TEXAS A&I UNIVERSITY

Through The Years

I'm sure everyone has used or heard the frequent expression, "If these walls could talk." If the walls of Manning Hall could talk, they would tell stories they have absorbed for sixty years. They have heard of fads and the fashions, the sounds of war time and the sounds of peace time, the joy of students and the sorrow of others. The first buildings on campus such as: Seal Hall, Cousins Hall, and others are no longer used for their original purpose. Manning Hall is one of the few exceptions. In 1925 students celebrated the opening of Texas College of Arts and Industries. In 1985 we celebrated Texas A&I University's 60th Anniversary. Today we see the drastic and not so drastic changes in our school. Like the saying goes "Some things are best left alone." However because A&I has enlarged through the years, new buildings and additions are completed almost every year.

In sixty years from now you and I will have been a page of the history of A&I like those of the past we will be the history makers.

Early photos of Texas A&I.

Do you recognize any of these scenes? People sometimes become accustomed to paved walks and convenient shortcuts. These photographs were taken on campus and are a part of our school environment. Unfortunately, only those who can take time to appreciate nature can actually see the beauty offered at Texas A & I.

Something for Everyone

The Student Union Building is usually where it's at if you are looking for a release from homework. The building is 35 years old and is specifically for the students at A&I. In the SUB there are many features such as the game room, and the bookstore. The University Bookstore was opened in 1949. The Garden Lounge and the Vendetta Room are new areas where comfortable furniture provides a place to unwind. The Tejas Room is still a cafeteria but this year a new food service, SAGA, provides a better selection of meals and a nice environment. The food service also introduced a pizza place. And finally the PUB is the real place to forget about a routine week of homework. Good food, music, beverages, and friends add to the ambience of the SUB.

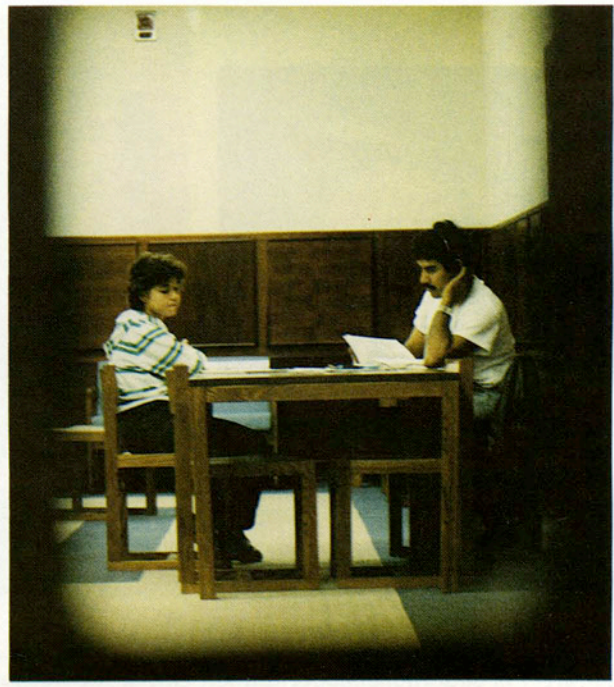

Love at first sight! Fubar, a visitor at A&I, shows his affection toward Donna Gomez.

New food services, SAGA, now provides daily specials and a new environment at campus cafeterias.

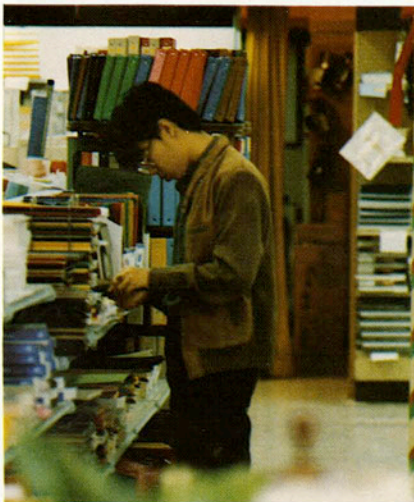

Through the Cactus Room window you might see Tere Sanchez and Luis Sarcgdo studying.

Pub nights are an enjoyment until it gets 11:45 and everyone asks: "Now what do we do?"

After a filling lunch, Jorge Rodriguez is interested in what Eliza Amador has to say.

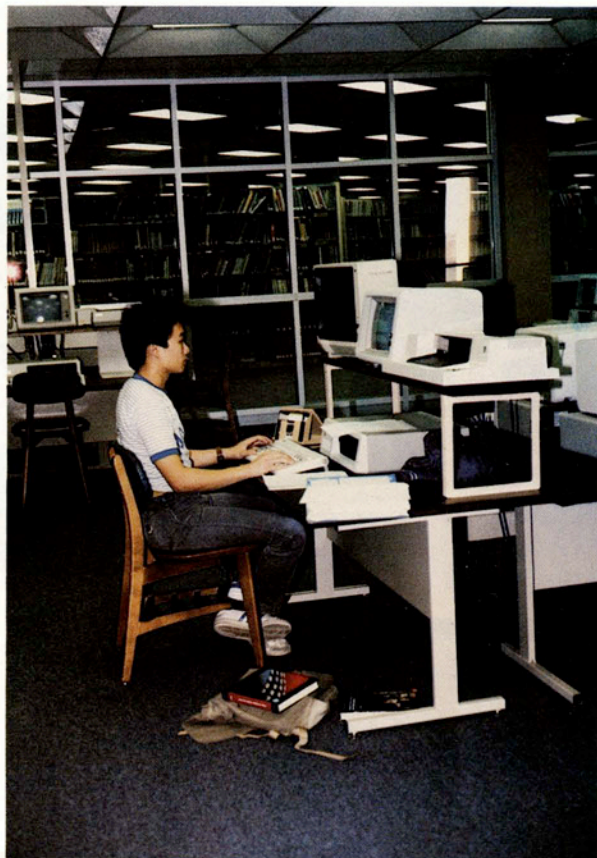

Through the years A&I's students have had access to a wide array of educational opportunities. One of the reasons our students became well-rounded and successful was because of the resources available to the students at our library. Like the metamorphosis which occurs in a student's college life, so were the changes our bookbarn endured.

