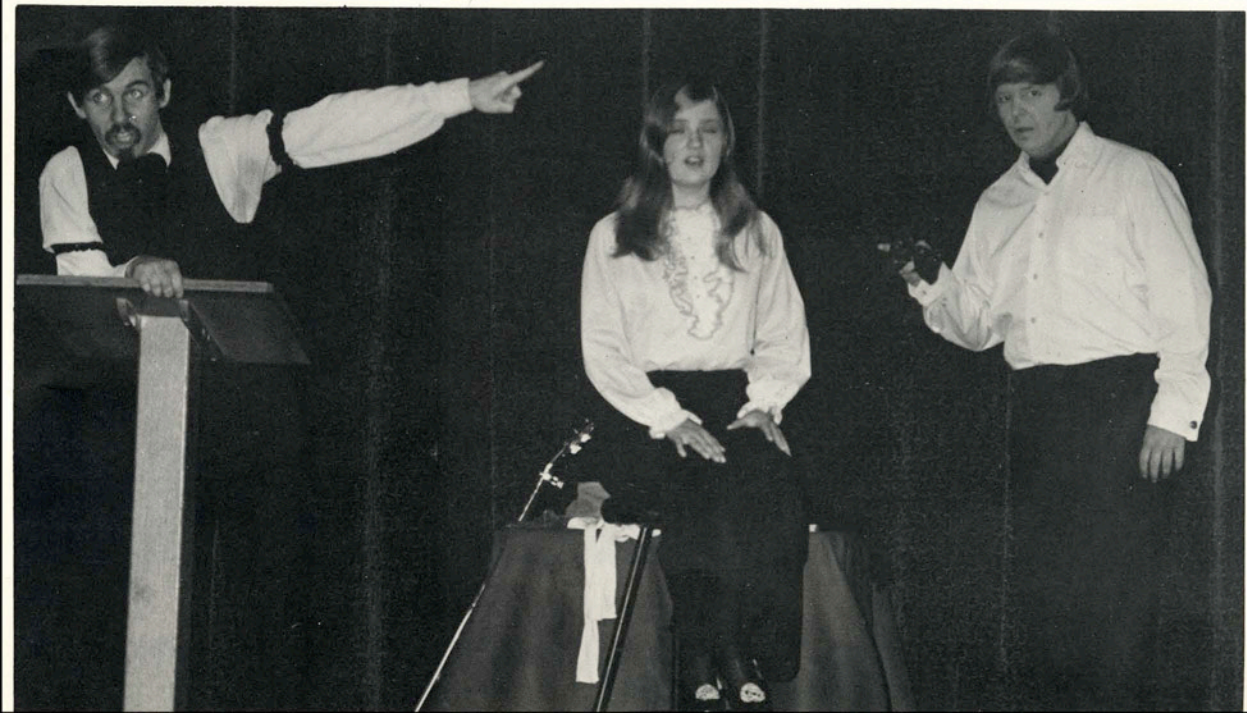

Included in organist Virgil Fox's recorded repertoire are more than 200 solo pieces. He gives more than 70 recitals a season and has been the only non-German ever invited to play at Thomaskirche in Leipzig where J. S. Bach himself was organist.

Computer head makes changes, plans new goals

Things were changed, goals set, and plans made at the Computation Center this year as Dr. Herbert R. Haynes completed his first year as director of the complicated computer system.

Upon the death of the first Computation Center Director Dr. John R. Guinn in July, Haynes who was one of the first students to use the computer at A&I was appointed director. Haynes received his B.S. degree in electrical engineering from A&I in 1962; his M.S. degree in computer science from Texas A&M in 1966; and his Ph.D. in computer science from the University of Texas in 1969.

The main result of Dr. Haynes' work, and the major change, has been the converting of the computer system from a one-man job to a staff effort. Since the work load is spread out more the new system calls for a larger staff. Therefore, Haynes has added a new programmer and three student operators.

The student operators run the computers at nights and on the weekends so that students in computer science and electronic data processing courses can get class projects completed.

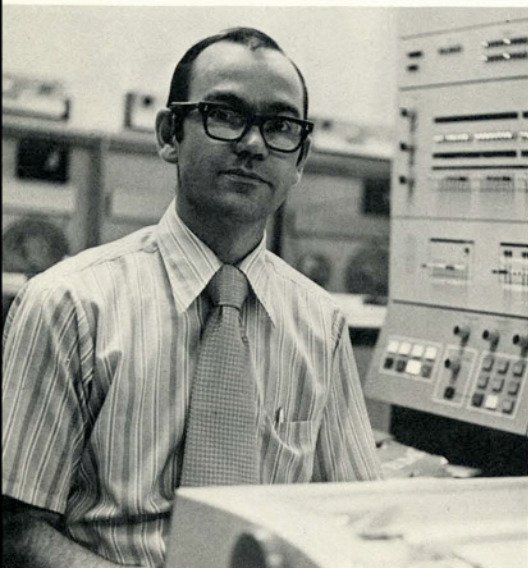

The goals of the Computer Center are: first, to provide students and faculty good machines and a decent environment to aid them in their work. The second is to do as much administrative work as possible. In the latter area the center processes all student records such as grades, rolls, and permanent records, the university payroll, library circulation and book orders, and individual department reports.

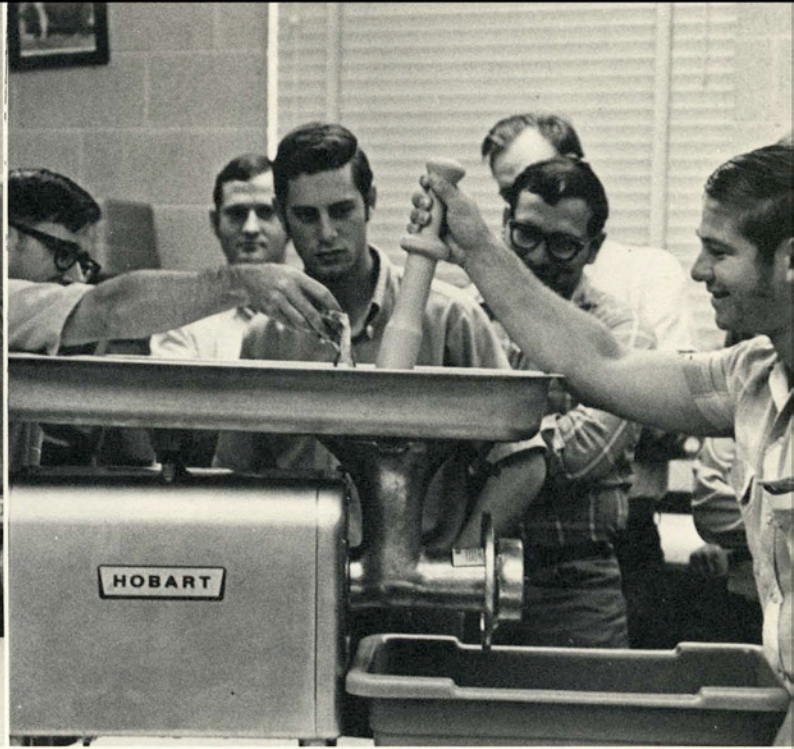

Dr. Haynes stated that the present center is "hurting for storage capacity." To compensate for this, he has made some long range plans to install bigger and faster IBM machines and data storage banks.

Top: Students wait for their jobs to be run through the computer. Students' use of equipment keeps the center open from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily during the week. In April 11,000 jobs were run. Bottom left: Dr. Herbert R. Haynes became director of the Computation Center during the summer of 1970. Bottom right: Richard Jaeger, computer programmer, was added to the staff. He works with a card reader capable of reading 1,000 cards per minute.

Meat Science program begun by Ag. Dept.

A Meat Science program has been initiated by the School of Agriculture this year. Dr. Darroll Grant, who has a Ph.D. in Food Science from Kansas State University, was brought in to teach the three courses, along with other courses in animal science.

The courses, Meat Selection, Processing and Utilization, Meat Preparation and Evaluation, and Meat Science, deal only with commercially produced red meat products, so poultry, fish and wild game are excluded.

Students study meat grading and inspection, the chemical composition of meat and how this affects tenderness, methods of improving tenderness, slaughtering, cutting and curing. A study of the meat consumption patterns of Americans is also included as students learn of the wholesale and retail cuts of beef, pork and lamb.

Equipment for the courses is limited at this point, but plans are underway to establish a permanent meats laboratory.

Gymnasium helps expand sports activity

Varsity sports, student activities and physical education classes have received a big boost as the new Health and Physical Education complex was opened for use this year.

The gymnasium floor is constructed of a synthetic material called Tartan. This is the first basketball court in Texas to use this type surface. To aid in attracting audiences, seating facilities have been provided for 4,600 persons.

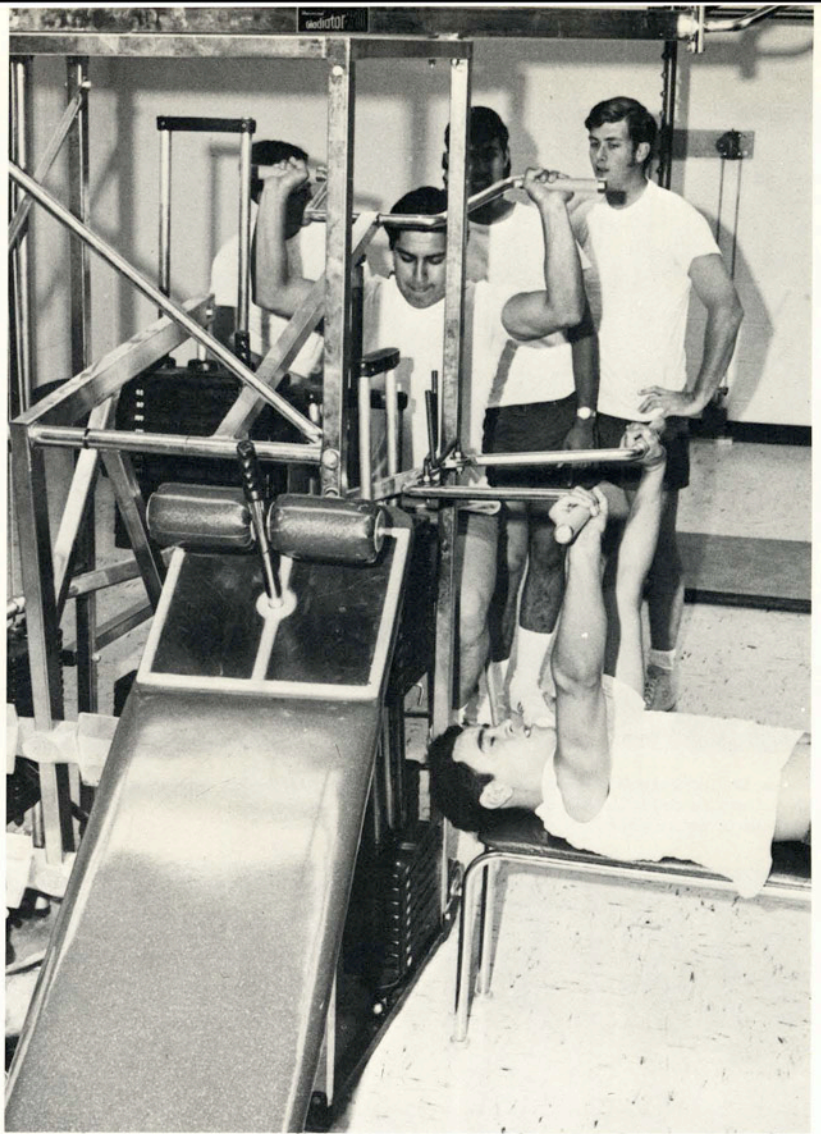

Something new in sports will be a swimming team. With the T-shaped 50 meter pool, A&I now has something to offer in the swimming area. The pool is four feet deep at each end, six feet in the middle. The diving area is 11½ feet deep and has two diving boards — one meter and three meters high.

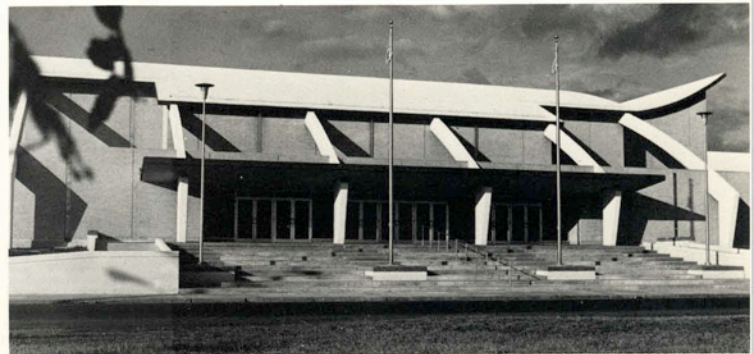

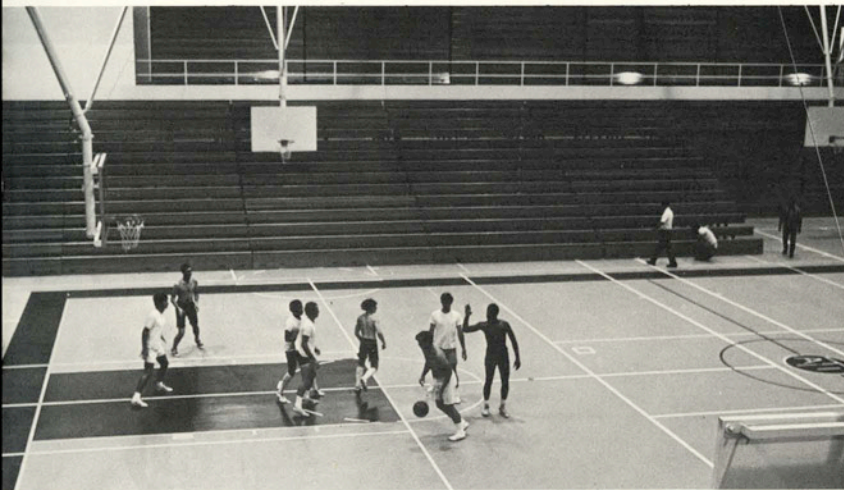

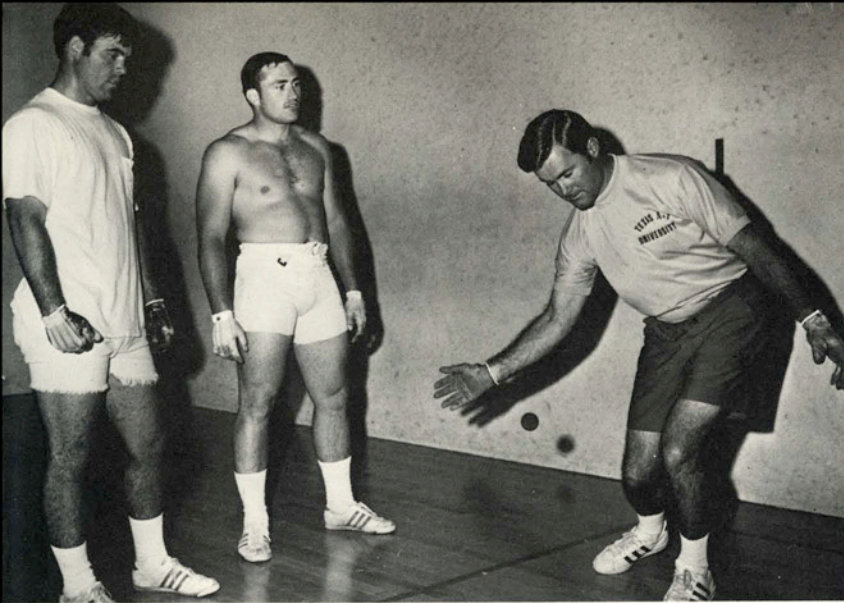

The racing area of the pool has seven lanes, along with starting boards. Five hundred portable seats are available so that an audience may watch swimming events.

All the sports facilities, including the eight handball courts, are being used by the students and faculty for recreational activities after classes. The handball courts give the complex one of the most balanced layouts in the state.

For the students taking HPE lecture courses, there are seven classrooms in the complex. For students taking HPE activities there are four dressing rooms.

The HPE instructors have 17 offices and a dressing room for their use.

Top: Corpus Christi Boy Scouts get on the mark for an unusual race. Bottom: Boys help in the experiment by gathering scattered beans. Beans were then used in a test of status of troop members.

Senior probes mysteries of social status

Students in Dr. Loren Davis's Advanced Social Psychology Seminar are required to do individual study projects. One of the more interesting was that of John Richard Durkin, a senior from Corpus Christi.

Durkin replicated with a troop of Corpus Christi Boy Scouts studies which have found that people over-estimate the performance of people they like and value, while under-estimating that of people they do not think so highly of.

The first step was to give a paper and pencil test to the Scouts in order to determine the status of troop members. The boys were asked such questions as, "If you were in a Civil Defense unit, who would you want working with you?" and "Who in this troop can really get things done?" From this Durkin was able to determine Scouts looked up to by their fellow troopers. Second step in the experiment was a competitive sociogame. Beans were scattered and the boys were turned loose for a specific amount of time with a paper sack; they worked fast trying to gather the most beans.

When the race was over, Durkin collected each sack. Then he explained the next step: each boy's beans were to be shown on an overhead projector, and they were to guess the number of beans each boy had collected. But Durkin played a trick on the boys. Quietly, he substituted paper sacks which each contained exactly 35 beans.

The projection of each sack of beans lasted only five seconds, not long enough for the Scouts to actually count them. Before each projection Durkin stressed the name of the person who was supposed to have collected them. "This is Jose's. How many beans did he get?"

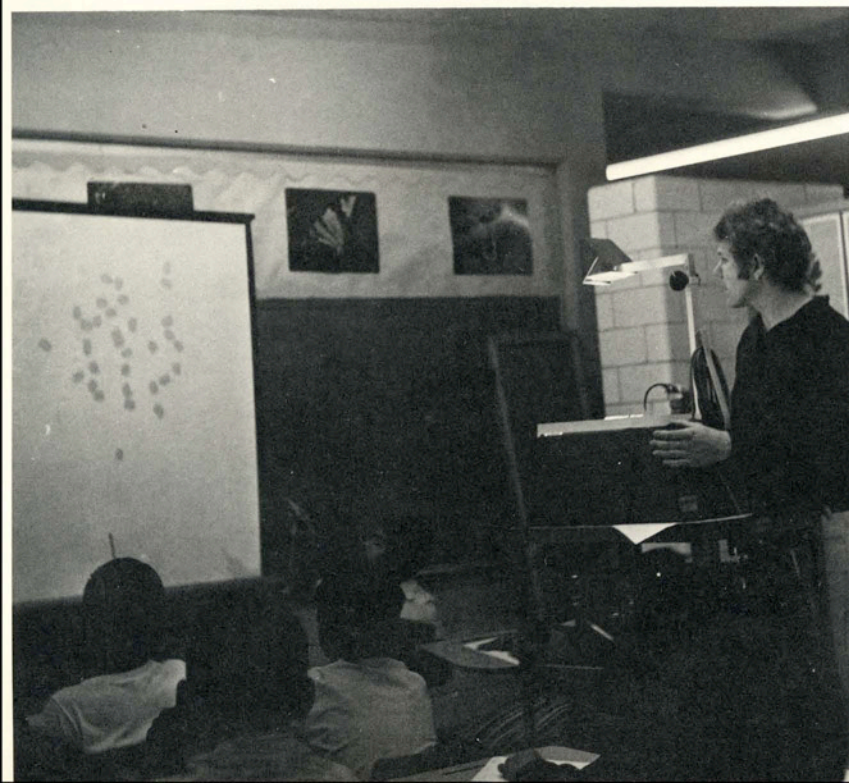

Consistently the Scouts over-estimated the number collected by people they liked, and consistently they under-estimated the number of beans in the sacks of boy's they didn't care as much for.

The results of the projection experiment were then compared with the results of the earlier paper and pencil test. The people at the top and bottom of the status hierarchy stood out. The moral is clear: If we like somebody we are sure they can do most things well — even gather beans.