Sixty years ago (1925) Texas A&I's first library occupied only one first floor wing of what is now Manning Hall. (It contained less than 6,000 books). Twenty-six years later (1951), the library was moved to College Hall. The Book population escalated to 110,000 books. The abundance of magazines, books, reference resources, etc., started to become crowded.

To meet its students needs, in 1968 the Jernigan Library was established as Texas A&I's new knowledge center. A kaleidoscope of students, VIPs and area visitors have used the library. The library has been a trusted source of knowledge and is considered to be one of A&I's major achievements.

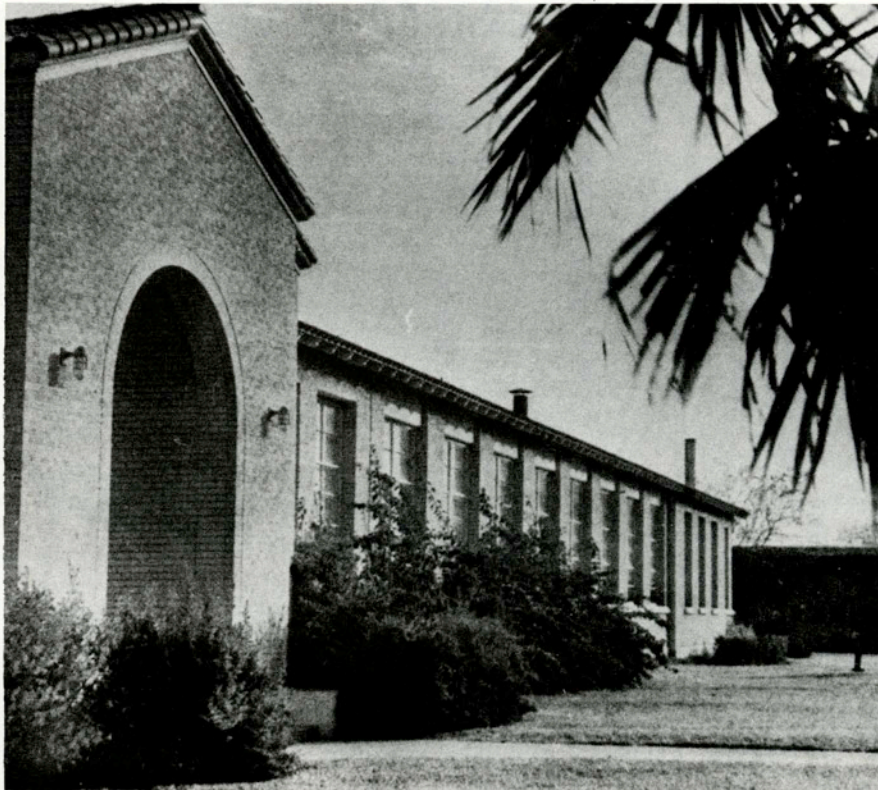

Recently in 1984, A&I added yet another plateau for learning with the completion of its third floor. The new floor makes 45,000 square feet available to students for a micro-computer facility, viewing rooms, media production room, faculty and group rooms, and a seminar room. Also available to students are 15 IBM, 15 Apple II-E, and 6 Radio Shack TRS-80 computers. The center also has printers, plotters, and a broad reane of software. Students are enthusiastic about the new equipment and they are becoming more interested daily. The third floor was officially opened with a dedication ceremony honoring James A. Michener, Pulitzer Prize winning author.

A&I Band Plays With Pride

After many hours of dedicated practice, the band puts on another wonderful performance.

These young ladies must stay in precise time with each other, therefore, many hours of practice is needed.

The drum major must keep the percussion section in time as well as the rest of the band.

Dr. Alan Whiston has been doing an outstanding job of producing fine bands to entertain students and others. Dr. Whiston has brought pride to the J.L. Bellamah Music Building and to A&I. The colorguard is always impressive. The Javelina Band has introduced a new look for the Highlights. This year the Highlights danced on to the field in bright and glittery uniforms. The drum major helped to keep the band in time with his sharp directing.

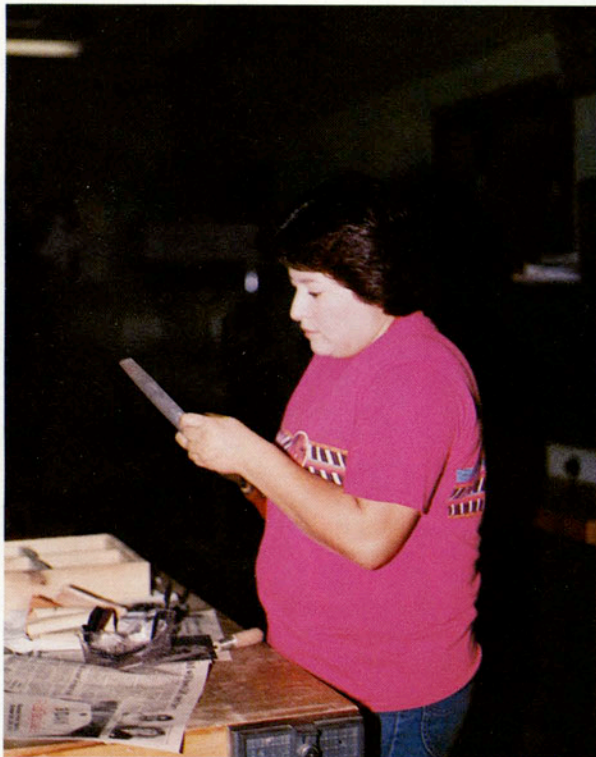

In three years, Dr. Whiston has doubled the band in size to a current 128 members. After football season, Dr. Whiston begins rehearsing band members for the concert season. The summer is also a busy time in which new shows are coordinated and new band members are recruited.