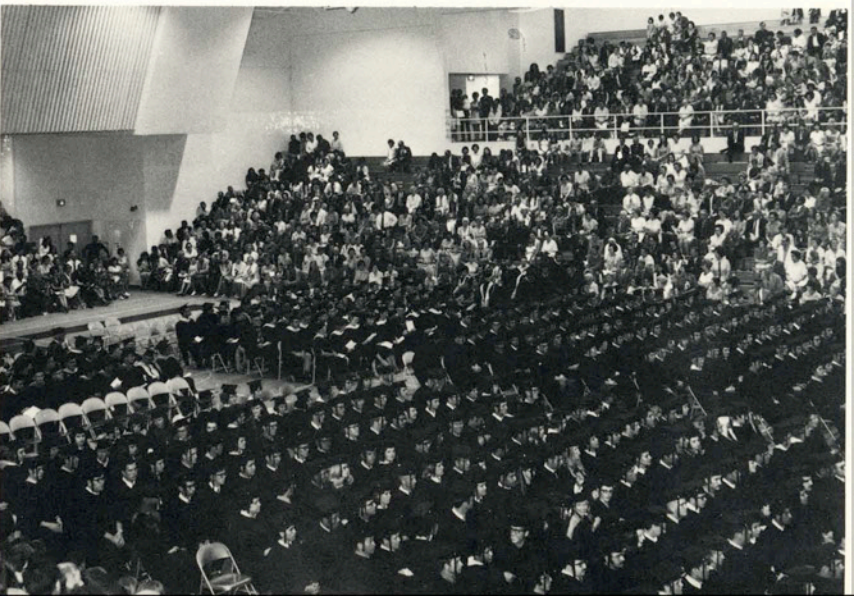

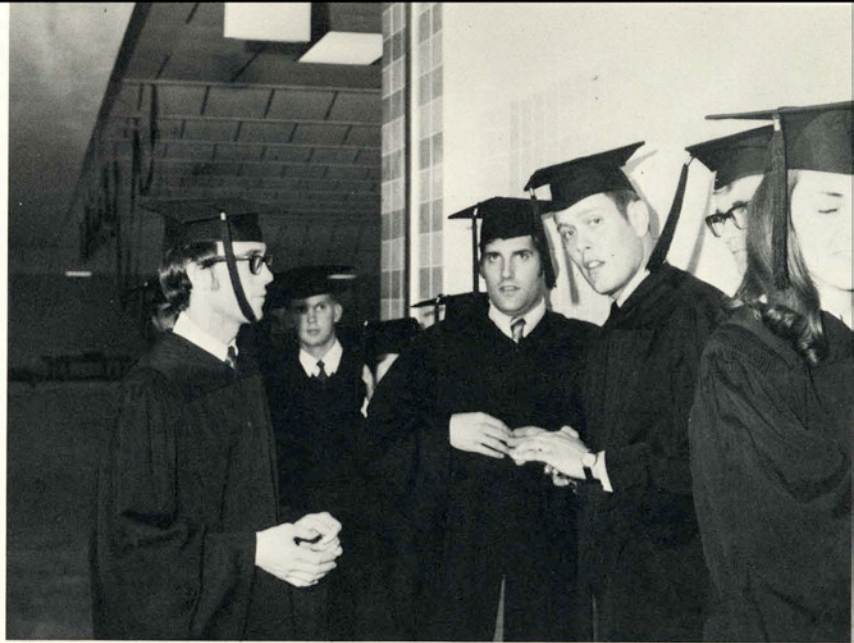

Top: John Durkin explains next step of experiment to boys after they have returned from bean gathering. Bottom: Identical amounts of beans were shown

965 graduates

Student Life

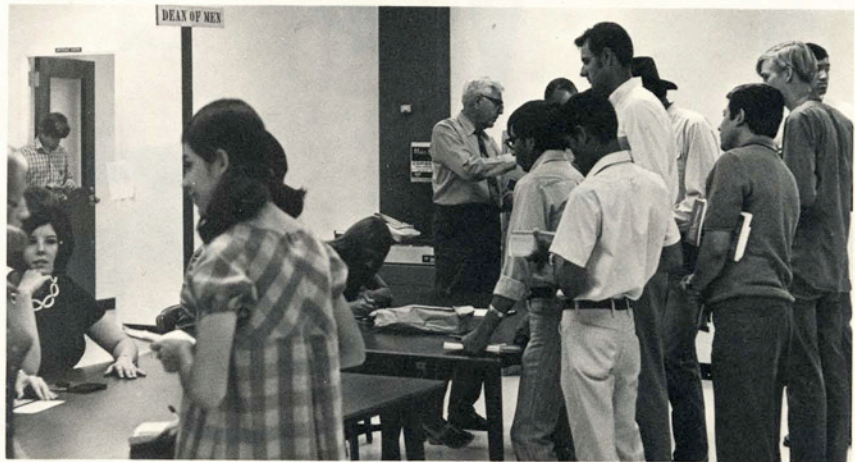

Students faced with long lines in September

Long lines and waiting is what faced students returning to Kingsville in September for the 1970 fall registration. During the three day period 7,817 students filed through the James C. Jernigan library and the business office trying to officially register in the classes of their choice — or need.

The new school year started with a Sigma Chi street dance and the annual President's Reception for faculty and staff held at the James C. Jernigan Library.

By mid-September students could be found making their way toward Javelina Stadium for the first game of the season. This was the game that started A&I on the road to the NAIA championship for the second consecutive year.

October brings football games, play practices

During October everyone settled down to the routine of classes and school activities shifted into high gear.

Football was in full swing and team members as well as fans had hopes for a good year. But even the most optimistic didn't think it was possible to be both conference and national winners two years in a row.

Highlight of the month was Dad's Day. Parents were kept busy with a full schedule of entertainment. Activities offered were a rodeo at Kleberg Park, a campus tour, ROTC open house, a barbecue, a horticulture display and sale, a band concert and tour of the King Ranch. The day was climaxed with the Sul Ross football game where recognition of the oldest Dad, Dr. F. T. Dodd (88), and the dad travelling the farthest, Carl Hanshaw (2,000 miles), was given.

Speech-Drama majors were spending their time preparing productions of "Antigone," "Lion in Winter" and "Luther."

November has Fall Carnival, Homecoming

November Homecoming started with the annual Fall Carnival. More than 30 booths were set up by campus organizations in the faculty parking lot located east of the Student Union Building.

The first weekend in November was the 38th Homecoming observance, which lasted two days. Highlights of the first day's activities were a golf tournament, pep rally, and a Century Club banquet where U.S. Senator John Tower was speaker. Activities for the second day included an all-alumni luncheon, campus open house, basketball scrimmage, soccer game, and barbeque.

At the football game against Sam Houston, the Homecoming Queen and runners-up were announced. Minerva Cadena was named Homecoming Queen, Sue Culpepper, first runner-up, and Shirley Ephram, second runner-up.

Excitement gripped the students just before the Thanksgiving holidays began. Classes held in Manning Hall were dismissed all day because of a bomb threat. A note stating that the bomb would "set off between 8:00 o'clock and 2 p.m. on November 20," was found taped to one of the doors.

The all-alumni luncheon, held during Homecoming, was in the outdoor room at the new gym.

In December "Luther" given good critical notice in Ft. Worth

"Luther," the university's entry in the American Theatre College Festival Competition, was one of seven plays in the Southwest Region selected to compete for regional honors in December. The play was presented in Fort Worth and was one of three chosen as national alternates for the national competition in Washington, D.C.

Just before finals started, the Javelinas were off to Greenville, S. C., to play Wofford College for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship title. The football game was telecast over KRIS-TV in Corpus Christi. The purpose of the telecast was to raise money for the rehabilitation of Ed Scott, All-American safety who was seriously injured in the East Texas State game. A goal of $25,000 was set for the telecast contributions.

Victory a sweet taste in their mouths, A&I's students put games aside and got down to diligent study for finals which were held Dec. 15-22. This marked the first time for fall semester finals to be held before the Christmas holidays; this came about by the adoption of a new school calendar.

Finals and football games behind them, students left school for one of the longest Christmas breaks in the college's history — 21 days.

Top: "Luther" was the highly acclaimed production which was selected as an alternate for national competition. Bottom: Fans flocked to the Corpus Christi airport to greet NAIA champions. Local businesses supported the home team.

Top: As Always, January begins with registration for the spring term. Bottom: Basketball season was in full swing by January. Games this year were even more appealing since they could be played in the new gym.

Enrollment up with January registration

Students returned during the second week of January for spring registration. During the three day period 7,563 enrolled, the largest number of students to ever register during a spring semester.

The football season over, students entered enthusiastically into the full swing of basketball. Games were held in the new gym which has a seating capacity of 5,000. The gym was officially opened for public use and classes in January.

February brings Watts Band, ROTC Ball

The Watts 103rd Street Rhythm Band performed before a packed house of A&I students. The group was brought to the campus by the Artist Course Committee the first week in February.

During this month the Distinguished Students were named. Eleven of the students were honored for the second consecutive year. In all, 52 men and women met the selection standards set by the Student Recognition Committee.

February 13 was the date of the biggest social event on the campus — the U.S. Army ROTC's annual Military Ball. Cadets hold the ball in three areas of the Student Union Building. They do all decorating for the event themselves, a process which takes a full day.

Highlight of the dance is the presentation of the Cadet Ladies, eight coeds who represent each ROTC unit, and the naming of the Honorary Cadet Colonel. Annette Matocha captured the honor this year.

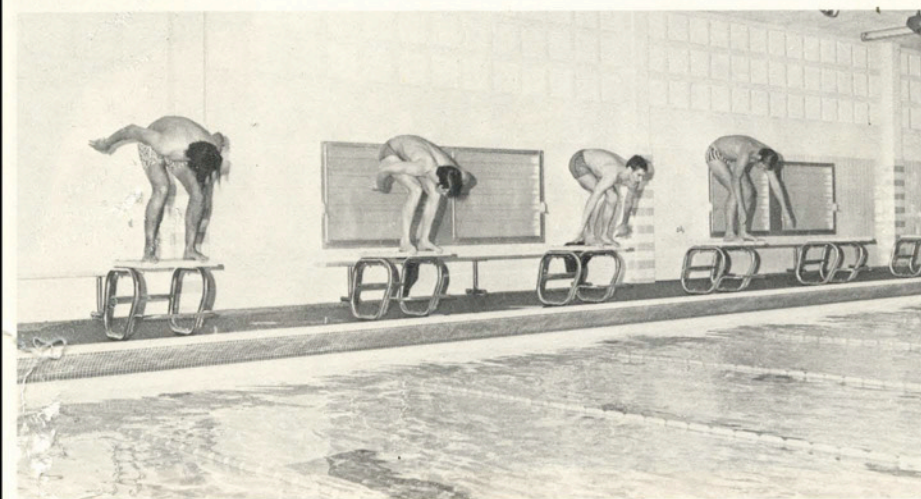

This month Dr. Robert D. Rhode, vice-president and dean, asked to be relieved of administrative duties in order to return to classroom teaching and research. Dr. Mario Benitez, former chairman of the Modern Languages Department, was named to assume Dr. Rhode's duties in September, 1971.

Basketball came to a close. Jeff Wildenberg, 6'6" forward, was the third player in A&I history to score over 500 during a season. He was also chosen to the All-Lone Star Conference team.

Other activities during the month include the inter-fraternity swim meet held at the new pool and Afro-American Week. During this week members of the Afro-American Association presented an Afro-American Culture Show which featured talks on Black culture and music.

Courtly manners abound at the Military Ball. Beba Kirkham was presented by the commander of the King's Rifles, senior Rosendo Solis.

March begins with tours; competition

The Texas A&I University Singers' spring tour started off the month of March. The Singers toured South Texas cities performing at high schools and military bases. This was the Singers' first tour since returning from a tour of military installations in Europe last summer.

During the second week of March five programs by Robert Short, author of "The Gospel According to Peanuts," were a D. A. Barber Lectureship presentation offered at the University. The lectures were sponsored by the A&I Artist Course Committee, the Epiphany Episcopal Church of Kingsville, and the A&I Campus Christian Fellowship.

Two Artist Course series were offered during the month. Recording artist Mac Davis and flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya both performed in Jones Auditorium.

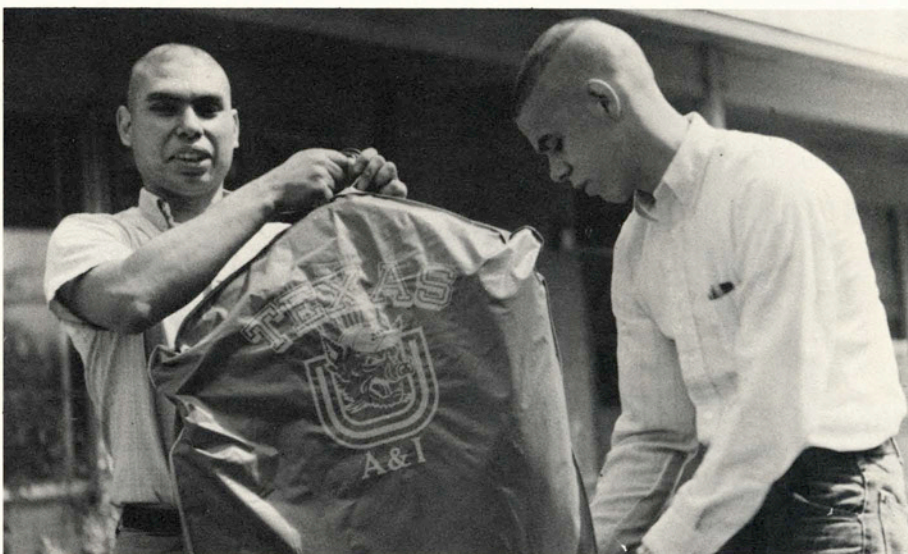

Six A&I University students from the Speech and Drama Department competed at the National Pi Kappa Delta convention in Houston. Competitors were prepared by Donna Tobias, Steven Hofer, and Lawrence Smith.

The King's Rifles Drill Team of Texas A&I has added to its display case with three first place trophies won at the Texas A&M Invitation Drill meet at College Station. The trophies represented first place overall, first place in basic drill, and first place in fancy drill. They then went to the National Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C.

Students enjoyed celebrating the beginning of spring with a nine day spring vacation. Over the break the annual trip to Mexico City was offered to interested students.

The Texas A&I Speech and Drama Department presented "Don Quixote of La Mancha" in Jones Auditorium under the direction of Larry Life. The play was specifically for area children.

Other activities during the month included the Kappa Sigma Variety Show and Alpha Delta Pi Playday.

Activities abound but a tradition dies in April

The month of April started with drab, wet days but this did not keep students from the Campus Capers. Held on the SUB lawn, campus groups competed against each other in a variety of stunts to make the Capers a successful event.

Lantana, one of the school's oldest traditions, was dropped this year. Lantana ceremonies were first introduced at A&I in 1930 following an all-college assembly in 1929 which selected the Lantana Florida as the official school flower. Soon after the selection, the title "Lantana Lady" was coined for campus favorites.

There had been discussion for several years as to whether the Lantana celebration was of real interest to present collegians. In an effort to draw bigger crowds to the event, the Music and Speech-Drama Departments had been called upon to provide entertainment. When this seemed to lose pulling power, the Artist Course committee had tried to schedule big-name entertainers for the coronation ceremony and dance. This year, however, the fate of the Lantana celebration was left entirely to the students. For lack of student leadership and interest, a 42-year-old tradition died.

Student elections held during mid-April ushered in Bill Shannon as president of the Student Association, Cecil Parker as South Texan editor, and Margaret Wagner as head cheerleader.

Publications workers and a faculty advisor attended the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association convention in Dallas, bringing home numerous awards.

A big change on campus came when the long-familiar switchboard number was changed to 595-2111 in preparation for a new campus telephone system.

April 24 marked the end of the 42nd annual Aggie Roundup.

The Reader's Theatre presented "The Voice of T. S. Eliot" on April 15-16. Mrs. Donna Tobias directed the performance of selected readings from Eliot's works.

Other April events were the beginning of track, the T-Fights, and ROTC Awards Day.

ner, Susan Kirk, and Dr. Randall Buchanan were the readers for the production of "The Voice of T. S. Eliot."

May brings sports to end, ushers in finals

With May came the packing of clothes and nightly studies as students prepared for final exams and the closing of another semester.

But even with finals, campus activities did not cease. This was the first year for the Cinco de Mayo celebration, sponsored by the Laredo, Hispano and El Progreso Clubs. They had a talent show, El Teatro Atahualpa and a dance.

The dorm women voted to abolish curfew, but the matter will have to be approved by the Board of Directors before it can go into effect.

Snakes, lizards, alligators, coyotes, birds and fish were all part of the Wildlife Show sponsored by the Biology Club. Most specimens in the show were caught by club members and zoology classes on field trips to Bay City and the Pecos River areas.

There were more campus elections, this time for cheerleaders. Selected were Laura Livingston, Debbie Evans, Jimmy Bailey and Doug Schueneman.

Jerry Ellison and Chip Taute, both seniors, held a two-man photography exhibit at the Art Department. It featured photos taken during the past eight years in travels throughout Europe, Southeast Asia, the Middle East and the United States.

The closing of the school year also brought an end to track. After long, hard competition the team placed sixth in the Lone Star Conference.

The soccer team became a member of the Texas Collegiate Soccer League, and was placed in the West Division of the Southern Conference.

The Javelina football team closed spring training with the Blue-Gold game. Corpus Christi's Buccaneer Stadium was the site of the Blue team's win.

Women's Athletics held a banquet at Nolan's Steakhouse for 39 people. Awards were presented basketball and volleyball team members and Coach Betty Brewer.

The tennis team wound up the year by placing fifth in the Long Star Conference.

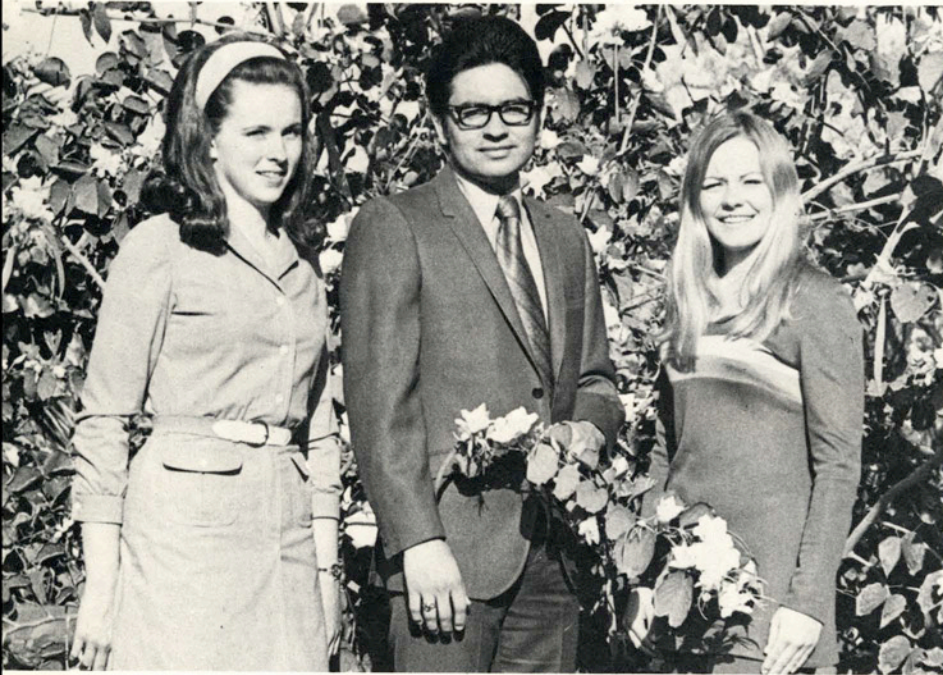

During the last week of school all activities ceased as students prepared for finals. And at the end came the graduating class of 1971 — 965 strong.

South Texan a student voice free of censorship

As other university newspapers encountered problems with the administration, the South Texan remained a student voice free of censorship.

Although the South Texan did not encounter censorship from the administration, it did face problems from the different student groups on campus. The newspaper tried to cover the controversial student political affairs of the campus, including the state of the Student Council. Yet this coverage caused other student groups to protest about their own news coverage.

The South Texan also maintained a lively pace in covering the discrimination charges brought against the city by a campus group.

The newspaper consists of a staff of ten students and an advisor. Its coverage ranged from sports to the political unrest of the campus. News stories as well as feature stories were a basic coverage of the newspaper.

Competing in the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association this year, the South Texan placed second in overall judging of newspapers. A first place award was also received in the editorial cartoon division. Two third place awards were received in photography and in editorial writing.

1971 El Rancho has three editors during the year

Trials and tribulations were the lot of the El Rancho staff this year. The young staff who started in the fall (two freshmen, one sophomore and a senior) were plagued with problems from the beginning. Everything came to a head when Editor Adan Saenz graduated at mid-term. It was then the responsibility of the Student Publications Committee to appoint a new editor.

With very little deliberation, the committee appointed an editor who applied at the last minute and who had no experience on a college yearbook, but who was a junior and had a higher gpa than sophomore

Kathy Smith who had worked with the book a year and a half.

In early February, two weeks after her appointment, the new editor honestly admitted she had not realized the complexity of yearbook production and did not feel she was capable of directing the book.

Again the Student Publications Committee met. The student they had rejected before suddenly became qualified and was given the job. Miss Smith was now faced with the impossible task of producing 320 pages in six weeks if she was to meet the early March deadline required for all copy on a book delivered in May. Emergency council was held, and it was decided to go to a fall delivery date. The new last-deadline date was June 2, which gave the staff the advantage of covering the last three months of the school year in El Rancho for the first time in its history.

The 1970 El Rancho received a First Class rating for the second consecutive year from the Associated Collegiate Press critics. At the Texas Intercollegiate Press convention in Dallas the book won third place in competition with Texas universities and colleges.

Planning the El Rancho this year were SheraLyn Alexander, advisor; George Watson, assistant; Dinah Gillaspay, assistant; Roy Torres, assistant; and Kathy Smith, editor.

Twirlers head band; participate in band activities

Twirlers appearing at football games this year were Dinah Gillaspy, Debra Gum, Beba Kirkham (feature), Stephanie Dollery, and Connie Davis.

Twirling is not all that is required of the girls. They have to play their horns in the stands at football games as well as when the band practices inside.

Central Kitchen

Food prepared in the central kitchen is ready to serve when taken from the ovens. It is placed in vacuum containers which will hold the temperature five hours and trucked to the four dormitory cafeterias.

New facilities, landscaping added in 1970

University facilities grew with the addition of a new infirmary and central kitchen which were put into full-time use during 1970-71. In addition, the campus is getting a facelifting under the direction of a full-time landscape architect.

The infirmary, which was erected at a cost of $168,000, has a staff of five registered nurses, three LVN's, five visiting doctors and four clerks. The new building is able to accommodate 29 students at a time, and more beds are available in emergencies. There are men and women's wards and isolation rooms. The Student Health Service, which is directed by Mrs. Nora Wilkerson, has been in its modern new quarters a year now, but still awaits new furniture.

A central kitchen valued at $320,000 came into use this year. It has been put to the test as it produced 35,000-40,000 meals per week for dormitory students. Next year it is expected to feed 2200 students three meals a day.

Food is prepared by the 17 central kitchen employees then placed in heated or cooled vacuum carriers and taken by two trucks to the dormitory cafeterias by the food contractor, ARA Slater School and College Services. This eliminates the need for any but short-order cooking (steaks, eggs, etc.) in the dorms.