The Department of Industrial Arts has several courses of study available to students. New technology is rapidly expanding and students at A&I can become proficient in a variety of fields. The students shown here have adequate facilities and instruction to receive a good education of Industrial Arts.

ACTIVITIES

REGISTRATION IS MASTERED

Registration is frequently considered an unpleasant ritual. But, because of the astute professionalism of A&I's faculty and staff, 1984 will be remembered as the year registration was simplified. Changes were begun to ease the anguish or displeasure some students have experienced in the past. The professors, deans and administration were helpful in assisting the students. Many computers were used to avoid long lines and mistakes. This year the Financial Aid department was stationed in the registration paying area to avoid excess confusion. Also, more students opted for pre-registration because many find it to be the easiest way to sign up for classes. But, this year regular registration went smoothly with less than average crowds and few annoying detours. Registration days will no longer be such a dreaded bru-ha-ha. Hooray, for progress!

Class Closed. Now what? This student looks for a class replacement after his 1st choice fell through.

Doesn't anybody want to take a class with me?

Is this reality or fantasy? Dr. Davidson ponders about registration.

Did you forget your packet? Last minute students request packets.

Books are not the only thing available at the bookstore.

The campus paraphernalia is an eye opener to events on the campus.

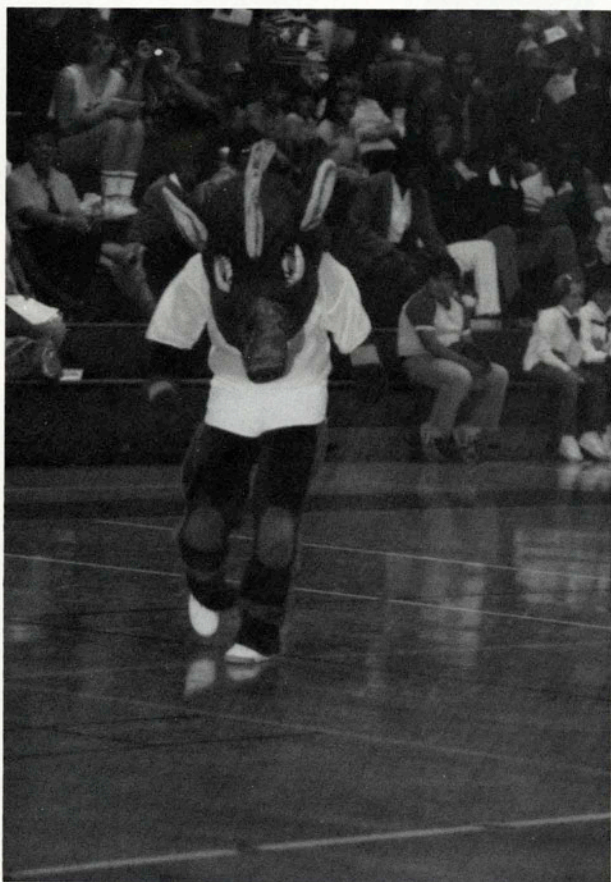

Bills! Bills! Bills! Paying your tuition is the final stop.

The names have changed, but not the Day

In 1935, Parents Day was better known as Dad's Day but in all the day remains the same. The scheduled events give parents a first hand view of our 60 year old campus.

This year's Parents Day was unique. The day brought a record crowd estimated at 300 visitors. Parents Day is an annual event where relatives of students have a chance to see and visit our campus. The annual Parents Day helps to encourage parent participation in university activities. Over all this Parents Day was a success.

students unite at Texas A&I

The International students at Texas A&I and the International Student Services Office were successful in the participation of the bazaar. Approximately 400 to 500 people including guests and participants enjoyed the festivities. Special events at the annual bazaar included a welcome introduction with Chinese songs, a Malaysian dance, and a demonstration from the South Texas Tae Kwon Do Club.

Each represented nation provided booths with food, films, slide shows, and native artifacts.

At the close of the bazaar some international students danced with each other to celebrate their friendship.

Caballeros Y Caballeras Study The South

A large group was interested in the learning experience and the turn out was rewarding. Most of the participants were students, but family and friends were invited also.

Southwest Borderland instructors Dr. Bittinger and Dr. Torres-Raines sponsored two autumn adventures to Mexico. The trip was available to those who wanted first hand experience with modern and historical Mexican cultures. Accompanying the group was Dr. Albro. The first trip was in early November to Monterrey. Here, the group explored many sights such as: Horsetail Falls (Cola de Caballo), a cultural museum, Champinque Mesal, Grutas de Garcia, and more interesting sights.

The second trip was later in November and was to the interior of Mexico. Here, Students Visited Las Cascades, the Natural Bridge, Monte Ciudad Valles, and more locations. The advantage of these trips was the wonderful feeling of learning the Mexican culture.

Dr. Bittinger gives the children in Mexico a crash course in English.

Learning was never meant to be so much fun. Before entering the caves, students take time to relax and enjoy.

BSU

The Baptist Student Union was one of the first religious organizations on campus. The difference between the organizations are slim. As years ago, the BSU organizes many spiritual and social activities. Some Activities include guest speakers, retreats, suppers and much more. This year about 45 members decided to visit the Retama Manor. The halls were filled with Christmas carols and holiday festivities. The students socialized with the elderly citizens. As years ago, the purpose of the BSU is still to help the Christian faith grow.