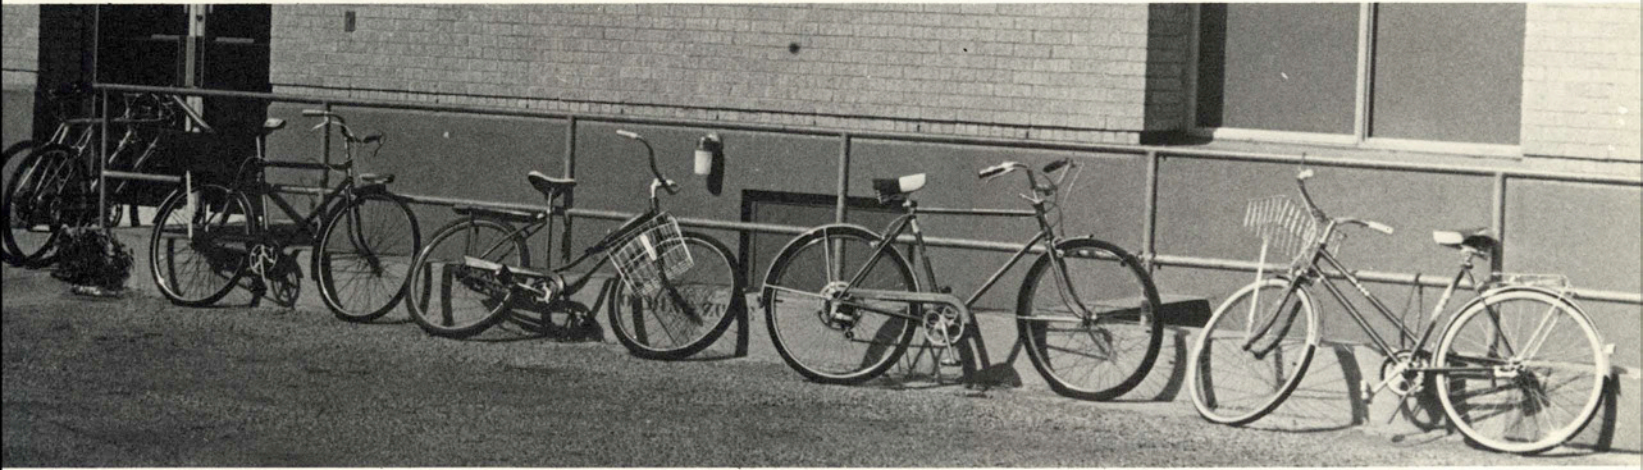

A full-time landscape architect was hired this year for the first time. Durward Thompson has spent his first year drawing plans for landscaping projects and engineering a clean-up campaign. A fountain behind College Hall has been completed and a plaza on the Mall between the bookstore and the Biology-Earth Science Building is being planned. Bicycle racks have been placed around the campus.

Western Week has activities for everybody

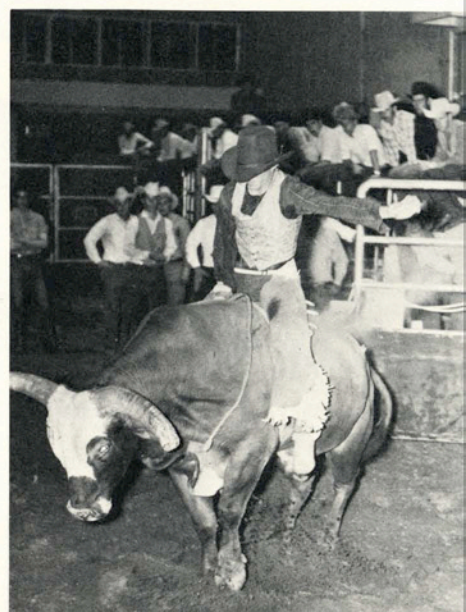

Western Week was marked with red bandanas, rodeos, at the new J. K. Northway Exposition Center at Kleberg Park, and student-erected displays in the Student Union Building and on the Mall.

The displays were a first this year. Students showed farm equipment, provided an incubator with chicken eggs which cooperated by hatching during the week for interested viewers, posters were shown, and exhibits of citrus fruits, and soils were erected, along with a slide show on range and soil management and beef production.

The exhibits were an attempt by agriculture students to acquaint their fellow students with the effect of agriculture upon American life and economy.

At the Aggie Club's barbecue Saturday night Dean Stanley R. Anderson presented Frank Dodson Jr. with the "Aggie of the Year" award. Dodson competed with Forrest Covey of Luling, Olin Gilliam of Hondo, Mary Lucille (Candy) Jones of Buda and Travis Miller of Robstown for the coveted honor.

Climax of the week-long Western Week was the Aggie Roundup dance at Dick Kleberg Park. Music was furnished by Gary Davis and the Rounders.

Javelinas get national title second consecutive year

For the third time and the second consecutive year, the Texas A&I Javelinas won the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association's coveted championship.

The only real threat came from the Sam Houston State Bearcats who met the Javelinas in Kingsville with an identical season record of 5-1.

Before an overflowing Homecoming crowd the Javelinas beat the Bearcats 31-14.

In the East Texas State game in Commerce, defensive back Ed Scott was seriously injured. His hospitalization kept him out of school the rest of the 1970-71 year. In appreciation for his three years as an All-Lone Star Conference player, the Alumni Association organized the "Ed Scott Fund" drive to aid with medical and future educational expenses.

The Javelinas are now the only team in NAIA history to win the national championship two years running. They have also won the Lone Star Conference crown for the fourth consecutive year.

Top: Picked the NAIA "Coach of the Year," Gil Steinke continued his habit of producing winning teams. Bottom: Defensive back Ed Scott, injured in the fourth game of the season, had been named to the Associated Press's Little All-America team in his junior year.

First four opponents fall to Javelinas as A&I's 1970 LSC schedule begins

Road to victory begins with Trinity

The famed "Border Bandits" and a well coordinated offensive effort by the Javelinas helped A&I to shut out the Trinity Tigers in the first game of the season 23-0.

The Javelinas took the lead on a 68-yard pass in the first quarter from Karl Douglas to Dwight Harrison. The Hoggies gained a 9-0 lead at halftime on a 31-yard field goal by Douglas in the second period.

The Javelinas added touchdowns in each of the last quarters. In the third period, Douglas scored from one yard out. Bobby Redus scored from the same distance in the fourth period. Douglas kicked both extra points after the last touchdowns.

Both of the last half touchdowns were set up on interceptions by Larry Smith.

McMurry is toppled by Javelinas 23-10

Before a crowd of 12,000, the Javelinas took a 23-10 victory from McMurry in Kingsville in A&I's opening Lone Star Conference game of the season.

A&I took a first quarter lead on a 54-yard pass from rookie quarterback Marion Danna to end Eldridge Small. Karl Douglas converted.

After McMurry tied the score early in the second quarter, Douglas kicked a 24-yard field goal.

McMurry again knotted the score at 10-10, but A&I took the lead for good with 11 seconds left in the half when Danna hit flanker Dwight Harrison on a 22-yard pass.

In the fourth period, A&I made its final touchdown on a one-yard run by Charles Matula. The conversion point was made good by Douglas.

Matula was outstanding in the rushing category, grinding out 101 yards on 11 carries.

Linebacker Robert Young watches as a teammate descends on the Trinity quarterback with force.

Javelinas slip past SFA in 14-13 thriller

Nacogdoches was the site of the Javelinas third game of the season before a crowd of 10,000 as the Hogs slipped past Stephen F. Austin 14-13.

The first A&I score came when Margarito Guerrero caught an SFA fumble in the end zone. David Hopkins converted. SFA tied the score with 29 seconds left in the half.

The game was tied until late in the third quarter when Marion Danna hit Charles Matula on a 12-yard pass. Hopkins kicked what turned out to be the winning point.

A&I's final touchdown was set up by a fumble recovery at the 20-yard line by linebacker Robert Young.

SFA scored its final touchdown with seven minutes left in the game. The two-point conversion attempt was stopped by Robert Young.

Javs return in last half to defeat ETS

The Javelinas fell behind 21 points in the first half against East Texas State in Commerce, but came back in the second half to gain a 53-21 victory.

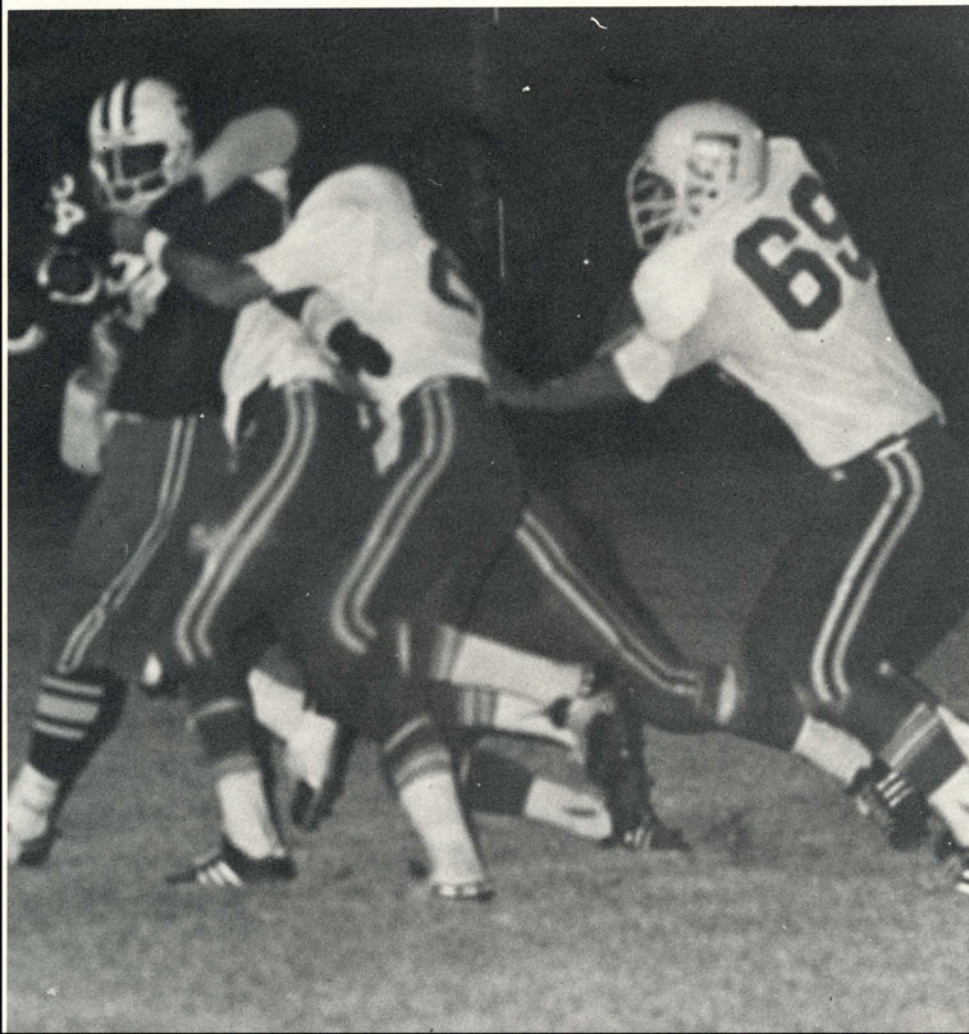

A&I went to a shotgun formation and struck for 10 points late in the second quarter. The Javelinas scored first with 3:05 left in the first half on a five-yard pass from Karl Douglas to Dwight Harrison.

David Hopkins hit a 32-yard field goal with 44 seconds remaining in the second quarter. Hopkin's field goal was set up on a 68-yard interception by Allen Kaiser.

The Javelinas continued their comeback with two touchdowns in the third period. The first score came on a 19-yard pass from Douglas to Harrison. The second score came on a 41-yard pass also from Douglas to Harrison. Hopkins converted on both touchdowns to give A&I a 24-21 lead.

East Texas took the lead back early in the final period before the Hoggies scored 19 points to wrap up the game.

The last two touchdowns came from a six-yard pass from Marion Danna to Eldridge Small, with Bobby Redus making two points, and on a 65-yard run by Clarence Alberts. Hopkins converted.

No. 1 Javelinas blank Sul Ross

A&I entered the Sul Ross game with a No. 1 ranking in the NAIA while the Lobos were ranked No. 4. Both teams had 4-0 season records.

In the second quarter, the Javelinas scored 19 points. These scores came on a 14-yard pass from Douglas to Eldridge Small and runs by Clarence Alberts of one and seven yards.

A&I's final score came in the fourth period on a 13-yard pass from Marion Danna to Robert Hubenak. The two point conversion was good, on a pass from Danna to Small.

In the contest, A&I held Sul Ross's offense to only 11 first downs, and a total of six yards in the first half.

Dwight Harrison tied the school interception mark by snatching three Lobo passes.

Top: Flanker Dwight Harrison receives medical attention as he watches the Sul Ross action. Harrison tied the school interception mark, taking three Lobo passes. Bottom: Charles Matula is brought down after a considerable gain.

Angelo State grabs 38-21 win from A&I

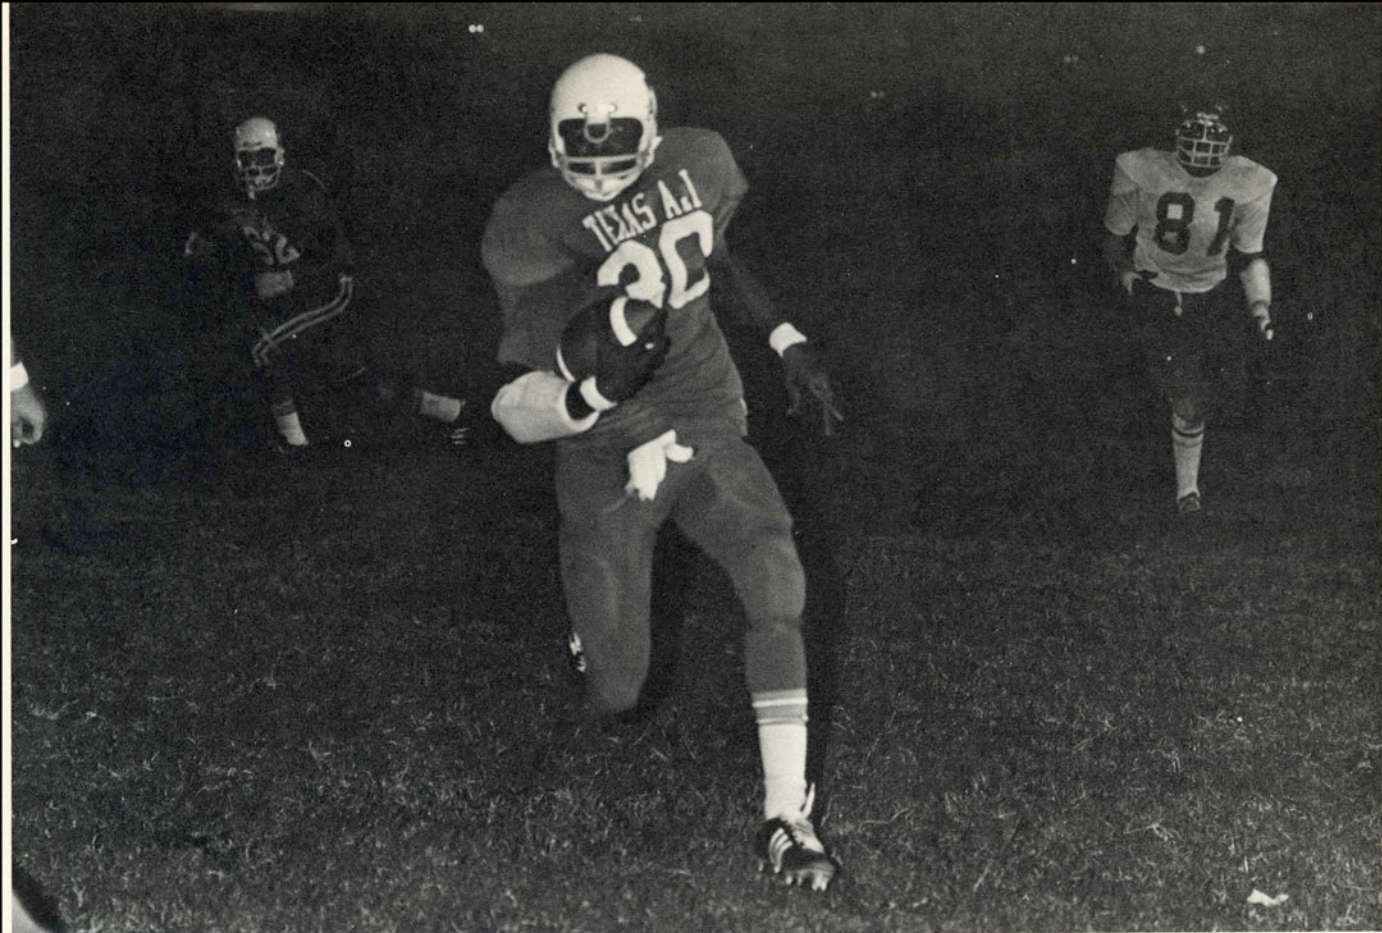

The Angelo State Rams made few mistakes and handed the Hogs their only loss of the season in San Angelo. The score was 38-21.

Angelo State took a 3-0 lead halfway through the first period, but A&I moved in front 7-3 early in the second period. The score came from a two yard run by Clarence Alberts and a point conversion by David Hopkins. However, Angelo State gathered 21 points before halftime to take a 24-7 lead.

At the midway point in the third quarter, Angelo State scored again. Early in the fourth period, Douglas hit Dwight Harrison on an 11 yard pass for a touchdown. The point conversion was good, with Douglas again hitting Harrison on a pass.

Both teams scored again in the game with A&I's score coming on a ten yard run by Clarence Alberts.

Top: Don Washington grimaces as he outruns his opponent. Bottom: Marion Danna limbers up his arm by passing the football. Danna was the number two quarterback behind Karl Douglas.

Pass plays beat Tarleton State 37-20 in game before a full crowd of 11,000

A&I and Tarleton State engaged in a passing marathon before a crowd of 11,000. The Hoggies emerged victorious 37-20.

The Javelinas scored twice in the first five minutes of the game. The first score came on a nine-yard pass from Marion Danna to Clarence Alberts. The second score came on a 35-yard interception by Toby Chadick.

After Tarleton struck for its first score, the Javelinas added another tally on a two-yard run by Alberts. The Texans scored again leaving the halftime score 21-14.

A&I pulled away in the third period, earning 16 points. These scores came on touchdown runs of two and one yards by Don Washington. David Hopkins hit a 22-yard field goal.

Levi Johnson had four interceptions to tie the school mark.

Conference lead goes to Javelinas with 31-14 win over Sam Houston State

The Javelinas and Sam Houston State Bearcats battled for the conference lead at A&I's Homecoming. The Javelinas won 31-14.

A&I scored twice in the first period on runs of 29 yards by Guile Vela and six yards by Clarence Alberts.

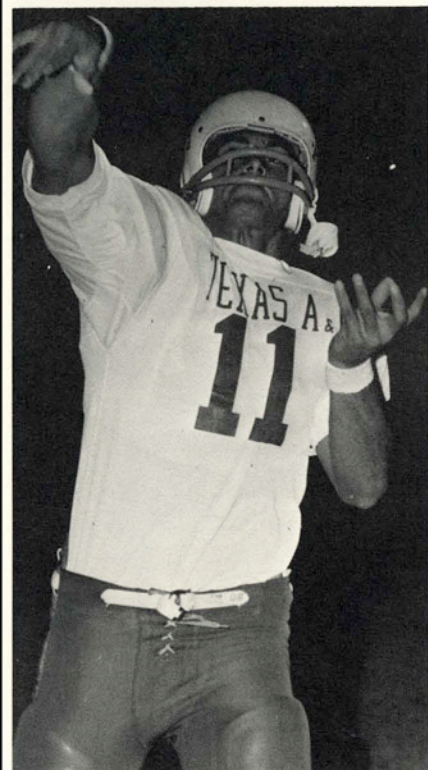

An interception by Toby Chadick set up a three-yard second quarter scoring pass from Karl Douglas to Eldridge Small. Sam Houston scored twice in the second period to make the halftime total 20-14.

David Hopkins hit a 30-yard field goal in the third period.

A&I's final touchdown came in the fourth period with Guile Vela plunging three yards for a score.

The Javelinas had four interceptions to tie the Long Star Conference record of 32.

Howard Payne falls as Hoggies post 12-2

Forty-two degree weather and a strong north wind greeted the Hoggies in Brownwood where a 12-2 victory was taken by A&I from Howard Payne.

The Yellowjackets got a safety late in the first quarter to take a 2-0 lead. A&I came back and drove from its own five-yard line to the Howard Payne seven, where Karl Douglas kicked a 25-yard field goal.

A&I had a crucial defensive play late in the third period when Toby Chadick jarred a Jacket ball carrier loose from the ball in the end zone. Levi Johnson recovered for six points.

Early in the fourth quarter, Chadick picked off a Howard Payne pass at the Javelinas six yard line. From there A&I moved to the Howard Payne two-yard line where Douglas kicked an 18-yard field goal for the final score of the game.

Hogs tame Bobcats in 42-13 encounter

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson was present at San Marcos as the Hoggies rolled over the Southwest Texas State Bobcats 42-13 in the last regulation game of the season for both teams.

The Javelinas broke the game open in the first half and took a 35-7 lead. Clarence Alberts scored first on a 12-yard run. Seconds later, Karl Douglas hit Eldridge Small on an 81-yard pass for a touchdown. Hopkins converted on each of the scored.

SWT scored before the end of the first period to make the score 14-7 A&I.

Deep in the second quarter, Douglas again hit Small with a pass for a touchdown. The point after attempt by Hopkins was good.

Claude McMillon got a touchdown in the second quarter on a 12-yard pass interception return. Hopkins converted.

The Hoggies struck again on an 11-yard run by Alberts, and on a 26-yard pass from Marion Danna to Small. Hopkins converted on each of the touchdowns.

SWT got its last score with 52 seconds left in the game.

Wisconsin State falls to Javelinas 16-0 in muddy semifinal game

The Wisconsin State Pioneers blazed a trail south to Kingsville for an NAIA semifinal contest, but the trail ended in defeat before a crowd of 8,500.

Rain and drizzle before the game left the field muddy, but A&I still won 16-0.

Many NAIA semifinal playoff records were established. The record for the longest play of the contest occurred when Eldridge Small raced 85 yards to pay dirt. The play also set a record for the longest pass of the game. A&I tied the record for allowing the fewest points scored against them.

The Wisconsin State quarterback led his team to tie the record for executing the most plays in the semifinal game with 48 plays.

The game's interception record was set by the Hoggies with the defense stealing four Wisconsin State passes.

A&I's first score came when Karl Douglas ran into the end zone from one yard out with 14:09 left in the first quarter. Levi Johnson intercepted a Pioneer pass to set up the first A&I touchdown.

In the third quarter David Hopkins kicked a 24-yard field goal with 3:22 remaining in the period.

The last Hoggie score came when Small clutched a pass from Douglas with 8:50 left in the game. Hopkins converted making the final score 16-0.

48-7 victory gives A&I third NAIA title

The Texas A&I Javelinas became the first team in the history of the NAIA to win three national titles, and the first team to take consecutive crowns December 12, as they defeated Wofford College of South Carolina 48-7.

In 1959, the Hogs took their first national title and in 1968, they were overcome by Troy State of Alabama for the national crown. The 1969 season saw the Javelinas engineer an impressive 32-7 win over Concordia, Minn., in the finals.

Wofford became the third team to feel the wrath of the Hoggies in a championship bowl game.

Going into the game, the Javelinas had compiled a 10-1-0 season record and had captured their fourth consecutive Lone Star Conference championship.

The Wofford team massed an 11-0-0 record during their season and held a 20-game winning streak.

The game was televised and thousands of fans in South Texas watched the Hogs unleash awesome offense power on the Terriers.

In the first quarter, the Javelinas scored on a five-yard drive by Ernest Price. The extra point was good, making the score 7-0, A&I's favor.

In the second quarter, freshman Clarence Alberts romped 71 yards to score. The extra point made the score 14-0, A&I.

With 3:12 left in the first half, senior quarterback Karl Douglas lobbed a 42-yard pass to flanker Dwight Harrison for six points. The board posted a 20-0 halftime score.

After an entertaining halftime show, the Javelinas continued a show of their own. The Wofford offense pushed to within the Hogs' five-yard line where it was held for several plays. Then, linebacker Robert Young picked up a fumble and raced 86 yards for an A&I touchdown. Douglas rolled around right end for the two-point conversion.

In the closing minutes of the third quarter, Wofford quarterback Chandler ran two yards for his team's only score of the contest. The extra point was good.

During the last two minutes of the third period, fullback Donald Washington scored six points on a 15-yard run from scrimmage. Fred Kasper caught the two-point conversion pass from Douglas to make the score 42-7.

With 12:00 remaining in the game, Douglas hit Harrison for six points. The two-point conversion attempt was thwarted.

The final A&I touchdown made the score 48-7.

In the contest, the Hoggies broke numerous records including the mark for the most points ever scored in an NAIA championship bowl game.

Levi Johnson returns an interception during the action of the game. The Javelinas exercised ball control throughout the entire game.

End Eldridge Small exhibits broken-field running ability after he has snared a pass. He was just one of the Javelina players who has this talent; Dwight Harrison also is noted for this ability.

Dr. James C. Jernigan, President of Texas A&I, used time during the game to ask for money for the Ed Scott fund.

Clarence Alberts sees an opening and races to it, as a fallen Terrier watches helplessly.

All-America first, second team honors go to four Javelinas

Four Javelinas received first or second team All-America recognition following the 1970 season.

Selected to the first team were Margarito Guerrero, defensive guard, quarterback Karl Douglas, and flanker Dwight Harrison. Linebacker Robert Young was a second team pick.

The awards came from three sources. Guerrero made both the NAIA All-America and the Associated Press Little All-America. Douglas was chosen by the NAIA; Harrison, by the American Football Coaches Association, Kodak College Division eleven.

Young was named to the second team of both the NAIA and the Associated Press.

The four received their honors officially at the annual football banquet held in the SUB ballroom during March.

During the banquet Coach Gil Steinke presented co-captains Jim Brown and Karl Douglas with the Lone Star Conference trophy and the NAIA National Championship trophy.

Other awards presented were for: Most Valuable Defensive Player — Claude McMillon; Most Valuable Offensive Player — Karl Douglas; Most Dedicated Player — Ed Scott; Best Blocker — Bobby Redus. The Oliver-Mido award, given to the senior with the best scholastic average, went to Robert Young.

Cheerleaders' task requires toil, sacrifice

The cheerleaders helped to spark the Javelina football team to another NAIA championship during the 1970 season. The success of the Javelinas in part was due to those eight men and women who urged the rooters to yell during the games for the Hoggies.

The task of being a cheerleader does not only require becoming hoarse before the stands, but it also demands much time and dedication during the week. Posters need to be put up, pep rallies are held, visits to the Javelina practices are scheduled, and practice times to learn new yells are attended.

Coach Donald McDonald guided the Javelinas through their season.

Basketball team upsets leader for 1970 season highlight

The 1970 Javelina basketball team reached its highest peak this season when it upset the Lone Star Conference leader, Stephen F. Austin. The Javelinas, playing before a full house, upset Stephen F. Austin 85-83 to end the season on a winning note.

Jeff Wildenberg, a 6'6" sophomore from Kimberly, Wisconsin, an outstanding member of the Javelina team, became the third player in the school's history to score over 500 points in one season. Wildenberg was also the leading rebounder and had the honor of being named to the All-Lone Star Conference Team. Wildenberg scored 524 points to lead all other scorers on the Javelina team.

An added treat for Javelina basketball fans this season was the addition of two football players to the basketball squad. Levi Johnson and Eldridge Small, both members of the 1970 NAIA Football Champion Javelina team, helped the squad with their basketball abilities.

The old "Alamo" gymnasium, in which the Javelinas had previously played all home games, was replaced this year by the new Health and Physical Recreation Center. It has a seating capacity of 5,000 and is the new home of the Javelina basketball team.

The New Physical Education Center was the site for all of the Javelina's home games.

Jeff Wildenberg paces Javelinas, chosen to be on All-LSC team.

Jeff Wildenberg was a unique player who was an asset to the A&I basketball team during the entire season.

The 6-6 sophomore from Kimberly, Wisconsin, was outstanding as a forward. He averaged 19.4 points per game in scoring and had an average of 7.4 points in rebounding.

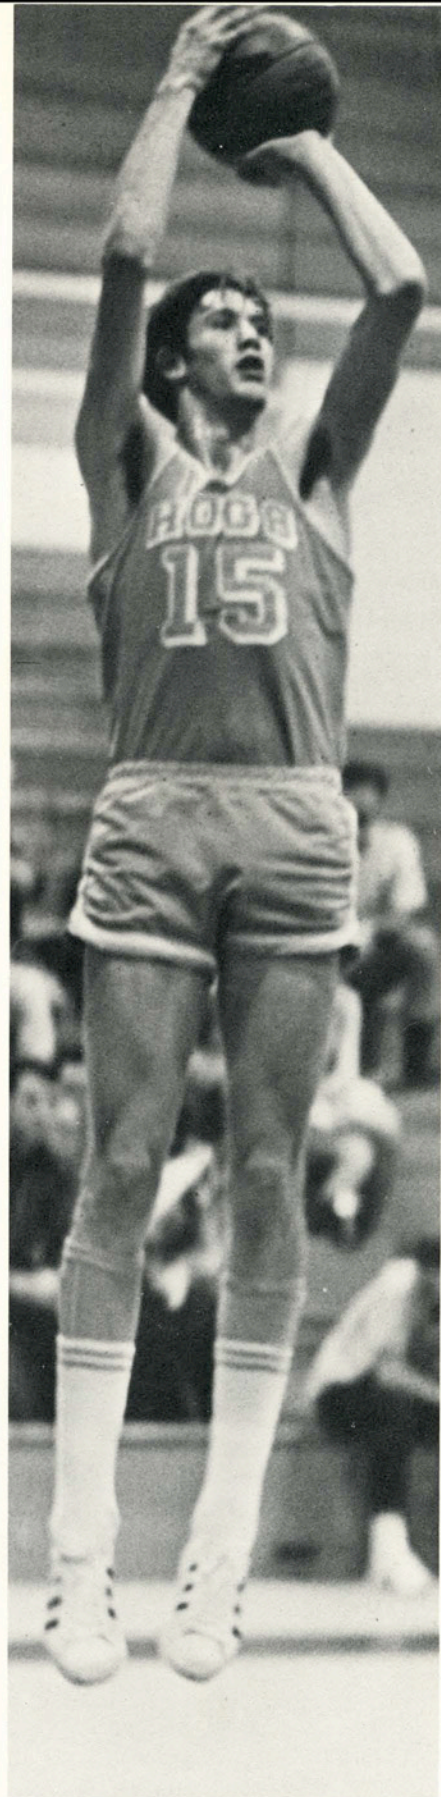

The uniqueness of Wildenberg was in the fact that he was the third Javelina player ever to score over 500 points during a season. The forward had a total of 524 points.

Another honor came when Wildenberg was chosen as a member of the All-Lone Star Conference basketball team.

His height and his ability to be accurate on shots from the floor made Wildenberg a threat to all who faced him.

The sophomore still has several years in which to excell even further.

Basketball team uses grid players during season

The Javelina basketball season was spiced by the addition of two football players to the basketball team.

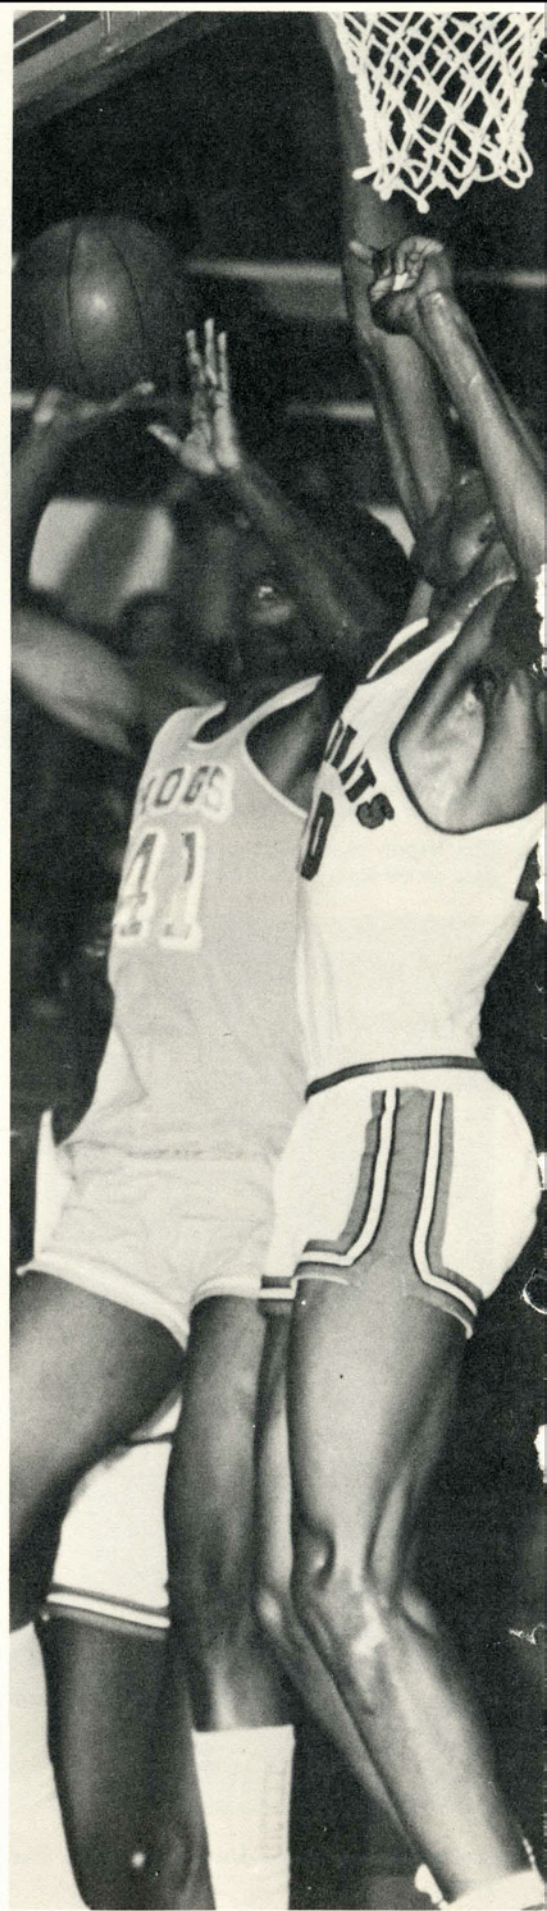

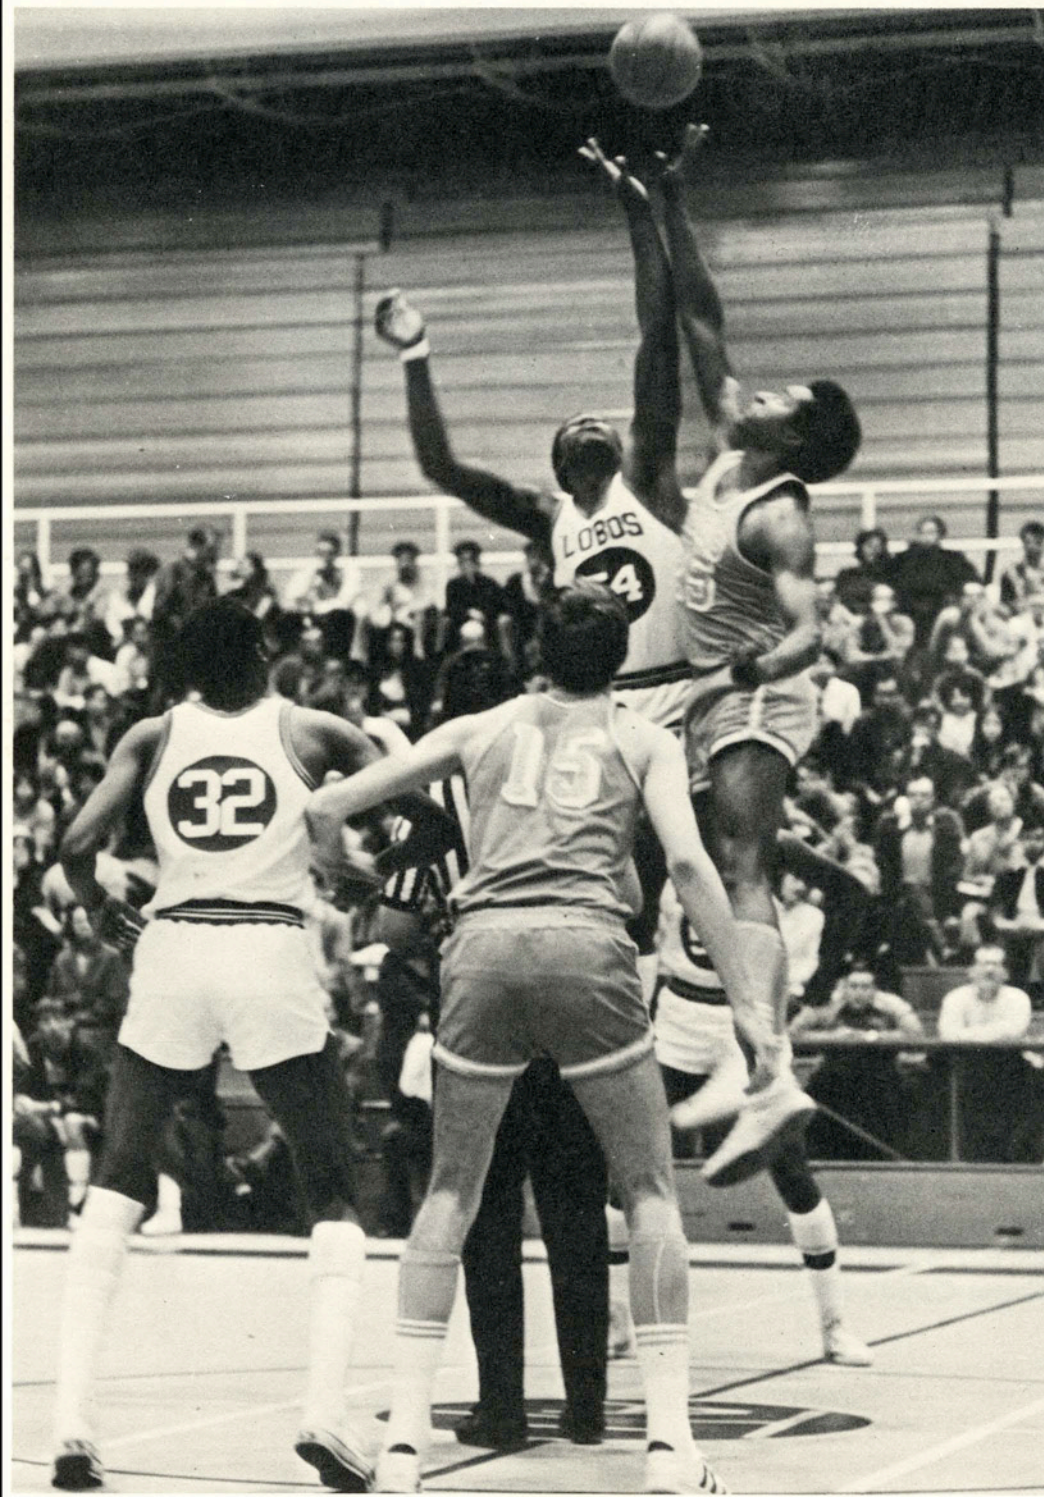

Levi Johnson and Eldridge Small were the two players who helped out the basketball team.

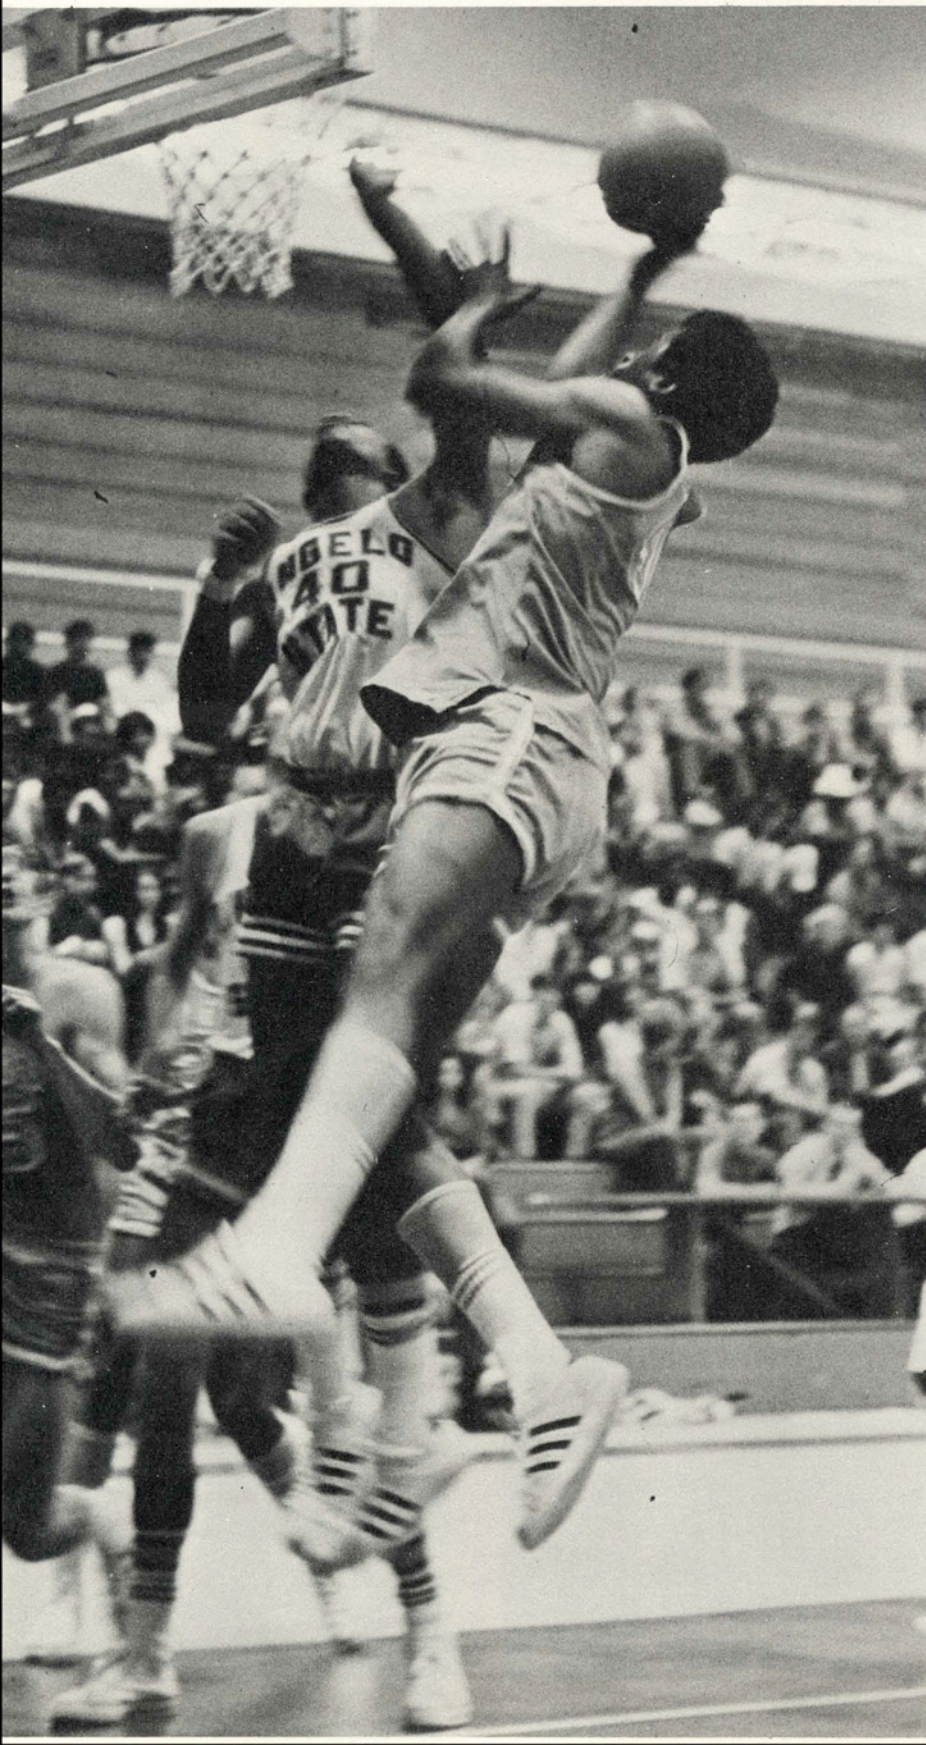

During the games, each exhibited the type of ball handling that was characteristic of their football careers.

Johnson, a Hoggie defensive halfback, had never played college basketball before joining the Javelina basketball team. He did play in High school, however, while at Corpus Christi's Miller.

Women go to State in basketball

During the 1971 season, the A&I women's basketball team showed for the third straight year that it was a formidable opponent for anyone.