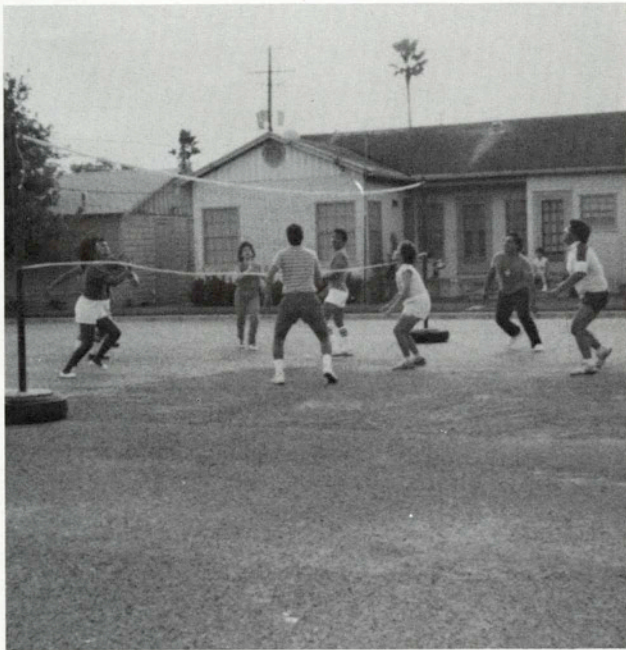

Many gathered to share in the spirit of Christmas.

Right Hand Red! Twenty-five twister mats made up a huge game of Twister.

an unusual day

The bed races was the first event of the day during Campus Capers. Organizations designed their beds and pushed them down University Boulevard.

The team activities including relays, a pie - eating contest, and other events were held in the mall area.

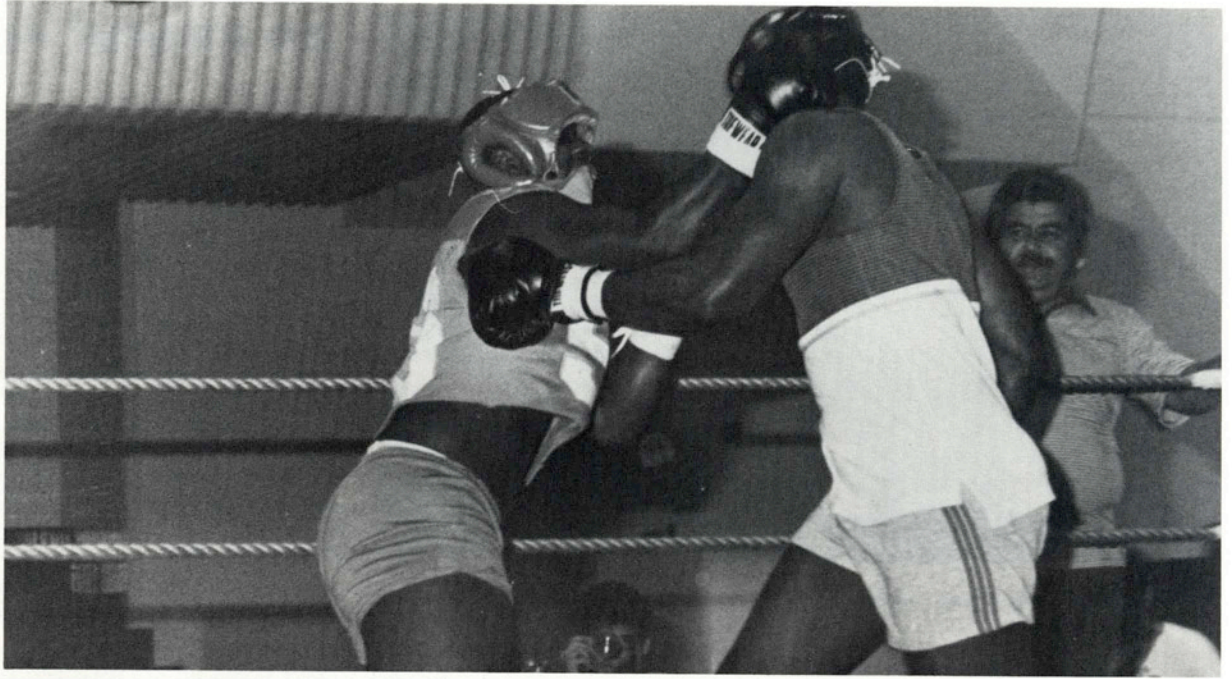

Juggler/Comedian, Robert York, conducted a juggling demonstration and workshop for the students. Rollerskates were rented to students all afternoon. Students also played "Twister" on an oversized twister mat. An outdoor Barbecue, and the Texas A&I Dixieland Jazz Band added to the festivities.

Campus Capers has become a popular annual event for the last five years.