The nine women, under the coaching of Mrs. Betty Brewer, went through the season winning 12 of their 21-game schedule.

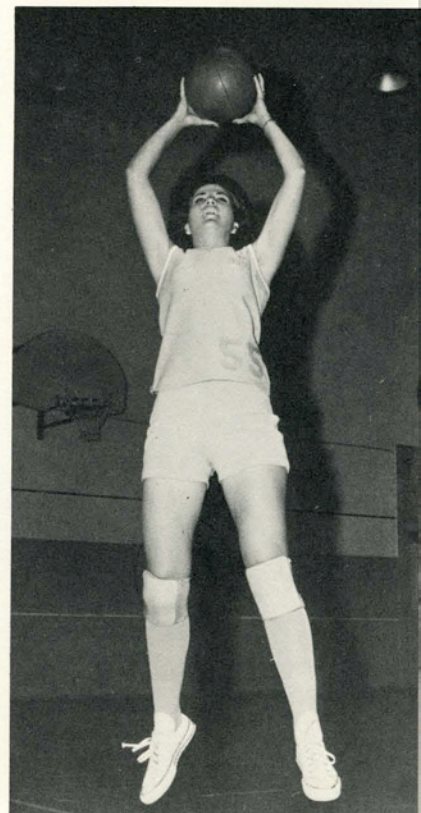

A high point in the season came in the 17th Annual Houston Park and Recreation Department Tournament. There the women placed 5th in a field of 16 teams.

On the road to the State tournament, the women seized the District VI title. The meet was held in Kingsville. The victory enabled the team to advance to the single elimination state meet held in Beaumont, March 19-20. There, the women overcame the University of Texas in the first game of the State tournament, but fell to Sam Houston in the second game.

Another highlight of the women's season came in the Presidential tournament where the team managed a tie for third place with Southwest Texas.

Mary Rosebrock was A&I's leading scorer this year.

Virginia Miller was the leading rebounder for the female Javelinas.

Top: Diane Gonzales of Benavides attentively awaits the serve from a teammate during the Texas Commission of Intercollegiate Athletic for Women's state tournament.

Volleyball girls win district, go to state

An outstanding record of 20 wins and three losses for the entire season was accredited to the women's volleyball team under the direction of Coach Betty Brewer.

The season, which began in October, went smoothly and ended with a berth in the state meet.

To be eligible to participate in the state meet, the women had to place first or second in the District VI tournament. They did so for the third time in three years.

On November 20-21, the 12 women and two managers hosted the Texas Commission of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women volleyball tournament. Sul Ross won the meet and San Marcos was runner-up.

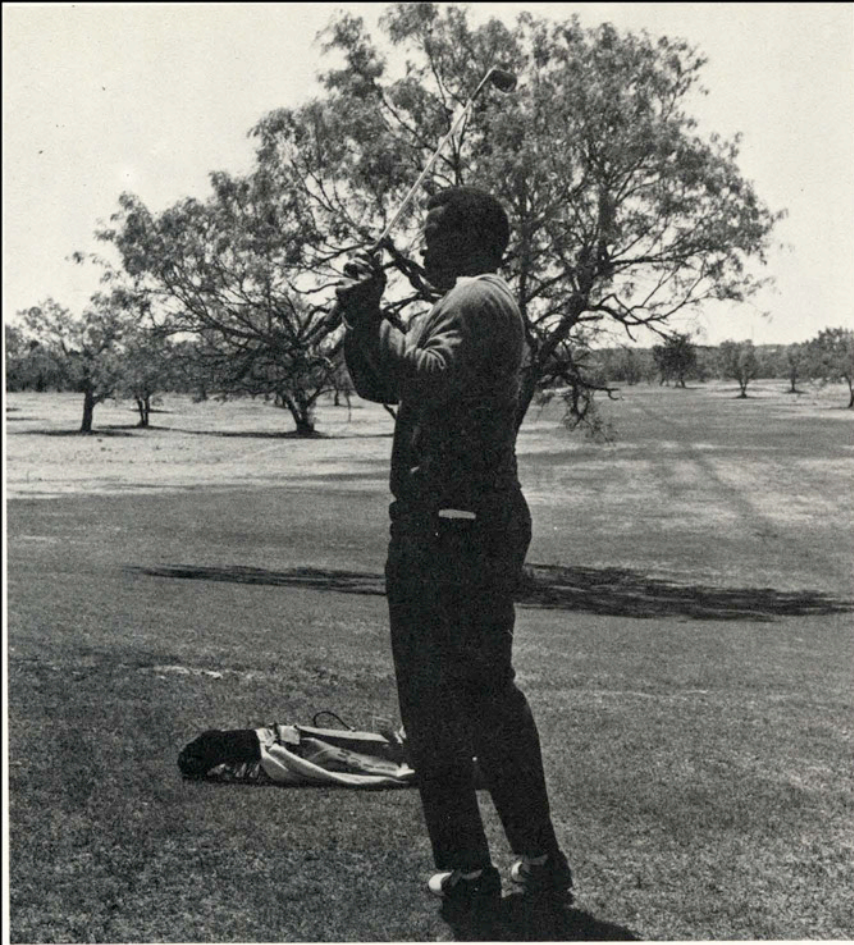

Sul Ross was later to win the National Volleyball tournament and San Marcos was to take third.

At the women's spring banquet, held in March at Nolan's steakhouse, the team was praised for its efforts by Coach Betty Brewer.

A&I golf team fields 8 players this season

The Border Olympics in Laredo was a high point for A&I spring sports. In the Border Olympics this year the golf team finished 8th in a field of 26 teams.

The team consisted of eight members and was coached by Robert Caskey.

The golfers participated in three large tournaments including the Sam Houston tournament, the Pan American Invitational, and the Border Olympics.

Matches were also held with Trinity, Pan American, the University of Corpus Christi, and Lamar Tech. Although there were eight members, only five were allowed to play in tournaments, according to tournament rule play.

Injuries plague Track team's dismal year

The Texas A&I track team this season had a poor season due to an abundant amount of injuries. Among the injured were three of A&I's top track men, Dwight Harrison, broad jumper, Ernest Haynes, 440-yarder, and Levi Johnson, high jumper. They were out for most of the season, and saw only limited action.

The A&I track team did manage to win the McAllen Relays early in the season, and placed sixth in the Lone Star Conference Meet.

No school records were broken this year, but some freshmen livened up the dismal year. Freshman prospects were Albert Herrera, Joey Garcia, Eldon Tuttle, Ernest Pruneda, and Tommy McMillion.

Leading scorer this year was Robert Gonzales, from Falfurrias.

The Javelinas took the first four places in the McAllen relays 100-yard dash. Ernest Haynes ran a 9.6 hundred. He leads Dwight Harrison, Albert Herrera, and Ralph Sutherland, all of A&I.

Robert Gonzales finishes the anchor leg of the two-mile relay at the McAllen Relays. In his career at A&I, Gonzales has earned three letters.

Roundup of 1970-71 sports year for Javelina teams

A national football championship and numerous honors bestowed on Coach Gil Steinke and Javelina players have highlighted the 1970-71 sports season for the Texas A&I University athletic teams.

The Javelina football team won its second consecutive NAIA national title last fall, and its third title in the last 12 seasons. The squad also won its fourth straight Lone Star Conference trophy and its seventh title in the last 12 years.

The Javelinas ended the campaign ranked No. 1 in the NAIA for the second year in a row, and became the winningest team in national football playoff history.

The 1970 squad compiled an 11-1-0 record, giving it a 41-1-0 record for the last four seasons.

Steinke, who hiked his career coaching record at A&I to 129-45-4, was named NAIA Coach of the Year after earlier being named LSC Coach of the Year.

Eight of the Javelina players were on the all-conference first team. Defensive guard Claude McMillon was named the outstanding defensive player in the conference.

Players on the first unit were quarterback Karl Douglas, flanker Dwight Harrison, end Eldridge Small, guard Jim Brown, defensive guard Margarito Guerrero, defensive tackle Curtiss Neal, linebacker Robert Young and McMillon.

Guerrero was named to the Associated Press Little All-America and NAIA All-America first units, while Douglas made the NAIA first team and Harrison was on the American Football Coaches' Association first unit.

The Javelinas placed nine men on the Team of the Decade chosen at the start of last season, and Steinke was named Coach of the Decade for the 1960's.

The A&I men on the squad were quarterback Randy Johnson, flanker Harrison, tackle Willie Crafts, guard Eugene Upshaw, center Doug Harvey, defensive backs Tommy Janik and Alvin Matthews and linebacker Ray Hickl. Crafts made the team on offense and defense.

Three of the A&I players won individual honors in the NAIA playoffs. Defensive tackle Ernest Price was named the outstanding lineman in the semifinal contest which saw A&I defeating Wisconsin State, 16-0, and Young was named the outstanding defensive player and Douglas the outstanding offensive player after A&I's 48-7 victory over Wofford (S. C.) in the championship tilt.

Three of the Javelinas were drafted in the National Football League rounds in January, and two others signed with pro teams. Harrison was chosen in the second round by the Denver Broncos, Douglas went to the Baltimore Colts in the third round, and tackle Andy Browder was drafted by the Buffalo Bills.

Donald Washington was signed as a free agent by the Pittsburgh Steelers and Young signed with the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League.

It represented the largest one-year professional production by the Javelinas, who will have 14 men active in the pro ranks next season.

The Javelina soccer teams also produced another winning record last fall, compiling a 5-1-1 ledger. The record was one of the best for an intercollegiate team in Texas.

This spring, the A&I soccer squad was admitted to the Texas Collegiate Soccer League.

In basketball, the highlight of the season came on the closing night of the campaign when the Javelinas upset Stephen F. Austin to throw the LSC championship into a three-way tie for first place.

The Javelinas played last season in the new $2 million Physical Education Center, which has a 5,000-seat capacity for basketball.

Jeff Wildenberg, sophomore forward, broke several team records and was named to the All-Lone Star Conference first team. He became the fourth top scorer in a season in Javelina history.

In spring sports, the Javelina track and field team opened the season by winning the McAllen Quarterback Relays title. Injuries then plagued the squad the remainder of the campaign, but still the Javelinas broke numerous records.

Earnest Haynes, junior sprinter, won his sixth gold medal in the conference meet, winning the 440-yard dash.

In tennis, Bob Rivera reached the quarterfinals in the conference tournament, and Gerald Rauschuber and Gordon Buckley were quarterfinalists in doubles.

The A&I tennis team finished fifth in the conference standings and the squad returns intact next spring.

The girls' intercollegiate teams also had another winning year. The basketball and volleyball teams won district titles and participated in the state tournaments.

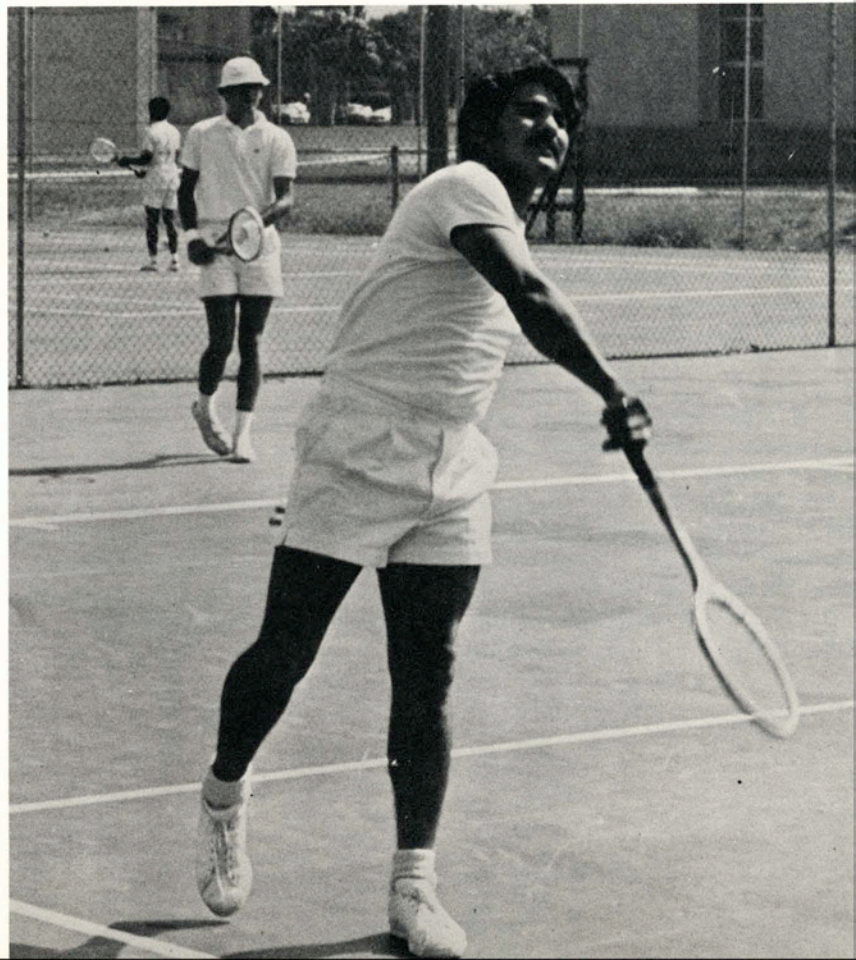

The A&I girls hosted the Texas Commission of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women state tournament in volleyball and hosted the district basketball meet.

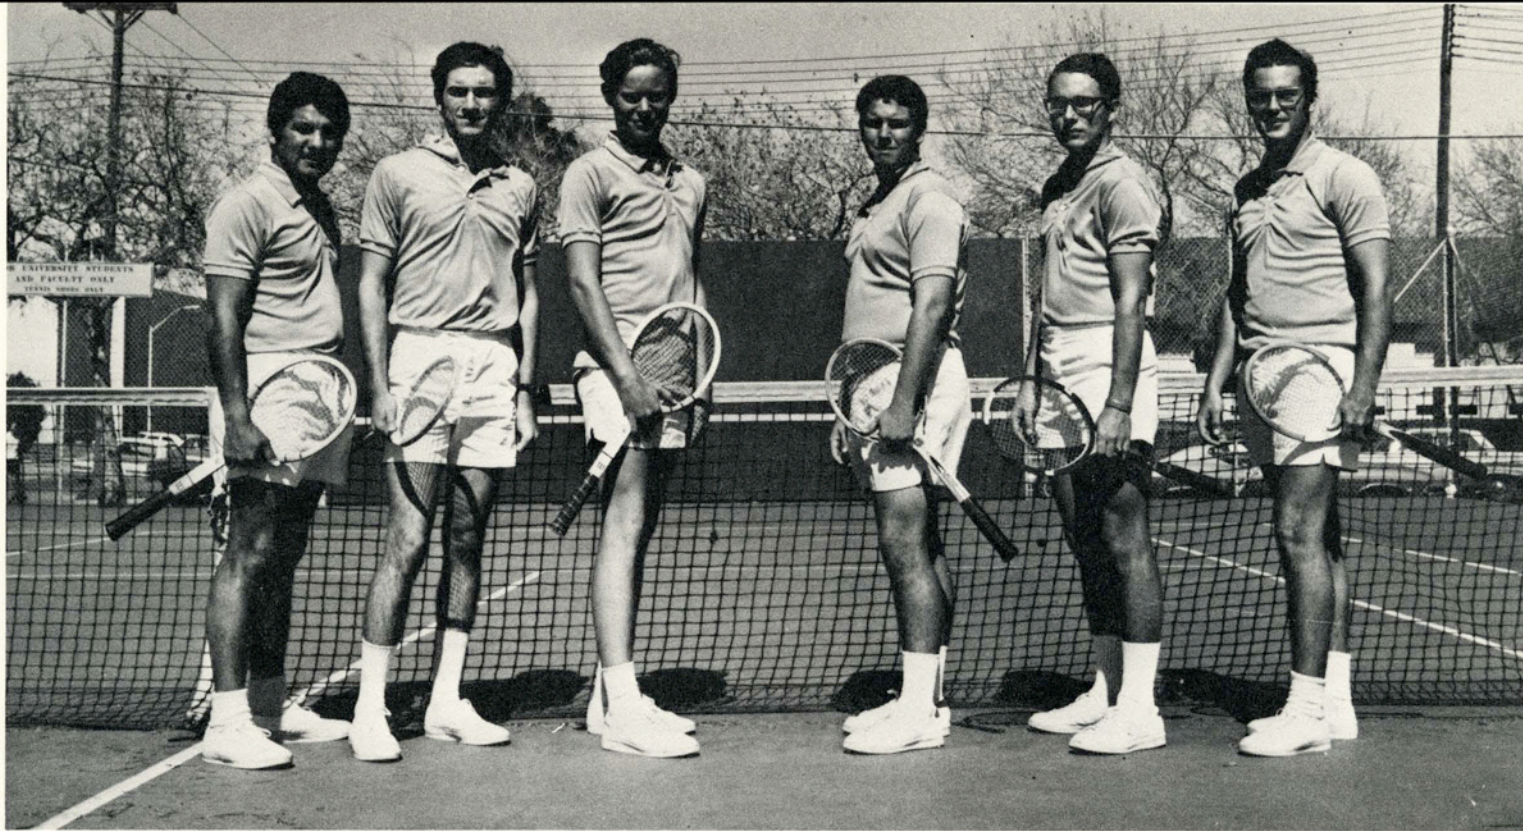

The A&I sport publications won two All-America honors, the football and spring sports brochures taking the honors. The football program received All-America honorable mention.

Again, the Javelinas have been big winners on the Texas collegiate sports scene this year and the team and individuals continue to bring A&I and the state nationwide prestige through their performances.

Tennis team finishes fifth in Conference

The A&I tennis team this season was composed of six members coached by Ron Hunt.

In the Lone Star Conference meet, the team finished fifth. Bob Rivera reached the quarter finals in singles and Gerald Rauschuber and Gordon Buckley went to the quarter finals in doubles.

Bob Rivera and Reed Smith posted a doubles record of 2-3 during the season.

Rivera and Smith had a 4-6 season in doubles.

A&I saw action in the nationally known Pan American Invitational.

The team faced all conference teams including Angelo State, ETS, Sam Houston, SFA, and SWT.

Two of A&I's victories came over St. Mary's in non-conference meetings.

Soccer team's year shows 5-1-1 record

The Javelina soccer team in its third year of competition, compiled a 5-1-1 overall season record.

The team's only loss came from Texas A&M University, in an over-time decision. The Aggies emerged victorious 6-5.

The teams victories came in games with Trinity, Schriener, and Pan American. The Javelinas played all three teams twice. A&M was played only once.

Mike Sahtout, mathematics professor at A&I, was coach of the team and John Crane was elected captain.

In a tournament held at Trinity University, the team compiled a tournament record of 0-2. The losses came from the University of Texas, 2-0, in the first game, and from A&M in the second.

Intramural fun for all students in all sports

Intramural sports lets any student who is interested and willing participate in different sports. From football in the fall to horseshoes and shuffleboard in the spring, intramurals is a time for fun, relaxation and fierce competition among students.

Besides football, horseshoes and shuffleboard, there is basketball, volleyball, handball, softball, track, and pool — all sports in which students can compete in a program directed by Dr. Stewart Cooper.

There is always a large and enthusiastic turnout for intramurals, a proof of its popularity among the student body.

A&I Accounting society promotes accounting field

The Texas A&I Accounting Society is an organization which promotes cordial relationships among practicing accountants, accounting instructors, and students of accounting. Any student who intends to major in accounting is eligible for membership.

The club co-sponsored two projects this year. They worked on College Town Hall meetings and an open house for the business administration department at Homecoming.

In April they had an Honor's Banquet for 57 Outstanding Sophomore students. They also had a Banquet in May to award the TSCPA accounting excellence award to an outstanding senior and four accounting scholarships for the coming year.

The Accounting Society maintains its own scholarship fund and prepares and mails a roster of past and present members every year.

To sustain Black culture at A&I purpose of AAS

The purpose of the Afro-American Society is to promote and sustain Black culture on the A&I campus. "Black pride and unity, for a better community" is the motto of the Afro-American Society.

This year there are 45 members, an increase of fifteen over last year. To be a member of the Afro-American Society one has to be a student of A&I and pay semester dues.

Activities this year included Christmas grocery boxes for needy families, the Afro-American Society annual talent show in the spring, and Afro-American Culture Show. The A.A.S. choir sang at the Pentecostal Convention and A.A.S. delegates attended the Baptists' Student Convention in Austin.

The Afro-American Society's officers were Jerry Jackson, president; Artherine Taylor, vice-president; Yvonne Ratliff, secretary; Phyllis Stafford, reporter; and Phyllis Wilson, treasurer.

The Afro-American Culture Show sponsored by the society presented speeches and talks on black culture and Black Heritage, plus singing.

Aggie Club has dance to raise scholarship fund

The Texas A&I Aggie Club is an organization of agricultural students and other students interested in agriculture. The purpose of the Aggie Club is to promote social welfare of agriculture students on campus, adopt professional improvements, and to develop qualities of leadership.

This year the Aggie Club sponsored the fall "back to school" dance at Mesquite Grove, the proceeds of which went toward sponsoring the two Aggie Club scholarships. These scholarships were awarded to students who are active within the Aggie Club and who are selected by committees of the club and the Agriculture faculty.

The Spring semester was topped off with the presentation of the Aggie of the Year award at the Aggie Round-Up barbecue, which was followed by the Aggie Round-Up dance. The Aggie Club also sponsored a barbecue at Mesquite Grove for the 4-H and FFA boys who were here competing in district contests.

Each year the Aggie Club invites the children from Youth City in Driscoll to come to both the 4-H barbecue and the Round-Up barbecue.

Ag Mechanics' goal is safety, employment

The Agriculture Mechanization Club was formed in the spring of 1969 to seek out job opportunities for members by arranging programs with several employers in the farm equipment field.

The Agriculture Mechanization Club also performs services for members of the faculty. The club consists of students majoring or minoring in agriculture mechanization, and it strives for professional improvement. The members participate in tractor safety demonstrations at county fairs, 4-H and FFA contests and Farm Bureau meetings.

AIME strives to increase petroleum knowledge

This past year AIME had Glenn Picquet, treasurer; Craig Miller, president; Eduardo Flores, secretary;

Victor Tumlinson, vice-president; and Larry Sidebottom, reporter, as officers.

The American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical, and Petroleum Engineers, purpose is to provide among the students an increasing knowledge of petroleum and natural gas engineering in all of its branches, and to instill a professional pride in their chosen life work.

AIME is open to all engineering students. The organization has 35 members this year.

Activities included speakers from oil industries who were featured at the AIME monthly meetings. The speakers presented slides, films, and discussions on the problems faced by engineers.

Alpha Chi aims to uphold ideals of scholarship

Alpha Chi was established on campus in 1927. In 1934 the organization was accepted nationally as the official Omega Chapter. The purpose of Alpha Chi is to uphold the ideals of scholarship and character.

To be eligible for membership a student is required to have a 3.5 grade point average, attendance at A&I for one academic year, and registration of at least 12 hours at the time of election.

"Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." John 8:32. This is the motto of the Texas Omega Chapter of Alpha Chi National Honorary Society.

Activities this year include their Annual Initiation Banquet, and special guest speakers.

Elaine Abell, secretary-treasurer; Eugene Streng, president; and Marilyn Boomgaarden, regional chapter representative, were elected by the members of Alpha Chi to serve as officers.

New initiates wait in line to take the Alpha Chi pledge.

Dr. George Cook presides over the pledges as they complete the initiation by signing the Alpha Chi constitution.

Alpha Lambda Delta is frosh honor society

Alpha Lambda Delta is the freshman women's honor society on campus. In order to be a member a coed must have a 3.5 grade point average with no less than 12 and no more than 30 semester hours of work at Texas A&I.

The organization, which supports campus academic programs, was started at Texas A&I in 1967. Later, in 1969, the local chapter became part of the national organization.

The goal of this society is to promote intelligent living and attain a high standard of learning among freshman women.

Alpha Lambda Delta officers this year were Jan Wallace, president; Susan Ballard, secretary; Edna Hohon, treasurer; and Joyce Simek, vice-president.

Acting as officers for Alpha Psi Omega were Vicki Bond, representative; Rick Tinnin, stage manager;

Laura Vela, director; Barry Hoff, representative; and Margie McCurdy, business manager.

Alpha Psi Omega

Honorary drama fraternity

Alpha Psi Omega, honorary drama fraternity, is open to any student majoring in drama or interested in non-drama majors who has earned 50 points of acting and back stage experience. These points are awarded for work done on theatre productions on the Texas A&I campus.

The fraternity, which was organized in 1947, sponsors Coke sales at play productions and co-sponsors an annual play production.

APO Sponsors Ugly Man On Campus Contest

Alpha Phi Omega is the world's largest international service fraternity. APO has been on the A&I campus since 1947. Projects for the organization include the annual ugly man on campus, campus beautification, and many other things.

Funds received from the money-raising projects go toward the support of an American Indian orphan child and a scholarship awarded to a deserving freshman.

This is the second year for Alpha Phi Omega to have Phi Ettes. The Phi Ettes are a group of the university's coeds who assist the members in their service projects.

The purpose of Alpha Phi Omega is to assemble college men in a national service fraternity in the fellowship and principles of the Boy Scouts of America.

Pledges for Alpha Phi Omega were Carl Gonzalez, John Caldwell, Bill Donnelly, Ken Bennett, Richard Christena, Ben Saltz.

Alpha Phi Omega Phi Ettes were Karen Carr, Marilyn Wiggins, and Sharon Molder.

ATA open to Ag majors with 2.5; 30 hours

Planning activities for Alpha Tau Alpha are Randy Lynch, president; Raymond Kosub, reporter; James Mutz, vice-president; Ronnie Jarzombek, secretary; and Frank Dodson, treasurer.

Alpha Tau Alpha is a national professional fraternity for agriculture and agricultural education majors. Alpha Tau Alpha is a service and honorary fraternity which began at Texas A&I University in 1934. To be a member one must be an agriculture major with 30 hours and a 2.5 GPA.

ATA initiated 25 new members this year, bringing its membership up to 35.

The fraternity held its annual Fall Banquet featuring a speaker from the State Inspection Service. They also recognized the newly initiated neophytes (pledges) at this dinner.

ATA sent a delegate to the National Conclave in Kansas City. They also nominated Frank Dodson for the "Aggie of the Year."

AWS helps women benefit from college life

The Associated Women Students was formed to help A&I co-eds get the greatest benefits from college life. AWS promotes unity and fellowship among woman students and tries to provide opportunities for leadership in worthwhile activities on campus.

The AWS raised funds for their Big Sister-Little Sister picnic and to purchase roses for dormitory rose gardens by a "Penny-a-minute" night. Once each semester dormitory girls were able to move the week-night curfew time of 11 p.m. up to midnight at the cost of a penny a minute.

Other ways funds were used was buying fertilizer for the gardens, and sending two members and a sponsor to the national convention in Colorado over the spring break.

Heading the AWS for the 1970-71 year were Susan Richter, secretary; Joy Huntington, president; Laura Mills, reporter; and Sandy Mann, treasurer.

Help students spiritually, academically is BSU goal

Officers for the BSU are Fernando Gonzalez, missions; Dean Mathis, director; Bennie Isdale, enlistment; Carl Simpson, president; and Martha Paulk, secretary.

The Baptist Student Union is an interdenominational organization sponsored by Baptists on more than 50 state college campuses in Texas. Its goal is to help the students grow spiritually, socially, and academically.

Special activities of the BSU encompass the Baptist Student Union State Convention and Leadership Training Conference, snow skiing retreat to New Mexico, and Dialogue '71.

This organization has weekly programs with outreach projects to the community through the Brown Villa Mission and the Good News Club.

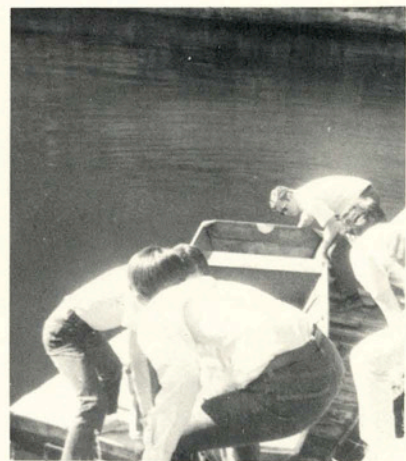

The Baptist Student Union promotes and encourages the building of relationships between people in hopes of attaining a better understanding of ourselves and the world.

Carl Simpson, Baptist Student Union president, advertised the ski trip to Santa Fe, New Mexico, which was held over the Christmas holidays, with posters and sandwich boards.

Boating was one of the activities offered at the BSU retreat at Leakey.

BSU members can be seen congregating around the Baptist Student Union building between classes and in the evenings.

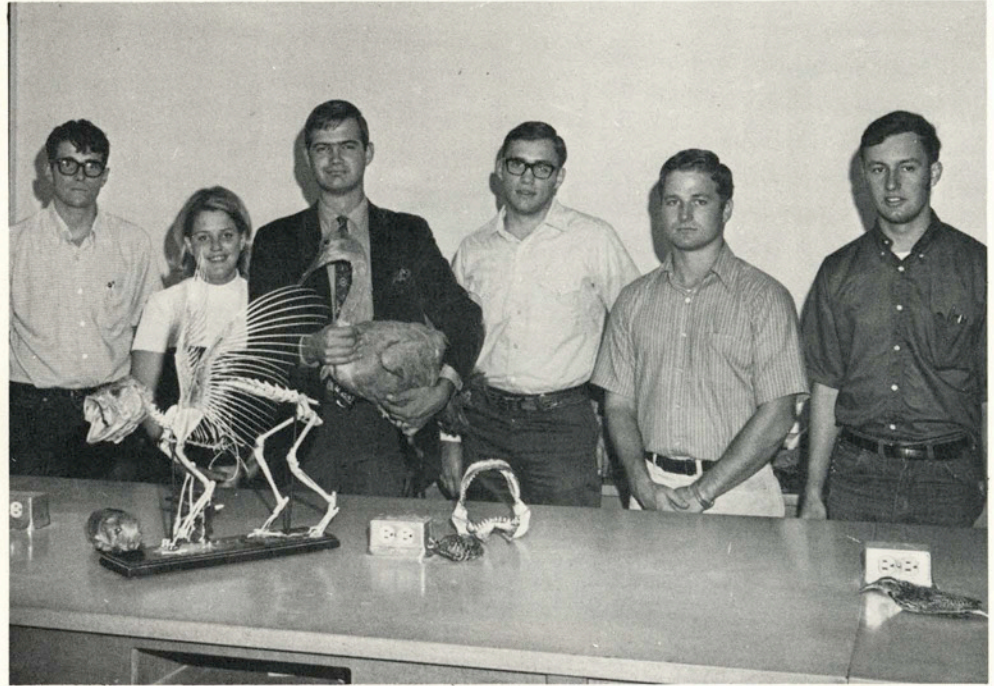

Biology Club promotes biological science interest

The purpose of the Biology Club is "to promote interest in the field of biology or any phase of biological science." The club aims its projects at fulfilling this purpose as well as at having fun.

The main project of the year was the annual Wildlife Show. It is a display of snakes, birds and mammals from all over the Texas area. This year's show featured a five foot alligator and a tame mountain lion. The animals were captured by the club members on field trips to Kerrville and the Pecos area. Members gave tours through the show telling children and adults interesting facts about all the animals.

The biology club has two official annual parties. They have a Faculty-Student Picnic and a Wildlife Supper. The fifty-seven member club holds monthly meetings where speakers talk on such fields as embryology, marine biology, ornithology, evolution, pollution, physiology and ecology.

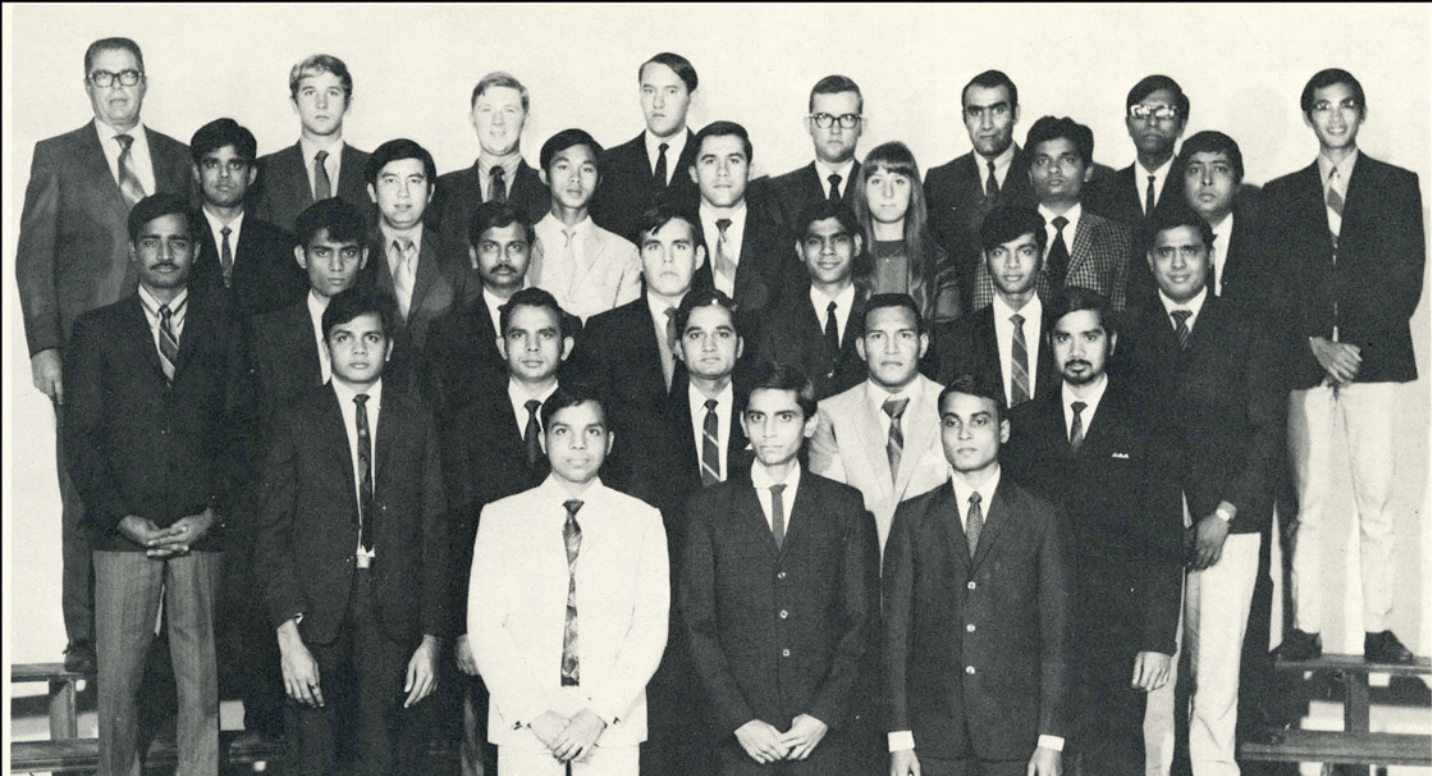

The Biology Club's activities were guided by Mack H. Simmons, president; Jo Alex, secretary; Steve Labuda, vice-president; Charles Knellinger, reporter;

Henry Smith, treasurer; and Kean Cardwell, parliamentarian.

The Campus Society of Chemical Engineers almost doubled its membership this year. It now boasts a membership of 44. The purpose of the society is to promote chemical engineering among the students of Texas A&I University. The Society has been on campus since 1961. The only requirement for membership is to be an engineering student interested in chemical engineering.

The Society sponsored a dance at the Fall Carnival this year. They also had various guest speakers at their meetings from many different companies. The speeches were on such topics as pollution and various applications of chemical engineering technology.

Cap and Gown promote high scholarship

The purpose of the Cap and Gown Honor Society is to promote and maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women.

To be eligible for the Cap and Gown Society, female students must have completed 70 hours of college work with a minimum of 30 semester hours at A&I. They must maintain an overall grade point average of 3.5 and have a record of outstanding academic achievement and leadership.

The Cap and Gown Society was organized in 1958 with an initial charter of five members. The society has steadily increased its membership since.

Activities of the society include distribution of programs, serving refreshments at the Faculty Lecture Series, and honoring ten professors at their annual Top Ten Tea.

Planning the activities for Cap and Gown are Joanna Hoover, reporter; Susan Davis, treasurer; Sue Culpepper, vice-president; Barbara Teer, president; and Marilyn Boomgaarden, secretary.

Catholic Student Assn. works on needs

To bring a better understanding of God to fellow students and to further the religious, educational, and social needs of the students are the objectives of the Catholic Student Association.

In 1968 the association was known as the Newman Club. The name was changed in that year to its present name in order to reach more students on the A&I campus. Any student is eligible for membership.

The organization sponsors an annual barbeque, cake sales, car washes, and various social and religious activities. Each year members of the association attend a state convention.

Chi Alpha has fellowship for A&I students

Chi Alpha, formed in 1968, is an organization which provides Christian fellowship for Assembly of God students and other interested students. Any Texas A&I University student is eligible for membership.

This year the organization has been working on furnishing a meeting room at the Assembly of God. Activities of the club have included guest speakers, special programs, and a homecoming and Christmas party.

Study programs fall project of Church of Christ

The main fall project of the Church of Christ Bible Chair was study programs on Monday and Thursday evenings. At these meetings speakers from all over Texas gave speeches and several films were shown.

In the spring the Bible chair worked with the Nursing Home. They sang carols and visited the people at the Home. They also helped underprivileged children.

The Bible Chair was first organized in 1959. Its purpose is to study and relate the Bible to today's life. It offers an opportunity to practice the New Testament Christianity from the social and religious viewpoint.

The Bible Chair has twenty-five members this year which is an increase of five over last year. An interest in the Christian viewpoint of life is all that is needed to be a member.

Forensic Club practices the art of persuasion

The Texas A&I Forensic Club works together with Pi Kappa Delta. Its purpose and goal is to bring about justice through the art of persuasion, while maintaining its aesthetic values and not debasing the art of persuasion.

The activities of this organization, in conjunction with the Texas A&I Pi Kappa Delta continues through the entire year. The club attends a number of debate and forensic tournaments and festivals. This year, the club has an outstanding freshman debate team, consisting of Flint Sparks and Linda Ford. They hold the title of second place in the four part Central Texas Novice Debate Series. The Forensic Club took honors at the Southwest Texas State University when it placed second in sweepstakes points.

Besides these activities, the club, in conjunction with Pi Kappa Delta, hosts UIL competition in the Spring, a combination Tournament Festival for high schools in the Fall, a debate workshop for high school students in February, and a two week Forensic workshop during the Summer. Each Spring the club holds an annual banquet, in conjunction with Pi Kappa Delta with the members' parents invited as guests of honor.

French Club brings France to A&I campus

Le Cercle Francais, the French club was organized in 1966 as a group to give students the opportunity to converse in French. The club is open to anyone with an interest in French. The 15-member club mostly consists of students who are majoring or minoring in French.

The club tried to bring a little bit of France to Texas A&I this year. They had speeches and slides from people who had visited or lived in France. At the fall carnival they sponsored a sidewalk cafe — French style. The club also did a dramatic reading of a fifteenth century play, La Farce de Maitre Pathelin.

The French club offers tutoring one hour a week for undergraduate students who are having problems in French. They also give a French Club scholarship to a student majoring in the language.

Officers for the French Club this year were Mary Rodriguez, vice-president; Anna Maria Villarreal, president; Carolyn Cates, sponsor; Homer C. Garcia, reporter; and Sagrario Sanchez, secretary-treasurer.

Hispano Club promotes Spanish language culture

The Hispano Club is a scholastic organization which strives to promote a better relationship between the American countries. It encourages its members to practice the Spanish language and to learn Spanish culture. Membership is open to any student in good standing with the university.

Honorary members can be voted on at the request of club members. Honorary members serve in the club without voting power. Former members of the club shall be members without voting privileges also.

This year members concentrated on building up a depleted treasury by sponsoring dances in the SUB ballroom. Funds were raised in order to provide two tuition scholarships. A committee was appointed to screen applicants and decide upon the winners, who will be announced in August.

The group cooperated with other campus organizations in the Cinco de Mayo celebration. They had a dance, supper and drama.

One of the highlights of the club's year has always been a trip to Mexico City during the spring vacation. Members travel with other university students on an outing which has been highly publicized by club members as a good way to accomplish the basic goals of the Hispano Club — the promotion of appreciation of Latin American culture.

IEEE makes film for high school students

The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers had a variety of projects and activities during 1970-71. The organization planned for open house during Homecoming and the month of March, sponsored pre-final exam tutoring sessions, planned a field trip to the Manned Flight Tracking Station in Corpus Christi, and prepared a synchronized film and tape about Texas A&I to present to high school students.

The purpose of IEEE is the exploration of theory and practice by the students of electrical engineering, electronics and radio; and the development of professional traits in organization members.

Members were shown films on "Celia," sponsored by Central Power and Light, and a Texas Instruments film presentation on "Solid State."

IEEE is open to all students with an interest in electrical engineering. There were 41 members in the organization this year.

International Students stress goodwill

The purpose of the International Student Forum is to establish a meeting ground for foreign students attending Texas A&I and other students interested in international affairs, as well as to present programs which will encourage international goodwill, understanding, and insight into different cultures.

This year the club took part in the Fall Carnival with a palm-reading booth, and welcomed new students in January.

There are about 300 international students on campus, and anyone interested in learning about different cultures is encouraged to join.

Leading the International Student Forum this year were Jorge E. Hernandez, vice-president; Keota Santiwatana, secretary; Marcos T. Alfonzo, treasurer; Dr.

Leo Bailey, sponsor; Rakesh Grover, president; and Ramesh R. Shah, parliamentarian.

Band members attend conclave in Michigan

The honorary band fraternity, Kappa Kappa Psi, has made plans this year to send three delegates to the national convention at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The fourteen Kappa Kappa Psi members were busy this year with various activities on campus. The band fraternity is in charge of planning trips to out-of-town games, setting up the band hall for rehearsals, planning band tours, and working at Band Day which is held annually at Texas A&I.

This year Kappa Kappa Psi organized a stage band festival and a car wash.

Laredo Club sells decals; sponsors dance

This year the Texas A&I University Laredo Club sponsored the 1970 Homecoming Queen, Minerva Cadena, senior from Laredo, to highlight its activities during the 1970-71 school year.

The Laredo Club, one of the oldest organizations on campus, had a 20 per cent increase of members over last year's membership. Among projects for the 1970-71 school year was the selling of decals and the sponsoring of dances to raise money for an annual scholarship.

Friendliness was the Laredo Club's motto for the school year as they worked to establish good relationships between Laredoans and other students.

The purpose of the club is to furnish a $100 or more scholarship to a deserving student from Laredo. To receive the scholarship the student must be planning to attend A&I.

Representing the Laredo Club this year were Rodolfo Garcia, treasurer; Juan Jose Gonzalez, vice-president;

Irma Luera, reporter; and Anibal R. Canales, president.

Math Club aims at promoting mathematics

The Mathematics Club is organized to promote a broader interest in and fuller appreciation of mathematics.

This year there were 12 members in the Math Club. Membership is open to math majors and minors, and all interested persons who have received credit for analytical geometry or are currently enrolled in the course.

Ronnie Herzik, president; Sandy Mann, treasurer; Sara Bodine, secretary; and Richard Sanchez, vice-

MENC provides members with music orientation

Music Educators National Conference Student Chapter number 462 is designed to provide its members with the opportunity for professional orientation in music education.

While membership is open to all students and includes annual subscriptions to both state and national journals, music education majors are especially encouraged to join this organization. To be eligible for membership a student must present proof of enrollment at A&I and pay a fee each semester.

Fund raising projects include guest speakers and performances. They assist in conducting the annual UIL Regional Instrumental and Vocal Solo-Ensemble competition, as well as the Fine Arts Festival, and the Gregory-Portland choir clinic and concert. The club also sponsors delegates to the TMEA convention, and sponsors a local member to a state office.

Engineers aided in social events by organization

The Organization of General Engineers is designed to provide a means, through social encounters, to ready an individual for the industrial engineering profession.

This organization was started in 1962 by Dr. Marcus Truitt.

Students regularly enrolled in the undergraduate section of the Engineering Department and who have not received engineering degrees are eligible for membership.

Activities of the club have included monthly meetings, films, guest speakers, luncheons, and field trips.