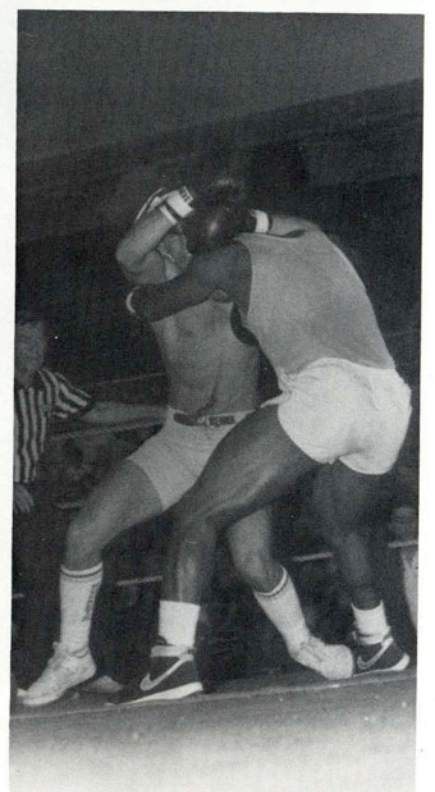

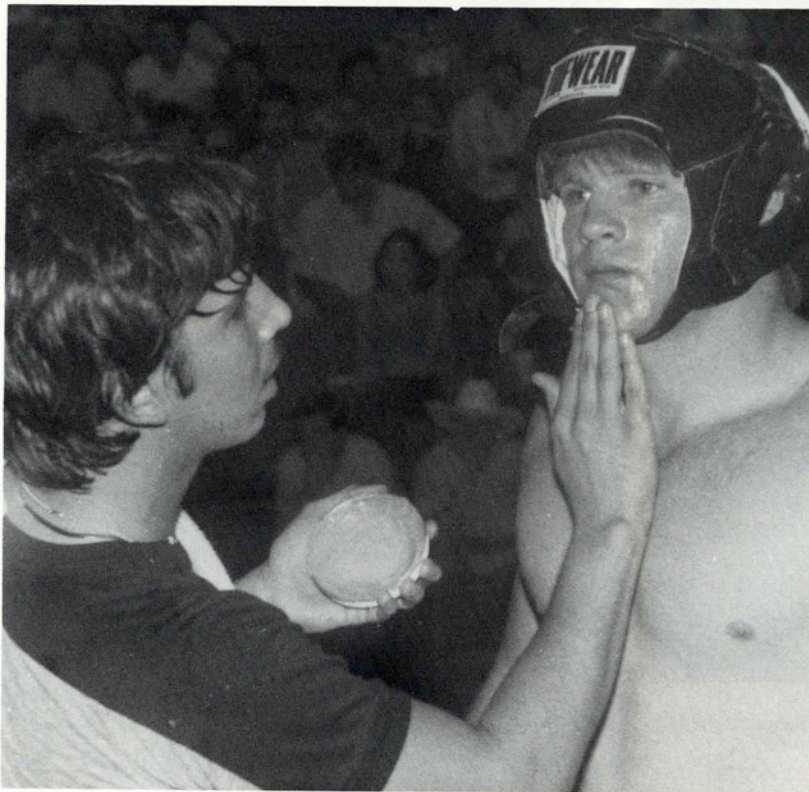

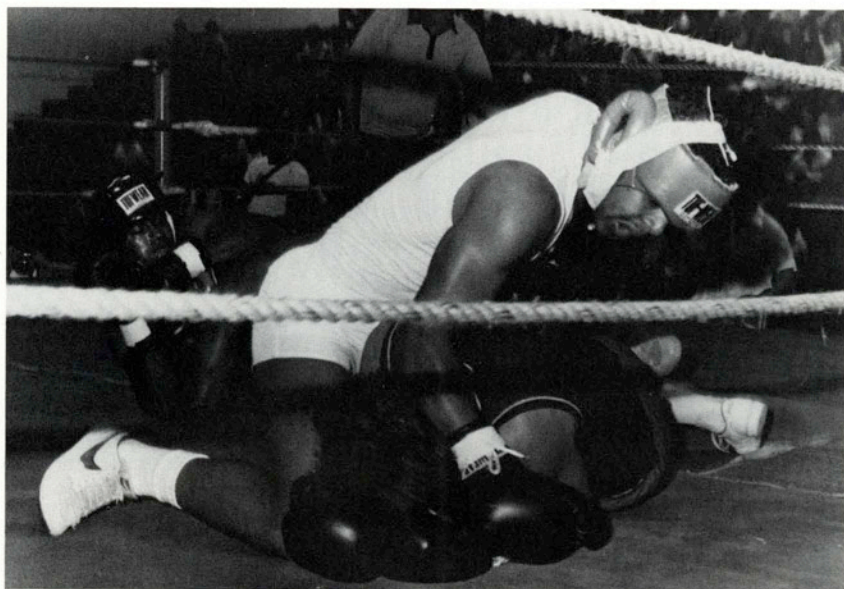

What dedication, this member did his best for the Kappa Alpha Psi team.

“T” FIGHTS TRADITION CONTINUES

The tag team matches provided double the action for the students, faculty, and fans.

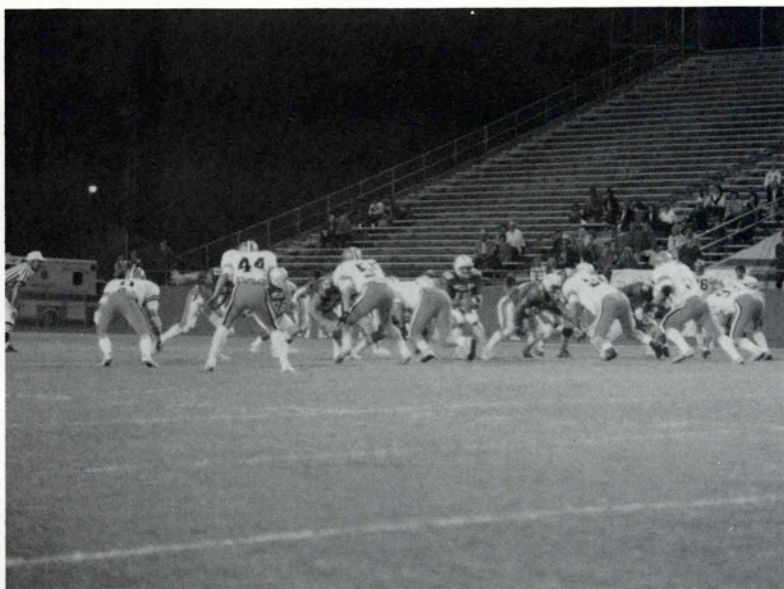

Once again the "T" Association sponsored the annual "T" Fights. The traditional Bloody noses, cut lips, and knockouts were just part of the action.

At the fights, the devoted first-year members of the football team met in a three-round boxing match. Some matches included tag teams.