Richard M. Larrombide, parliamentarian; Jerry Slaughter, president; and Fred Hayden, secretary-treasurer, were leaders this past year for the Organization of General Engineers.

Sororities governed by Panhellenic

The Panhellenic Council strives to maintain good fraternity life and interfraternity relations within the university, to further sound scholarship, to cooperate with the administration, to maintain high social standards, and to compile rules governing rushing, pledging, and initiation on the campus.

The Council at A&I consists of nine members representing local sororities. Each sorority selects a senior and a junior member to be on the council and an extra representative is allowed the sorority which holds the presidency.

Phi Gamma Nu gains 15 members, plans trip

With an increase of 15 new members into Phi Gamma Nu, plans were made this year to send a delegate to the twentieth chapter convention held in Florida on August 5.

A speech on "Accounting" was given by Emogene Davis, a certified public accountant at Davis and Olson. Other activities besides guest speakers included monthly meetings, dinners, assisting in sponsoring the Town Hall meeting, panel-audience discussions, and recognition of the female business graduate with the highest grade point average.

There are eleven active members who are required to have a 2.0 grade point average and be a business or business education major. Phi Gamma Nu is a sorority to foster the study of business in colleges and universities, to encourage scholarship in the study of business, and to encourage the association of women students who are business majors. The Alpha Omega Chapter of Phi Gamma Nu was formed on campus in 1969.

Pi Kappa Deltans debate, persuade, as an art

The Texas Nu Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, receiving its charter in 1923 by Dr. Glenn R. Capp who was honored at the University last year, is the oldest fraternity on campus. Pi, "Peitho," the first letter of this honorary fraternity, stands for the art of persuasion, Kappa "Kale," beautiful, and Delta, "Dikaia," just. Hence, the Pi Kappa Deltans' motto "the art of persuasion, beautiful and just."

This, then, is the goal and objective of all Pi Kappa Deltans — to bring about justice through the art of persuasion, while maintaining its aesthetic values and not debasing its art.

The activities of this organization, in conjunction with the Texas A&I Forensic Club, continue through the entire year. The club attends a number of debate and forensic tournaments and festivals. This year the club has an outstanding freshman debate team, consisting of Flint Sparks and Linda Ford. They hold second place in the four-part Central Texas Novice Debate Series.

The Club itself, took an honor from Southwest Texas State University when it placed second in sweepstakes points. Contributing individuals were: Armando Ibanez; Mary Self; Terry Sims; Charla Davidson; Buckley Major; Tommy Horton; and Gilda Ingram.

Besides these activities, the club hosts UIL competition in the spring, a combination tournament-festival for high schools in the fall, a debate workshop for high school students in December, interpretation workshop for high school students in February, and a two week forensic workshop during the summer.

Each Spring the club holds an annual banquet in conjunction with the Forensic Club, to which members' parents are invited as honored guests.

Physics Society sponsors lounge; makes displays

The Texas A&I section of the Society for Physics students sponsors a year-round student lounge in the Physics Building where students may informally exchange ideas with faculty members over a cup of coffee.

Among their other projects the club is responsible for a part of the display cases in Lon C. Hill Hall. They sell handbooks and magnetic computer cards at value price to students. This year the club presented three large C.R.C. Handbooks in memory of the late staff member Willie F. Willis.

The club increased its membership twenty-five percent this year. They now have twenty members. Any student with a primary interest in physics who has not yet received a doctor's degree in that field may be a member.

Phi Mu adds two directors to its roster

Working under an entirely new executive council saw Pi Chi Chapter of Phi Mu Sinfonia with its most successful year yet. Being active for the first time in the summer resulted in two South Texas band directors being added to its roster, as well as, the nation's first Chapter Honorary to be installed at this time.

In carrying out Phi Mu Alpha's purposes the Chapter started with one of its yearly All-American Concerts which was followed later in the semester by the Del Mar College Faculty String Quartet and Woodwind Quintet in recital. The Up With Music Program (free lessons for junior high musicians) was maintained as was the chapter's Stage Band, which is making its Pop Concert a semester event.

The Sinfonians rounded out the year with their largest membership ever, approximately 40 students and 8 faculty members, three of whom are chapter honoraries.

Leading Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia this year were Manuel Sosa, president; Raul Gonzalez, secretary; Ben Delgado, corresponding secretary; and Ralph Stroebel, chapter sponsor.

Rodeo Club boasts increase in membership

The Texas A&I Rodeo Association increased its membership by 25 this year to a total of 198 members. The club has been an active part of campus life for over 20 years and is open to all full-time students.

The purpose of the Rodeo Club is to promote intercollegiate rodeoing on a national scale by promoting it as an organized, standard collegiate sport.

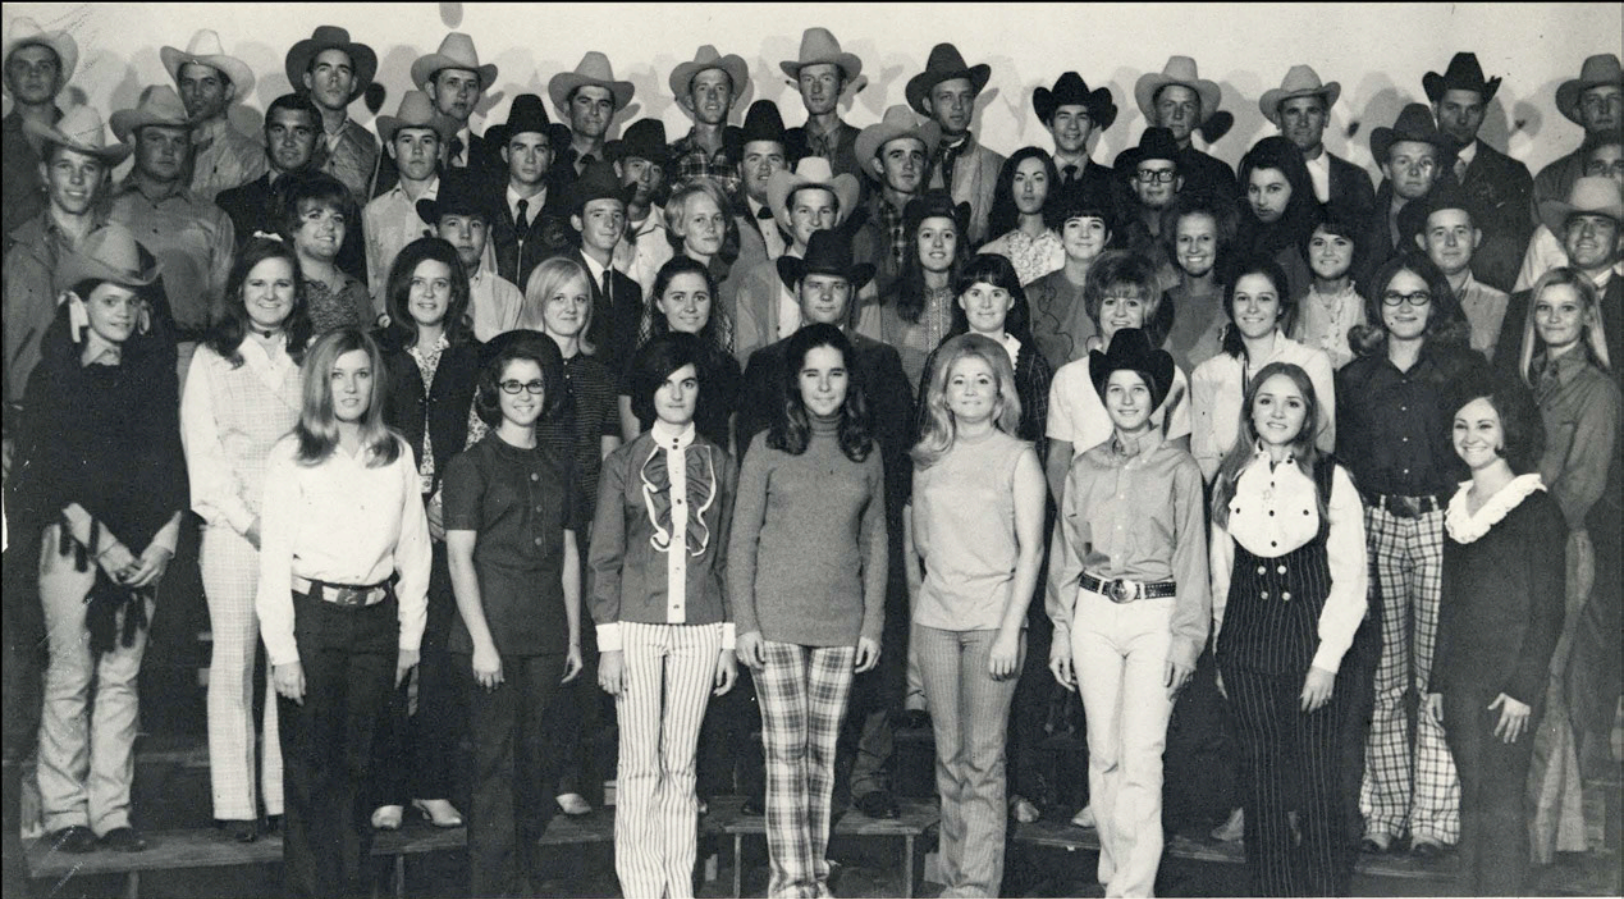

A scholarship fund has been established by the Rodeo Club to help attract top collegiate rodeo performers. The scholarship is based on academic and rodeo abilities as well as individual character.

Activities and special events of the club this year included the Dads' Day Rodeo, National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association Championship Rodeo, Bucking Barrel at the Fall Carnival, jackpot and match ropings, dances, charity football game with the Kingsville Police Department, and NIRA rodeo films.

Officers for the Rodeo Club were Joyce Pavelka, secretary; Candy Jones, reporter; Wylma Pavelka, treasurer; Carl Larsen, vice-president; and Jack Van Cleve, president.

Members of SERVE do volunteer social work

Students to Enlist Responsible Volunteer Efforts is a new helpful and responsible organization. SERVE was started in the spring of 1970 with its goal being to refer students desiring to do volunteer social work to local community agencies who have need of their services.

Any conscientious student enrolled at Texas A&I wishing to do volunteer work is eligible for membership. There was a 20 member increase in its first full year with a total of 35 members.

SERVE was started by two sociology students and is the first such volunteer organization at Texas A&I.

SERVE has such projects as working with the mentally retarded, tutoring in adult education programs, and helping with the Community Action Program. It also has worked with the Mental Health Center, Planned Parenthood Center, Girl Scouts, Boy's Club, the County Welfare, and the Kleberg County Day School for the Retarded.

Sigma Tau helps develop engineering

Officers leading Sigma Tau Fraternity this year were Alfredo Saenz, secretary; Thomas Butler, vice-president; John Schmuck, historian; Milton R. Seim, president; David Sutherland, treasurer.

The Alpha Eta Chapter of Sigma Tau Fraternity gives recognition of outstanding achievement or ability in the field of engineering and encourages those qualities, activities, and relationships which go to make up the successful engineer and the balanced development of the individual.

The international organization was founded in 1904 at the Engineering College of the University of Nebraska. This organization now encompasses over 40,000 members in 36 chapters.

The insignia of the Sigma Tau Fraternity expresses its aims. The pyramid symbolizes the stability and permanence of the club. The Sphinx typifies silence rather than self-advertisement. The rail section stands for progress and pioneering into the unknown.

Sigma Delta Pi seeks excellence in languages

To honor those who seek and attain excellence in the study of Spanish language, literature, and culture, and to foster friendly relations and mutual respect between nations of Hispanic speech and English speech is the purpose of Gamma Lambda chapter.

The local chapter, established on the A&I campus in 1952, awards a $100 scholarship to an outstanding major who applies for it on the basis of need for financial help. Money for the scholarship is obtained by showing Spanish films to area high schools.

The applicant for membership in the club must have completed a third level Spanish course with a "B" average or better in Spanish, and must have an overall grade point average of 2.5 for a sophomore, 2.6 for a junior, and 2.7 for a senior.

Serving as officers for Sigma Delta Pi were Consuelo Rios, parliamentarian; Maria Perez, treasurer; Frank Mendez, vice-president; Himilse Badell, president; and Elvira Ramirez, secretary.

Front: Consuelo Rivas, Maria Perez. Row 2: Elvira Ramirez, Himilse Badell, Eladia Hill (co-sponsor). Row 3: Patricia Haffey, Frank Mendez, Felipe Martinez, Mae Dell Schiller (sponsor).

Sigma Delta Pi held their initiation banquet for 10 new members at El Jardin restaurant in November. The solemn ceremony, in which the initiates take an oath and receive their pins, is followed by dinner.

Plans were made to honor 15 more members at their second banquet, held in April.

Cavers promote conservation, safety in caving

"Take nothing but photographs, leave nothing but footprints . . ." The purpose of the 40-member Speleological Society and Student Grotto is to promote safety in caving, conservation in caving, and fun for all.

The club began in 1967 with trips to caves in Texas and Mexico. In 1969 the club explored the deepest freefall sinkhole in the western hemisphere.

Membership requires that a student be affiliated with the university or a caving group, be able to demonstrate proper and safe use of caving equipment and techniques, and profess a knowledge of conservation philosophies and speleological terminology.

Activities of the group included attending the National Speleological Society conventions, exploring caves in the states Oaxala and San Luis Potosi, Mexico, and slides on caving.

Student Council representative body of A&I

The Student Council is the representative body of all A&I students. The Council works towards the encouragement of harmony and cooperation among all students on campus.

The Student Council does much for the betterment and welfare of the students. The Council this year, after polling student opinion, managed to get the library hours lengthened, and studied problems related to the infirmary, women's dorm hours, bookstore prices, food services, and student-faculty representation on the University Board of Directors.

The Council has sponsored a trip to Mexico City for the past three years. The trip is held during the spring vacation. It also sponsored Speakers Corner on Wednesdays, and the Homecoming and Lantana celebrations.

All the members of the Student Council are elected by the student body to represent the different school divisions and classes, and they must maintain a 2.0 or above grade point average. This year the Council consists of 42 council members and three sponsors.

Tutoring offered by SEA to Boy's Club

Among the activities this year for the Student Education Association were tutoring at the Boy's Club, participating at the Fall Carnival, heading a "Celia" fund drive, and publishing an education newsletter, "SEA Chest."

The purpose of SEA is to acquaint students with teaching as a profession. Well-known speakers in Education are present at many meetings throughout the year. The organization is open to education majors and anyone interested in education.

SEA has a weekly radio program "Awareness Education" on KTAL. The program discusses the current problems in education.

SEA this year hosted the area education conference. Highlighting the conference was a Human Relations Seminar.

Leading SEA up the stairs to success this year were Lydia Thomas, treasurer; Leon Bazar, president; Cathy Augustine, recording secretary; Gloria Jean Salazar, vice-president; and Dora Lee Ramirez, corresponding secretary.

SUGB promotes friendliness among A&I students

The Student Union Governing Board on the Texas A&I University campus promotes an atmosphere of relaxation and friendliness among students.

The Student Union Governing Board, is composed of six students, four of whom are elected by the student body and two are appointed from the SUGB's committees. The committees are something new this year. Six different committees were formed for the purpose of distributing the work among students on the Student Union Governing Board. The six committees are: the Dance committee, Special Events and Hospitality committee, Games and Tournament committee, Movie and Fine Arts committee, Married Students committee, and the Publicity committee.

The SUGB sits on the Artist Course committee which brings cultural and entertainment programs to the A&I campus. Money for these programs is appropriated from student activity fees.

Some of the SUGB sponsored entertainment enjoyed this year included the Watts 103rd Rhythm Band, Mac Davis, Fall Carnival, Spring Campus Capers, free movies, a pool tournament, ping pong tournament, and something new this year, the Symposium. The Symposium featured speakers on different topics, all of whom are experts in their fields. The theme of this year's Symposium was "Thirteen Years to 1984."

Officers for Tau Beta Sigma were Patty Hayes, treasurer; Laura Hamff, vice-president; Vangie Ramirez, parliamentarian; Anna Schoener, president; and Candida Gill, secretary.

Tau Beta Sigma provides band practical help

Tau Beta Sigma is an honorary band sorority, its purpose being to promote the welfare of the band. This past year the girls bought clothes pins to hold down the music at football games and made a cover for the xylophone.

They help at activities such as Band Day and UIL Band Contests that were held here, selling tickets to the Stage Band Festival. Money-making projects such as an egg sale and a maid service were planned to raise money to send a delegate to the National Convention.

Delta Eta chapter of Tau Beta Sigma is a new sorority on campus, having been initiated February 22, 1970, with 16 charter members. In the first pledge class which was held in the fall, three girls were initiated, making 15 members.

To be able to pledge, a girl must have a regular attendance and show an interest in the band. Pledging is held for eight weeks, once each semester.

Upward Bound Alumni tutoring program started

The two-year old Upward Bound Alumni Association began a tutoring program this year for college students, a program designed to help members and the college community.

On the social side, a summer reunion of people who have participated in the Upward Bound program was held in July in the SUB ballroom. A Christmas party and a dance during the spring semester provided times of fun.

Upward Bound Alumni Association and Associates is designed to create a better understanding of the organization Upward Bound; to prepare its members for college life, and to keep its alumni informed.

Upward Bound was formed in 1969 and is open to anyone enrolled in Texas A&I University.

WRA promotes sportsmanship among women in intramurals

The Women's Recreational Association strives to promote cooperation, sportsmanship, friendliness, and good will among the female students on the A&I campus.

Membership is open to all women enrolled at A&I who wish to participate in sports events.

This year the club provided recreational activities for women on campus by sponsoring the women's intramural program. The club also has an Annual Award Banquet. At the banquet awards were given to the individual high-point woman. Points are based on participation in activities on campus.

The co-eds sponsored a penny-pitching booth at the Fall Carnival, bake sales to raise money, and a Christmas progressive dinner held for the members of WRA.

Members were also responsible for helping at the Women's Tournaments held at A&I.

Officers of the Young Republicans this year were Suzanne Heins, secretary; Bill Schulz, president; Earlene

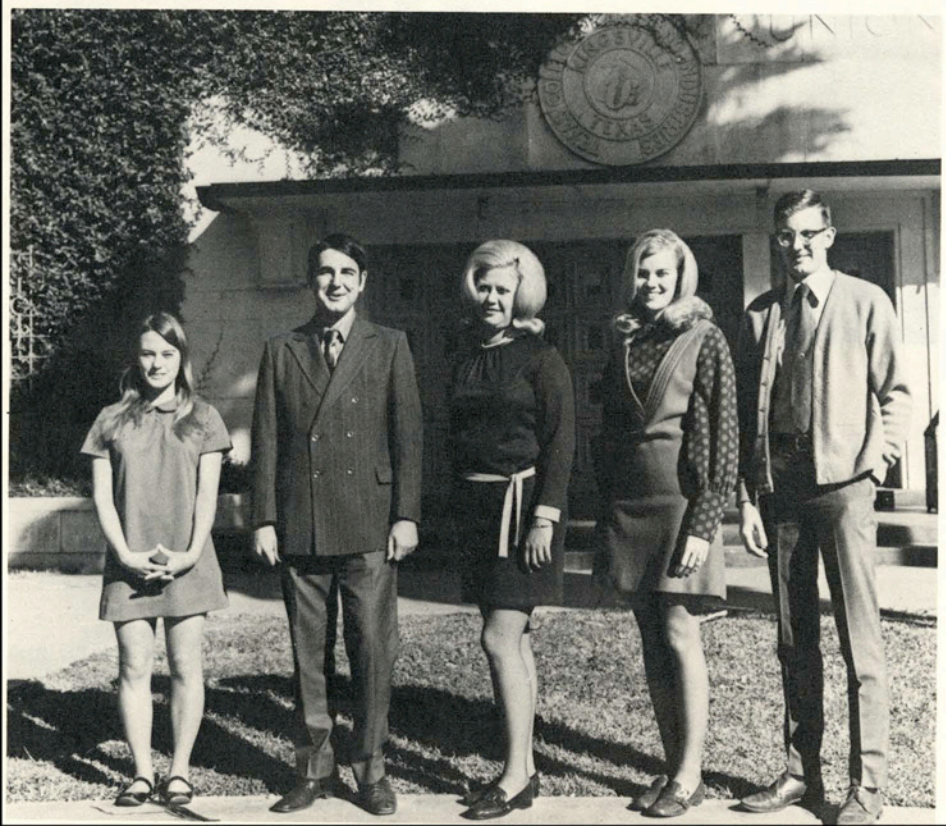

Hutchinson, district committeewoman; Linda Duenow, vice-president; and Craig Wentrcek, treasurer.

Eggers speaks on campus to republicans

The 60 members of the Texas A&I Young Republicans this year sponsored as guest speakers Paul Eggers, George Bush, and Ben Martinez. They also helped during election time by passing out literature and setting up a booth in the Student Union Building to promote the Republican Party.

The Texas A&I Young Republicans was formed in 1968 to help in the presidential elections and has since grown and assumed an important position within the Texas Young Republican Federation.

This year the Texas A&I Young Republicans held the Area IX chairmanship of the Texas Young Republicans Federation, the "Young Texans for Eggers" campaign, and attended the state Young Republican convention in Fort Worth.

Alpha Chi Omega was installed on the Texas A&I campus during the fall of 1965. The Alpha Chi Omega sorority was founded in Greencastle, Indiana at DePauw University in 1885.

Special projects of the sorority this year included working at the Kingsville Lion's Club Carnival and selling football programs at all the A&I home games.

Social activities of the A Chi O's included a Parent's Day Banquet on Dad's Day, favorite faculty tea, hayride, and a beach party to send off seniors and members who will not return in the fall.