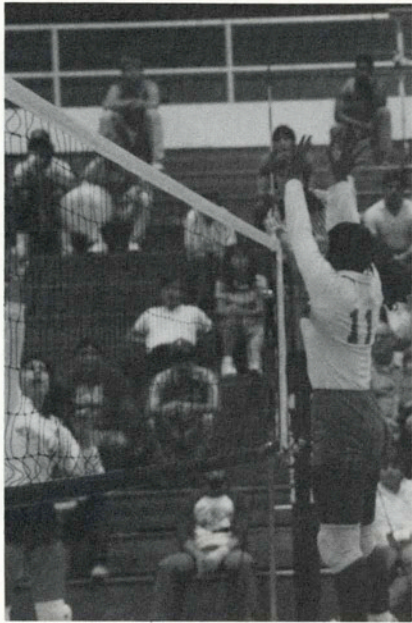

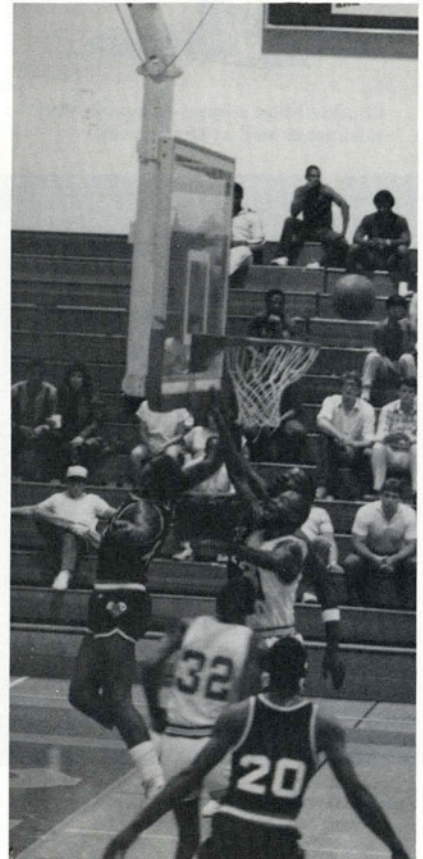

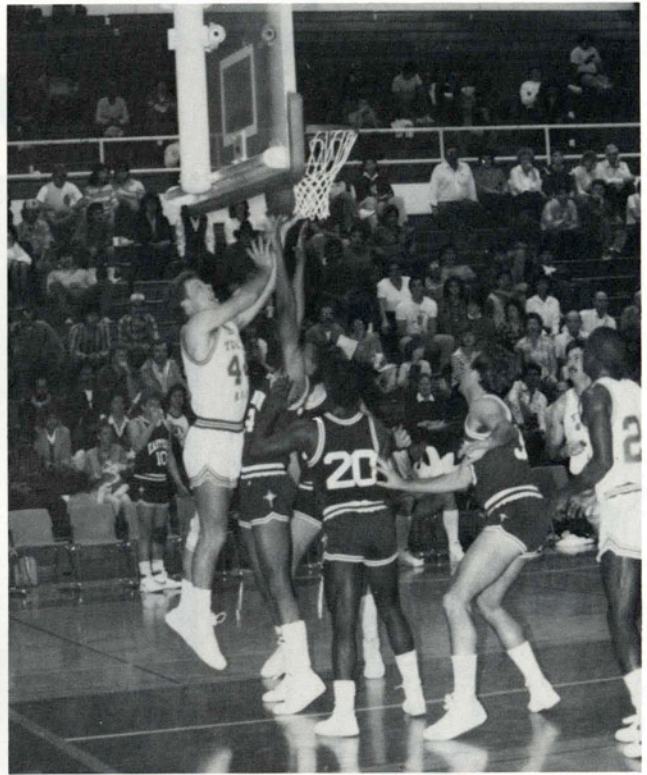

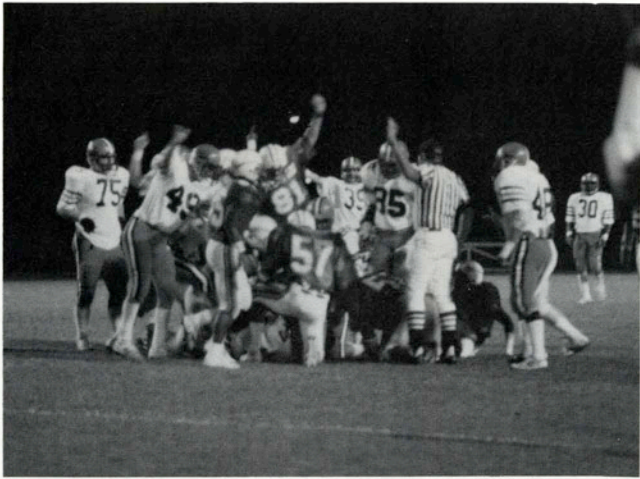

The popular event attracts crowds of 3,000 every year.

The excitement of the "T" Fights have been held at Texas A&I since the start of football on campus. The fun-filled event will continue as a tradition at Texas A&I.

The Texas A&I men's cross country team successfully finished their season by capturing the Lone Star Conference Championship and the runners up position in the NCAA Division II Regional meet. This advanced the team to the National competition in Clinton, Mississippi.

Texas A&I was one of 17 teams who qualified for the National meet. Only two teams were selected from the South Regional. At the national meet 117 of the best cross country runners in the country competed.

The Regional Meet was a 10,000-meter course set for a Saturday morning. Each team member improved their times over their conference times which resulted in the best showing ever for A&I in cross country competition and is their highest finish in a national competition.

The Javelinal captured the runner-up title for the NCAA Division II South/Southeast region finishing only one point behind the champions, Troy State of Alabama.

Three women from the Texas A&I cross country team were named to the All-Lone Star Conference teams. They are, Andrea Ratkovic; a freshman from Flour Bluff; Janice Simmons, a senior from Galveston Ball; and Gloria Lopez, a freshman from Corpus Christi Carroll.

C L O S I N G

Today Texas A&I University has provided thousands of students with sixty years of education. Since 1925 our University has gained pride and respect. Thanks to you, A&I has become a living legend. Just as 1925s' high hopes and dreams were satisfied 1985s' goals and expectations for Texas A&I will be accomplished too.

Thank you

I would like to thank you very much for helping me put this yearbook together. Without you this book could not have been completed.

I would like to apologize to those students who took the time to take their school pictures but did not appear in the book. This was beyond my control.

I would especially like to thank Dr. George Steinmeyer, Dee Cordell, (Josten's Representative) and Dr. Whitfield for their advice and for giving me the opportunity to gain experience in publications.

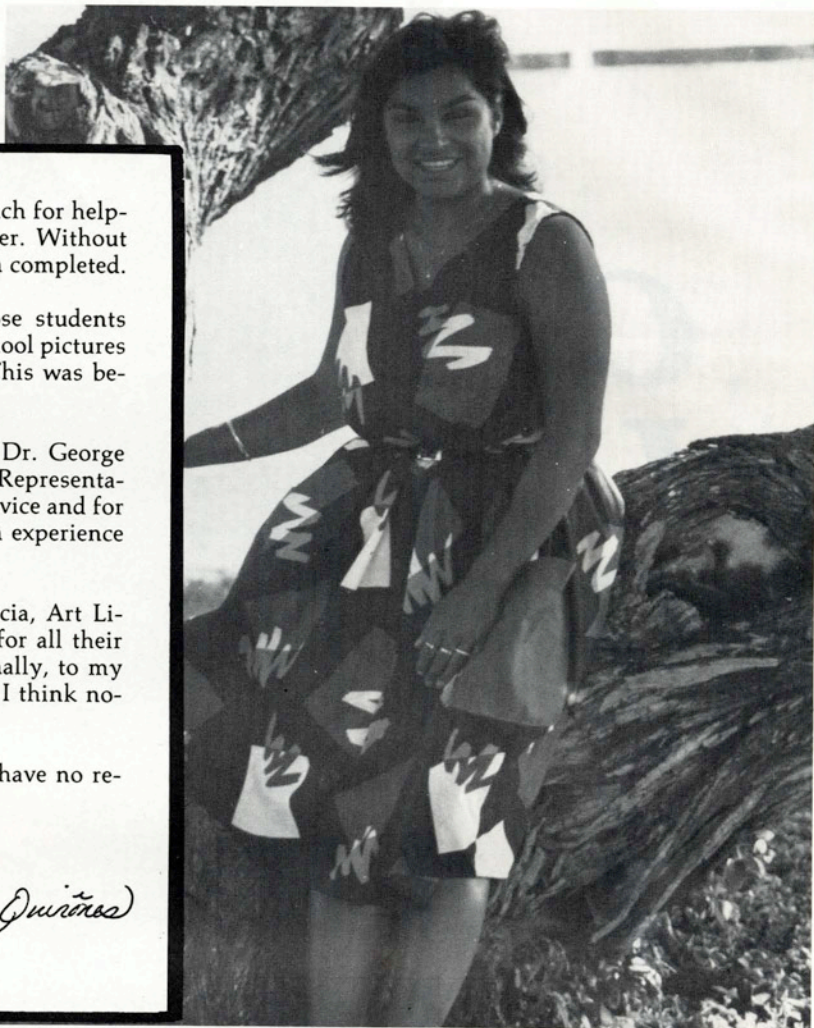

Also, many thanks to Sylvia Garcia, Art Limon, Fred Nuasch, and my staff for all their cooperation and patience. And finally, to my parents who believed in me when I think nobody else did.

In closing this 1985 El Rancho, I have no regrets.