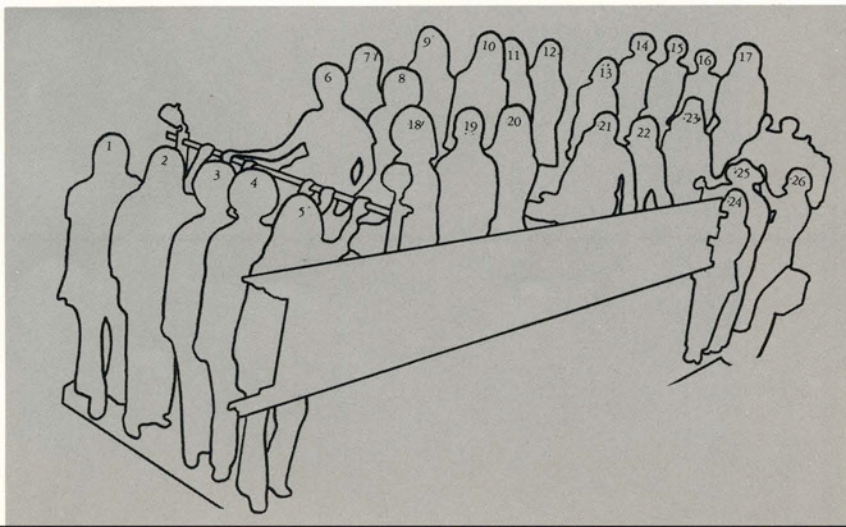

The Alpha Chi Omega's won the pledge and active Panhellenic Scholarship Trophy for the fall of 1970. A Chi O's placed second in the Ugly Man on Campus contest and second with spirit signs during the football season.

Officers were Linda Duenow, president; Brenda Stewart, vice-president; Susan Collard, secretary; Caroll Weisman, treasurer; and Connie Saathoff, Panhellenic Representative.

Alpha Chi Omega was represented on campus this year by Dinah Gillaspay, A&I twirler; Vicki Strobel, A&I Singer; and Gloria White, Cap and Gown member.

Delta Tau Delta national fraternity was founded over a century ago in 1858 at Bethany College in West Virginia. The fraternity was first established on the Texas A&I campus during the spring of 1966.

This year the Delts sponsored projects such as the purchase of new furniture for the fraternity house, extensive landscape work completed on the house grounds, and the annual campus-wide Delt Bike Race held during April. Delts also participated in Alpha Delta Pi Playday, and received the spirit award.

Active in campus intramurals, members of Delta Tau Delta finished first in football, second in basketball, and first in swimming.

Delta Tau Delta officers this year were Byron Vaughn, president; Dale Walker, vice-president; Todd Galli, secretary; Mike Bruni, treasurer; and David West and Glen Robinson, IFC representatives.

The Delts received a Scholarship Achievement Award from the national office for their past scholastic record.

Delts were represented on campus by Tommy Argubright, Alpha Chi, Sigma Tau, and varsity track; Byron Vaughn, Texas A&I Singer; and George Jones, varsity tennis team.

KΣ

Kappa Sigma was well represented in campus organizations this year. Among these were Freshman Class President, Phil Nipperus; representative-at-large, Wallace Kelly; Student Union Governing Board, Rick Bridgers; varsity track, Eldon Tuttle; and varsity tennis, Reed Smith.

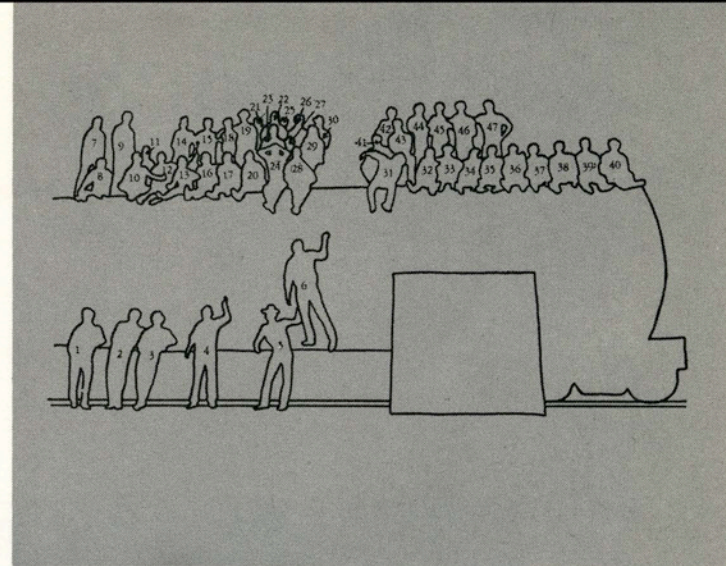

Kappa Sigs special projects consisted of raising money for the Ed Scott Fund with a booth and the proceeds of the eighth annual Kappa Sigma Variety Show going to the fund. A brunch was held on campus for Senator John Tower.

Kappa Sigs were very active in intramurals. They received IFC's championship football trophy, third in basketball, second in ping pong and pool, and first in golf.

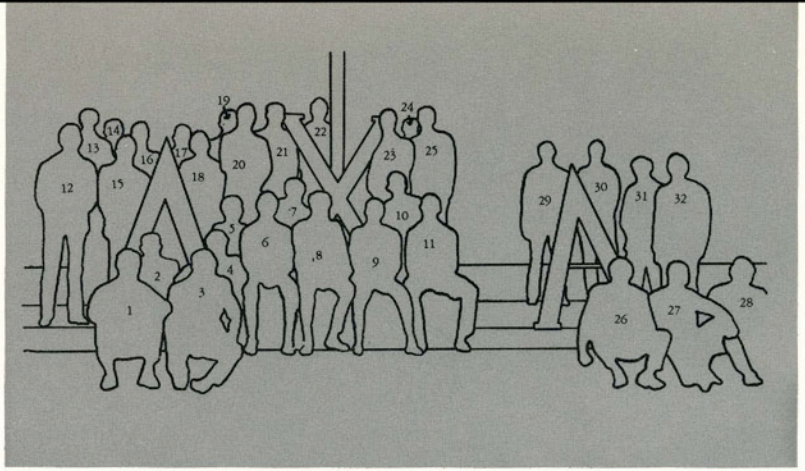

Plans were being made for the second annual trip to Monterrey, Mexico, during April. Kappa Sigs also held their second annual Tower of Americas party in San Antonio.

Officers for Kappa Sigma were Billy James, president; Charlie Barnes, vice-president; Dalon Lively, secretary; Mike Colwell, treasurer; and Rick Bridgers and Pat Sheedy, IFC representatives.

Lambda Chi Alpha was active in campus sports during 1971. In intramurals, the Lambda Chi's placed first in basketball.

This year members held their second annual Charity Bowl during December, with all proceeds going to the United Fund.

Lambda Chi Alpha social activities included the White Rose Formal held in Corpus Christi during April. The sweetheart, Cindy Sheuhle, and Jim Dougherty, outstanding Lambda Chi Alpha selected by the Crescents, were announced at the formal. The members also planned a trip to Monterrey, Mexico, where they stayed at the Ambassador Hotel.

Officers for Lambda Chi Alpha were Jim Dougherty, president; Carl Cody, vice-president; Chip Howe, secretary; Gus Paul, treasurer and Steve Wentreck, IFC representative.

Rho Alpha Zeta is the newest sorority on the Texas A&I campus. The sorority was founded during the fall semester of 1969 with the help of some fraternity men and Mrs. Carrie Bishop, Dean of Women.

Rho Alpha Zeta was organized to give women of minority groups a chance to participate in sorority life and other activities held on campus.

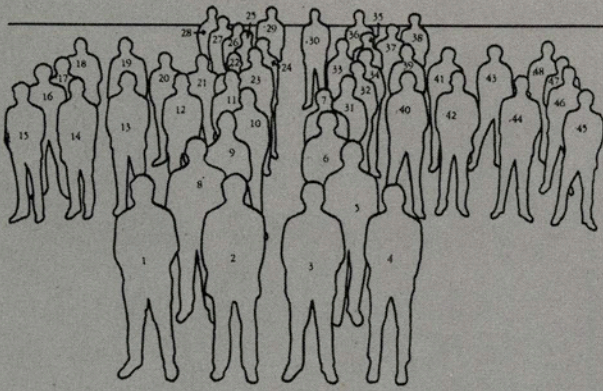

The main goal of the sorority is to initiate women so that they may be able to maintain the social, academic, and economic status so that they may become a national sorority.

Social activities include a birthday party held every three months for girls born during this time, and a money-raising picnic held during May.

The sorority also participated in helping raise money for the Ed Scott Fund, and supported a candidate for Homecoming Queen.

Rho Alpha Zeta officers were Rita Star Gant, president; Ada Marie Godly, vice-president; Phyllis Wilson, secretary; and Rosie Scott, treasurer.

Sigma Chi held its first annual Sigma Chi Derby Day this year, with Alpha Delta Pi winning first place. All proceeds from Derby Day went to the Wallace Village, which is a Sigma Chi project for brain-damaged children.

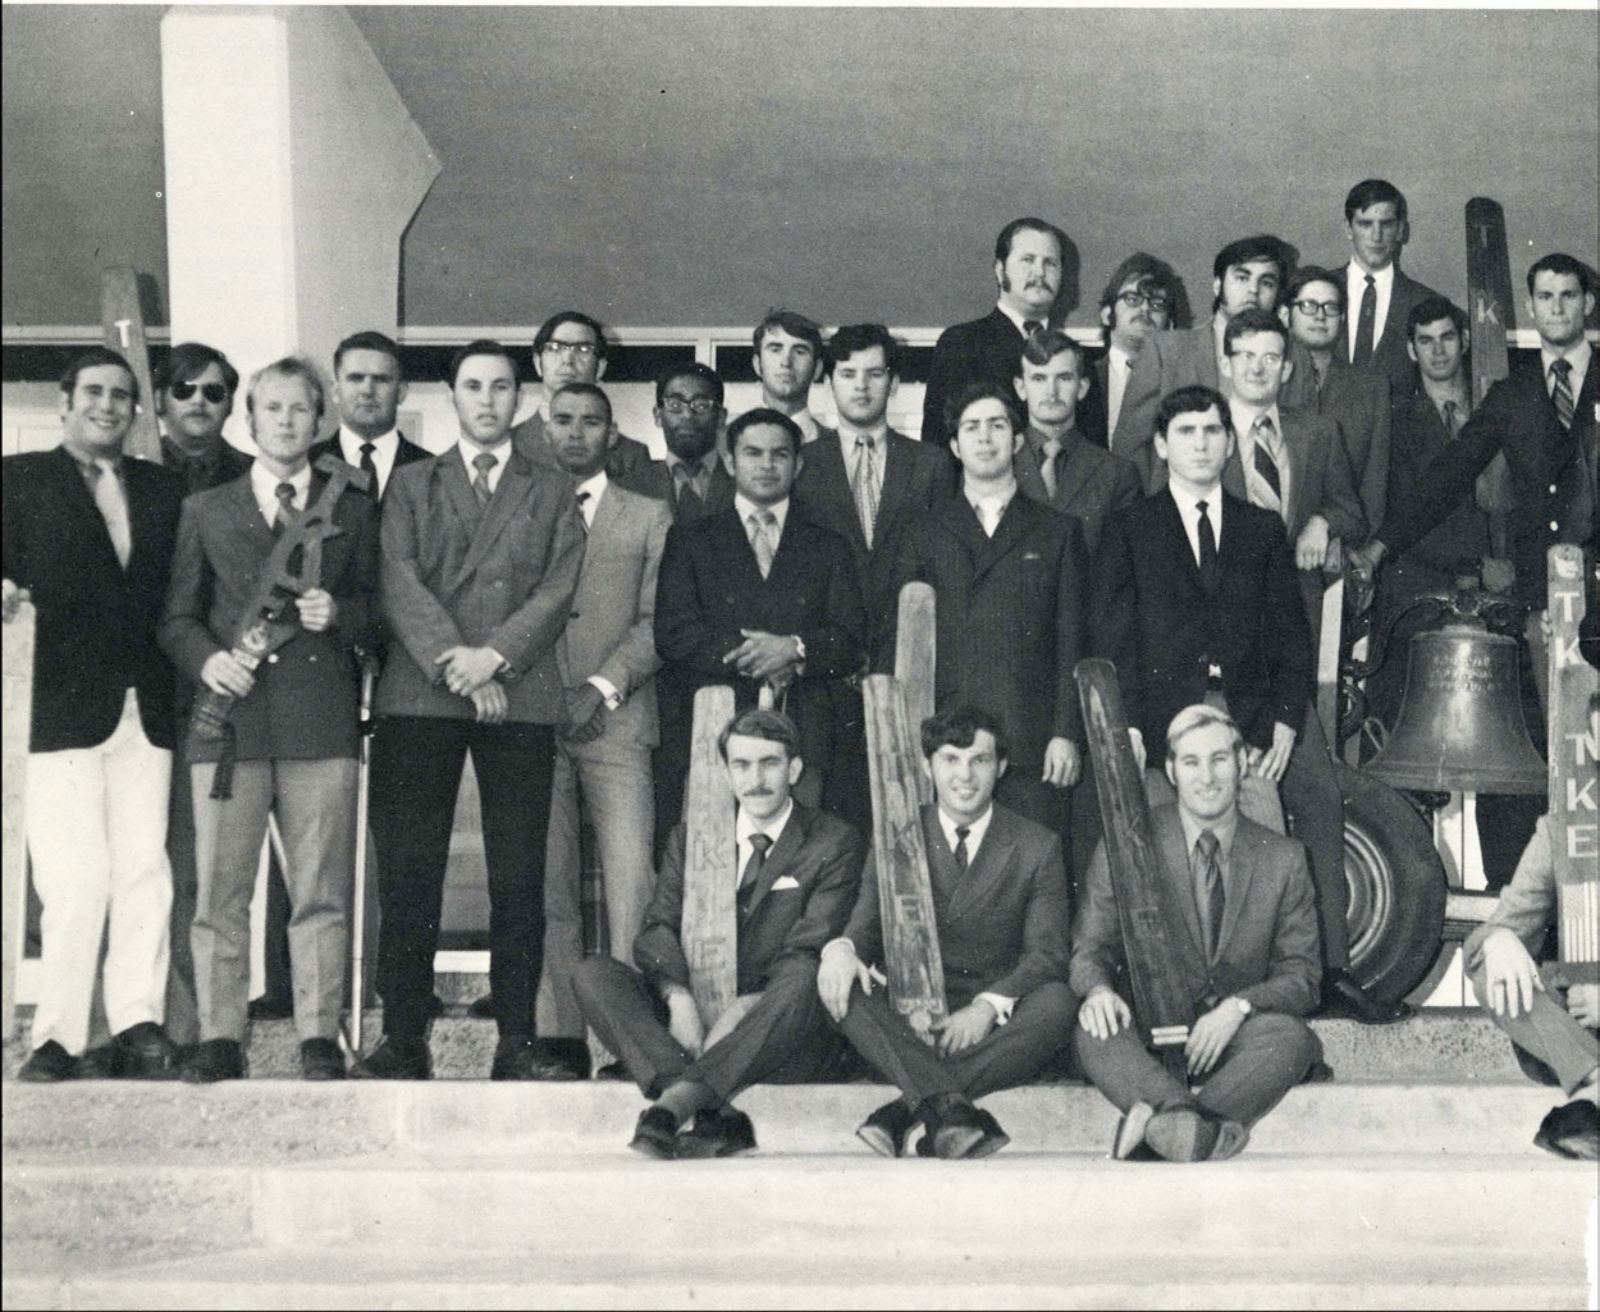

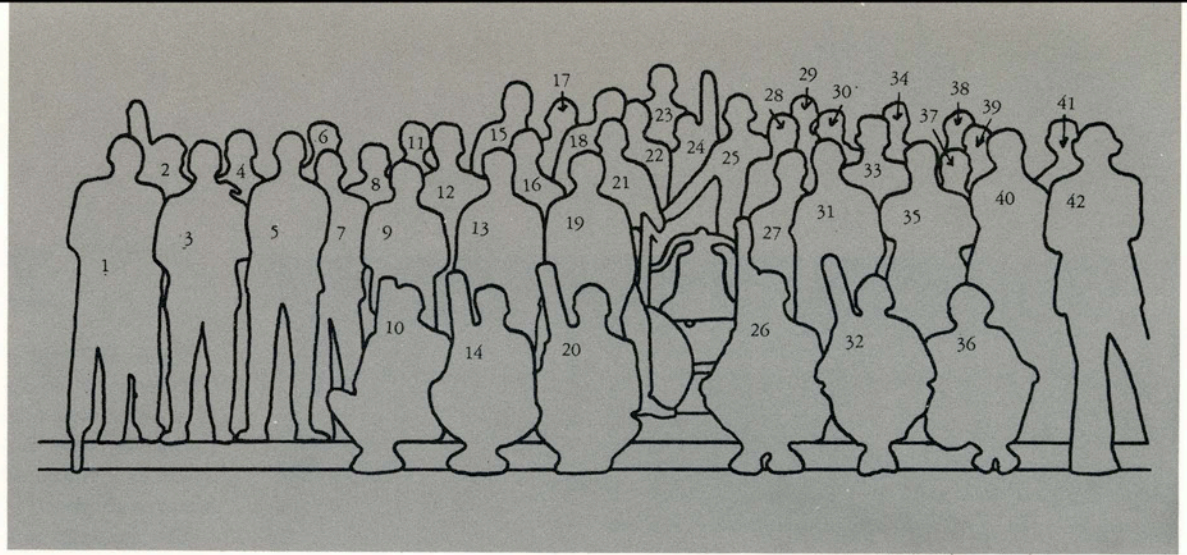

The fraternity was active in campus activities. They won first place at the Alpha Delta Pi Playday and won the IFC scholarship trophy for the third semester.

Sigma Chi officers for the year were Bill Gregorcyk, president; Mark Bartlett, vice-president; Craig Carson, secretary; John Wagner, treasurer; and Doug Schueneman, Greg Ledet, and Mat Donalson, IFC representatives.

Special projects of the fraternity consisted of making plans for the construction of a lodge, and the ninth annual Playboy Party held in the spring.

Outstanding members of Sigma Chi were Doug Schueneman and John Wagner, Alpha Chi; Mark Knox and Tommy Boeker, varsity basketball, and Joey Matson, Sigma Tau.

ZTA

The Zeta Tau Alphas began their year in the fall with a Candlelight Ball at the Holiday Inn in Corpus Christi and an Initiation Banquet held at Skip's Seafood; at the banquet best co-pledges were named, Ann Gay Jones and Johanna Word. An awards banquet was planned for May.

Special projects for the Zetas consisted of giving Easter baskets to hospital patients, tutoring at Lamar Elementary School, a national project of collecting for Mentally Ill Children and Adults Association, and sending four delegates to State Day.

Zetas also participated in the Kappa Sigma Variety Show, winning first place. They sponsored an Ugly Man on Campus and entered Sigma Chi Derby Day, Campus Capers, and the Spirit Contest.

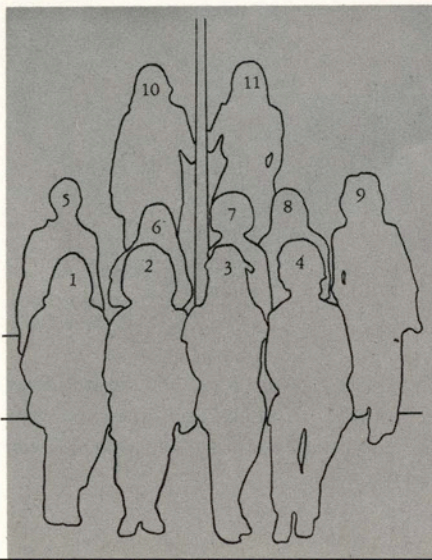

Individual recognition included Joanna Hoover and Jo Anne Seitz, Deans List; Jo Strane and Jan Wright, Honor Roll; and Laura Mills, Kappa Sigma Sweetheart.

Officers for the year were Joy Huntington, president; Debbie Farmer, vice-president; Dianne Unterbrink, secretary; Kathy Moody, treasurer; and Laura Mills and Faye Maxwell, Panhellenic representatives.

By being ourselves we students have made this year what it was. It has been a hectic year filled with many activities. It is impossible to record all the happenings on campus, but we hope that in future years this can be looked back upon and remembered as the year of Being Ourselves.

In undertaking the project of a publication many problems arise. The staff of this year's annual went through many trials and deserve the thanks of all.

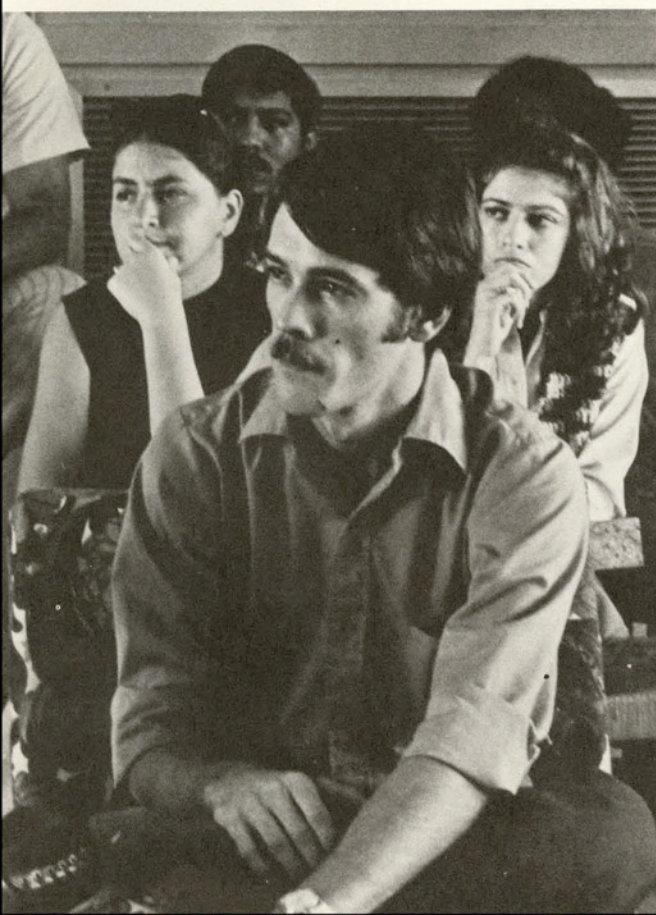

The editor is very grateful for the staff's assistance and the hard work they put forth. A special thanks goes out to Mrs. SheraLyn Alexander who pointed a bewildered editor in the right direction, and without whose assistance this annual would not be possible.

The University Photo Lab deserves recognition for the photographs. A special thanks goes to Frank Smith for enduring the problems encountered in the photo lab and the change in the staff.

Gratitude is expressed to Deanna Gillaspy, Mrs. Gillaspy, and Margaret Weisman for their assistance during the last hectic days of putting the annual out.

The happenings of the 1970-71 year have been recorded to the best of our abilities. It has been a hard, but enjoyable year.

Kathy Smith