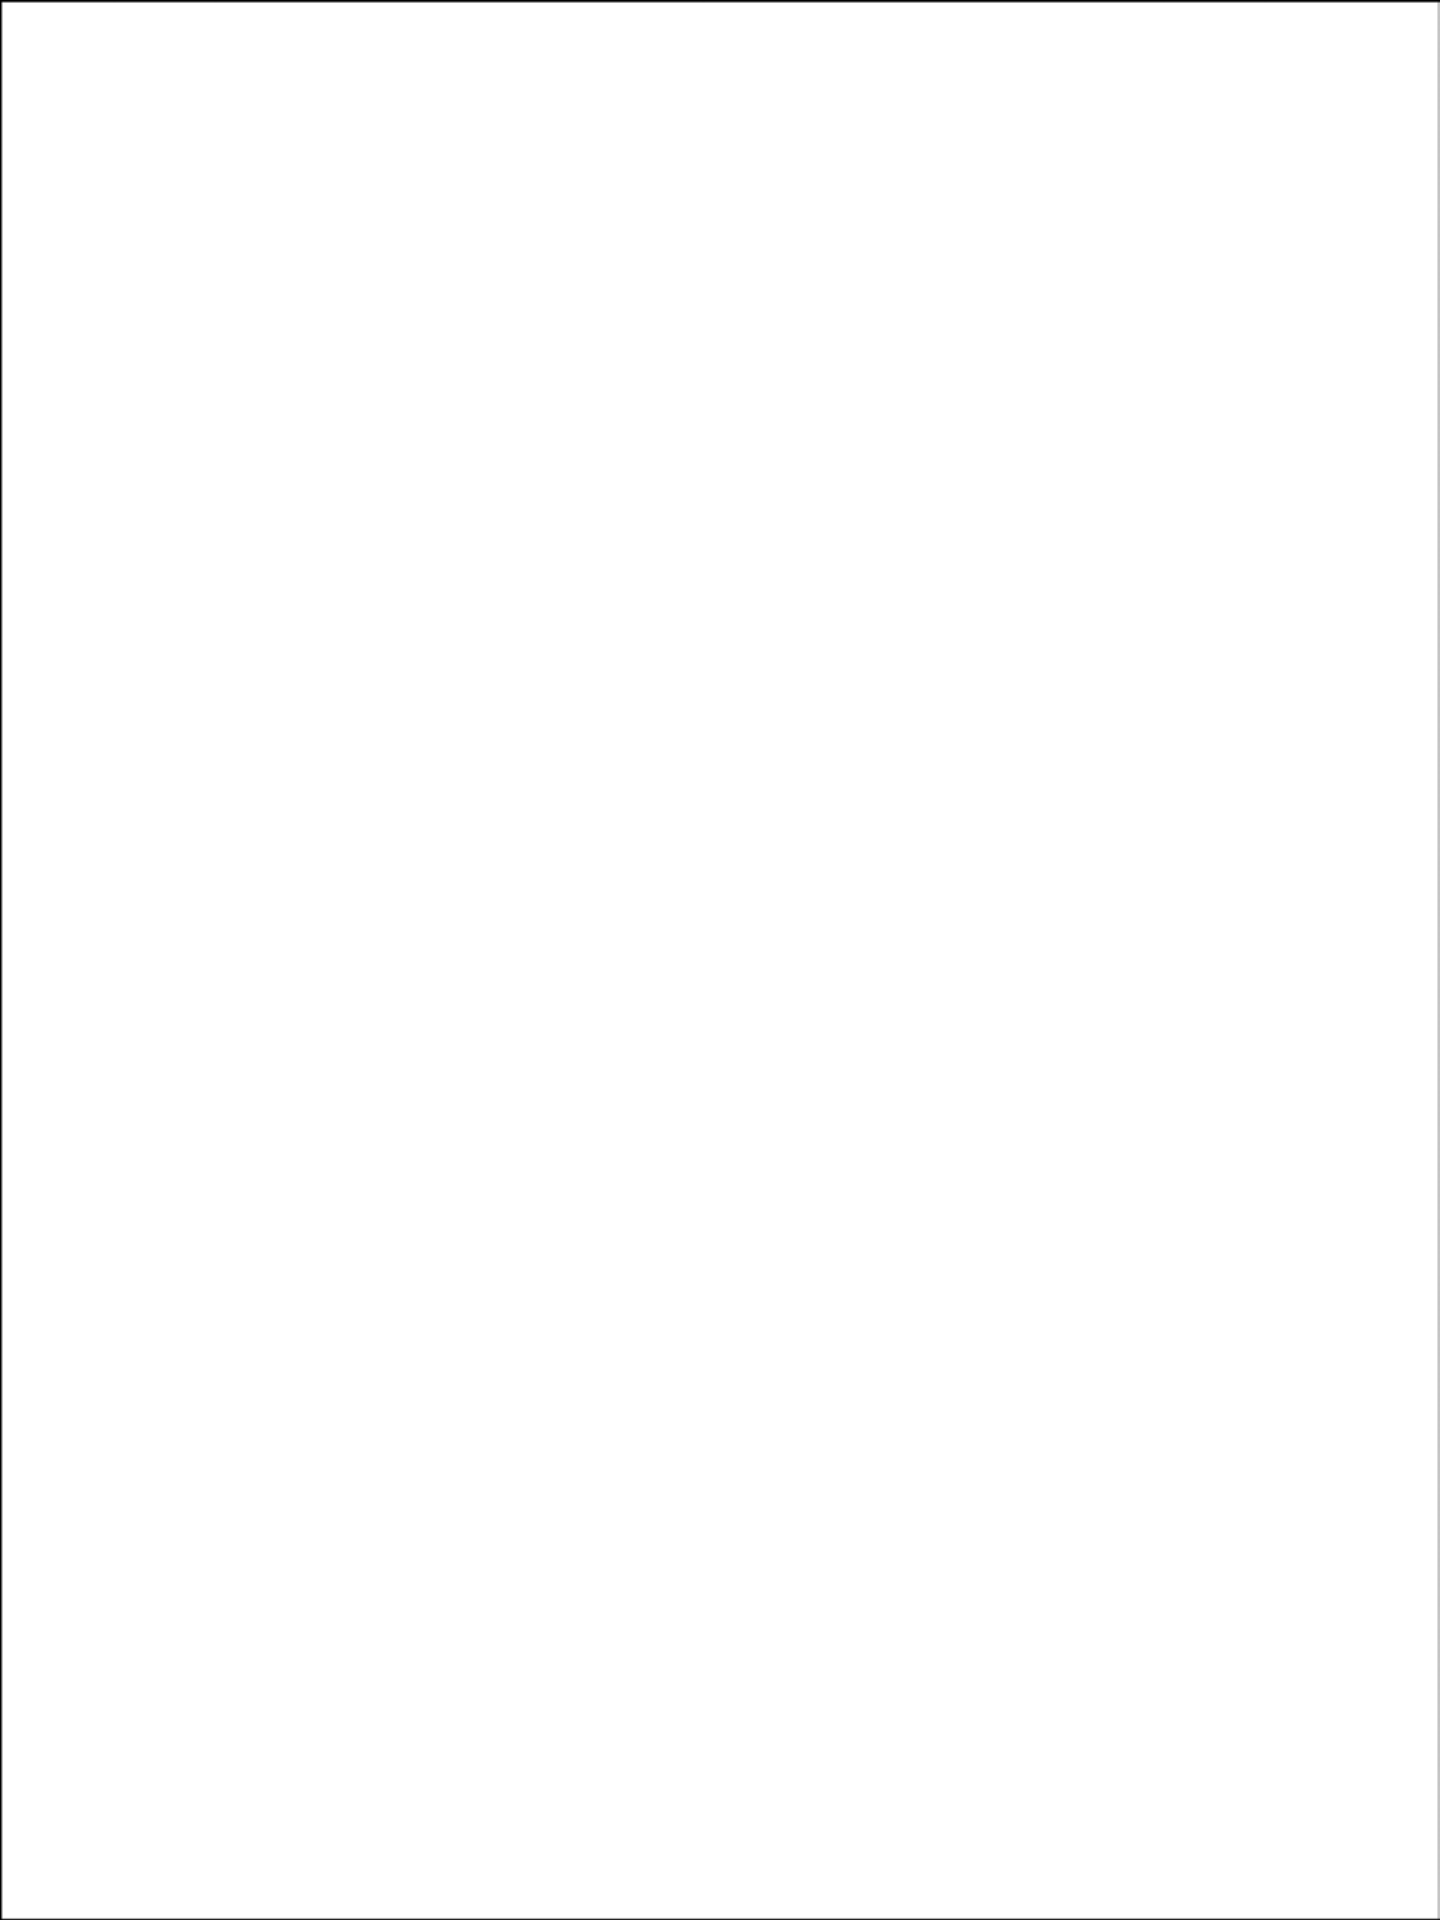

Thanks Again,

Robert Ann Quintana

Editor

the end!
